"We, the Goblin Fathers, request the honor of your presence at Hallowe'en parties Saturday evening."

This invitation has been extended to all the youngsters in Charlevoix to attend special parties planned by the Goblin Fathers whose number has grown from two to more than 15 in the past week.

For the young fry . . . the toddlin' tots who may be accompanied by parents to the youngsters through the eighth grade, there'll be a party on East Dixon ave. between Burns st. and Prospect ave. beginning at 7 p.m. Of course, everyone is to come in costume and enjoy treats of cider, donuts and apples with plenty of music and other surprises.

Beginning at 9 p.m. and continuing until the magic hour of midnight the Goblin Fathers will entertain the high school group, those in the ninth through the twelfth grades, at a dance at the high school where there'll be an orchestra and plenty of food for the whole crowd.

Informal dress is necessary . . . the guy with a tie or the gal wearing heels won't be admitted. In fact, this is to be a hard-time party and the more informal the dress, the better. You're even invited to come in costume if you like. The Goblin Fathers and their Goblinesses (the feminine of goblins) will be on hand to chaperone this party that's designed for fun for everyone for free.

See you Saturday Night?????

Officers Elected By Charlevoix Kiwanis Club

E. J. Edwards was elected president of the Charlevoix Kiwanis club at the annual election of officers held Monday following the regular dinner meeting at the high school cafeteria.

Other officers who will be installed in January are: first vice-president, Edward K. Shanahan; second vice president, Glenn B. Snider.

Members of the board of directors will be Arnold Wadas, R. G. Bennett, Frank Bird, Robert Foss, Barney Englehart, E. D. Hawley and Jack Grubaugh.

A. L. Livingston, the retiring president, will also become a member of the board.

The new officers will assume their duties at a joint installation with Petoskey and Harbor Springs tentatively scheduled for Jan. 11 in Charlevoix.

A. D. Shankland, dean of the new North Central College in Petoskey, was the guest speaker at Monday's meeting. He gave a brief history of northern Michigan's newest college, made a report of current enrollment which has exceeded expectations and [illegible] 39 students from [illegible] county and outlined plans for the growth of the school.

JayCees Sponsor Annual Window Painting Contest

Plans for the second annual window painting contest sponsored by the Charlevoix JayCees were announced this week by Don Brown, president of the sponsoring group.

The event will be held after school and during the evening Friday according to Charles Bennett and Desmond Milligan, co-chairman of the project.

Windows throughout the business district will be assigned to the various grades. All participants are asked to bring their own brushes and cans for paint which will be provided by the JayCees who will be located on each corner with supplies.

A trophy, awarded last year to the class of 1961, will be given to this year's winners. Students in the seventh thru the twelfth grades will compete for the trophy. The younger grades will participate for fun.

P. T. A. Sponsors School Program Study Meeting

Guidance and counseling were the topics discussed at the first meeting of the PTA - sponsored School Program Study Group held Wednesday evening and attended by 17 persons.

The subjects were broadly defined as covering vocational guidance, that is, help in planning a career; educational guidance — help in selecting the right courses to take and in choosing a college or technical school after high school; personal guidance — assistance with problems of social or emotional adjustment, family problems, disciplinary problems, etc., and testing, including intelligence and aptitude tests and their use in guidance programs.

It was suggested that reading ability is probably the most useful measure of a child's total ability at the elementary level. Guidance at this level is concerned chiefly with problems of adjustment and with testing to determine individual abilities and individual learning problems.

At the secondary level guidance becomes more complex and the need for a specially-trained, full-time counselor appears to be greater, especially since the counselor should not be concerned with only the students with special problems but with all students. His job would be to help the student realize his greatest potential through proper evaluation of his abilities and talents and through guidance toward the best courses of study and choice of a career.

The group felt the need of more specific information about the training of a full-time staff counselor and how such a guidance program operates.

The Program Study group would like to urge more people to come and participate, or listen to, these discussions. The amount of local interest in the school program will be a major factor in determining the quality of the program.

Plan Open House At High School Wednesday Eve

Plans for an open house at the Charlevoix high school Wednesday followed by a regular meeting of the PTA were announced this week.

The open house in the high school, that is, the seventh thru the twelfth grades, will be held from 7 to 8:30 p.m. in the high school building. The PTA meeting will follow in the band room.

Plans for the open house include a visitation period when the high school teachers will be in their respective rooms to talk with parents.

A display of materials of interest to parents in helping their sons and daughters to plan careers, select colleges or technical schools and apply for scholarships will be a feature of the open house.

The high school clubs and extra-curricular activity groups are invited to plan displays or have representatives present to acquaint parents with the activities of the various groups.

The purpose of the open house is to acquaint parents with the total school program and all that high school has to offer the individual student.

Open house in the Elementary school will be held on Wednesday, Nov. 11.

The PTA meeting which will follow the High School open house will be of interest to all parents. Elementary school parents are urged to attend. The meeting will be followed by a social and refreshments in the cafeteria at 9:30 p.m.

Mrs. Harry Potter On Courier Staff

Mrs. Harry Potter of Atwood has joined the staff of the Courier as advertising and printing sales representative. She replaces Stewart Christian who was recently accepted by the U. S. Navy for officers training.

Mrs. Potter is a former school teacher who has lived in this vicinity since 1948. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold [illegible] of Marion township and has a wide acquaintance throughout the community. Mr. Potter is proprietor of the Standard service station at Atwood.

$6,000 Needed For Community Chest Budget

The 1959 Community Chest drive reached the $3,708.50 point, or approximately 37.5 of the goal of $9,823.06 this week according to Mrs. James Coleman, campaign chairman.

The figure includes contributions from business and industry, residential, clubs and summer solicitations Mrs. Coleman said.

The drive will continue until everyone in the community has been contacted at either his home or place of business Mrs. Coleman added.

"If we are to fulfill our obligation to the 12 agencies whose requests are included in this year's fund drive, everyone must give to the best of his ability" Hal M. Hill, president of the Community Chest board of directors, said in urging everyone to join wholeheartedly in the current drive to support such agencies as the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Community Nurse, Charlevoix Service Organization, Salvation Army, Michigan United Fund which includes 32 agencies, City Recreation, Mt. McSauba Ski club, Charlevoix Hospital, Charlevoix Association to Aid Retarded Children, Red Cross and the Emergency Fund administered by the Chest board.

Funeral Services For Geo. Arnold to Be Held Friday

Funeral services will be held at the Winchester Funeral Home at 2 p.m., Friday with the Rev. James P. Sherman officiating.

Born in Hayes township May 2, 1883, Mr. Arnold was married to the former Viola Minier in Charlevoix in 1910. They lived on a farm in Hayes township until 1929 when they went to Washington for one year. On their return they moved to the present family home in Charlevoix township. Mrs. Arnold preceded him in death July 22, 1955. He was a past member of the IOOF lodge.

He is survived by two sons, Clarence G. of Detroit and Lloyd A. of Charlevoix; eight grandchildren; one great-grandson; a brother, Albert and a sister Mrs. Norman Elvell, both of Gloucester, Mass.

Board to Call Five County Men

The Charlevoix county draft board will call five draft registrants for induction into the armed services in December and another five men for pre-induction physical examinations according to Mrs. Mary Bourgoin, clerk of the board.

The names of the men who will be ordered to report for both induction and examinations in December will be selected at a meeting of the draft board scheduled for November 23.

Buy More Merchandise to Be Sold at Bid-a-Buck Auction

A new list of merchandise to be auctioned off Dec. 19 for Bid-a-Bucks was announced this week by Tom Symons, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. On a shopping tour Monday, Mr. Symons and two members of the Bid-a-Buck committee, Robert Lieberman and Richard Fochtman, selected 15 more articles that some lucky persons will get for nothing more than Bid-a-Bucks.

The first merchandise purchased for the auction included an upholstered swivel rocker from Hess Furniture, a portable television set from Gill's Appliance, a Schwinn bicycle from Harbor Hardware and 12 turkeys from Neff Bros.

Added to the auction list this week are a pair of insulated hunting boots from [illegible], a picnic kit with two thermos jugs from Central Drug Store, choice of Patty's $17.95 dress from [illegible], a complete electric drill set from Staley Hardware Co., a [illegible] Kodak complete with films from [illegible] & Hovey.

Two 50-gallon orders of No. 1 fuel oil from Tum Carey Standard Oil agency three pair of children's galoshes from Campbell Boot Shop, 50-gallons of Red Crown gasoline from Norton's Standard Service, four LP phonograph records (choice of $3.98 value) from Puff's Appliance Center, along with a variety of children's toys from W. W. Mac store.

More items will be added to the list each week until the auction, Mr. Symons reports.

The value of Bid-a-Bucks given to patrons of Charlevoix stores will increase each week as additional merchandise is purchased for the Dec. 19 auction. Customers lose if they don't save Bid-a-Bucks. They will be better than real money at the auction.

Only new top quality merchandise is being purchased from local merchants to be sold at the Bid-a-Buck auction. The public is invited to inspect the articles which are now on display at the stores. Select the articles you want to buy and be sure to have enough Bid-a-Bucks at auction time.

Plan Bulb Sale To Finance Fire Plug Markers

The Charlevoix JayCees will sponsor a light bulb sale Monday to finance the fire plug marking project Don Brown said following a meeting of the group.

The sale will be conducted Monday evening when teams of JayCees, under the chairmanship of Douglas Reynolds, canvass the community beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Packages of light bulbs containing four 60, two 75 and two 100 watt bulbs will be offered for sale at that time.

Charlevoix to Name Queen to Sno-Show Event

A Winter Sports Queen to represent Charlevoix at the first annual Sno-Show to be held at the Civic Auditorium in Grand Rapids next week will be named Friday, Tom Symons, secretary-manager of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce, has announced.

At noon Wednesday Nancy Cook, Karen Uhrick, Nonie Erber, Vicki Miller and Marilyn Novak had been named as candidates for the honor and more were expected to enter before the deadline Friday.

The candidates will gather at the Weathervane Lodge Friday afternoon where they will be introduced to the judges, Fred Bond of Boyne Mountain, Axel Uhlberg of the new Pleasant Valley Ski Club near East Jordan and Gerry Fineout of Walloon Hills ski resort. After interviews the judges and the candidates will have dinner at the Weathervane Inn where the judges choice of the Winter Sports Queen will be announced.

The new queen will then receive her crown from William Fochtman, president of the Mt. McSauba Ski club, during the halftime festivities of the Charlevoix-Mancelona football game.

On Thursday the Queen will go to Grand Rapids where she will participate in the first annual Sno Show and become a candidate for the Sno Show Queen of Michigan to be selected during the event being held at the Civic Auditorium. She will also greet visitors to the Charlevoix booth at the show.

Accompanying Charlevoix's Winter Sports Queen will be Ralph Gillam, manager of the Weathervane Lodge, and Mrs. Gillam who will chaperone the queen, James Patterson of the Weathervane Inn and a representative of the Mt. McSauba Ski club. All will work in the booth at the Sno Show.

A number of fine prizes will be given to Charlevoix's queen including a Mt. McSauba Ski club membership for the season and an all-expense trip to the Sno Show, courtesy of the Weathervane Lodge.

The contest this week is being held under the sponsorship of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce, Weathervane Lodge, Weathervane Inn, Mt. McSauba Ski club, C. A. Odmark of the Charlevoix high school and the Varsity club headed by Joe Beaudoin.

Beach Sea Wall Brings Objections From Residents

A delegation voicing its objection of the further construction of a sea wall at the Lake Michigan beach south of the pier appeared before the city council Monday night.

The first section of the wall was built in 1957 and plans call for it to be extended along the lake side of the road which forms a drive from Grant street and return.

The group was told that the construction of the extension would be postponed for the present and that the issue would be discussed at another council meeting.

During the regular meeting at which Mayor pro tem Ray L. Kipke presided a bid for Comprehensive Liability Insurance in the amount of $947.77 was approved. The policy is subject to payment audit at the end of the policy term.

In a final action the council approved bills amounting to $23,027.32 and ordered them paid.

City Sues to Recover Cost of Repairs on Power Plant Engine

A law suit in which the City of Charlevoix is suing Charles Weaver of Detroit, opened in the Oakland county circuit court in Pontiac Tuesday.

The suit resulted when an 1138 KW Fairbanks Morse opposed piston diesel engine purchased from Mr. Weaver at Houston, Tex., for $65,000 was found to be defective when delivered in Charlevoix.

Examined by engineers in behalf of the city before it was purchased in 1954, the engine was reported in excellent condition when the city entered into the contract to purchase it for use at the municipal light plant here. However, when it was installed and readied for operation, the engine was alleged to have been found in very poor condition.

The city, represented by Norman D. Ance with Clark Coulter serving as a consultant, is suing Mr. Weaver to recover the cost of placing the defective engine in operating condition.

October Term of Circuit Court Opens Monday

The annual October session of circuit court for the 13th Judicial district is scheduled to open at 10 a.m. Monday with Judge Charles L. Brown presiding.

Listed on the court calendar are two criminal, 21 law, and 11 chancery cases including seven divorces.

The session will open at 10 a.m. Monday with the call of the calendar, arraignments and sentences and petitions to show cause. The latter will be presented by Ernest Foster, friend of the court.

A complete schedule of hearings, pre-trial hearings and two jury trials has been compiled by Claude C. Curtis, assignment clerk and court reported.

The jury trials of Clara Jean Gallagher vs Jack Dollenmaier and Richard Bell Saltonstall, trespass on case, is scheduled for 9:30 a.m. Oct. 28 and Robert W. Nelson vs. John W. Ryder, trespass, for 9:30 a.m. Nov. 2.

Funeral Services Held Wednesday For Mrs. L. Greiner

Mrs Ludwig Greiner, 81, resident of this community for the past 35 years, died Sunday at the Charlevoix hospital where she had been a patient for a week.

Funeral services were held Wednesday at the Winchester Funeral Home with the Rev. George L. Majors officiating. Burial was in Brookside cemetery.

Born in Augusta, Me., June 12, 1878, the former Hannah Christian was married to Charles Perrin in 1892. Mr. Perrin died in 1920 on Beaver Island where the family had lived for 20 years. In 1925 she was married to Mr. Greiner who preceded her in death in 1952. She was a member of the Community Church of God.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Leon Keiser of Detroit and Mrs. Daniel Gillispie of Charlevoix; a son, Simeon Perron, also of Charlevoix; 18 grandchildren and eight great grandchildren.

GOP to Stage 'Kick-off' Dinner Friday Evening

Charlevoix and Emmet county Republicans will meet Friday evening at the Weathervane Inn for a buffet supper and what might be called an early "kick-off" for the 1960 campaign, Edward K. Shanahan, chairman of the Charlevoix County Republican committee said.

Joining the party officers from the two counties will be Republican [illegible] representatives from the State Central committee, Mr. Shanahan said.

New Weathervane Lodge to Have Open House Sun.

The Weathervane Lodge located at Michigan ave. and Dixon ave. will hold an 'Open House' Sunday' Ralph Gillam, manager of Charlevoix's beautiful new lodge, has announced.

The public is invited to visit the lodge any time between the hours of 3 and 9 p.m.

Visitors will be taken on guided tours of the 39 unit lodge which was completed recently for Pines, Inc, headed by Julius Gilbert of Charlevoix and Detroit.

Following the tours refreshments will be served in the lobby of the lodge.

Weathervane Lodge is of two-story construction with balconies around the second floor overlooking the court. Balconies on the south also overlook the lakes and the city.

The lodge has been open since mid-August. It features large airy rooms furnished with two double beds, full baths and closets in all rooms. There are also private telephones and televisions in all rooms.

Everyone interested in seeing the community's newest and loveliest lodge is invited to attend the open house from 3 to 9 p.m. Sunday and enjoy the hospitality offered daily to travelers and visitors to our community, Mr Gillam said in extending the invitation.

Two members of Pines Inc., Kit Carson and Earl A. Young and their respective wives will join Mr and Mrs. Gillam in welcoming the guests Sunday.

LANSING OBSERVER

By FRANK G. MORRIS

Republican [illegible] masters have [illegible] the old, bitter feud that [illegible] party in so many [illegible]

[illegible] in fight for [illegible] even the Lansing Observer is being knifed by [illegible] that was willing to [illegible] last spring to Gov. Williams passing an income tax. [illegible] Muller, the political writer [illegible] the Detroit News, cited [illegible]'s column as proof that [illegible] General Summerfield [illegible] to make State Senator Carlton H. Morris, of Kalamazoo, the nominee for Governor next year instead of Paul D. Bagwell.

The story was carried by the Associated Press and reprinted in many outstate dailies.

The column last week did not say that Senator Morris will be the Postmaster General's candidate. In justice to both the Senator and Summerfield, I make this verbatim report on my conversation:

Summerfield — I don't believe Bagwell will be a stronger candidate for Governor in 1960 than he was in 1958, and I am concerned because State Chairman [illegible] will not bring unity to the party.

Q —Who might run against Bagwell?

A.—I don't know. I've been asked about the possibility of [illegible] Mueller, the Secretary of Commerce, to run. He could win in November. There is talk, too, about Senator Morris because of his fine job in defeating an income tax. I certainly do not have a candidate.

Q —You have been mentioned [illegible]

A —I will not run for Governor or for United States Senator. I will not take any office within the party. I do not seek to control it. If I can help restore unity, and keep the party from missing the golden opportunity it will have in 1960, I want to serve.

To get this unexciting inside story, I waited more than an hour with a dozen politicians and newspapermen outside Summerfield's temporary office in the National Bank Building in Detroit.

When the Postmaster General offered me a glass of ginger ale, I made sure it was free from ground glass. For Mr. Summerfield has been no closer to me than he has been to Paul Weber, Gov. Williams press secretary.

I was not hired by anyone to do this weekly column. Not once has a politician or businessman suggested a slant it should [illegible]. It was born out of loneliness for the profession I had left after 33 years as a political writer for the Detroit Times and the Detroit Free Press.

And it was born, too, out of frustration. My sincere desire has been to report the trends and objectives of a labor government that is ruining Michigan far more quickly than most citizens realize.

If I can help impress upon the voters the fact that 80,000 jobs have been moved from Michigan to Ohio in the last six years, maybe the people will take decisive action.

When I quit the Detroit Times last March, the first offer of a job came from Gov. Williams. He flattered me by asking if I would be interested in becoming assistant to the chancellor at the new Michigan State University at Rochester.

Instead, I opened a public relations business in Detroit. My first account was Pan American World Airways, which I still serve.

Then a group of business men and attorneys, not directly active in politics, hired me to help the 22 Republican Senators get their story across to the people. The Senators, standing adamant against an income tax, were at that time being ridiculed everywhere. My job was to help make their side of the battle clear to the people.

Writing this column was my own idea, and I undertook it without strings of any kind, hoping that editors of weekly newspapers might find it of sufficient interest, and sometimes of sufficient importance, to give it space.

For I am a reporter, not a politician.

MEMO . . .

From the Editor's Desk

[illegible] is voting some [illegible] being bought [illegible] partner in taking or [illegible] such as a great actress who [illegible] her voice or her legs for [illegible] of a garden party being insured against rain.

You can make your own guess as to the various kinds of insurance that are available or consult your insurance agency. What prompts this thought is a series of ads presented by Bill Carey of the Hamlin Insurance Agency, the first of which appears this week as a regular column entitled "Consult Bill Carey on this question."

Previewing the subjects presented, indicates Bill is going to have to do more explaining than an editor. However, the situations presented are unique, controversial, sometimes comical, and generally intriguing. Good luck, Bill.

Editors [illegible] throughout the [illegible] are flooded with political "new releases" regarding the Supreme Court's decision voiding the [illegible] per cent use tax. What is fact, what is half fact and what is misinformation, is a good question. Another good question might be how come members of the Court voted strictly on party lines?

Supreme court judges, along with other elective officers are presumably elected on a non-partisan ticket, but as the old saying goes, "Blood tells."

Charlevoix merchants' Bid-a-Buck promotion seems to have sparked rather widespread to interest both locally and in other Northern Michigan communities. In fact, a caller at the Courier made a special stop to get the details of the campaign for a small city a few miles south. We have also heard that merchants in a not too distant city are blaming their Chamber of Commerce for not introducing the idea before Charlevoix.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Heeres are the parents of the bridegroom.

The Rev. Douglas VanGessell officiated at the ceremony in the presence of more than 100 guests. Arrangements of bronze, yellow and white chrysanthemums and candelabra decorated the altar for the wedding on Oct. 10. The soloists, Mrs. Ida Tucker sang "I Love You Truly" and "With This Ring" and Don Heeres "The Lord's Prayer" accompanied by Mrs. Hans DeYoung, the organist, who also played the traditional wedding marches.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride chose a gown of white satin with an overskirt of nylon chiffon for her wedding. It was fashioned with fitted bodice, scalloped neckline, short lace sleeves and a full, floor length skirt with lace appliques. A lace cap secured her finger-tip veil. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

Mrs. Richard Matynick of Grand Blanc served as her sister's matron of honor. She wore a gown of peach taffeta styled with a full skirt trimmed with tiny bows, fitted bodice and round neckline which formed a V in the back. Her head band was of matching peach velvet with nose veil. Her bouquet was of bronze mums.

Janice Weber and Nancy Mede also of Grand Blanc, as bridesmaids, wore nutmeg taffeta gowns fashioned with fitted bodices, round neckline and full skirt which had large bows for back interest. They wore matching bronze velvet head bands with nose veils and carried bouquets of bronze and yellow mums.

Debbie Wilbur, of Grand Blanc, sister of the bride, as flower girl, wore a floor length dress of white chiffon embroidered with yellow flowers at the neckline. A bronze headband held a shoulder length veil. She carried a basket of bronze and yellow mums. Ronnie Matynick, also of Grand Blanc, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer. Bert Elzinga assisted the bridegroom as best man. Robert Heeres, brother of the bridegroom, and Robert Burns of South Haven were groomsmen. Ushers were Franklin Potter of Charlevoix and Danny Wilbur of Grand Blanc, brother of the bride.

Mrs. Wilbur selected a navy dress and matching accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Heeres, mother of the bridegroom, wore a navy dress with navy accessories. Their corsages were of white carnations and yellow rosebuds.

After a wedding trip through the Upper Peninsula, the couple will live in Ellsworth.

The bride is a 1958 graduate of the Grand Blanc high school. The bridegroom, a 1958 graduate of the Ellsworth high school, is employed at the East Jordan Iron Works.

Lutheran Church To Observe Week Of Open House

The Rev. George Mumm of Wausau, Wis., will be the guest pastor at Bethany Lutheran church here during Lutheran Open House Week, November 1-5. Rev. Mumm is a World War II veteran who served 14 months in the Pacific theater. He is a graduate of Concordia Seminary, Springfield, Ill. Rev. Mumm has been active in the youth work of the church.

The guest pastor will conduct the service on Sunday morning at 9:15 and will speak on the subject "Missionary or Mission Field?" He will also conduct services every evening at 8 p.m., Sunday through Thursday. He will speak on the "Great 'Ones' of the Bible," "One God," "One Book," "One Savior," One Purpose," "One Decision." Object lessons for the children in attendance, and a question and answer period will also be a part of these evening services.

Members of the congregation will make a special effort during this week of Lutheran Open House to invite people who do not go to church to attend these evening services. Everyone is cordially invited to attend any or all of these services the first week in November.

Three Workshops Offer Christmas Decorations Aid

A series of pine cone wreaths and other cone Christmas decoration workships will be given by Mrs. Clare Brown, county extension agent in home ec. They will be held at the Methodist church in East Jordan on Nov. 3rd; the basement of the Post Office in Boyne City on Nov. 4th, and the basement of the Charlevoix City Bldg. on Nov. 5. All workshops begin at 10:00 a.m.

Any interestd person is invited to attend. They will need to bring a variety of pine and spruce cones, six (6) guage florist wire or old battery cable, and a wire cutter or old scissors. Peach, apricot, prune and date pits, horse chestnuts, acorns and other dried material helps make a more interesting arrangement. A small drill and pruning shears are also useful.

Clare says that she will have the wire frames, no. 6 reed for making odd shaped frames, florist tape and wire for sale at the workshop.

Delegates Attend District Meeting Of Women's Clubs

Four delegates from Charlevoix last week Tuesday and Wednesday attended the northern district meeting of Michigan Federated Women's clubs held at Ludington.

The Shakespeare Study club was represented by Mrs. Ralph Hess sr., and Mrs. Karl Erber. Delegates from the Dickens Study club were Mrs. P. D. Campbell and Mrs. Harold M. Totten.

The two-day conference was attended by 150 delegates from throughout the district.

Bowling News

BY MEG

Back from the hunting. Hunt not so good, bowling either.

Moonlight rolled into first place with the help of Greg Geneit's 213-541, followed by Big Jim's 501. Central Drugs anchor came alive in the first game with Long John's (Herb Moore) 207-491 but fell short in the end 1-3. Pete (Harold) Withers followed Long John with 416.

Puff Appliance broke out on the alleys for a 4 point win over United Farms. V. Mathews was trying all the way going over his average for a 166-440 followed by D. Van Dremmel's 431. For Puff's No. 4 man Ed Lemcke showed up his master by bowling 204-205-189—598, but Puff made his presence known with his 213-550 series.

Lake Construction had good intentions when they walked in the alleys but didn't show it later. Steve's Bar took 3 to remove them from the tie for No. 1 spot. For the Construction Crew, Big John Wagan led the parade with a 177-472 but couldn't find the [illegible]. George Bergmann had a 439 series. For Steve's, Agerbaum showed up again with a nice 222-514 followed by Ken Cellner 502. Bob Miller tried all the way but the first game 110-113—371 series might just as well have been 571.

Freedman No. 2 tried hard to split with Airport Inn but Al Anderson's 205-190-546 series followed by Felix (the cat) 202-193 549 series and Des 203-526 put an end to the tie. Les(toil) Smith had a nice 207-571 series followed by Jack Niswander 469 series but still dropped to No. 4 spot.

Neff Grocery held on to No. 7 place even though they dropped 3 points to the Electric gang. Ted Browe led his gang with a 192-526 series followed by John Sladek 437. For Neff's Big Bergmann had a 201-494, B. Ward a 482 series.

Swanson Gravel ran into brother John's wood workers and lost 3 points. For Freedman No. 1 Supie led the wood workers with a 188-497 followed by his boss, John's 194-481. For the Gravel crew Bob Ferguson's 228-199-579 series. (with a different ball) was just about it. Brother-in-law Stub followed with 439 series. Ed had a 86 first game but tried to pick up his average in the middle game with a 152 but fell short in the third with a 113.

TO SOMETHING NEW IN FUEL OIL

Wake up to new, Anti-Rust Sinclair Fuel Oil — the oil that contains the amazing chemical ingredient RD-119, developed by Sinclair Research.

RD-119 assures you a purer, cleaner fuel oil than ever because it stops rust in the pipe lines, tank cars and trucks which carry the oil from the refinery to your home. In your burner, RD-119 protects against rust and corrosion that clog strainers and burner nozzle—protects against the excessive wear on burner parts caused by abrasive rust particles.

Yet new, Anti-Rust Sinclair Fuel Oil costs no more than ordinary fuel oil. Phone us today.

Adventures in Understanding

Notes from a northerner's diary

By Harold E. Kohn

Hunting The Hot Spots

The successful hunter is more than a good marksman. He is also a student of game environment, studying where his prey is most likely to be found. Without this knowledge even excellent marksmanship will be unavailing, for what can a crackshot accomplish without something to shoot?

An intelligent and well-informed hunter is aware that game animals are faced with the problem of finding enough food, warmth and concealment to keep them comfortable and healthy. Where these necessities are plentiful the game is likely to be abundant. Hunters sometimes call such concentrations of game animals "hot spots" and trappers know them as "fur pockets."

Here in the North hunting the hot spots for deer means seeking out those areas where there is plenty of good browsing for the animals, red maple shoots and sweetfern, twigs of poplar, balsam, apple, oak, sumac and willow, rye grasses, acorns and yellow water lily. Moreover there are certain places within browsing areas where deer tend to feed and rest most often. These are the spots that the sun can reach, southern exposures of slopes that produce the heaviest harvest of buds and leaves, of fruits and nuts, and forest edges where meadows and woods meet, the meadows offering browse and the woods convenient concealment.

Meteorologists have tested hills with thermometers and have discovered there may be as much as ten degrees difference between the warmth at the top of a 300 foot slope and the cooler land toward the bottom. This is because the heavier cold air drains downhill very much as water does. At the bottom of hills and valleys there are pools of cooler air which deer and other game animals tend to avoid.

Where deer can find favorite food, warmth and shelter to their liking they are apt to stay, and so with their woodland neighbors, such as bear and raccoon, squirrel, grouse and woodcock. The knowing hunter watches such hot spots for his game.

There is a wisdom for handling life that matches such woods-wisdom as I have just mentioned: it too might be described as "hunting the hot spots." The person who handles life wisely looks for success where success is apt to be found and not where it is scarce or non-existent. Many a person spends his days under a pall of frustration because he cannot find what he is hunting for, inner security, freedom and independence, self respect, happiness in marriage or in daily work. Such people claim they cannot understand their failure. They believe their intelligence, earnestness and sincerity ought to guarantee them success in their striving. But they are like a hunter seeking whitetail deer in Chicago's Loop, or hunting fox squirrel in a treeless desert. No matter how sincere the hunter's interest he is fore-doomed to disappointment. The game isn't there.

Happiness is elusive. That is why the founding fathers of our nation used the expression "the pursuit of happiness." We have no inherent right to happiness itself, but only to its pursuit. And we never find it by merely wanting it, but it is discovered when we go to an environment hospitable to happiness. We find it when we find first those things that nourish it and shelter it.

* Happiness can be found in a healthy single-mindedness in having a great purpose and working toward it with a minimum of distraction.

* Happiness can be achieved through wholeheartedness, in living without reservations. In marriage it is loving one person in a way that one is unwilling to love anyone else at all. In ones trade or profession it is working at it as if salary and promotions mattered very little, and all that counts is doing the best possible job under the present circumstances. In religion it is belonging utterly to God with no holding back or anything, even the pocketbook!

* Happiness is found in a straight-pin-like wisdom, having a head that keeps you from going too far.

* Some happiness can be gained through reflecting on what we are about to say, rather than on what we have said.

* Happiness can be discovered while developing intellectual good taste, a right appraisal of the various values freely offered to us in our rich and wonderful world.

* Seek happiness in adventure and risk. A soul needs the challenge of danger. Be kind where there is danger that kindness will be misunderstood. Be gracious where there is risk thta your thoughtfulness will be snubbed. Give where there is no likelihood of return.

* Happiness can be found in attacking an evil and uprooting it—poverty, disease, ignorance, social injustice, war and in spending oneself assaulting the evil that ruins people rather than harming people themselves.

* Look for happiness in the commendation and support of the people for whom you have the highest esteem, rather than seeking everyone's endorsement of what you are and what you do. Especially seek a consciousness of God's approval.

* We shall discover happiness in an open life, when we have nothing to cover up, nothing of which we need to be ashamed before man or God.

* Happiness is derived from pardoning freely those who have slighted or abused us.

* We find happiness in gratitude, seeking the good in all things in the here and now and recognizing that the good in our lives has come from beyond us, from the lives of others, (many of them unknown to us) and from Above.

Seeking happiness through popularity, through self indulgence, or mere wealth is like hunting for polar bears in Africa or for elephants in Alaska. It is futile, no matter how excellent one's markmanship may be.

Like all the other good things of life, happiness has its hot spots where it is fed and sheltered and where it likes to dwell. Look for it there.

And now, good hunting!

Ironton News

Mrs. James Barnt

The Ironton Farm Bureau Group met at the home of Mr. and Mrs Wayne Saunders Saturday evening. The new officers were in charge of the meeting. The new officers are: Discussion Leader, Mrs. Guy Smith; Assistant Discussion Leader, Vernon Mathews; Minute Man, Ole Nielsen; Chairman, Guy Smith; Vice-Chairman, Franklin Cellner; Farm Bureau Package Reporter, Aaron Brock; Secretary, Mrs. Wayne Saunders; Member County Women's Committee, Mrs. Vernon Mathews; Recreation Leader, hostess of each meeting; News Reporter, Mrs. Aaron Brock; Song Leader, Albert Carlson; County Director, Stanley Houghton; and Roll Call Captain, Wayne Saunders. Mr. Smith showed color movies of Tahquamenon Falls taken earlier this month, and of all the snow we had last winter, which served as a reminder of things to come.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kroll and sons, Kevin and Mark, returned home Wednesday, October 21st, after a five-day visit to the southern part of the state. They visited Mrs. Kroll's sisters and their families, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Marengo and family, of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Alden Olson and family, of Troy, and Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Nothhelfer and family, of Rochester. On the way home they visited friends in Stockbridge. While their parents and younger brothers were away, Bruce and Kay Kroll stayed at the home of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Young, of Charlevoix. Steve Kroll was the guest of Steve Bergmann, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Bergmann, of Charlevoix. Paul and Alan Kroll were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Howell Parsel and family.

Dr. and Mrs. William E. Harrison and Miss Florence Harrison, of Dearborn spent two days at their cottage last week. They enjoyed the colorful fall foliage, even thought it seems somewhat faded to local residents. Mr. and Mrs. James Barnt were dinner guests of the Harrisons at the Dilworth Hotel in Boyne City Thursday evening to celebrate Mrs. Harrison's birthday, which was Friday.

A wedding of local interest took place in Bay City Saturday. Miss Gail Beck and Charles McDermott were united in marriage. Guests attending from here were Charles' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack McDermott, his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Williams, of East Jordan, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Williams and daughter, Lynda, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Sonny Williams, Mr and Mrs. Richard Russell, and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Kanoff.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Williams' hunting trip to Fairgrove last week was a very successful one. Mr. Williams bagged the limit of two pheasants both days. Makes one's taste buds tingle, doesn't it?

Mr. and Mrs. James Barnt visited Mr. and Mrs. Richard Tunison and son Barton, of Charlevoix on Friday evening.

Wednesday morning visitors of Mrs. James Barnt were Mrs. Robert Hamilton and daughter, Judy, and Mrs. Warren Toussaint and daughter Debby, all of Charlevoix.

Mrs. Gertrude Colwell returned home Saturday after spending a little more than a week in Little Traverse Hospital in Petoskey. Best wishes for a speedy recovery are sent her way.

Mr. and Mrs. James Barnt went for a drive Sunday to Gaylord and vicinity and saw the unusual and beautiful sight of fall and winter combined. Otsego County received approximately two inches of wet snow Sunday. Many of the trees still were clothed in fall colors, and the sight of the clean white snow on the leaves and on the evergreens was truly beautiful to behold. There was a new and even prettier scene around each bend in the road.

Lancers Lose To Vanderbilt

It was a very wet and nasty day this past Friday afternoon when the Ellsworth Lancers journeyed to Vanderbilt to play their football game. They were beaten 20-0.

Their next game will be this Friday night with Central Lake on the Ellsworth field.

MINUTES OF SCHOOL BOARD MEETING

October 5, 1959

Present: Boss, Freedman, Lieberman, Martin, Smith and Bennett, Supt. Absent: None.

The meeting was called to order at 8:15 p.m.

Minutes of the meeting of September 23rd were read and approved, as were those of a special meeting October 1.

Moved by Martin and supported by Freedman that bills in the amount of $3,137.01 be apprnved and ordered paid. Carried: 5-0.

After a discussion of enabling legislation for the National Defense Act, in which Mr. Bennett informed the Board that their wishes to contact members of the proper committee had been accomplished, it was urged that everything possible be done to encourage immediate legislative approval.

Bill Carey, of the Hamlin Insurance Agency, appeared with regard to liability insurance for the school — with particular emphasis on the new high school construction.

Bids were received for fleet insurance covering the eight buses and two driver training cars owned by the school. Bids were submitted by: Hamlin Insurance Agency, Farm Bureau Insurance Co., Max Novak Agency, and the Citizens Mutual Automobile Insurance Co. Moved by Smith and supported by Martin that the bid presented by the Max Novak Agency be accepted. Carried: 5-0.

It was moved by Smith, supported by Freedman, that the bid of the Bjorklund Construction Co. of Douglas, Michigan, for the General Contract for construction of the new building project be accepted as follows: Base Bid—$596,301; 1st Alternate — minus $4,350; 2nd Alternate—plus $9,710; Total $601,661.00. Motion carried: 5-0.

Moved by Freedman and supported by Smith that the bid of Wares & Son, Traverse City, for the Mechanical Contract be accepted at $143,387.00. Motion carried: 5-0.

Moved by Freedman and supported by Smith that the bid of the C. E. Davis Electric Co. of Traverse City, for the Electrical Contract, be accepted at $65,00.00. Motion carried: 5-0.

Moved by Martin and supported by Freedman that the bid of the Post Fixture Co. of Grand Rapids, for kitchen equipment, be accepted at $19,582.00. Motion carried: 5-0.

Mr. Lieberman, President, was asked to get the various contracts from the architect and have Norman Ance, attorney, give a legal opinion before having them properly executed.

Arrangements were made by Mr. Bennett for a demonstration of electrical equipment for the language laboratories by an RCA representative next Wednesday, October 14, and of a complete installation at the Traverse City high school on Wednesday the 21st of October.

It was decided to ask the PTA to aid in a continuous study of the curriculum, and get some professional leadership for this study.

Mr. Lieberman suggested, and the Board concurred, that a team of Board members, PTA members — or others —be sent to Flint, Michigan, for the Fourth Community Education Workshop October 28, 29 and 30.

The Board was reminded that opening of bids on science equipment, homemaking and library installations, will be at 8 p.m. October 20.

It was moved by Freedman and supported by Smith that the funds in the Building and Site Fund recently received from Treasury Notes that have fallen due be re-invested. Motion carried: 5-0.

The meeting adjourned at 9:40 p.m.

ALBERT H. SMITH, Secretary

BY FRAN MARTIN

The Charlevoix Rayders successfully hurdled another obstacle, the Gaylord Blue Devils, in their march toward a second consecutive Northern Michigan Class C title by defeating their hosts 27 to 7 Friday night.

The Rayders had anticipated more serious opposition from the Blue Devils who now have a record of two wins, two losses and one tie.

Bob Burnson kicked off to the Rayders who fumbled with the Blue Devils recovering on the Charlevoix 31 yard line. After several attempts the Rayders took over on the 30 but they, in turn, lost the ball when they were forced to punt to Gaylord who took to the air in an effort to move the ball. Tackle Bruce Pease intercepted a pass on the Gaylord 19 and after a one-yard gain by Bud Balch, Charles Coleman passed to end Dick VanRaaphorst for the tally. VanRaaphorst's boot was good and Charlevoix took the lead.

Charlevoix kicked off to Gaylord who moved the ball to their own 27 where Stan Smith recovered a Gaylord fumble.

The Rayder offense bogged down, however, and Gaylord was in possession of the ball on their own 20 as the quarter ended 7 to 0 in Charlevoix's favor.

On the first play from scrimmage, the Blue Devils sprung end [illegible] Johnston for a 78 yard run and a tally. Burnson added the conversion to knot the score.

Again Gaylord took to the air only to have Jim Sneathen intercept a pass on the Charlevoix 33. Gary Chew moved the ball to the Gaylord 38. Charles Coleman passed to VanRaaphorst for a six yard gain to the 26. Balch then went for pay dirt to make the score 13 to 0 after the conversion kick was wide.

Gaylord took the kickoff and moved it to the 27 where Charlevoix recovered a Gaylord fumble. A pass from Coleman to VanRaaphorst moved the ball to the seven where Balch went in to score. However an offside penalty moved the ball back to the 12 from where Balch went in again to score. VanRaaphorst added the conversion point to put Charlevoix ahead 20 to 7. The half ended several plays later with Gaylord on their own 33.

Charlevoix kicked off to Gaylord to open the second half. An exchange of punts found Gaylord in possession of the ball on their own 31 from where they were forced to punt once more. Sam Supernaw, who had replaced Coleman in the line-up, moved the ball to the Charlevoix 31 from where Chew broke lose for a 69 yard run and the Rayders final tally of the game. VanRaaphorst made the score 27 to 7 with his kick

The Rayders kicked off to Gaylord who were in possession of the ball on their 44 as the third period ended.

The final period saw the ball change hands several times as Gaylord tried desperately to get back into the game. They offered no serious opposition to the determined Rayder squad, however, as the game ended.

The victory kept the Rayders in the race for the title against Mancelona who edged Harbor Springs 13 to 12 to remain in a first place tie with Charlevoix.

Dope Sheet

This week the Charlevoix Rayders coached by Don Carey, will defend their record of 14 consecutive victories including two over Class B Rogers City against the Mancelona Ironmen who are currently tied with the Rayders for first place in loop standings. Both teams have records of five loop wins for the season.

Friday's game may well be the battle for the title for both teams have comparable records to date with only one game each remaining following this week's meeting. Mancelona will close out the season with Grayling while the Rayders have yet to meet Pellston.

To date Mancelona has won over East Jordan (19-6), Pellston (39-0), Boyne City (13-0), Gaylord (12-7) and Harbor Springs (13-12) while losing to Oscoda (13-12) in a non loop pre-schedule game.

Charlevoix, on the other hand, has won over Boyne City (33-0), Grayling (27-7), East Jordan (45-6), Harbor Springs (47-0) and Gaylord (27-7) while winning also over Rogers City (32-0) to continue the winning streak started last season.

The game will pit Mancelona's line which averages 185 pounds on defense against Charlevoix's smaller forward which averages 170 pounds.

The Ironmen have scored 96 points including 15 touchdowns and six out of 15 conversions attempts, while Charlevoix has scored 27 touchdowns and been successful on 18 conversion attempts.

Right halfback Jason Buckwheat is the big gun in Mancelona's offense, having scored 10 of the team's 15 touchdowns and added one conversion point. Left halfback Ken Johnson has scored two, quarterback Bill Weiser, fullback Walter Klein and right end Tom Moeke have scored one each. The team's five remaining points have been scored on line plunges or end runs.

The Rayders scoring has been more divided with five players scoring three or more touchdowns. Leading the offensive attack is Bud Balch with nine touchdowns followed by Dick VanRaaphorst who has five TDs plus 18 points after touchdown to his credit.

They are followed by Gary Chew and Sam Supernaw with four each. Charles Coleman with three and Stan Smith and Mark Cross with one each for a total of 180 points. Charlevoix opponents have scored 19 points.

On the basis of these figures, Charlevoix has a more versatile team but the size and scrappiness of the Ironmen can not be discounted.

The Ironmen have a league title within their sights for the first time in loop history. This exact condition existed several seasons ago and the Rayders shattered their hopes at that time. These intangibles combined with a well balanced team which packs serious scoring threat will make Mancelona a tough advisary and Charlevoix will have to play their best brand of ball from the first kickoff to the final whistle if they are to successfully defend their outstanding record.

The victory extended Charlevoix's victory string to 14 games including two over Class B Rogers City.

Mancelona Has A Squeaker East Jordan, Boyne City Win

Mancelona and Charlevoix continued to dominate the Northern Michigan Class C loop following Friday's victories over Harbor Springs and Gaylord, respectively.

Mancelona squeaked past Harbor Springs 13 to 12 and Charlevoix dumped Gaylord 27 to 7 while East Jordan was winning over Pellston 25 to 0 and Boyne City was holding Grayling to a 25 to 19 score.

Paced by Doug Meeker the Harbor Springs Rams were well on their way to an upset over the first place Ironmen Friday night before Jason Buckwheat saved the day for Mancelona with two touchdowns and the conversion point which made the difference between a tie and a victory.

Behind the outstanding play of the Rams line, Meeker scored from the four yard line in the first quarter and again on a 47 yard touchdown play in the second period to give Harbor Springs, the underdogs in this important game a 12 to 0 halftime lead.

In the third period, however, the Ironmen came to life and after a concerted drive moved the ball into scoring position. It was Buckwheat who carried the ball into pay dirt to make the score 12 to 6. In the final period the Ironmen tied the score 12-all on another four yard run by Buckwheat who then came through with a conversion kick

East Jordan, with a record of three wins in five games moved into sole possession of second place behind Charlevoix and Mancelona after racking up a 25 to 0 win over Pellston.

Boyne City and Grayling punched it out in a seesaw battle which saw the lead change several times before Jack Dixon scored from the two on a quarterback sneak for the Rambler victory.

Roger Hatfield broke through center for a 63 yard run and then booted the extra point to give the Vikings a 7 to 0 advantage early in the game. Doug Grubbe, on a 57 yard run, put the Ramblers, back in the running when he scored in first period. However, the boot for the extra point was wide and Boyne City still trailed by one point.

A Boyne City fumble recovered by Dave Wyman who scored from the 30 gave the Vikings a 13 to 6 advantage but a tally by Tom Kujawski from seven yards out cut the Vikings' margin to one point.

Grubbe scored again, this time from the 17 yard line, to open the action in the second half but Mike Roberts scooped up a Rambler fumble and went in from the 11 to score to put Grayling ahead 19 to 18. It wasn't until late in the game that Jack Dixon went in from the two yard line on a quarterback sneak that Boyne City put the game on ice.

Old Rivals Meet In Big Week

Charlevoix will entertain Mancelona in what may well be the championship game here Friday to headline the action in the Northern Michigan Class C league this week.

East Jordan, in second place with a record of three wins and two losses, will invade Boyne City whose record boasts one win, one tie and three losses. The Red Devils have managed wins over Pellston, Harbor Springs and Grayling while losing to the first place teams, Charlevoix and Mancelona.

Boyne City racked up its first win Friday, a 25 to 19 victory over Grayling. Earlier the Ramblers had played Pellston to a 20-20 tie while posting three losses.

Despite East Jordan's record, however, the Red Devils are going to find their road a tough one this week for the Ramblers have tasted victory and will be out to better their present status.

Harbor Springs will travel to Gaylord to take on the Blue Devils who only recently tied Pellston, a team the Rams had upset earlier after the Hornets had run up a 20 point lead. The Rams are hopeful that they will be able to contain the Blue Devils backfield, as did the Hornets, and at least tie the team that has a record of two wins, a tie and two losses.

On the basis of ability, the Blue Devils should have a definite edge in the meeting but after holding first place Mancelona to a 13 to 12 win, the Rams will be [illegible] for an upset or at least a tie.

Pellston, with a record of two ties and three losses, will be taking on the Grayling Vikings, who with Harbor Springs, are tied for the cellar position.

The Pellston outfit has been a most erratic one while the Vikings have shown great promise on occasion so this should be an interesting meeting with the outcome a toss-up.

Lenore Erber, Charlevoix high school junior and an avid skier, has been named Winter Sports Queen to represent Charlevoix at the first annual Sno-Sho scheduled to open at the Civic Auditorium in Grand Rapids today (Thursday).

Queen Lenore will also be a candidate for Michigan Winter Sports Queen to be selected during the show which will continue through Saturday.

Lenore, a 5 ft. 8 in. blue-eyed blonde was selected to represent Charlevoix by a panel of judges composed of representatives from northern Michigan ski resorts, Royce Asher of Boyne Mountain, Gerry Fineout of Walloon Hills and Axel Ullberg of the area's newest resort, Jordan Valley club.

Other sponsors were the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce, Weathervane Lodge and the Weathervane Inn.

Accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gillam of the lodge and James Patterson of the Inn, Queen Lenore will depart early Thursday for the show in Grand Rapids where she will be in attendance at the Charlevoix booth, answering questions about local and area ski resorts, facilities and accomodations.

After meeting with the judges at the lodge Friday afternoon, the queen candidates attended a dinner at the Inn and then attended the football game.

Diane Uhrick has been asked to accompany the group to Grand Rapids and work in the booth during the show.

Queen Lenore was given a season's membership at Mt. McSauba ski club and a snow suit, courtesy of the Mt. McSauba Ski club.

City Accepts $4,000 To Settle Law Suit

A $4,000 out-of-court settlement between Charlevoix City officials and Charles Weaver of Detroit, a dealer in used engines, was reached in Oakland county circuit court Thursday.

The city had sued Weaver for $50,000 for selling what the city contended was a faulty diesel engine taken from a navy landing craft which the city used in its municipal electrical generating plant.

The break in the case before a jury came Wednesday when the presiding judge, Clark J. Adams, told attorneys for the city they could not show the condition of the 1136 KW opposed piston Fairbanks Morse diesel engine generator when it was delivered some 18 months earlier.

Weaver's attorney, H. William Butler, contended the diesel had been damaged by being stored outside from the time it was delivered in October of 1955 by Weaver until the troubles were noticed in April of 1957, according to a news release from Pontiac.

Hal M. Hill, former city superintendent, testified that while the city awaited shipment of some parts from Wisconsin it was decided to test the engine out. It was then that the condition of the engine was discovered.

The attorney contended that the engine became the responsibility of the city on delivery. City officials said they had to spend $50,000 to put the engine in working order and that Weaver was responsible.

Prior to negotiating a purchase contract the engine was examined at Houston by then Mayor Dean Davenport, councilman Tom Carey, City Superintendent Charles Robinson and Consulting Engineer B. J Sims at the invitation and expense of the seller, Charles Weaver of Detroit. The inspection was necessarily of an exterior nature as the engine had been stored by the Navy in mothballs. The group, however, had an inspection report from the J. R Beneal Agency, marine inspectors for Lloyds of London, which more or less intimated the engine was as good as new.

This apparently was sufficient for the two engineers on the junket who recommended purchase.

The fact that the city settled a $50,000 damage suit for $4,000 does not mean the city has lost all of $46,000, according to City Attorney Norman D. Ance. He points out that every conceivable expense necessary to rebuild the engine to as nearly new con-

Robert Vratanina Named Registrar At NCM College

The appointment of Robert Vratanina as Registrar and Director of Student Personnel at North Central Michigan College in Petoskey was announced Wednesday.

Mr. Vratanina, a native of Charlevoix, is now on the staff of the college teaching History and Political Science.

He will start his new work on a part-time basis at once and will be employed in the position full-time beginning July 1. During the next school year his teaching load will be reduced to allow him time for his new duties which will consist of handling students applications and registration as well as record keeping. He also will direct the college counseling guidance and testing program.

A 1943 graduate of the Charlevoix high school, he served nine years in the armed services; three of them being with Military Intelligence where he supervised military personnel as a commanding officer and was used as a liason officer to British, French and German Intelligence Personnel. He was discharged with the rank of Captain.

He has a Bachelor's degree from Michigan State University as well as a Master's degree. He also has completed half the work needed for his Doctor's degree in Guidance and Counseling.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Vratanina, he, his wife, the former Dorothea Perry, and their two children, Diane and Robert live at Pickerel Lake.

Ralph S. Hamilton To Attend State Kiwanis Meeting

Ralph S. Hamilton, plans to leave Thursday for Eaton Rapids to attend a Lieutenant Governor's Training Conference conducted by Charles Sauer of Grand Rapids, governor of the Michigan District of Kiwanis International.

Mr. Hamilton is lieutenant governor of 15th Division of the service organization.

Applicants Would Place 3,000 Acres In Soil Bank

More than 3,000 acres of county farm land will be taken out of crop production this year if the 36 applications filed with the Soil Bank Conservation Reserve are approved, ASC Chairman Robert W. Reidel has announced. All applicants would retire their whole farm.

Applications will be analysed and a physical check made of the land offered, Reidel said. All applicants will be notified of the action taken and those accepted will sign a contract with the ASC to keep the specified land out of production for a period up to ten years.

In return the farmer will receive an annual rental payment plus a share of the cost of any conservation practices approved.

Chest Drive Collects Half Proposed Goal

The 1959 Community Chest fund drive passed the halfway mark this week with a total of $5,562.03 contributed to date, Mrs. James Coleman, fund chairman reported Wednesday.

"Unless people who have not been contacted come forth with their contributions and others increase their original gift the drive will fall short of its goal and 12 agencies included in the drive will not receive their quotas, thus making it necessary to cut the many services they offer to the community," Mrs. Coleman said regarding the present drive.

There is no agency included in the fund campaign from which the community does not benefit in one way or another, Hal M. Hill, chairman of the Community Chest board said. "It is for this reason that everyone should contribute to these most worthwhile organizations," he added.

One former resident now living in Lansing, sent an unsolicited check for $10 to the Charlevoix Community Chest drive with the following note: "Though I am no longer a resident of your community, I want to express my appreciation to Charlevoix and the agencies included in its Community Chest drive. I know that all the agencies are most worthwhile but there is one for which I am most grateful, the community nurse. I happen to know how much she does for the people of your community, things that are above and beyond her regular duties, so I would like you to accept this small check in gratitude."

Perhaps you, as a resident of this community, should review the benefits you receive or are availablbe to you should you ever need them from such agencies as the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Community Nurse, Red Cross, Salvation Army, City Recreation, Charlevoix Hospital, Charlevoix Association to Aid Retarded Children, Charlevoix Service Organization, Emergency Fund, Michigan United Fund, and the Mt. McSauba Ski club and then give a little more in appreciation for services rendered.

Name Winners In Halloween Window Painting

Winners in the second annual window painting contest sponsored by the Charlevoix Jaycees have been announced by Charles Bennett and Desmond Milligan, co-chairmen of the popular Hallowe'en event.

Top honors and the Jaycee trophy were awarded to the tenth grade whose painting appeared on the window at the Charlevoix Oil Co. Honorable mention was given the twelfth grade entry on the Lieberman window, Eighth grade on the Central Drug window and the Eleventh grade entry at Schroeder and Hovey Drug.

In the elementary school, Mrs. Novotny's third grade entry on Window No. 6 and Mrs. Badger's third grade painting on Window No. 8, both on the Harbor Hardware windows, placed first and second respectively, in the Grades 1 through 3 division.

Mr. Toumela's sixth grade painting on the Ward Arcade window placed first and Mrs. Paul's fourth grade entry on the Bartlett Tile window won second place in the Grades 4 through 6 division.

Group 1 from St. Mary's school whose entries were on windows No. 2 and 3 respectively at Megison's Sinclair Service placed first and second in the younger group and the painting on the Laundromat Window No. 2 and Supermaw's Window No. 2 won first and second places among Group 2 entries. Sister M. Erle n was in charge of the project at St. Mary's school.

Gifts, redeemable through Saturday at Schroeder & Hovey Drug and Williams Cigar Store, were awarded top winners in the elementary grades.

Grade School to Hold Open House Next Wednesday

The Charlevoix Elementary school will hold an 'open house' Wednesday so that parents and friends may visit the rooms, view the work of the students and consult with the teachers, Glenn B Snider, elementary school principal, has announced.

All parents are urged to visit the classrooms between the hours of 7:00 and 8:30 p.m., meet with their children's teachers and discuss with them the progress of their children's work.

The open house is for children in the kindergarten through the sixth grade.

An open house for junior and senior high school [illegible] was held in connection with the PTA meeting last Wednesday.

Wm. Downs Heads State Committee on Juvenile Affairs

William T. Downs, Charlevoix County Probate Judge, has been named chairman of the Juvenile Affairs Committee, one of the six major committees of the Michigan Probate and Juvenile Judges Association, by Robert Pulley of St. Joseph county, president of the state organization.

The appointment, which is for one year, marks the first time in recent years an outstate judge has been named to head a major committee.

Among the duties of the committee is to aid in the improvement of juvenile procedures in the courts; the submitting of new proposals to the state legislature for consideration and disposal of juvenile cases.

Former Resident Returned Here For Last Rites

Mrs. Jennie Deckerhoof 86, former local resident who had lived in Detroit for the past 45 years, died Monday at the home of her son, George Murray, in Dearborn where she had lived for the past few months.

Funeral services will be held at the Winchester Funeral Home at 2 p.m. Thursday with the Rev. George L. Majors officiating. Burial will be in Brookside cemetery.

Born in Adrian July 10, 1873, the former Jennie May Ostrum was married and lived here before going to Detroit in 1904. She was a member of the Metropolitan Methodist church in Detroit.

Besides her son, George Murray of Dearborn, she is survived by five grandchildren; eight great-grandchildren and nine great-great-grandchildren.

Auto Reservations For Island Hunting Break Record

Beaver Island, located 32 miles northwest of here in northern Lake Michigan, is anticipating the largest influx of deer hunters since the island was opened to the sport according to James W. Gallagher, business manager of the Beaver Island Boat Co. at the city dock.

Mr. Gallagher is basing his prediction on the number of early reservations for cars to be transported to the island aboard the ferry Emerald Isle, which operates daily between Charlevoix and the island.

Approximately 75 reservations have been made thus far. Others are expected between now and the opening of the season on Nov. 15.

Reservations far exceed those of past years when the island population was more than doubled by the visiting deer hunters from throughout the midwest.

One hunter, wanting to make sure he has transportation while on the 17-mile long island which is a hunter's paradise, sent his car Friday in order to avoid the last minute rush, Mr. Gallagher said.

Hillsdale Man to Take On Duties Here Nov. 30

The appointment of James Taylor, public works administrator at Hillsdale since 1957 and superintendent of public utilities for the past two years, as city superintendent of Charlevoix has been announced by Mayor E. James Hiller.

[illegible] 7,000, Mr. Taylor [illegible] capacities he was responsible for a city budget of $[illegible] and a utility budget of $[illegible]. He was in charge of supervision of 65 employees.

Mr. Taylor has been associated with the city of Hillsdale since 1927, first as a lineman for the Board of Public Works and from 1937 as maintenance foreman. In 1941 he was named assistant superintendent for the Board of Public works in charge of all electrical distribution for the municipally-owned power plant. In 1948 he became superintendent of distribution and supervised the construction of the city's present sewage disposal system.

In 1952 and '53 he supervised the expansion of the electric power plant and the installation of a 3,000 KW diesel generating unit and engineered changes in the distribution system.

A native of Coldwater, Mr. Taylor attended the University of Pennsylvania before going to Hillsdale. He is married and has two grown children, a son and a daughter. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor will move here later this month.

City winter taxpayers, numbering more than 1,600 will find a slight increase in their winter tax [illegible] they receive tax statements early next month [illegible] week.

The [illegible] taxes will amount to $[illegible] per $1000 valuation, an increase of $1.0722 over last year's taxes of $34.1391 per $1000 valuation.

Of the total amount on the statement, the county receives 10.749 mills for operational costs as allocated and 2.9643 for the Grandvue Medical Facility as voted. This is the third year the latter has appeared on the statement.

For the first time in 10 years millage for the courthouse sinking fund does not appear on the statement. This millage was voted for [illegible] years for the fund which was retired this past year with the completion of the new county building.

The remainder of the millage, 21.4980 mills, will go to the schools. In this category will be found "School allocated," or millage allowed by the tax allocation board from the limit allowed by law; "School voted (debt retirement)", which is millage approved by a vote in 1952 to underwrite the cost of construction of the music and industrial arts building and a four-room addition to the elementary school which is appearing on the statement for the last time and "School voted (debt retirement new)," the millage approved in November 1958 to underwrite the $995,000 bond issue for the new junior-senior high school now under construction at the Garfield ave. site.

The following chart reveals how the millage is apportioned:

County:
County operational allocated	10.749
Grandvue Medical Facility, voted	2.9643
	13.7133
Schools:
Schools allocated	13.2296
School voted (debt retirement)	.8268
School voted (debt retirement new)	7.4416
	21.4980
	25.2113

The millage will be levied on the city's county equalized valuation figure of $5,106,850.

The city receives no revenue from the so-called winter taxes and serves only as a collection agency for the county.

City revenues come from the summer taxes which are levied in July at the rate of 17 mills per $1,000 valuation.

Stock Market 1959 vs. 1929

No one can forecast with any certainty what any corporation stock, or the stock market in general, will do in the future. On that market, as in all phases of life, change [illegible]. Values rise and values fall.

Some principles, however, appear to be worthy of consideration. Sylvia Porter, a well known financial columnist, recently [illegible] with one.

[illegible] stock market activity in late years has cast [illegible] in the minds of some persons. Do conditions today parallel those that lead to the tragic collapse of 1929? Miss Porter views 1929 as a gambler's market. Stocks were bought on paper-thin margins in the hope of quick profits. Persons of very small means risked everything they had to get rich-quick speculation.

Today, Miss Porter points out the differences are basic. [illegible] words, "[illegible] today's stockholder has his own cash [illegible] the market; he clearly owns his securities."

On top of that, she goes on, today's stockholder is a different breed of cat from that of 1929. "He is primarily a middle-income individual with extra money to put into the stock market. The word 'extra' is crucial, for this means that stockholders today are not playing with the rent money. Of the 12,400,000 individual shareholders in our nation today, almost half are in the $5,000-$10,000 bracket and the average stockholder has a household income of $7,000.

It is true, no one can guarantee what will happen to the value of a stock. But today's market is built on ownership rather than margins as it was in 1929.

Notes from a [illegible] diary

By Harold [illegible] Kohn

Reflections on the Meaning of November

It is now 11:10 P.M. of a November evening. Mixed snow and rain are falling on the North. The end of this day fits all its other parts, for the early hours were laden with gray sobriety; [illegible] noon saw low clouds bumping their snow-heavy bellies against the hills, and sunset brought only the faintest hint of color [illegible] the bleak and scowling western [illegible]. All of this day has threatened [illegible] tender and tears.

Few people feel neutral concerning November. It's either [illegible] or [illegible]. Thomas Hood [illegible] to have despised these [illegible]:

"No!
No warmth, no cheerfulness, no healthful ease—
No comfortable feel in any member—
No shade, no shine, no butterflies, no bees,
No fruits, no flowers, no leaves, no birds,
No-vember!"

For myself, I find Dixie Willson's lines more in accord with my feeling—

I like the fall,
The mist and all.
I like the night owl's
Lonely call—
And wailing sound
Of wind around.
I like the gray
November day,
And bare, dead boughs
That coldly sway
Against my pane
I like the rain.
I like to sit
And laugh at it—
And tend
My cozy fire a bit.
I like the fall—
The mist and all—."

Hood's lines were cleverer, but complaining. Dixie Willson was a poorer poet but a richer soul, if appreciation of the present moment [illegible] quality of spirit.

Although it is true November [illegible] between [illegible] death, having [illegible] gold radiance [illegible] column of [illegible] that are more [illegible] as well as decor[illegible] the hearth when dogs and cats return to their long-deserted places by the hearth. November days feature the brittle crackle of leaves under heel and the rattling of bare boughs overhead, sounds that burst against the silences reminding us by way of contrast, of the great quiet of the world before the advent of noisy man.

Wedges of wild geese split the sky as they head southward. The weasel and the varying hare doff summer brown and dress in white snowsuits. Deer change their light summer wear for heavy winter coats. In the pasture our mound-building ant neighbors, warned by frost, descend to the lower parts of their nests. Squirrels hurry home with their latest collections of winter stores of acorns, beech and hickory nuts. [illegible] found [illegible] more [illegible] Wasps [illegible] expensed pa[illegible] for better shelter, while [illegible] refuge under deep [illegible] and crickets snuggle [illegible] and stones.

To be sure, November is unlike lovely May and smiling June and not at all like gilded September or sparkling January. But the appreciative eye looks not for what is missing but for what is there, and to such an eye November offers its own peculiar satisfactions.

It seems to me that here is a [illegible] difference between a life of miserable grumbling and a life of joy: the grumbler is most aware of what he has never owned and what he has lost, while the grateful person is aware of what he presently possesses, [illegible] how meager. The complainer overlooks the bountiful treasures of life all around him and feeds his mind on lacks and shortages. The happy person happily overlooks many deficiencies because of his appreciation of what he has.

The first Thanksgiving was celebrated by people who, to all appearances, had very little for which to be thankful. Their first winter on American shores had been hard on them. Because their housing was inadequate nearly all the Puritans suffered from exposure and about one-half the population died the first winter. These pioneers attempted to build a small fishing industry and to establish a trading post at Plymouth. Both failed. They hoped to trade profitably with the Indians. But the Indians were [illegible] dying of a plague. A cooperative program was tried, [illegible] the work would [illegible] the pro[illegible] self-inter[illegible].

After [illegible] this wretched blunder [illegible] the Puritans celebrated Thanksgiving. Instead of gathering [illegible] tales of woe they [illegible] their condition to see [illegible] they had left. They were [illegible] from the persecution suffered in England. The few Indians left near Plymouth were [illegible] Squanto [illegible] a noble teacher of [illegible] New World [illegible] English Puritan [illegible]

Misery comes largely of wanting more than we have. This being so, anyone can be miserable no matter how wealthy, or healthy, no matter how fortunate.

Joy comes from appreciating what we already possess. Since this is so almost anyone can be [illegible]

Surprise Style Show Planned By Church Circle

The Susanna Wesley circle of the First Methodist church will sponsor a Surprise Style Show at the church parlors Nov. 9, Mrs. Wilson Baker, president of the circle, announced this week.

The show will feature fashions never before shown any place, Mrs. Wayne Belding, general chairman of the event said. Mrs. Melvin Plum will be the commentator for the show which will be full of surprises and Mrs. Leonard Burns the pianist.

Refreshments will be served following the show.

Mrs. Carlton Ikens will be in charge of tickets for the show scheduled for 8:30 p.m. Monday, Nov. 9.

Members Attend O.E.S. Installation

Mrs. Melvin Plum, grand committee woman of the Grand Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star, was in Harrison Sunday evening to attend the annual installation of new officers.

She was accompanied by Mrs. Erwin Belfy sr., Mrs. Wayne Belding, Mrs Abe VerWys, Mrs. Glenn Ingalls and Mrs. John Witte.

PCA Announces Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Production Credit association of Gaylord will be held on Thursday, Nov. 5th, at the St. Mary's gymnasium on N. Otsego St., Gaylord. Registration will begin at 10:30 a.m.

The main speakr will be Orville Walker of Alba who will talk on agriculture in Cuba and show slides of pictures taken in Cuba and Hawaii. Mr. Walker, who has been Township Agrcultural Agent, has accepted the position of Potato Marketing Agent for the area.

The main business of the day will be the election of a director for a term of three years. The term of Sheridan Rhoads of Mio expires at this meeting.

There will be a free dinner served at noon, entertainment and prizes.

Retired School Employees Meet

The Great Pines chapter of the Michigan Retired Public School Employees association met recently in Petoskey at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. MacMillan. Members were present from Carp Lake, Petoskey, Charlevoix, Boyne City, Gaylord, Elmira, Mancelona, East Jordan and Harbor Springs.

Mrs. Ethel Winkler was elected corresponding secretary by the group at the business meeting Discussion centered around benefits recently made available to the association.

The next meeting will be held in East Jordan with Mr. Spitler, Mrs. MacMillan and Mr. Speltz in charge of the program.

Scout Troop 11 Captures Trophy

Charlevoix Boy Scouts Troop 11 captured the trophy offered for camping skills during the recent Northern District camporee held at Hardwood Forest east of Walloon Lake in the eastern section of Charlevoix county.

The Charlevoix troop was among the six units competing for the trophy which is awarded for camping skills and other camping requirements including competition in games and the campfire. Charlevoix won the trophy from the 1958 winner, Central Lake.

Participating in the weekend camping trip were Tom Maxwell, Paxton Warner, Terry Stewart, Robert McDermott, Jim Uhrick and John Bleha. They were accompanied by their Scoutmaster, Louis and Dale Meredith.

N. Central College Has Enrollment Of 168 Students

Final enrollment figures for the first semester at North Central College in Petoskey reveal that a total of 168 students are enrolled according to A. D. Shankland, dean of the college.

Ninety-seven are full-time students while the others are part-time students in both day and evening classes.

The total equated enrollment, which means dividing the work of the part-time students so that it equals the work of the full-time students, is 124 equated full-time students. This figure is 66 per cent higher than the original estimate of 75 students. However, this has caused no difficulty at the college as the first year staff had already been engaged with the thought in mind of offering a complete first year curriculum with little regard for the number of students to be served. As a result the college is able to handle this additional load of students with no increase in faculty.

Students are enrolled from 23 communities including all towns within a 40 mile radius of Petoskey plus several eastern Michigan and upper peninsula communities. Approximately 50 per cent of the students are from the Petoskey area and the remaining 50 per cent from outside the immediate area.

Milton Hagelberg of Michigan State University will be on the campus of North Central Michigan College in Petoskey every Thursday beginning today to counsel students and other interested persons who might be planning to attend the East Lansing school, according to A. D. Shankland, Dean of the Petoskey school.

This service is being offered because many students now enrolled at North Central College as well as adults in the area plan to continue their studies at Michigan State.

Mr. Hagelberg will be at Room 6 at North Central College in Petoskey from 10 a.m. til 3 p.m. each Thursday. Anyone desiring information about Michigan State may see him at that time.

O.E.S. to Conduct Open Installation Of New Officers

Mrs. Glenn Ingalls who will be installed as worthy matron of Charlevoix chapter No. 72, Order of the Eastern Star, has named the officers who will officiate at the open installation scheduled for 8 p.m. Friday at the Masonic Temple.

Mrs. Frank Courier will be the installing officer. She will be assisted by Mrs. James Hiller as installing marshall; Mrs. Frank Novotny as installing chaplain and Mrs. Charles Bellinger as installing organist. Mrs. Chester Belfy has been asked to sing at the ceremony during which elective and appointive officers for the coming year will be installed.

Mrs. Jule Guild, Mrs. Laverne Heise and Mrs. Novotny will serve on the reception committee.

Miss Lillis Flanders will head the refreshment committee and Mrs. Melvin Plum will be in charge of decorations.

Has Open House On Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jarvis were guests of honor Tuesday evening at an open house on the occasion of their silver wedding anniversary.

Hosting the affair which was attended by more than 50 relatives and friends were Mrs. Bert Staley, Mrs. John Fratrick and Mrs. Clarence Murray.

A silver anniversary cake centered the refreshment table which was decorated with tapers and bouquets of orchid mums.

A 'silver' tree to which guests tied silver dollars was presented to the couple from the group.

SUNDEW REPORTS

The fall fuel run got underway at 6 a.m. Wednesday. Original plans were to leave Charlevoix on Monday. Though the winds were moderate on Monday and Tuesday and couldn't have effected the movement of the ship, they were too high to allow the small boat and fuel barge to shuttle between the anchored ship and the lighthouse. Shallow water makes it difficult to moor alongside some of the lights necessitating use of the above mentioned boat and barge. While most of the lights use only diesel oil, White Shoal light also requires gasoline.

This was our first stop. After transferring the gasoline drums, the wind increased making unloading of the diesel oil impossible.

We continued to Mackinac Island where we moored until Tuesday afternoon. While there we transferred 9,000 gallons of diesel oil. The bleak quiet town was a contrast to the activity of two months ago. Everything closes down but the lifeboat station. Several buoys in the area were also checked.

We moored in Cheboygan Thursday afternoon. The small boat towed a barge full of gasoline drums to Fourteen Foot Shoal Light before liberty was granted. All the plans to get underway the remainder of the week were cancelled by gale force wind. We remained in Cheboygan over the weekend.

SUNDEW SCUTTLEBUTT . . .

We gained two and lost one, crew men, that is. George Hoganson SN left to attend electrician's mate school, in Groton, Conn. Ronald Gorzynski FA arrived for duty from the Coast Guard Boot Camp at Cape May, N. J. He entered the service in July after graduating from high school in Ludington, Mich. Thomas Rudd, SNBM reported for duty from the USCG Cutter Kukui, based at Sand Island, Honolulu, Hawaii. He has returned to Charlevoix for the second time, having served at the lifeboat station from Oct. 1956 until Dec. 1957 when he reported to the Kukui. His home is in Meadville, Pa. We've acquired a new mascot. The little dog was found in Cheboygan and brought back to the ship by Paul Prey. No name as yet. On Saturday afternoon several men went bowling. Chief Roderick Bassett was high man with a 217 followed by Bob Selinger with a 201. [illegible] Lawrence Opel took the booby prize with a 117.

Paul DeVries Has 86th Anniversary

Ellsworth — Paul DeVries celebrated his 86th birthday Sunday at his home here. Thirty-one of his relatives and friends were on hand to help him celebrate.

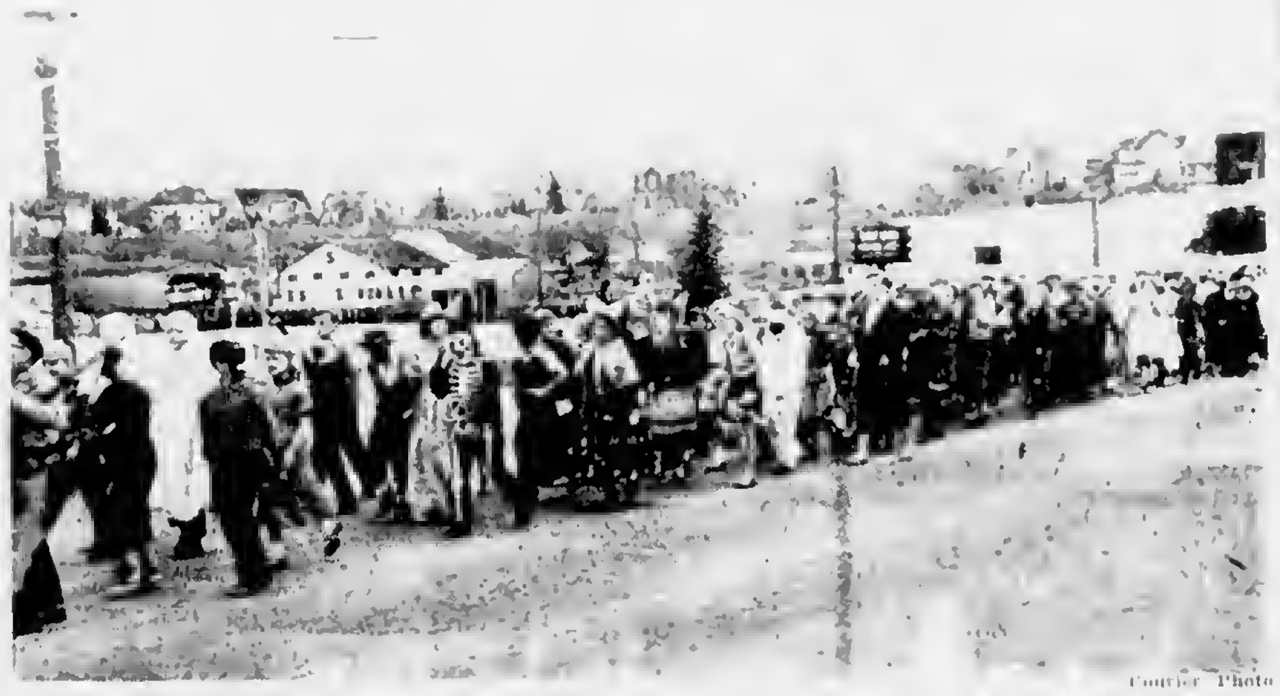
Weird and Colorful Pixies on Parade



Courier Photo

Charlevoix grade school students bedecked in an array of both colorful and weird costumes Friday afternoon staged their annual Halloween parade. The parade, led by the high school band was a feature of the Halloween entertainment sponsored each year by the Kiwanis Club of Charlevoix. Other features of the day's activities included a morning and afternoon movie for the students plus treats for all at the close of each show.

Ed. K. Shanahan Heads County Farm Bureau

Edward K Shanahan was elected president of the Charlevoix County Farm Bureau at the organization meeting of the recently elected directors Nov. 19, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Shanahan. Other officers are: first vice president, William Parsons; second vice president, Delbert Ingalls; secretary Fred W. Willis.

President Shanahan reports that the directors will have a full list of committees ready to present at the next meeting of the board, Nov. 2.

Eleven directors were elected earlier at the regular annual meeting of the Charlevoix County Farm Bureau. Each director represents a community Farm Bureau group. Directors elected for a two year term are Ardith Wieland, William Parsons, Tom Wieland, Delbert Ingalls, Gustave Matz, Lot Notestine, Edward K. Shanahan, Stanley Houghton, Charles Mascho, Norbert Nachazel and William Gaunt.

Members at the annual meeting passed a resolution recommending to the board of directors that up to $150 be added to the $255.65 fund already raised by the county organization for the purchase of a Whirlpool therapy machine for the Grandvue Medical facility.

Three delegates and three alternates were elected to attend the annual meeting of the State Farm Bureau to be held at East Lansing Nov. 9-11. Delegates are Mr. Shanahan, Mr. Parsons and Clayton Healey. Alternates are Mr. Mascho George Block and Aaron Brock.

Committees Work Out Plans for Senior Play

While the cast of the senior play are attending regular rehearsals of the courtroom drama, "The Defender," the 'behind the scenes' committees are organizing their work in preparation for the presentaton of the play scheduled for Nov. 13.

The stage crew headed by Stan Smith assisted by Mike LaBlance and Tony Genia are building the sets; properties and furnishings are being assembled by a committee headed by Smith and Brad Ward while Dave Schuchard and Jim Browe are handling the technical details.

Doug Bergmann and Vicki Miller are in charge of tickets while Shirley McClanaghan will handle out of town sales.

Vicky Racignol has been named business manager; Vicki Miller, Deanne Bartlett and Marilyn Novak are in charge of the program and Marianne Makel, Ruth Ann Riley, Brian Seymour and Tony Genia have been named to the publicity committee.

The make-up committee is composed of Janet Clark assisted by Janet Schmidt and Deanne Bartlett.

Sandy Zipp is student director. Mrs. Robert G. Martin and Mrs. Harry Stewart, assisted by William Ratigan who is assisting in an advisory capacity, are directing the play which is currently in its second week of rehearsals.

Rev. Jas. Sherman To Present Series Of Four Lectures

A series of four lectures followed by a discussion period will be given at the First Congregational church by the Rev. James Sherman, pastor.

The first lecture will be given at 7:30 p.m., Monday. His topic will be "Why Theology?" Other topics selected for the series will be "The Nature of God," Nov. 23; "The Nature of Man," Dec. 7; and "The Church," Dec. 21. The public is invited to attend these one hour lecture series.

Noted Violinist to Appear Tuesday On Concert Series

Young Eric Friedman, considered one of the most exciting violin "discoveries" of recent seasons, possesses a compelling stage presence, a magnificent talent and a rare power of musical communication, will appear in Petoskey on Tuesday evening, at the Petoskey high school auditorium under the auspices of the Northern Michigan Community Concerts Association.

Already a veteran of the concert stage, Friedman has been appearing in public since he was eight years old. He has won half a dozen national music awards, and has appeared as soloist with the New York Philharmonic, the Little Orchestra Society of New York and the National Symphony in Washington, D. C., as well as a number of other orchestras. His 1959-60 season includes recitals on the ultra-distinguished New York Metropolitan Museum Young Artists series, and on the West Coast, in Los Angeles.

Eric Friedman was only seventeen when he passed, summa cum laude, the acid test for any concert artist, a debut recital in Carnegie Hall. The New York critics agreed that his appearance, on November 3, 1956, marked the emergence of a major talent.

Admission will be by membership in the Northern Michigan Community Concert series only.

Baptist Special Services Bring Public Response

Special evening evangelistic services sponsored this week at the First Baptist church by Rev. Raymond Riley have received a popular response, Rev. L. L. Lewis, pastor of the church, has announced.

The remaining three services will feature a family night tonight, Sunday school night, Friday evening and the final services Sunday evening. Rev. Riley is not only an inspiring speaker, he is a talented violinist who has contributed to the special music each evening.

Industrial Arts Group Holds Area Meeting at School

Uno Suomela and Robert Cook of the Industrial Arts department of the Charlevoix high school were hosts last week to the monthly meeting of the Top-o-Michigan Industrial Arts club.

Twenty area teachers from Elk Rapids to Rogers City were present for the annual election of officers and business session. Mr. Suomela, retiring president, presided at the business session at which Arden Seneck of Harbor Springs was named president; [illegible] Eckley of Bellaire, vice president and James Jinsky of Petoskey, secretary-treasurer.

Arthur Neiger of Pellston and Mr. Cook of the board of the state organization reported on a recent board meeting and revealed plans to attend another meeting in East Lansing on Saturday.

Industrial Arts problems were discussed following the business session.

Plans were made for the next meeting to be held at Rogers City Dec. 7.

A [illegible] tour and refreshments concluded the meeting.

LEGAL NOTICES

STATE OF MICHIGAN,

The Probate Court for the County of Charlevoix.

In the Matter of the Estate of Leo F. Keiler, deceased.

At a session of said Court, held on November 2, 1959.

Present, Honorable William T. Downs, Judge of Probate.

Notice is Hereby Given, That all creditors of said deceased are required to present their claims in writing and under oath, to said Court, and to serve a copy thereof upon Robert Bridge of Charlevoix, Michigan, fiduciary of said estate, and that such claims will be heard by said Court at the Probate Office on January 8th, 1960, at 10:00 A.M.

It is Ordered, That notice thereof be given by publication of a copy hereof for three weeks consecutively previous to said day of hearing, in the Charlevoix Courier, and that the fdiuciary cause a copy of this notice to be served upon each known party in interest at his last known address by registered, certified or ordinary mail (with proof of mailing), or by personal service at least fourteen days prior to such hearing.

dition as possible was included in the damage suit. A sizeable expense would be necessary in the installation of any used engine.

Despite the fact that Erving Merrick, installation engineer for Fairbank-Morse, testified the interior of the engine as packed in mothballs by the Navy would not be affected by the 18 months it was stored out of doors in Charlevoix, the presiding judge ruled evidence showing the unsatisfactory interior condition of the engine would not be acceptable because of the 18 months it was stored out of doors in Charlevoix.

Following the ruling of Judge Adams, Attornies Ance and Clark Coulter, representing the city, were left with only one alternative — carry the case to a higher court. This indicated actions lead to a settlement of the case.

Between the time of purchase and delivery of the engine E. James Hiller replaced Mayor Dean Davenport who had resigned and Hal Hill was hired as City Superintendent following the resignation of Charles Robinson.

When the extent of the repairs on the Deisel were discovered the council decided to do a complete rebuilding job, replacing all doubtful parts, rather than do only the necessary repairs to make the engine runable.

Freedmans Install New Laminating Machine

Laminating machinery recently installed at Freedman Artcraft Engineering Corp. enable the firm to apply various types plastics and other materials on counter and table tops as well as post-forming of curved areas. Pictured operating the equipment are Glen Bearss; Richard Way; Wayne Roesink, electrical maintenance man; Leonard Hosier, Pat Curtis, foreman and Keith Wagner.

Freedman Artcraft Engineering Corp. has recently installed a newly engineered system for applying plastic laminates such as Formica, Micarta, Textolite, etc., to wood, glass, metal, etc. The installation was engineered and directed by Robert W. Kenyon, Operations Manager of Freedman Artcraft Engineering Corp., and will fill all the requirements of Freedman Artcraft as well as supply a laminating service for our customers. This new system has been developed after extensive research utilizing the vast knowledge of plastic laminates that Mr Kenyon has acquired over many years of work in all phases of the woodworking industry.

The equipment will handle [illegible] length of material with widths up to 48" and thicknesses [illegible]. The variable speed oven [illegible] rates of [illegible] four feet per minute [illegible] feet per minute [illegible] complete equipment to handle all types of post forming work as well as self-edging as required in either flat work or post-forming work. A quality type contact bond adhesive is used for this operation.

Freedman Artcraft Engineering Corp is also equipped to handle any type of machining required in connection with fabricating plastic laminated parts.

In addition to plastic laminating operations, the new unit is equally adaptable for applying any type of epoxy finish. This new installation is regarded as one of the most modern and complete in the industry.

Robinson Reports On NEA National Meet at Seattle

[illegible] Robinson, Charlevoix county superintendent of schools and president of the Michigan Association of County School Administrators, has returned home from Seattle, Wash., where he attended the 14th annual conference of the Division of County and Rural Area Superintendents of the National Education Association Oct. 25-28. Mrs. Robinson accompanied him on the motor trip to the west coast.

Michigan has been selected as the site of the organization's 1963 national conference as the result of an invitation extended by Mr. Robibnson and Miss Jennie Kaufman, superintendent of the Ottawa county schools.

Mr. Robinson, in his report on the meeting in Seattle, said that two noted speakers appeared before the national conference. They were Kenneth R. Hansen, director of the School of Education at Western State College of Colorado and Matthew W. Hill, Washington State Supreme Court Judge.

Judge Hill's talk was most inspiring, Mr. Robinson said. He titled his speech "Say Now Shibboleth" or "Pronounce or Perish." Taken from the twelfth chapter of the Judges, Judge Hill said that understanding coupled with concern surely is the great need of the hour.

He went on to say that the great need today is that of wanting to understand.

He pointed out that when we say 'we,' we use it as a term of exclusion rather than inclusion and added that the need today is an all inclusive 'we.' Also that one must be able to use the pronoun 'I' with a sense of balance between humility and responsibility.

A cruise through Puget Sound and Lake Washington, a tour of the Boeing jet aircraft plant and a salmon barbecue were among the other highlights of the trip.

Lancers Defeated By Trojans 32-24

Ellsworth kicked off to Central Lake who took the ball and promptly ran a series of ground plays into Ellsworth territory. Wayne Shooks then got behind the Lancer defense and caught a pass and the Trojans led 6-0. Their try for extra point was blocked so the score remained Central Lake 6, Ellsworth 0 thru the first quarter.

On the first play of the second quarter Shooks again got behind the Lancer defense and caught another pass for a touchdown. This time the attempt for extra point was good and Central Lake led 13-0.

Ellsworth then took charge of the game and scored two quick touchdowns, one by Ron VanderArk and the other by Bill Gerard to close the score to 13-12. Neither try by Ellsworth for extra points was good and the half ended with Central Lake leading 13-12.

In the third quarter Central Lake scored once on a pass to Wayne Oliver and once on a 32 yard end run by Wayne Shooks. Ellsworth scored once on a 52 yard run by Bill Gerard and the quarter ended with Central Lake ahead 26-18.

The 4th quarter saw Ellsworth close the gap to 26-24 on a 79 yard kick off return by Bill Gerard, but Central Lake scored again quickly and won the game by a score of 32 to 24.

Ellsworth and Central Lake both played a very good game and had the Lancers had their two regulars, Ed Drenth and Bert Elzinga, who are both benched because of injuries, in the game the Lancers might have come closer or even beaten the Trojans.

Pre game activities included a float parade entered by the 7th through the 12th grades and one by the Varsity Club.

The 9th grade float took first prize and was awarded a wooden plaque with a bronze plate on so the winners name can be inscribed from year to year. Second place went to the 11th grade and the 3rd place went to the Seniors. Judges for the contest were Mr. Latterfield, Mr George Koster and Mr. Charles Edson, of Ellsworth.

Success Marks Halloween Party By Goblin Fathers

The Goblin Fathers' first experience at party giving was most successful according to reports from their guests.

More than 450 youngsters, most of whom appeared in costume, enjoyed the cider and donut party on East Dixon ave.

Kathleen Etienne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Etienne, dressed as a Spanish dancer, won the top prize for the best costume, a wrist watch.

The dancing party at the gymnasium for teen-agers, attracted a capacity crowd. The group enjoyed dancing to an orchestra and refreshments, donuts and cider, served by the Goblin Fathers.

The Goblin Fathers are a group of local businessmen and interested persons who have planned and underwritten the cost of these parties given solely for the enjoyment of the youngsters of all ages in the community.

Sundew Reports

After remaining in Cheboygan over the past weekend because of bad weather, we got underway Monday morning to continue our refueling operations. The waves were still too high at Poe Reef light so we continued on to Martins Reef light. It is not too far offshore from the Upper Peninsula so the northerly wind blowing did not create high waves. We refueled that light and checked some buoys, resetting one of them before moving down to Spectacle Reef light. Their fuel supply was sufficient so the stay there was short.

We returned to Charlevoix at 1 a.m. Tuesday, surprising a lot of people who did not expect us until later in the week.

After remaining in port Tuesday we headed for northern Lake Michigan on Wednesday to complete refueling Lansing Shoals, White Shoals and Greys Reef Light stations. The ship returned to Charlevoix at 11:30 p.m. Wednesday. We remained in port for the remainder of the week. Tentative plans call for some work at Frankfort this week.

SUNDEW SCUTTLEBUTT . . .

We have another new seaman aboard, Duane LeTourneau, Seaman Apprentice, who reported for duty from the Coast Guard boot camp at Camp May, N. J. He hails from Oconto, Wis., where he was graduated from high school in June. We lost our dog. The pup we picked up in Cheboygan was taken home by Larry Hebert. The dog was ship-broken but no reports as yet whether it was house-broken. Tag football is still the noon-time attraction. In the heat of battle it often turns into tackle football. "Butterfingers" Marble has been relegated to the "B" squad after dropping two touchdown passes. We soon will begin using the high school gymnasium for basketball practice. The pistol team won't give up. After being defeated by the Traverse City Air Station team at Grand Haven and here in Charlevoix a third match will be held at Traverse City in the near future.

Rayders Dump Mancy Grab First Place Alone

BY FRAN MARTIN

The Charlevoix Rayders shut out the Mancelona Ironmen by a score of 20 to 0 Friday night in their bid for a second straight Northern Michigan Class C title.

This week the Rayders will meet the Pellston Hornets on the latter's field in the final game of the current season. A win over the cellar-dwelling Hornets will give the local eleven their second league title in as many years.

The game with Mancelona Friday night was the hardest fought game seen in league circles in recent years. According to unofficial statistics, the Rayders rolled up 14 first downs to 11 for the Ironmen. However, the latter lacked the punch to carry them into pay dirt.

Charlevoix took the kickoff on their own 30 in Friday's game and in a series of plays picked up five first downs to put the ball on Mancelona's two yard line despite a 15 yard penalty early in the march.

On the second play from scrimmage, Bud Balch, one of the four ball carriers in the 70 yard march went over to put the Rayders ahead late in the period. Dick VanRaaphorst's boot was wide and the score remained 6 to 0.

Balch, along with Stan Smith, Charles Coleman and Gary Chew had moved the ball with a forward wall composed of Center Mike LaBlance, guards Jerry Keiser and Gene McBride, tackles Bruce Pease and John Martin and ends Dick VanRaaphorst and Joe Beaudoin opening the way.

Mancelona took the kickoff on their own 30 yard line and picked up one yard before fumbling to Charlevoix on their 23 as the quarter ended.

After moving the ball to the Mancelona 14, short of a first down, the Rayders gave up the ball to the Ironmen who moved it from the 14 to the 20 where they were forced to punt on fourth down.

Thus started a seesaw battle which saw each team give up the ball within the boundaries of the 35 yard lines. The half ended with Mancelona in possession of the ball on the 35 after intercepting a pass.

As the second half got underway Charlevoix kicked off to the Ironmen who took the ball on their own 23 yard line and in a series of three first downs moved to the Rayder 39 where they forfeited the ball on downs.

An offside penalty on the next play moved the ball back to the 33-yard line but the determined Rayders, bucking the line and running wide as the need arose, moved to the Mancelona 15 where Chew went in to score on a sweep around right end.

The game was held up for a short time when Chew was injured on the play. He left the game and was replaced by Coleman who shifted from quarterback to halfback with Sam Supernaw taking over the signal calling duties.

Mancelona took the kickoff on their own 32 and moved to the 39 as the third quarter ended.

On the first play of the final period Mancelona punted from their own 39 with Charlevoix taking over on their own 29 yard line.

With all the backs carrying the ball the Rayders moved to the Mancelona 37 where they were tagged with a holding penalty to their own 48. On two carries they moved the ball to the Mancelona 28, just short of a first down and punted for the first time in the game.

Mancelona took over on their own 30 and picked up two first downs to the Charlevoix 43 where they fumbled with the Rayders recovering on the 38 yard line.

Again the Mancelona line held and Charlevoix was forced to punt from their own 45 yard line. Mancelona took the ball on their 27 and marched to their own 49. On the next series of plays the Charlevoix linebackers broke through, forcing the quarterback to retreat to his own 33 where the Ironmen drew a 15 yard penalty for intentionally grounding the ball.

This moved Mancelona to their own 18 yard line where they went into punt formation in an effort to get out of a bad spot.

VanRaaphorst came in to block the punt and Balch fell on the ball in the end zone for the Rayders' final tally.

VanRaaphorst's conversion was the final play of the game.

Playing without their top scorer, Jason Buckwheat, who was out with a leg injury, the ball carrying duties fell to Kenny Johnson, Bill Weiser, Denny LaCroix and Walt Klein who made up the Ironmen backfield.

Charlevoix's line played an outstanding game on both offense and defense, against the Mancelona line which outweighed them 15 pounds to the man.

The Charlevoix Rayders continue to occupy a spot in the United Press International coaches poll this week.

After four weeks in first place, the Rayders were dropped to second spot this week behind Frankenmuth after the latter posted a 60 to 0 win over Marlette.

Final Games Of Season On Tap Friday

The Northern Michigan Class C Conference will conclude its 1959 football season this week with the league-leading Charlevoix Rayders traveling to Pellston for an afternoon game at 3 p.m. Friday.

Other games will find East Jordan entertaining Gaylord; Boyne City invading Harbor Springs and Mancelona hosting Grayling in games set for 8 p.m.

The Charlevoix Rayders with a record of six victories to date including a 20 to 0 win over the top contender, Mancelona, will post their second league title in as many years if they can get by the Pellston Hornets this week.

This sounds like an easy assignment for the team that has ridden rough-shod over all opposition this season but after last week's battle the Rayders may suffer a let-down which could be their undoing. Should Pellston be up for the meeting the game could be a close one for the Hornets who have played erratic ball all season are capable of better things. However, it is doubtful that the 1959 squad will let down this much, especially in view of the fact that the 16 seniors on the squad will be giving their best to end their high school careers with another loop title.

Gaylord, only a half a game ahead of East Jordan in loop standings by virtue of its tie with Pellston, will be defending this hard-earned spot when they take on the Red Devils this week. The Jordanites would like nothing better than to finish the season with a clear cut victory over the Blue Devils but this will be a tough assignment for the squad who Friday night were downed by the Boyne City Ramblers by a one-point 7 to 6 margin.

Unless the Red Devils can contain the explosive Blue Devils backfield and bottle up their passing attack they will have to settle with a fourth place standing as the season ends.

The Boyne City Ramblers, fresh from a win over East Jordan, will be trying for their third victory this week over the Harbor Springs Rams whose single win is over Pellston. This meeting will find the two swiftest backs in the conference, Doug Grubbe of Boyne City and Doug Meeker of Harbor Springs, matching wits. It should be a most interesting game for this reason alone. However, the Ramblers will have a slight edge because of their record and their determination.

The Mancelona Ironmen who saw their title hopes shattered last week by the Charlevoix Rayders will vent their disappointment on the Grayling Vikings who have moved out of the loop cellar for the first time in four seasons. It is doubtful, however, if the Vikings will be any match for the tough Ironmen who should post a victory by a good margin to end the season in second place behind the Rayders, should the latter dump Pellston. Should the Rayders fail to defeat Pellston, Mancelona could share in the title.

MINUTES OF SCHOOL BOARD MEETING

October 19, 1959

Present: Boss, Lieberman, Smith, Freedman, Martin and Bennett, Supt. Absent: None.

The meeting was called to order at 8:13 p.m.

Minutes of the meeting of October 5th were read and approved as corrected.

Moved by Boss and supported by Freedman that bills in the amount of $1,836.81, payable from General Fund, be approved and ordered paid. Carried: 5-0.

Moved by Smith, supported by Freedman, that bills in the amount of $977.91, payable from the Bldg. & Site Fund, be approved and ordered paid. Carried: 5-0.

A discussion of curriculum was held and Mr. Snider and Mr. Bingham, principals, were instructed to attend a State Conference at Michigan State University on November 5 and 6.

Audio-visual aids were discussed and plans were made to visit the new language laboratory at Traverse City high school.

Mr. Lieberman was requested to appoint a committee, with P.T.A. cooperation, to prepare documents, etc., to place in the corner-stone of the new high school. Also, plans were made for the ground breaking ceremony to be held as soon as possible.

Considerable planning was done with regard to details for the beginning of the construction of the new high school building.

Details were suggested for a meeting with the City Council and those interested in recreation, to make plans for a new athletic field for soft ball, etc.

Mr. Bennett reported that an appraisal firm for the school buildings had not been secured as yet.

The meeting adjourned at 10:05 pp.m.

Bowling News

BY MEG

Two weeks before deer hunting some have their sights set, some are still trying to zero in.

Moonlight Gardens hit the target in the second game to take their share of high team game, but all they could get was two points. Swanson Gravel beat them the first and third game, but the 877, second game for Annie's boys, was too much total. For Moonlight, Charlevoix's Golfing Dentist (Doc Ance) led the way with his 538 series followed by Grover Geneit's 507. For Swanson, Fergie led the way with a 204-541 series followed by Ron's 502 series.

Freedman No. 2 didn't have anyone going too strong but still took the Farm Agency in tow for 3 points. Bob Coakley bowled over his average with a 494 followed by Harry Pearsal who couldn't quite make his 453 average with a 451. For United Farm, who just a few weeks ago were very near the top, then started to slide, Ken Boss had a 471 followed by Ed Culbertson 437.

Steve's Bar, who started the first two weeks with a 0-8 record, kept up their climb toward the top by taking on Neff Grocery for a 3 point win. Meg finally started to hit the 500 mark with a 553 series followed by O'Rile's 203-525 series. Lou "the Monk" had a 514 series also Ken Cel's 500, but Bob Miller didn't fare out so good. Neff's had one man in the 500's, Big Bergmann with a 521 but his Boss Gorden was dragging his feet with a 421 series.

Lake Construction dropped one place in the standings, by losing 3 to Browe Electric. The only series above 500 was Big John 504 but Browe's out lasted them. Bob Ouderkirk's 470 was high for Browe's. Lucky John Sadek had a 413.

Puff Appliance also dropped. They were in second place last week but are in 5th now. Guess why? They only lost four to Freedman No. 1. John Swanson broke the sound barrier with his 185-233-183 for a nice 601 series, followed by Ted Potter's 460 series. Poor Puff had a 136-455 series so Ron's 505 series was high. Puff average was 182 up until tonight.

And here they come. I mean the Airport Inn. They are now in a tie for ninth, the cellar was too cold. Al Anderson led the way with second best series of the night with 172-214-214 600 series, nice bowling Al. Des was next with a 529 series. Who do you think took the Blasting? Well there is only one team left so it has to be Central Drugs, they only dropped 4. Low average man Al Bergmann was high with 448 [illegible] followed by high average man (Long John, 427) Moore. How cold is the cellar?

High Game — John Swanson 233.

High Series — John Swanson 601.

Petoskey Reserves Swamp Little Rayders

Charlevoix's little Rayders bowed to the big Petoskey Reserve squad by a score of 41 to 7 Monday night to conclude the 1959 J-V season.

The local reserves, composed of freshmen and sophomores, finished the season with a record of three wins and two losses. Terry Rice and Pete Burns are J-V coaches.

In Monday's game Charlevoix's lone tally was scored in the third period on a pass play from Stan Martin to end Corky Curtis that covered 40 yards. Martin scored the conversion point on a line play.

With Rayder tackle Bruce Pease (73) running interference for him, halfback Gary Chew (40) picks up a gain in the game against Mancelona last week. Chew's running mate, Bud Balch (35) pictured side-stepping a would-be tackle as he joins in the play.

Tom Bleha Writes of Visit to Germany and East Berlin

Pfc. C. Thomas Bleha, stationed in Germany with the U. S. Army, has written the following account of his recent trip to Berlin and his impressions of the situation in East Berlin which is controlled by the Russians to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bleha.

Sorry to have delayed writing for so long. First it was the three days in the field with the Training Test with yours truly digging some four enormous holes to sleep in. On Sept. 30 we returned from the field and the next morning a friend and I left on leave for Berlin.

The city was truly beautiful. We flew in with an airforce plane arriving in only an hour and forty-five minutes from Frankfurt. We stayed at an army hotel ($1.50 per night) which was in the midst of the Free University of Berlin area. The desk clerk there, a student at the University, soon became well acquainted with us as he had spent a year in the states as an exchange student. Towards the end of our visit he invited us to his home for a German meal with his parents (who spoke only German) and it was really rewarding to talk with a German family at home.

I spent the entire evening with my halting German discussing the history of Germany, German family life, American customs . . . for the son plans to come to America next year and get his citizenship, etc. The father of the family was held as a prisoner of war for three years in Murmansk, Russia, where, as an engineer, he spent most of his time in reconstruction. Presently, he is an architect and safety inspector for a sub-section of Berlin.

Perhaps the most rewarding aspect of the visit to Berlin was in seeing the Iron Curtain which is lowered over East Berlin where we spent the best part of two days. There has been 60 times the reconstruction in West Berlin, and in most of East Berlin one would think that the war just concluded. I had not seen that sort of damage since I spent a few days in Saarbrucken. Most of the governmental building were in East Berlin prior to the war and they are still standing in various states of destruction. The living standard and the spirit of the residents is very much lower than that of West Berlin.

They have one new street, which has been much publicized —Stalinallee—approximately six blocks long and constructed to provide apartments above the retail stores along the broad sidewalks. The style is Georgian (Russian) and all of the stores along the street are government owned. I should guess that two-thirds of the remaining stores in East Berlin are under government ownership.

Our visit preceded the tenth anniversary of the East German Government (Deutsche Demokratische Republik) by two days and the streets were filled with flags (their new flag has the traditional German colors with the hammer and compass superimposed) and the buildings filled with slogans. Sample slogans: DDR (govt) — the first state of workers and farmers in the history of Germany; DDR — United in its wishes for peace; "Unity, Friendship, Socialism;" Socialism — now Germany soon all the world! And in a different vein because of the anniversary: "Our gift to the birthday of our republic 3,000 extra hours of work" or "Completion of our annual plan two months early", etc. The most striking thing that happened to me personally was to be sitting on a subway and find a group of school children coming in with their teacher — I judged the children to be about 10 years or slightly less — all wearing blue neckerchiefs, the symbol of the young pioneers,—a communistic youth group. Then red armbands for the high school students and another youth group.

Just walking around and seeing gives one an impression that is impossible to convey with the printed word. I bought a number of books in East Berlin because the money exchange rate is so good and their book prices are notoriously cheap. One gets 16 East Marks for $1, or four East Marks for one West Mark. The East German government does not recognize this rate of exchange and does everything in its power to stop it but that is the money value on the world market. As a consequence, I was able to purchase the best world atlas in existence — currently priced in Russia — for $13.00, whereas the New York price is $200. It is a huge book, with another smaller book as an index. I will send it home shortly. The purchase price was about the average monthly wage of an East German worker, 210 East Marks ($13.00). One unfortunate fact is that the book is entirely in Russian, but with a Russian alphabet it should be fairly simple. You will be interested to note that it shows Bay View along with Charlevoix, Petoskey and the rest.

The evening that we arrived in Berlin we just missed the New York Philharmonic under Leonard Bernstein. The next night we heard the Berlin Philharmonic under Karl Bohm playing Richard Strauss Memorial concert. The next night we saw the "Ballet, USA" directed by Jerome Robbins of the New York Center Ballet which was very well received by the Berlin audience. The next morning I heard the "Sing-Akademie Berlin," a choir of 500 voices singing a Puccini Mass. That afternoon skits from Shakespeare: "Othello," "Julius Ceasar," etc. Two Germans, an actor and an actress, read the scene from Shakespeare, followed by a French modern dance troop dancing to the recorded music of Duke Ellington — quite a combination. That night a Jazz Concert by the Duke in person. There we saw two fellows who had recently graduated from Harvard Law School and were touring the iron curtain countries. The following night we had dinner with the German family and the night following that the Opera "Moses and Aaron" with musil by the modern German romposer, Arnold Schoenberg.

Much of the rest of the time we spent sight-seeing: the Free University (with many buildings contributed by the Ford Foundation), an art exhibit from Moscow, one of modern European painters, the Dahlem Museum (one of the best in Europe, it has an ancient Egyptian head of Nefertiti) and a radio tower aping the Eifel Tower, etc. A most enjoyable trip! And we crowded a lot into the seven days we were there.

I have just been given a new job in the office. After begging the personnel officer for one for a long time, he finally gave me one. I am to go around to all of the files in the Battle Group (some 35) and set them up according to a new Army directive. I have been studying it for two days now and then I will go to division headquarters for two days for further instructions before I start in on the files. After I am finished with that, I hope to be able to handle visas, passports and marriages to foreign nationals — who knows.

Consider Plan to Form Area Girl Scout Council

The advisability of forming an area Girl Scout Council will be discussed at a meeting to be held here Thursday, Nov. 5, and attended by Girl Scout leaders and Council representatives from a 13-county area of northern Michigan, Mrs. Robert O. Bergmann, president of the Charlevoix Girl Scout Council, has announced.

Miss Helen Langlois, a representative from the District Office in Chicago, will be present to discuss the problem with Girl Scout representatives from the communities, which would be included in the area council if it is organized.

The meeting will be held at the First Congregational church from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. Those attending are asked to bring their own lunch. The local council will provide coffee for the noon meal.

The Nov. 5 meeting was among the issues discussed at the first Girl Scout leaders meeting of the current year held Wednesday at the city hall.

Mrs. Bergmann outlined tentative plans for the purchase of piece of property by the local council for use by local Girl Scout groups.

A report on the recent Girl Scout Institute held in Traverse City and attended by Mrs. Lloyd Arnold, Mrs. Ray Wood and Mrs. James W. Gallagher was made to the leaders by Mrs. Arnold. The report included the results of the study of the Girl Scout program made by the University of Michigan.

New ideas for Girl Scout programming were presented by Mrs. Gallagher, the new program chairman, who asked that anyone needing assistance call her at LI 7-2533.

It was announced that the Girl Scout program for the 1959-60 school year is well underway. However, there is need for assistant leaders in some of the troops. Anyone wishing to assist with the Scouting program is asked to call Mrs. Herbert Campbell at LI 7-9283.

Troop materials for the forthcoming year were also dispensed to leaders at Wednesday's meeting.

Girl Scout News

Girl Scout troop 15 met.

We elected our officers. They are president, Connie Geer; vice president, Janice Sundberg; secretary, Jane Norton and treasurer, Nancy Rader.

This is our second meeting. Mrs. Lakies is our leader. Alice Ance brought the treat.

We are going to Traverse City Saturday. We will leave about 8 a.m. and return about 4 p.m.

Jane Norton, scribe.

Brownie Scout troop 17 had a Hallowe'en party during their meeting last Thursday.

They made cookies into owls and had cool ade. They also made wish cards. Then they had a good night circle.

Ventrilquist to Entertain with Jerry McSafety

Popular Jerry McSafety and his master, Wayne Fernelius, have been booked for two entertainment programs here next Thursday under the sponsorship of the Northern Auto Co. of Charlevoix. The little policeman ventriloquist will entertain students in the Charlevoix public school at 10 a.m. and the students at St. Mary's school at 1 p.m.

Jerry McSafety's illustrated lectures have become popular with children throughout the nation. He demonstrates with song, stories, fascinating charts and understandable common sense safety rules for children of every age. He leaves a lasting impression on the minds of his youthful audiences.

Fernelius and his wooden but quick-witted brain child have appeared at schools, lodges, churches and many other groups to dramatize the need for careful observance of approved safety rules.

Staebler Speaker At Democratic District Meeting

Niel Staebler, chairman of the Democratic Central Committee, was the speaker at a four-county Democratic District Organizational meeting held Monday evening in Cheboygan.

County committee members and other interested persons from Cheboygan, Otsego, Presque Ile and Charlevoix counties attended the important conference, one of a series being held throughout the state.

Among those from here who attended were Mrs. Thedore Tunison, county chairman, Mrs. Julius Elzinga, county secretary and George A. LaBlance, field coordinator.

Rites Held for Norman W. Rogers

Committal services for Norman W. Rogers, 64, of Melrose, Mass., were held Wednesday at Brookside cemetery with the Rev. Robert J. Yonkman officiating.

Mr. Rogers, retired Sun Life Insurance Co. agent and brother-in-law of Mrs. Leroy Allers, died October 16 at his home in Melrose.

He is survived by his wife, the former Kathryn Geer; a daughter, Mrs. John Gilbert; one son, Allan Rogers, and two grandsons all of Melrose.

Girl Scouts Guests At Traverse City

Three local Girl Scout troops, accompanied by their leaders and several other adults of the Charlevoix Council will spend the day at Traverse City Saturday as guests of Scout troops there.

Last spring, the local troops hosted the Traverse City troops at a similar gathering.

Local Scouts are asked to be at the school at 8:15 a.m. Saturday for the trip via school bus to Traverse City for a field trip and visits to other points of interest in that community. They plan to return home about 4:30 p.m.

Making the all-day-trip will be Girl Scout troop 2 whose leader is Mrs. Jack Rader, Troop 4 whose leader is Mrs. Danford Gallagher and Troop 15 whose leader is Mrs. Gerald Lakies. The names of other council members who will make the trip were not available Tuesday.

The Charlevoix Rayders, coached by Don Carey, captured their second consecutive Northern Michigan Class C Conference championship last week by defeating Pellston 28 to 0 to rack up their sixteenth consecutive victory.

The Charlevoix Rayders who finished their 1959 grid season with a record of eight wins including seven league victories plus a win over Class B Rogers City climbed back into first place in United Press International Class C-D rating after an absence of one week when they were dropped to second place.

Frankenmuth, the team that edged the Rayders out of the top spot, was dropped to sixth place this week.

Coach Don Carey's Rayders have extended their victory string to 16 games. The winning streak started last season and has now gone through its second season.

With exception of last week when Charlevoix was dropped to second place in the UPI standings, the Rayders have headed the list since they first appeared late in September.

It is understood that Imlay City and saveral other teams now among the top ten in the state have one remaining game to be played this week.

Community Chest Needs $3,227 to Meet Budget

The 1959 Community Chest fund drive moved a little closer to its goal of $9.823.06 during the past week as contributions reached 67 per cent of the total, Mrs. James Coleman, fund chairman reported Wednesday.

At that time $6.596.98 had been contributed with some business and industry solicitors and residential workers to be heard from.

Mrs. Coleman said, however, that it is doubtful if the solicitations would bring the total contributions to anywhere near the amount needed to bring the current drive to a successful conclusion.

"We need $3.227 to meet the 1959 goal," Mrs. Coleman said. "I can't see where it is coming from at this time and unless everyone comes through with his 'fair share' we can not meet our obligation to the 12 agencies included in the Community Chest."

In conclusion Mrs. Coleman asked that all workers who have not completed their solicitations do so as soon as possible. Persons in the community who have not been contacted or were absent from their homes when workers called are asked to mail their check or leave their contribution at the Charlevoix County State Bank with a notation that it is to be turned over to Mrs. Coleman.

Offer Prizes to Deer Hunters on Beaver Island

Beaver Island — There is a sizeable deer herd on Beaver Island including plenty of bucks a hunter would like to put his sights on. That is the word from Bud McDonough, president of the Beaver Island Game club. To back up the statement Mr. McDonough reports the club is offering a $25 prize to the hunter who brings in the largest buck during the club deer hunting season.

The prize winning buck will be determined by state biologists who check all deer taken on the Island.

Mr McDonough says all hunters on the Island are eligible for membership in the club which is a division of the Beaver Island Civic association.

Another prize of $5.00 will be awarded by the Charlevoix Courier to the hunter first presenting his deer to the State biologists. He also must be a member of the Beaver Island Game club.

Mobile X-ray Unit Visited by 881 County Residents

A total of 881 residents of the community visited the mobile x-ray unit during its two-day visit in Charlevoix.

Reports on the x-rays will be sent to all persons who participated in the program sponsored by District Health Unit No. 4, the Northern Michigan Medical Society and the Michigan Tuberculosis Association.

Mrs. Chris Andrews of Boyne City was co-ordinator for the program in Charlevoix county.

She was assisted by Mrs. Clare Staley, Mrs. John Norton, Mrs. Charles Bellinger, Mrs. John Mol, Mrs. S. E. Coleman and Mrs. Robert Bergmann who, in turn, assisted the mobile unit technicians as registrars and in other capacities during the units two-day stay here. Mrs. Keith Miles provided transportation and assisted in other ways with the x-ray program.

Janet Livingston Succumbed Friday After Brief Illness

Janet L. Livingston, 43, lifelong resident of this community died late Friday at the Pease Convalescent home following a brief illness.

Funeral services were held Sunday at the Winchester Funeral Home with the Rev. Harold E. Kohn and the Rev. James P. Sherman officiating. Burial was in Brookside cemetery.

Born in Charlevoix March 25, 1916, Miss Livingston was a graduate of the Charlevoix high school. She was a member of the First Congregational church and the Mary Burns circle, of the Women's Fellowship, the Dickens Study Club and the Charlevoix chapter Order of the Eastern Star

She is survived by her father and step-mother, A. L. Livingston, vice president of the Charlevoix State Savings Bank, and Mrs. Livingston; a sister, Mrs. Ralph Haher of Alma and three brothers, David of Rockford, Archie jr., of Bellaire and Robert of Charlevoix.

Name Committee To Stage Annual PTA School Fair

Mrs. Paul Olson assisted by Mrs. Karl Schultz have been named to head the annual PTA Fair committee. The appointment was made by president, Jack Rader, at the November meeting of the PTA held Wednesday following an open house in the Charlevoix high school.

Mr. Rader was installed as president by Mrs. E. D. Hawley to open the meeting.

Albert H. Smith of the board of education made a report on the progress of the new junior-senior high school. He said that the contractor hopes to complete footings this fall so that full scale construction can start next spring.

Plans for the December meeting were made. This meeting, scheduled Dec. 2 will feature information regarding colleges, careers, scholarships and other material of interest to parents of high school students.

In order to increase the membership of the PTA, each member has been asked to bring another prospect member to the next meeting.

Parents of elementary school children were reminded of the open house in the elementary school Nov. 11.

PTA members were also reminded of the meeting of the curriculum study group scheduled for Nov. 18 at the high school. All interested persons in the school district are invited to attend this meeting scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

Spanish Class To Be Offered By Adult Education

The first Adult Education class of the current school year, First Year Spanish, will begin next Wednesday, Supt. R. G. Bennett announced Wednesday.

Approximately 20 interested persons have enrolled in the class which will meet in Room 102 of the high school at 8 p.m. Wednesday for registration and the first lesson in the series. At that time the students will decide on a regular meeting night. William Rattigan who is teaching Spanish in high school will be the instructor.

Persons interested in studying Spanish who have not already registered for the course are asked to call the business office, LI 7-6583 regarding information about the class.

Credit Association Holds Annual Meet

Sheridan Rhoads of Cumins was elected to succeed himself at the 25th annual meeting of the Production Credit Association held Thursday at Gaylord. Other directors serving unexpired terms are Arnold Ostrander of Afton, Joseph Martincheck of Charlevoix, Robert Reed of Levering and Albert A. Kassuba of Gaylord.

Mr. Ostrander, president, presided at the business meeting. The financial report was read by A. J. Townsend, secretary-treasurer.

Speakers on the day's program were Ray McMullan, county agricultural agent and Louis Zimmerman of Traverse City who narrated moving pictures of, his recent hunting trip to Asia.

Marine Club to Sponsor 12 Week Navigation Class

Persons interested in boating will be offered an opportunity to take a 12-weeks course in navigation under the direction of the U. S. Power Squadron of Traverse City. The course is being sponsored by the Charlevoix Marine club and classes will be held at the local club house.

There will be no charge to persons attending the series of lectures and demonstrations which will include such subjects as type of lights and buoys and their meaning, plotting, use of the compass and plotting courses. Reports from the Marine club indicate many persons have already expressed a desire to attend the classes. An invitation has also been sent to interested persons from neighboring communities.

It is planned to start the classes some time in January. Further information may be obtained from Phil Lawrence, Art Osborne, Dick Fochtman, Lee Moerland, Bob Hamilton or other members of the club.

The next meeting of the club will be held tonight in the Community room of the city hall at 7:30. Additional details may be obtained at this meeting.

Rites Held Friday For Carl Seifried

Carl H. Seifried, 63, a resident of this community since his marriage to the former Mrs. Grace Pease on March 14, 1959, died Wednesday at their home at 311 Belvedere ave.

Funeral services were held Friday at the Ferris Center church near Vestaburg with burial in the Vestaburg cemetery.

The Winchester Funeral home here was in charge of arrangements.

Mr. Seifried a retired ice engineer, was born in Montcalm county May 12, 1896 and ad lived in southern Michigan and Ohio before coming to Charlevoix earlier this year.

Besides his wife, he is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Eva Marie Althin of Weberville and a sister, Mrs. Bertha McDonald of Lansing.

Firm Releases Option on City Building Site

The Charlevoix city council, at its regular meeting Monday night, authorized the purchase of a fuel injection assembly for use on the two Cooper-Bessemer diesel engines at the municipal light plant.

Approval was also given the purchase of 300 ft. 1½ inch double jacket dacron, gum treated, fire hose to supplement and replace old hose.

A letter from the Empire Tool Co. stating that the company had decided to remain in Memphis, Mich., and relinquishing its option on property located north of Charlevoix on US 31 was read. Company officials had announced in July that they were moving their Memphis plant to Charlevoix.

A report on the cost of rebuilding the citys 500 KW Ratabun-Jones diesel engine which has been in operation since 1939 was made by Clifford G. Riley, deputy clerk, and George Smith of the utility plant after a trip to Toledo last week to consult with company officials. Cost of parts and materials is estimated at close to $6,000, according to Mr. Riley. City crews would handle the rebuilding.

Mr. Riley was asked to make a report on post consumption of electric current at the VFW and American Legion post home. Electric current has been furnished gratis to the two veterans' organizations for a number of years.

The finance committee approved bills amounting to $15,-541.24 and ordered them paid. The amount includes a $6,500 payment for diesel fuel oil and $1,153.90 for city utilities at county-owned buildings.

Mr. Taylor comes to Charlevoix from Hillsdale where he has been serving as public works administrator. He has been associated with the city of Hillsdale in various capacities since 1927.

Public Invited To Opening of New Restaurant

The new Liston Restaurant, located across from the airport on US-31, will be formally opened this evening, Mrs. Lydia Liston, the owner and proprietor has announced. Mrs. Liston extends an invitation to the public to inspect the remodeled and refurnished restaurant which was formerly operated as the Windsock Grill. Visiting guests will be served doughnuts and coffee during the open house from 5 p.m. until 3 a.m. closing hour.

Mrs. Liston says the restaurant will be open daily except Sunday from 5 p.m. to 3 a.m. The menu will feature a spaghetti dinner, home-made soups, sandwiches, French fried chicken and shrimp along with ice creams and beverages.

The former dining area in the west half of the building has been transferred to an attractively remodeled and refurnished section on the east end of the building. The area presents a cozy atmosphere with new concealed ceiling lighting, six modern dinette sets seating four person to a table, attractive curtaining and other accessory furnishings.

The property was recently purchased from Mrs. Vella Schrader who had leased it to various restaurant operators in recent years. The most recent leasee was Mrs. Liston who operated the restaurant during the past summer.

Chamber of Commerce Accepts Resignation of Secretary-Manager

The resignation of Tom Symons, secretary-manager of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce was accepted at the regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening by the board of directors. The resignation will be effective as of Nov. 15.

Although the Chamber is temporarily without a full-time manager, arrangements are being made to maintain the office on a part-time basis from 9 to 12 a.m. daily President Norman D. Ance has been authorized by the directors to engage a part-time secretary to handle the correspondence and book work until a full time secretary-manager has been named.

The board has announced that it will receive applications for the position. Applicants are requested to send their written application to the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce. All applications will be given through consideration.

The resignation by Mr. Symons last month caused considerable [illegible] over the future operation of the Chamber. The majority of the members, particularly those [illegible] in the higher [illegible] brackets have not questioned the need of an organization to [illegible] promotion program of the community.

This [illegible] on the membership supports the opinion of the directors that there is a definite need for a Chamber of Commerce. During the 20 months the Chamber has been in operation it has carried out much of its planned program. One of the main handicaps that has curtailed the program has been financing. There has been a tendency on the part of some members to cut back on their membership dues. Others have refused to contribute, leaving the full load on the shoulders of those who see the necessity of promoting Charlevoix.

The 20 months the Chamber has operated is too short a time to judge results and to iron out the kinks and adequately correct mistakes a new organization is bound to make.

More experience and wholehearted support appears to be the principle ingredients that will make the Chamber operate to the benefit of the entire community

Unlimber Guns for Deer Season

The annual trek to the north country for the opening of the deer hunting season has started with many local hunters going to camps in the Upper Peninsula and to areas east of here.

Others will stalk the wary buck in the wooded areas of Charlevoix county as dawn breaks Sunday.

Hunters who fill their licenses early on opening day are asked to call Harold Totten at his home, LI 7-2645. A picture of the first successful hunter and his buck will be taken for publication in next week's paper. There is 1,000 Bid-a-Bucks awaiting the first deer hunter to present his buck Sunday morning for a picture.

Howard F. Gornell, Retired Norwood Farmer Succumbs

Howard F. Gornell, 76, retired Norwood township farmer, died Wednesday at the Charlevoix hospital where he had been a patient for one day. He had been in failing health for some time.

Funeral services will be held at the Winchester Funeral Home at 2 p.m. Friday with the Rev. Fred W. McNeil officiating. Burial will be in Brookside cemetery.

Born in Lansing Dec. 22, 1882, Mr. Gornell came to Charlevoix as a child in 1886. In 1905 he was married to the former Annie Clark who preceded him in death in 1951. He operated a farm in Norwood township until five years ago when he moved to Charlevoix to live with his daughter, Mrs. Carl Left. He was a member of the Barnard Methodist church and the Barnard Grange.

He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Clifford Gennett, Mrs. Sheridan Root and Mrs. Left; a foster son, William F. Mayer jr. of Stockbridge; 12 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Facing The Facts

"Government cannot give of itself; what government gives to one — either an individual or a pressure group— it must take from others." That is an exceptionally pertinent statement for these times when so many persons are living with the idea that the government is the goose that laid the golden egg.

The quotation is taken from the foreword of "The John Franklin Letters," a new book to be released later this month by The Bookmailer, Inc. Judging the forthcoming book by the foreword just received, it should put some straightforward thinking into the minds of both voters and their legislative representatives. It expresses in unmistakeable language the principles of government which differentiates between a free republic and a socialistic state, and we reprint the text in an attempt to awaken those who have been lulled into the theory that the government is their security.

"Ours is a nation enfeebled by political materialism. Our voters have been conditioned to vote themselves largess out of the public treasury — to rely upon 'government' to provide them jobs, security, ease.

"But government cannot give of itself; what government gives to one — either an individual or a pressure group — it must take from others. And the public treasury is guarded only by the public conscience.

"If the public conscience tolerates taking from some, to give to others, grasping men will exploit the frailty. Our politicians have done so.

"Both parties in Washington are distinguished by men who seek to give their constituency what that constituency wants; tax money which has been taken from someone else's pocket.

"A public which makes such demands upon its officials precludes responsible men from holding public office. That those in Washington can compromise with Atheistic Communism is not surprising. To oppose it would require vigor and sacrifice on the part of their constituents.

"A continuation of this atmosphere can only bring disaster — in two years, five or ten.

"Out of this disaster, perhaps we will rebound to be a great nation, for we are yet young enough to have in our memory the case history of our forebear who wanted nothing from government save a forum in which to arrive at majority agreement.

"Let each man who takes money from his government understand: he takes it not from my government; he takes it from me — and you.

"The authors of 'The John Franklin Letters' have projected a cure. The curve is tending downward. The writing is fact and fear. Not until 1989 will we know how much of it is fiction."

Adventures in Understanding

Notes from a northerner's diary

By Harold E. Kohn

No Matter How Big The Bay

The grassy bluffs of Michigan's western shore seem meant for a musing man. There lovely stretches, dappled with sun and shadow, are drenched with a great quietness. One spot in particular is a serene and spacious place where bright and clear beneath me some hundred yards away magnificent Lake Michigan stretches wide its blue and emerald waters from the pale dune beaches of Indiana and Illinois to the rolling Straits of Mackinac, from the mist-haunted bays of Michigan to Wisconsin's balsam-shaded shores.

I suspect that the peacefulness of this place has something to do with the immensities spread in extravagant abundance here. The bright sky is wide and high. The waters are lavish and inexhaustible. Nature's generosity with space and sky and water are impressive here. Nothing is crabbed, stingy, mean, or small. Everything is liberal, especially the wide sky and the vast waters, reminding the visitors of the infinity of time rolling back to the eternity that lies behind today's dawn and the eternity reaching far out beyond tonight's sunset.

Seeing the great lake always gives me a fresh perspective. Its very bigness shames human littleness. A look at the lake adjusts one's feelings of self-importance: waters could swallow the most conceited fellow and hardly interrupt the murmur of a wave. This lake view is good for one's anxiety, for by contrast it makes most big worries seem small matters, and small worries seem trivial. And an hour on this bluff is good for one's religion, for it's hard to be thoughtful here and remain religiously begoted. In such a place one is reminded that no one man or no one church or denomination can know all about God anymore than any one person from any particular shore can see all of Lake Michigan. The biggest things in life are too great to be entirely grasped or contained by one person, one group, or one institution.

Religion is like the mighty lake that washes and rinses our shores. Lake Michigan possesses awesome, blue-green depths and bright, clear amber shallows. These great waters sweep into many bays — Grand Traverse Bay, Little Traverse Bay, Big Bay de Noc, Little Bay de Noc, Green Bay and all the others, and Lake Michigan takes the shape of every depth and shallow, of the big bays and the little coves into which it flows.

One bay is not as good as another. There are wide, deep hospitable bays that bid cordial welcome to the greatest ships and where the largest vessels can safely ride. Other bays are narrow, pinched and stingy, or shallow, marshy and trivial. But the well-informed person knows that it is the same Lake Michigan that fills the greatest depths and the thinnest shallows, and all the bays, big and small. How much less interesting Lake Michigan would be if it were simply a mighty sauce pan, all the same depth, or if all the bays were just alike, as if cut by the same vast cookie-cutter.

So it is with individuals and with churches. Why should we demand of our acquaintances and friends that they conform to our particular pattern of religious thinking? Or why should Christians insist that all churches worship according to the same ritual and adopt the same formal creeds if they are to be recognized as Christian churches. No one man or woman among us is God, we can but contain God. No single church or denomination is God, but each is a bay-like receptacle, receiving some of God.

This does not mean that "one church is as good as another" any more than all bays of our neighboring lake are of equal value. Rather, we mean that we need to develop a capacity for appreciating God wherever He appears, as we already recognize Lake Michigan no matter how big or little the bay.

Campus Comments

Susan Duerr, a sophomore at Michigan State University is among six students at the University who have had the rare privilege of seeing their scientific papers published.

Since essays by undergraduates seldom reach the publication stage, these are even more unusual in that the papers were written a year ago when the students were first-term freshmen.

Dr. Alfred Novak, professor of natural science at MSU, points out that the essay by Miss Duerr was selected from those submitted in the honors section of first-term natural science at the University. Only high-ranking incoming freshmen qualify for the honors section in natural science. There were 80 in the special course last year.

The six essays were published under one cover and titled "Honors Essays in Natural Science." Dr. Novak explains that such papers as these can be written by first-term freshmen, when they are given proper motivation and opportunity, provides such an important lesson for those engaged in teaching that it was deemed appropriate to make them available to a wider audience. Some 2,000 copies of the papers will be distributed thruout the country to people prominent in science and mathematics teaching.

Miss Duerr's paper dealt with an analysis of George Wald's paper "The Origin of Life." First copies of the publication were presented to students at a special reception attended by University officials and deans of the colleges in which the students are enrolled.

A history major at MSU, Miss Duerr is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Duerr and a graduate of the Charlevoix high school.

Beck-McDermott Wedding Vows Exchanged at Bay City Church

The First Methodist church of Bay City was the scene recently of the wedding of Gayle Frances Beck and Charles Daniel McDermott.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Russell F. Beck of Bay City and Mr. and Mrs. E. J. McDermott of Ironton.

The Rev. T. Leonard Sanders officiated at the ceremony. Donald F .Tripp of Rochester and W. Thomas Tripp of Detroit, uncles of the bride, were organist and soloist, respectively.

The bride chose a silk chiffon taffeta gown with empire bodice and floor length skirt. The tucked bodice with a self-bow featured an oval neckline banded with Alencon lace which extended from the shoulders to the hemline. The softly pleated skirt ended in a brush train. A matching sculptured cap secured her fingertip veil and she carried a white Bible topped with an arrangement of shap chrysanthemums and white roses.

Katherine Marie Kaunitz of Bay City and Diane Gould of West Branch, as maid of honor and bridesmaid, respectively, wore gowns of aqua silk organza with embroidered Empire bodices and bouffant waltz length skirts. They wore matching whimseys and short white gloves and carried bouquets of pastel shag chrysanthemum.

[illegible] Beck, gowned in a white nylon sheer dress with Peter Pan collar, puffed sleeves and matching sash and French bow was her sister's junior bridesmaid.

Kenneth Case of Charlevoix assisted the bridegroom as best man. Michael McCann, also of Charlevoix, was groomsman. Ushers were Gary Gallagher of Bay City and Daniel Mead of Detroit.

Mrs. Beck selected a champagne knit ensemble and mink brown accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. McDermott, mother of the bridegroom, wore a mink brown wool dress and beige accessories. Their corsages were of salmon pink roses.

Louise (de Castro) White Models for Queen

BY FRAN MARTIN

Every little girl dreams of growing up to become a great actress, a princess or something equally as romantic.

As these girls grow into adulthood, however, they set aside these dreams and devote their thoughts to a career or to becoming wives and mothers.

But now and then someone has the unexpected good fortune to find herself a success in a field in which she had no great aspirations.

This is what happened to Mrs. Arthur White, the former Louise deCastro, daughter of Cmdr. and Mrs. Fred deCastro.

It all started when Mrs. White, a native of Milwaukee and a graduate of St. Olaf's College in Northfield, Minn., with a major in art, accompanied her husband to Copenhagen, Denmark, where he is studying architecture at the Royal Academy.

Like any young American abroad, she cared for her home and her two-year old daughter, Jennifer, and devoted her time to being a wife and mother while her husband spent long hours at the Academy where he will complete his two-years of study in September.

But beauty such as Mrs. White's was not to go unnoticed.

One day her hairdresser introduced the stately beauty to Gita, Denmark's top photographer's model. Gita, who is now in Paris, thought Louise was 'great' and took her around to all her contacts offering Louise as her 'replacement.'

All this happened earlier this fall, according to a letter from Mr. White who writes that "Recently Mr. Gulbrandson, Denmark's top fashion photographer, saw some of Louise's pictures, learned that she was a novice, and called her in to announce that he was going to make her into Denmark's greatest photographer's model."

Since then 'Louise,' as she is known professionally, modeled furs for Birger?Christensen, Copenhagens most famous furrier. The occasion was a benefit dinner for the Red Cross at D'Angleterre Hotel, Copenhagen's most exclusive and attended by the elite of Copenhagen society.

Also on hand for the show were six Paris models from the "House of Cardin" whose gowns were shown.

According to newspaper accounts which appeared in Copenhagen papers, Louise was eminent among all those modeling for the show. She was applauded repeatedly and when she stepped out in her finale, a white ermine hat and long white ermine coat, she was greeted with cries of 'Bravo! Bravo!' Her husband writes that even the French models had words of praise for her.

She also modeled before Queen Ingrid of Denmark who purchased two garments-she showed including a long flowing violet formal gown.

The newspaper clippings, translated by Mrs. Christian Jensen of Petoskey for the Charlevoix Courier, repeated the story of her fabulous success as a model, told in details of the famous people, many of them diplomats who attended the benefit show and related the news that Cardin's top model, [illegible], brought greetings to Louise from her friend, Gita, who is scheduled to come to New York some time this fall.

Copenhagen is thrilled by her story of success and its newspapers carried several pictures of her including one in the white ermine ensemble. The clippings told of her background, mentioned that she is a former teacher (she taught art in California before going to Denmark) and that she is from Michigan.

Those in Charlevoix who know the lovely young mannequin are not surprised at her new-found success, for they have long admired her. And, like everyone who sees a dream come true, they are happy for the gracious and lovely young woman whose 'fairy tale' story makes them hopful that, perhaps someday, their own dreams might yet come true!

School Districts Required to Add Two Directors

The number of directors of the Charlevoix school district will be increased from five to seven at the next annual election of the district, Supt. Roy G. Bennett announced. The increase is [illegible] recently enacted [illegible] Section 55 of the [illegible].

At the annual election next [illegible] voters will elect two [illegible] for a term of four [illegible] member for three [illegible] the members [illegible] expire. Thereafter [illegible] of a member will [illegible]. When the rotation [illegible] established, not more than two members shall be elected in any year to fill vacancies created [illegible] the expiration of terms.

[illegible] is the only present member of the board whose term expires in 1960. His successor will be elected for a term of [illegible] years. The two new members to the board will be elected [illegible] terms of four years.

Island Game Club Sponsors Annual Hunters' Dinner

Michigan Mirror

By ELMER E. WHITE

WHAT IS THE REAL role of the Michigan Department of Public Instruction in education in Michigan?

A lot of controversy has marked discussion of this topic in the past decade. Many citizens, especially those in small or comparatively poor districts, often express the feeling that the Department has the obligation to [illegible] districts to adhere to some kind of standard of instruction for all students.

Other citizens are equally insistent that the Department avoid "meddling" in the affairs of the local districts.

IN RESPONSE to the conflicting pressures the Department has [illegible] developed what it calls its "Basic Instructional Policy for Education in Michigan." The booklet has been given a preliminary printing and is available to any groups for study and comment.

The people who favor strong centralized control of education by the state will be disappointed.

The booklet sets up a list of "10 Commandments" for the Department itself, based upon the idea that Michigan is a vast state [illegible] different kinds of communities which have many diversified needs in the education of their children.

FIRST COMMANDMENT: "We recognize the fact that every child is unique and in the same [illegible] "self." Each person has his own peculiar needs and abilities, and his own special contribution to the good of all.

No. 2: "We believe that every [illegible] is important, has worth, [illegible] is endowed with human dignity." This is true because he is unique, there is no other quite like him, and his special value cannot be replaced. This is why democracy is the natural way of life.

No. 3: "We accept the fact that children are citizens." The constitution gives citizenship, with all its right, privileges and responsibilities, to all who are born in our country, or who are naturalized. Conditions in school should be in keeping with the inalienable rights of the citizens.

No. 4: "We believe that American citizens are born free and equal." We are, of course, not equally endowed. But we are equal in that we are entitled to equal political rights and to equal educational opportunity. Inequalities in teacher qualifications, financial support, instructional materials, administrative leadership and school plant must be eliminated.

No. 5: "We believe every person has the right to reach his potential." The educational need of a person grows out of both his abilities and his disabilities. Society's obligation is to help him to reach his potential, which includes an understanding of himself and others. People who know and respect themselves are on the road to adequacy.

No. 6: "We believe that close cooperation between home and school is essential." To serve the child best, the home and school should aim at the same goals and maintain a two-way system of conferring and reporting concerning the growth of the child. Parents have the right and obligation to help determine and to understand the basic educational values of their community school.

No. 7: "We believe that the school must promote the democratic ideal." The democratic ideal cannot be promoted by authoritarian means.

No. 8: "We believe in the use of the scientific method to help in determining what the education of each child should be." The basic principle of the scientific method is that we look to see what the child is like before deciding what to do. By its very nature, education must continually depend upon scientific inquiry to judge the appropriateness of a curriculum to the individual, and the effectiveness of methods and materials employed.

No. 9: "We believe in freedom." Most of all, we believe in freedom of mind. We oppose indoctrination in any form.

No. 10: "We believe in education for imaginative, critical thinking." The best way to educate for critical thinking is by giving a chance to solve problems. One doesn't learn to think by being told to think, but only by thinking.

EVEN THOUGH the Department of Public Instruction has [illegible] Dr. Lynn M. Bartlett, [illegible] of public instruction [illegible] central purpose [illegible] educational program.

There are two methods by which the state can express its leadership. First, the staff has to carry out its administrative duties as effectively as possible. Second, strong leadership must be given to involving as many people as possible in a cooperative attempt to keep the curriculum up to date and to improving the quality of instruction.

Seniors to Present Courtroom Drama Friday Evening

The Senior Class of the Charlevoix high school will present its annual class play, a courtroom drama, "The Defender" in the high school auditorium at 8 p.m. Friday.

Written by Reginald Rose, the play tells the story of the defender, Walter Preston, played by Bruce Kroll, who has been appointed by the court to defend a young delivery boy, Joseph Gordon (Mark Cross) who is accused of the murder of a prominent doctor's wife.

The entire play is presented in the courtroom where young Gordon is on trial for his life.

"What should the defense attorney do when he is convinced that his client is guilty and [illegible] of murder?" That is the [illegible] that [illegible] Preston's [illegible] the trial opens. The [illegible] reveal the answer to [illegible] important question.

In the courtroom besides the defendant and his attorney will be the defender's son (Randy Kroll), newly admitted to the bar and confident that the young defendant is innocent; an ambitious state's attorney, (Richard Schoals) and his aide (Judy Koteskey); the judge (Charles Coleman); Mrs. Gordon, (Ann Martin) the distraught mother and the defendant's girl friend (Amy Mitchell).

Others who will appear will be the county medical examiner (Don Heise), the husband of the murdered woman (Jack Rader), the defendant's employer (James Ladd), the murdered woman's maid (Glenda White), the general practitioner (Brad Ward), the repairman (John Norton), the elevator operator (Jan Burns), the detective on the case (James Browe), reporter for the Post (Sally Weidman), report for the Gazette (Jeff Coleman), court officers (Christ Campbell), clerk (Ruth Ann Riley) and court reporter (Kay Ulrich).

Thirty-seven Girl Scouts of Troops 2, 4 and 15, accompanied by adult leaders spent Saturday in Traverse City as guests of several troops in the same age group.

Arriving via bus in mid-morning the Charlevoix Scouts and their leaders were taken on a tour of the Ideal Dairy and places of interest in the community before going to the Aspen Trails Council Girl Scout camp outside the city for lunch at the lodge located in the center of the 100 acre camp site.

After a hike through the camp the group returned to Traverse City for a guided tour through the museum and the zoo.

They returned home at 4 p.m. The Scouts were accompanied by Mrs. Jack Rader and Mrs. Richard Edwards of Troop 2, Mrs. Danford Gallagher of Troop 4, Mrs. Gerald Lakies and Mrs. Leland Warner of Troop 15 and Mrs. Robert Bergmann, president of the Charlevoix Girl Scout Council.

Counselors to Attend Program Study Meeting

Two resourceful people in the field of guidance and counseling, Robert Vratanina of the North Central Michigan College staff and Clifford F. Sjogren, guidance counselor and history teacher at the Harbor Springs high school, will attend the next meeting of the School Program Study group scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the high school.

The program for the evening will be a continuation of the October discussion with Mr. Vratanina and Mr. Sjogren present to answer questions regarding the work of the professional counselor.

The purpose of these meetings is to enable people of the community to become better acquainted with the program of the local schools and better informed about educational trends throughout the country.

The series of meetings is sponsored by the PTA. All interested persons are invited to attend these meetings to take part in the discussion or to just listen.

Why does oil go in clear and come out DIRTY?

You'd be amazed at the dirt and sludge that builds up inside your engine as it operates...as much as a pound in every 2500 miles of driving!

If that dirt were allowed to cling to engine parts, you'd soon have a mighty big repair bill... but instead, your motor oil seizes the dirt and holds it in suspension where it can do no harm.

Then, when you drain your oil, out comes the dirt with it.

In addition to its greater cleansing action, 5D Koolmotor actually acts as several oils inside your engine. Provides light 10W grade performance at starting...medium 20 grade performance for warm-up...and heavy 30 grade performance once your engine is hot.

Result: it increases power, stretches gas mileage, keeps your engine new. Change over to 5D Koolmotor Oil this week.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

"Sizing-up" the Situation

When a lady in our town's looking for a new dress . . . her first target is Sandy Philip's Shop. The other day I finally asked Sandy how come he's been so successful.

"Well," Sandy said, "I've always treated my customers with courtesy. And my secret ingredient—which isn't really a secret—is flattery.

"Whenever a new shipment of dresses comes in, I cut off the size markers in every dress—and make them a size smaller. Size 16 becomes size 14 and so on. Course, all the ladies know I change the number—but they like it. Helps them pretend their figures are a little better than they really are."

From where I sit, we all like to think the best of ourselves—often "shrink" the truth to do it. Reminds me of people who claim they're not prejudiced then turn around and argue against a neighbor's choice of a glass of beer. Even a little intolerance is too much in a person or in a town—and that's exactly the size of it.

Rayders Beat Pellston To End Perfect Season

BY FRAN MARTIN

The Charlevoix Rayders closed out their 1959 grid schedule Friday with a 28 to 0 victory over Pellston and at the same time wrapped up their second straight Northern Michigan Class C football title.

The Rayders, coached by Don Carey, now have a record of 16 consecutive wins over a two year period. They were unscored on for ten games and during the final six game of this season had 19 points scored against them while tallying 228 points for the season.

The game was played under leaden skies on a snow-covered field swept by high winds out of the northwest. Playing conditions plus below freezing temperatures made ball handling difficult and slowed the offensive attacks of both squads.

The Rayders scored in the second period and at halftime found themselves protecting a 7 to 0 lead. However in the second half they caught fire and rolled up a four touchdown lead to end the season with a perfect record.

Charlevoix kicked off to the Pellston Hornets but on the first play from scrimmage gained possession of the ball as the result of a pass interception by John Martin on the Pellston 33 yard line.

On three plays the Rayders moved to the three yard line but a rule infraction on the play which started on the 23 yard line set the ball back on the 43 where the Rayders lost the ball to the Hornets on downs.

In an attempt to get their offense rolling, Pellston took to the air and this time it was Mike LaBlance who intercepted their pass on Pellston's 49 yard line.

Charlevoix got another drive rolling and picked up two first downs to the 26 where a second major penalty set them back to the 41 yard line. This time they were forced to punt. Pellston was in possession of the ball on their own 20 as the quarter ended after Joe Beaudoin's punt had gone into the end zone.

The Hornets took to the air and with the assistance of a 15 yard penalty on the Rayders marched to the Charlevoix 17 where the Rayder defense tightened, pushing them back to the 30 where Charlevoix took over on downs.

Ron Balch picked up one yard, moving the ball to the 31 where he broke loose for a 69 yard touchdown run on the next play to put the Rayders ahead midway in the second period. Dick VanRaaphorst booted the conversion to make the score 7 to 0.

Charlevoix kicked off to Pellston who lost the ball two plays later to Charlevoix on the third pass interception of the game, this one by Martin.

The Rayders moved the ball from the Pellston 44 to the 28 yard line where they lost possession on downs. Taking to the air, Pellston advanced to the Charlevoix 43 where Bruce Pease intercepted a pass to give Charlevoix possession of the ball on the Rayder 35 as the half ended.

Pellston kicked off to Charlevoix to open the second half action. Pease took the kickoff and returned the ball to the Rayder 40 where Charlevoix opened a drive which moved them to the Pellston 20. Relinquishing the ball to Pellston on downs, the Hornets were forced to punt on fourth down and the Rayders took possession on their own 35 yard line. After moving to the Pellston 46 the attack bogged down.

Pellston took over, was forced to punt and the Rayders regained possession on their own 27 where they started a march which moved the ball to the Pellston 37 as the quarter ended.

Continuing their offensive attack, the Rayders marched to the Pellston eight from where Stan Smith went in to score. Van Raaphorst's kick was good as Charlevoix went ahead 14 to 0.

VanRaaphorst kicked off and play started on the Pellston 20 when the boot went into the end zone. On the first play from scrimmage, Smith intercepted a Pellston pass on the Pellston 10, the fifth interception of the game and on the next play carried the ball over to score. VanRaaphorst added the conversion kick for a 21 to 0 lead early in the final period.

The ball changed hands several times late in the game as both attacks bogged down. Pellston finally gave up the ball to the Rayders deep in Hornet territory. Sam Supernaw got off a 21 yard pass to play to Joe Beaudoin who scored with seconds remaining. VanRaaphorst's kick made the score 28 to 0. The kickoff was the final play of the game.

Starting for Charlevoix were backs Balch, Gary Chew, Charles Coleman and Smith, ends VanRaaphorst and Beaudoin, tackles Pease and Martin and center LaBlance, all seniors who were playing their final game for the Rayders and guards Jerry Keiser and Gene McBride, both juniors.

In other games which marked the end of the 1959 grid season, East Jordan upset Gaylord 14 to 6 to close out the season in third place while Gaylord was dropped to a fourth place tie with the Boyne City Ramblers who edged Harbor Springs 26 to 24. Mancelona dumped Grayling 33 to 0 to finish in second place behind the Rayders. For the first time since the 1955 season Grayling finished in fifth place with a two win-five loss record. The Vikings had been perennial cellar dwellers until this season when Harbor Springs and Pellston finished in last place.

The Gaylord Blue Devils, favored to win over East Jordan, found themselves trailing 2 to 0 at halftime after Pete Knudsen had blocked a Blue Devils punt early in the first period of the game played at East Jordan.

Jim Spence gave his team a little insurance when he went 45 yards in the third period to make the score 8 to 0 before Gaylord got back into the game with a touchdown by Bob Burnison on an 11-yard pass from Terry Cremeans. The attempted pass for the conversion was not good as the quarter ended 8 to 6.

In the final period Ron Sulak scored from the 25 to give the Jordanites their fourth win of the season.

Like all other games played Friday, this was staged on a wind-swept, snow scattered field in below freezing temperatures.

Boyne City 26; Harbor Springs 24

Boyne City edged the Harbor Springs Rams by a two-point margin Friday night to move into a fourth place tie with Gaylord in the final loop standings.

The game became a scoring duel between Harbor's Speedster, Doug Meeker, and the Ramblers' equally fast Doug Grubbe with conversion points by Grubbe and Pete Batsie making the difference in the game.

Harbor Springs took the kickoff deep in their own territory and after having a major penalty called on them found themselves on their own 15 yard line. Meeker came to the rescue, however, to score on an 85 yard run on a snow-covered field.

Grubbe countered with a tally from the four yard line following a concerted drive by the Ramblers and then carried the ball over for the conversion point.

A 43 yard pass play from George Pamp to end Fran Lauer set up Meeker's second touchdown scored from the 15 yard line.

Grubbe put the Ramblers back in the running with a 27 yard scoring play early in the second period.

The victory-hungry Rams took the kickoff and moved the ball to their own 48 where Tom Graham broke away for a 52 yard jaunt to give the Rams an 18 to 13 halftime advantage.

Boyne City took the kickoff to open the second half with Grubbe scoring from the 34 following a drive which started deep in Rambler territory. This time Pete Batsie booted the conversion point. Late in the third quarter Jack Dixon got off a touchdown pass to Grubbe who went in to put the Ramblers ahead 26 to 18.

Still giving their all, the Rams came back strong early in the final period as Meeker scored from the 44 yard line.

Boyne City took the kick-off and was forced to punt. A rule infraction on the play resulted in a outburst with irate fans making it necessary for the officials, all of Traverse City, to require a police escort as the game ended.

This marks the eleventh Northern Michigan Class C Conference Football Championship for the Charlevoix Rayders. Winning their first title with the powerhouse 1945 team which was undefeated, untied and unscored on.

With 1945 as take off the Rayders proceeded to their Conference record of 6 undefeated seasons before bowing to East Jordan 0-6 in 1951. This span of games saw Charlevoix win 39 and tie three.

The East Jordan Red Devils won the title in 1951 and 1952 but Charlevoix came right back and won the titles in 1953, 1954 and 1955.

The Rayders of 1958 started the string again with an outstanding season of 8 wins without a score racked up for the opponents. This brings on the scene the 1959 team which proceeded with 8 more wins to lengthen the winning streak to 16.

Since the first skirmish of 1945 to the snow battle in Pellston last Friday afternoon the Rayders have chalked up an enviable record of 92 wins, 4 ties and 11 losses in 107 games. Why stop here, they also have rang up 2,682 points to their opponents 596. That makes it about 5 touchdowns to the opponents one.

Defense has been the key to the many crowns. The 1951 team had an outstanding defensive record against conference foes. Only one touchdown was scored against them but that one score cost the Rayders the Championship.

The biggest score for a Charlevoix team was in 1957 when Charlevoix beat Pellston 88-0. The highest total against Charlevoix was 38 points by the Boyne City team of 1957.

Cub Scout Pack to Operate 'Country Store' One Day

Plans for the monthly Cub Scout Pack meeting to be held Monday, Nov. 23, at the Fellowship hall of the Community Church of God were completed at a meeting of Den Mothers held this week.

The theme of the November Pack meeting will be the "Country Store." The hall will be decorated with antiques and other furnishings found in the old country store with the Cub Scouts serving as clerks. They will offer baked goods and other items for sale to the parents and friends who attend the meeting scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Monday, Nov. 23. All interested persons are invited to attend and acquaint themselves with the Cub Scout program in the community.

Funeral Services Held Tuesday for Mrs. George Hair

Mrs. George Hair, 61, who has resided here since April, died Sunday at the Charlevoix hospital where she had been a patient for several days.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at the Winchester Funeral Home with the Rev. Rollo Grant of the Hortons Bay Evangelical United Brethren church officiating. Burial was in Brookside cemetery.

Born in Elkhart, Ind., June 2, 1898, the former Frieda Kiebel came to Petoskey with her parents as a child. In 1921 she was married to Mr. Hair, a native of Charlevoix. They lived in Petoskey before going to Lansing where they resided for 14 years. Later they lived in Houston, Tex., Detroit, Chicago and Itasca, Tex., before returning to Lansing where they lived for several years before Mr. Hair retired. Last year they spent the winter in Florida, returning here for the summer.

Besides her husband, she is survived by three sons, Edwin C. of Wyandotte, James L. of Maracaibo, Venezuela and Roger R. of Oklahoma City, Okla.; four grandchildren; two brothers, William Kiebel of Petoskey and Ralph Kiebel of Elkhart, Ind. and four sisters, Mrs. Albert Johnecheck of Boyne City, Mrs. Frank Weasel, Mrs. Howard Curtis and Mrs. John Pencen of Detroit. A fifth sister, Mrs. William F. Kage of Petoskey died Oct. 31.

Seniors Attend Annual College Day Program

The 69 members of the Senior class of the Charlevoix high school, accompanied by Max Novak, were in Petoskey Tuesday morning for the annual College Day Program.

Representatives from colleges, university and other special schools were at the meeting to tell students what their respective institutions offered and to make available to prospective students information regarding courses, scholarships and other issues.

Ground Officially Broken for New High School

To make everything official, ground was broken for the new Charlevoix high school last week Tuesday although contractors were well on the way with water and sewer installations on the grounds. Pictured breaking the ground is Robert Lieberman, prasident of the board of education. Superintendent of Schools Roy G. Bennett (next to right) heaved the second shovel of earth to the truck. Others (l to r) are Dick Greenlease, Principle Harry Bingham; Directors Gordon L. Freedman and Albert Smith, Architect Gordon Cornwell and Contractor Wallace Bjorkland.

1,000 'Bucks' for a Buck

One thousand Bid-a-Bucks goes to Bud Klooster of Norwood who was the first hunter reporting he had his buck on the opening of deer season. Cal Gould of Charlevoix was a close second and possibly could have been first had he reached the telephone a little sooner.

Both deer were taken in the Norwood area. Bud got his buck in an open field north of his home. Cal waited until he got back to Charlevoix to report and his call came in about 15 minutes later than Bud's.

Scattered reports continued to come in until late afternoon. Mrs. Elaine Wojan Shumway was the only woman among the lucky hunters reporting. Others reporting were Mr. McGinnis, Bob Hilton of Charlevoix, Robert Johnstone of Ellsworth and Stanley Lord of Norwood.

Many hunters in this area were not lucky enough to get a shot the first day. Most hunters reported seeing plenty of tracks but the deer apparently were not moving about to any extent.

Cranberry Sales Stopped at Krogers

It was announced this week by John Bone, vice-president of the Kroger Co. Grand Rapids Division, that all cranberries in the Kroger stores are from Eastern and Wisconsin growing areas. However, in view of the present controversy, Kroger is removing all cranberry products from sale until the situation is clarified, which Kroger hopes will be in the next few days.

Churches Plan Thanksgiving Union Service

The annual Union Thanksgiving Service scheduled for Thanksgiving Day will be held at the Charlevoix Assembly of God church at 203 E. Upright ave., it was announced this week.

Members of all churches are invited to attend the 10 a.m. service sponsored by the Charlevoix Ministerial Association.

The Rev. James Sherman, associate pastor of the First Congregational church, will deliver the Thanksgiving message. Mayor E. James Hiller will read the President's Thanksgiving Proclamation. Special selections in song will be presented by members of participating churches.

An offering will be accepted in behalf of the Church World Service for the purpose of purchasing and distributing of foods to peoples of distant lands.

The Rev. T. B. Thodeson, host pastor, has extended an invitation of all to attend this special service. He also announced that there is off-the-street parking for 20 cars.

Army of Local Hunters Take to Deer Country

Reports Wednesday indicate the deer hunting in this area has improved since the opening day. Hunters have been filling their license steadily since the season opened.

Latest reports come from Mike Belfy, hunting his first season, got a buck near Susan Lake, Mrs. Timothy Shores sr., got a doe in the Vanderbilt area; also John Swanson and Pat Curtis.

HUNTER BULLETIN

State Police Wednesday morning issued wide-spread warnings to hunters to beware of Thurm heaters in house trailers. This heater is not approved by the Michigan Department of Health, according to Sgt. Davis of the Petoskey post of the State Police. Seven deaths by asphyxiation have resulted from using faulty or unapproved heaters since the deer season opened, Sgt. Davis reports.

He adds that the Thurm heaters should not be confused with the Duo-Therm bottled gas heater which meets Department of Health specifications.

Winter Getting Early Start in Charlevoix Area

Winter, with snow and temperatures near the zero mark, has arrived in northern Michigan some ten days earlier than last year.

From 5 to 8 inches of snow fell in the county Friday night. Roads were slippery and County Road Commission snow plows were out all night Friday and Saturday, keeping the highways free of the wet snow which fell in 30 degrees weather.

The opening day of the deer hunting season dawned cold and clear with plenty of snow for tracking.

On Monday temperatures started to drop and Tuesday morning found thermometers registering from 4 to 8 degrees above zero, depending on the distance from Lake Michigan.

A light snow fall plus snow flurries throughout the day whipped by northwest winds up to 35 miles an hour made driving hazardous as the cold weather added ice and later packed snow on the highways.

On Wednesday the temperature was up to 22 degrees and the weather was clear.

Wanted-$2000 To Complete Chest Drive

The 1959 Community Chest fund drive neared its goal of $9,823.06 this week with a total of $7,857.78 contributed to date, Mrs. James Coleman, campaign chairman, announced Wednesday.

Several areas and business places remain to be heard from and this should bring tha drive near the necessary goal, Mrs. Coleman added.

Hal M. Hill, chairman of the Community Chest board of directors, has issued a plea to those persons who have not been contacted or who have not contributed to the current drive to do so at once so that the campaign can be brought to a successful conclusion.

Stray Bullet Shatters Arm of Anthony Wojan

Anthony J. Wojan, 24, was admitted to the Charlevoix hospital at 5 p.m. Monday for treatment of a shattered upper right arm suffered when he was struck by a stray bullet while hunting in Marion township with three campanions.

Dr. G. B. Saltonstall, attending physician, said that the rifle slug had apparently traveled some distance before striking Wojan who suffered a severe fracture of the upper right arm and a serious loss of blood. His condition Wednesday was improved, according to hospital attendants.

Wojan was hunting with his brother, Dan and Donald and Arthur Falting at the time of the accident. The trio told State Police from the Petoskey Post that they did not think the bullet came from their guns.

Wojan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Wojan sr., was scheduled to leave for induction into the armed forces Dec. 3.

Guests of Sherif Rejuvenating Toys To Help Santa

Do you have any old toys around the house that could be repaired, repainted or rejuvenated for use by other children?

If so, won't you leave them at the county jail where prisoners are busy preparing used toys for distribution at Christmas time.

Or if you can't deliver the toys to the jail, call LI 7-9291 and someone will pick up your contribution to a very worthwhile cause.

For several years prisoners in the county jail here have carried on this project as Santa's helpers. However, they need used toys to carry out the project. If you have a toy, a car, for instance, whose wheels are missing, don't discard it for these men are experts at replacing parts or remodeling the item.

Surely your child will part with a used toy so some other less fortunate youngster will find a little gift under his Christmas tree this year.

Local Association Reports on Retarded Children's Facility

In observance of Retarded Children's week, the Charlevoix Association to Aid Retarded Children has issued a report on the work being done with the retarded children of the community at the Day Center sponsored by the group.

Five children are currently enrolled in the Center with two more expected to enroll shortly.

The aims of the Center are simple according to Frank Oleksy, president of the Association who added that it was the aim of the school to give these children a place in the home, the church and the community. Only by the education of the child, his family and community can this be accomplished.

This year the program is devoted to homemaking and handicraft geared for the retarded child, according to Mrs. Robert O. Bergmann, director of the school. Thus far this fall the children have been taught various housekeeping chores including bed making, table setting, dish washing and cleaning, chores they are practicing in their homes.

Baking and sewing are enjoyed every Wednesday. Cookies and cupcakes are baked in the morning and in the afternoon they are sewing aprons.

A full program of hygiene is in effect with health charts being checked each morning.

Discussion groups, music, games, coloring and the art of assisting each other are also a part of the program.

Classes are held daily from 9 to 11:30 p.m. with the exception of Wednesday when the Center is open from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

In discussing the program Mrs. Bergmann said the most important thing these children can learn is that they can help themselves and each other. The program is planned toward this end.

The Community Chest is the financial backbone of the Center which is supported almost entirely by funds contributed through the drive now underway. The city supplies water and electricity without charge and the board of education permits use of the building rent free. The Association heats the building and employs a director and janitor.

Mr. Oleksy is president; Louis Hooper, vice president, Mrs. Bergmann, secretary, Robert Cook, treasurer. Mrs. Arnold Wadas is in charge of publicity and Mrs. Oleksy is librarian.

Nine Rayders Named For All-Conference

Members of the Charlevoix Rayders championship team dominated the coaches' choices for the 1959 Northern Michigan Class C All-Conference team with five players rating berths on the first team, two on the second team and two others receiving honorable mention.

The Mancelona Ironmen who finished the season in second place behind the Rayders placed four players on the first team while East Jordan, Harbor Springs and Gaylord each placed one player on the "dream team." A tie for the center position resulted in 12 players being named to the first squad.

Quarterback Charles Coleman, Ends Dick VanRaaphorst and Joe Beaudoin, tackle Bruce Pease and Mike LaBlance who tied with Fred Moore of Mancelona for the center position were the Rayders who were named to the All-Conference first team.

Bud Balch, Rayder halfback and the team's top scorer and tackle John Martin were awarded berths on the All-Conference second squad.

Other members of the second team are: backs Gary Spencley of Pellston, Roger Hatfield of Grayling and Doug Grubbe of Boyne City; ends, John Johnston of Gaylord and Larry Hayden of East Jordan; tackles, Bob Soper of Gaylord and Charles Hiar of Pellston tied for the other tackle position; guards, Jim Groulx of Pellston and Hugh Campbell of Gaylord and center, Pat Proctor of Harbor Springs.

Spencley and Hatfield received honorable mention last season.

All are seniors with the exception of Johnston, Groulx and Proctor who are juniors and Grubbe who is a sophomore.

Mallory received honorable mention and Tompkins was named to second team in 1958.

All are seniors with the exception of Sink, Lauer, Kraemer, Horning and Goodrich who are juniors.

Coaches making the All Conference selections are: Matt Jacobson of Mancelona, Paul Pfahler of Boyne City, Don Burnison of Gaylord, Francis McMahon of Pellston, Charles Paige of Harbor Springs, Don Ferguson of Grayling, Wes Fleet of East Jordan and Don Carey.

Rayders Rated Top By Free Press

The Charlevoix Rayders, who recently captured their second Northern Michigan Class C title, finished the season in first place in the final UPI C-D standings in the state.

The Rayders, coached by Don Carey, have been in top place in the C-D division for two years with the exception of one week this fall when they were dropped to second place.

In Detroit Free Press ratings announced Tuesday the local eleven were also ranked in first place.

Draft Board Calls Five for Induction

The names of the five Charlevoix county draft registrants called for induction into the armed services Dec. 3 an dthe additional five to be called for pre-induction physical examinations Dec 7 have been announced by Mrs. Bourgoin, clerk of the draft board.

Those scheduled to leave for induction Dec. 3 are: Allan J. Towsley of Charlevoix, Ronald A. Florinski, Norman L. Nowland, Richard Renkiewicz and Kenneth W. Hunt, all of Boyne City. Towsley and Hunt are volunteers. These men will be granted a holiday furlough so that they might join their families for Christmas, Mrs. Bourgoin said.

Henry A. Pontious and Paul A. Johnson of Charlevoix, Dwight D. Lawson of Bay Shore, Bill R. Filkins of Ellsworth and Elmer Larson of Boyne City have been ordered to report Dec. 7 for pre-induction physical examinations.

THANKSGIVING

From the forest, cold and murky, Rode the first Thanksgiving turkey, On a Pilgrim far from fat: Picking arrows from his hat.

Mrs. Pilgrim and the kids Fired the kettle, watched the lids: "Gee" they said "We're glad we're living. This will be a swell Thanksgiving."

All they had was corn and turk, Indians. Winter, prayer and work. Compare our lot with those early Yanks: And every days a day of thanks.

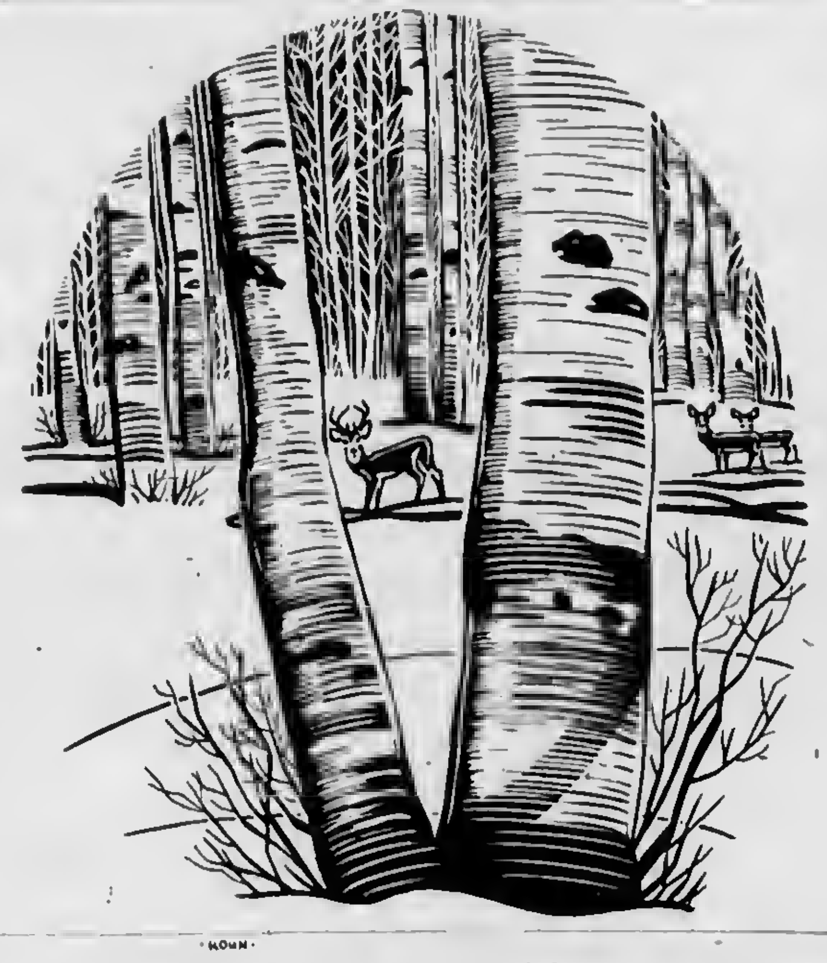
Adventures in Understanding

Notes from a northerner's diary

By Harold E. Kohn



Bare Boughs and Bold Decisions

There is a certain definiteness about winter in the North, a no-nonsense decisiveness.

For a time in October and early November the warm sun and cold wind argue as to which will have its way. Sometimes the warm persuasiveness of the sun triumphs. Again it is the blustry, wrangling of the wind that wins the day. But now a cold blue-white silence puts an end to all autumnal arguments between sun and wind as to which will score success. The wind has won. Yesterday, as if to intimidate the resigned, apologetic and retreating sun so that it dare not make the slightest sign of further protest against winter's agressions the wind put on a bullying, rough and abusive show of strength. Reaching far behind it the irascible rowdy picked up from Montana and the Dakotas a great glob of snow and in a howling, tempermental rage dashed it upon Michigan and its neighbors. Today the innocent bystanders are attempting to wipe off the debris.

The first day of winter and the first winter day are not necessarily the same. According to the calendar the first day of winter is still more than a month away, but the first winter day is here. This is it. There can be no mistake. Shimmering snows lie thick upon our roof, upon our trail, and carpet the forest floor with a thick, rich broadloom! Old pine stumps and fence posts wear wooly caps. Icicles decorate the eves of our house and all the outbuildings. The air crackles, stings and smarts in an exciting, wintry way. It is winter all right, definitely, certainly winter.

Now and for some months to come we shall experience the unequivocal trethfulness of winter as it deals with the trees. Only a few weeks ago the limb structures of our hardwoods were well-kept secrets, with only the slightest inkling of dark branches showing through a thick veil of leaves. But now every limb is cleanly drawn by winter, that precise and careful draftsman.

Now the naked truth is told about where last summer's birds hid their nests. We were able to guess approximate locations and we found a few nesting places, but winter has whispered the exact position of each nest upon its bough.

Henceforth, for many weeks, we shall see how all walking and running things, and all flying things which must come to earth, leave clearly written journals in the snow, recording their jnurneyings, and often even their moods. Last summer if we were to know for certain whether our deer neighbors walked among the birches, we had to see them, or we must carefully scan the leaf litter on the forest floor for signs of their passing. But now there is no doubt where the deer have been. Across the white lathered land their tell-tale tracks show where their muffled steps were taken, where they briefly hesitated to test the breeze and to scan the pale distance with wide-eyed vigilance for sign of man.

Snowshoe hare and mink, raccoon and weasel, red squirrel and white-footed mouse, ruffed grouse, snow bunting and chickadee leave filigree notations of their bounding and running or their alighting and departure. And it's all very plain. Winter is an articulate season. And this distinct, definite outspokenness is one of the many things I like about winter.

Upon further consideration, such ample directness and decisiveness is one of the attractive characterstics of children, too, before they catch the disease of vagueness and blurry compromise from a world of grown-ups. A four-year old child is as frank and forthright as a fresh deer track in the snow. One such youngster had asked that her elders at the table please pass the milk. But they were lost in big-talk and unobserving. So she banged her cup on the table and called out "Give me some milk! Give me some milk!" Her mother answered, "Why, Child! Haven't you any patience?"

"Yes, I've got lots of patience, but I haven't any milk!"

That attitude in a child or adult can sometimes be irritating, but it is at least respectable. It draws a clean line that divides the issues. It defines the problem with a high degree of certainty. The issue is not some vague abstraction like the virtue of patience, but a concrete commodity like a cup of milk. The problem is not dimly futuristic but clearly immediate — milk, now.

We could use a great deal more of such singlemindedness in our daily living, deciding the one thing we want to do or be and then persistently going after it with a forthrightness like that of a four year old child, or like birch limbs outlined against a pewter winter sky. Such directness would save us from many a frustration and confusion.

One reason we do not enjoy our guests as much as we might is that we do not define exactly why we are inviting them to dine with us, and then carefully plan to justify that reason for their coming. As a consequence we are like the inarticulate Martha of the New Testament — frustrated ourselves, and ungracious to our visitors. Martha and her sister Mary invited Jesus to their home, likely as a gesture of friendship and to learn more from Him. But when He came Martha was so preoccupied with getting Him a meal that she neglected Him as a friend and teacher. Mary was wiser. She enjoyed His presence, sitting at His feet and listening to Him. When Martha grumbled that Mary was not helping serve the meal, Jesus answered, "Martha, Martha, you are anxious and troubled about many things: one thing is needful. Mary has chosen the good portion, which shall not be taken from her." Mary could draw a clear line between essentials and non-essentials. When the good Friend and great Teacher was a guest, food was important, but food should not get in the way of fellowship and learning from Him. Mary kept in mind the real reason for Christ's coming to her house. She was single-minded, definite, clear in her purposes.

Could it be that we moderns have largely lost leisurely fellowship and stimulating conversation amidst an abundance of food, drink, and eating equipment? Every host and hostess might well ask long before guests arrive, "Now what are they here for? To be surfeited with food? To be fussed over? Or to be appreciated, to enjoy and to be enjoyed?"

We almost instinctively know that a person is mentally or spiritually sick who tries to be two opposite things at once. The man who in the name of super-patriotism claims "America for the Americans" and at the same time bombs a synagogue or an integrated school : a sick and divided soul. No one can be a good American and at the same time disbelieve in equality of opportunity.

When a person demands the rights and respect of an adult but acts like a child, he is emotionally ill. When a business man wants the reputation of being a Christian, but practices dishonesty and deception he is morally diseased.

To leave your position in life, your ambitions and goals, ill-defined is dangerous business. To be a divided person, torn between opposing purposes is frustrating. Some people are never happy in a job because their attention is split between the position they hold and the position they want. Some men's eyes never get married. They never make the big decision, and when the marriage vows are taken their yes remain bachelors. Countless souls are made miserable by "taking the splits," keeping "one foot in heaven" but the other very much on earth. Small wonder they look as if they were perpetually suffering from a bad case of the cramps.

The whole world moves over for the person who knows where he is headed, what he wants to be and what he wants to do, and makes every step count in that direction.

Bare boughs outlined against a cloudy, snowladen sky are wintry reminders of our need of bold convictions and clear decisions.

Pomona Grange to Install Officers

Charlevoix County Pomona Grange will meet Saturday evening at the Marsh Grove Grange hall for installation of officers, Mrs. Charles Wesler, secretary, reports.

Installing officer will be Jack Laubke of Petoskey, state Grange stewart and district deputy. It also is understood that new officers of Peninsula Grange will be installed at the meeting.

Another feature of the evening will be a birthday observance honoring Mrs. Bert Tisron of rural Boyne City, one of the oldest Grange members in the county.

Annual Games Party K. P. Hall. Monday, November 23, 8 p.m.

The First Congregational Church

Sunday Morning Worship

11 o'clock

Next Sunday's Sermon:

"If God Really Made The World . . ."

The Reverend Harold Kohn, preaching

If you now regularly attend another church in our town, this notice is but a neighborly greeting and wish that you and your church may prosper. If you do not already have a church home it is an invitation to attend Charlevoix's Congregational Church next Sunday.

telephone lines

by LES JOHNSON, Manager

AN OPERATOR ONCE ANSWERED A CALL from a youngster whose mother was teaching him to make his first Long Distance call. "What number are you calling from?" the operator asked. Then she added, "It's right there on the dial."

After a moment's hesitation, the child's proud voice replied, "1-2-3-4-5-6-7-8-9-0 . . ."

HOW CAN SHUT-IN boys and girls keep up with their school work? One successful solution has been Michigan Bell Telephone Company's School-to-Home telephone installations. Even though a child is in bed, he can still take part in the lessons of his own class. He can ask questions and recite as if he were in school. Two-way speaker units make this possible. Here is an invention that ends a worry for many a parent and removes a handicap from scores of children who are confined to their homes for long periods.

"OVER THE RIVER AND THROUGH THE WOOD, To grandfather's house we'll go . . ." How long has it been since you recited that poem in school? It's called "Thanksgiving Day," and it was written in the last century by Lydia M. Child. Things certainly have changed since then: today instead of a sleigh ride, you can often get to grandfather's house in a few minutes by car. But if he does live too far away to visit, and you'd like to remember him on Thanksgiving Day, there's no better way to do it than with a leisurely Long Distance call.

PARTING SHOT: It's not the minutes at the table that add to your weight. It's the seconds.

Judith Marie Brun Married Saturday To Nathenial Herriman at St. Mary's

Judith Marie Brun, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Brun, became the bride of Nathaniel J. Herriman in a ceremony solemnized at St. Mary's church Saturday morning.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Grunch.

The Rev. E. Francis Denay officiated at the single ring service during the Nuptial Mass celebrated before an altar decorated with arrangements of white mums and lighted tapers. Mrs. Frank Oleksy was the organist and Mrs. C. D. Geiken the soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected a ballerina length gown of white lace over taffeta for her wedding. Fashioned with a fitted lace bodice and a bouffant skirt which featured alternating ruffles of lace and nylon, the gown was worn with a fitted lace jacket styled with long sleeves and a mandarin collar. A seedpearl crown secured her nose veil and she carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and feathered white carnations.

Mrs. Thomas Hamlin assisted her sister as matron of honor. She wore a sky blue princess style taffeta gown fashioned with a U-shaped back neckline and a bustle bow and a matching blue feather head band and nose veil. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Donald Falting assisted the bridegroom as best man. Ushers were Ronald Grunch and Robert Grunch, step-brothers of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Brun selected a navy dress and matching accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Grunch, mother of the bridegroom, wore a brown dress and matching accessories. Their corsages were of white carnations.

Immediately follnwing the ceremony a reception for the wedding party and more than 50 guests was served at St. Mary's hall by the Altar Society. Tables were decorated with arrangements of autumn flowers and candles. Patricia Belfy cut the tiered wedding cake.

For traveling on their northern Michigan wedding trip, the bride wore a red plaid fall suit and matching accessories. Upon their return the couple will live at 1301 Bridge st.

The bride is a graduate of St. Mary's school and the Charlevoix high school. The bridegroom attended Elkton high school and is a veteran of two years in the U. S. Army.

Mr. and Mrs. William N. Schroeder Observe 50th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. William N. Schroeder, former residents of Mancelona who have made their home here for the past three years, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at a dinner party given Saturday at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Schroeder.

Mr. and Mrs. Schroeder were married in the Lutheran church at Mancelona Nov. 14, 1909. An account of the wedding which appeared in the Mancelona Herald 50 years ago describes the occasion as "a brilliant wedding in which the contracting parties, Anna Makel and William Schroeder, exchanged their vows." Both are natives of Mancelona. Mr. Schroeder, a licensed mortician for 37 years followed this profession and later, in 1939, purchased a furniture store. He retired when he and Mrs. Schroeder moved to their new home at 108 Belvedere ave. in 1956.

They have one son, John W. Schroeder and two granddaughters, Janet of Charlevoix and Mrs. Don (Angela) Sergeant of Big Rapids.

Betrothed

Leonard J Sanford has announced the engagement of his daughter, Lucille, to Adolphus F. (Fritz) Allard.

The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Allard.

The bride-elect is a 1958 graduate of the Charlevoix high school. Mr. Allard, a 1951 graduate of the local high school, is a veteran of four years in the U. S. Navy and attended Wayne State University.

Past Noble Grands Hold Dinner Meet

Ten members of the Past Noble Grand club met Thursday at the home of Mrs. Leroy Allers for a 6:30 p.m. cooperative dinner and business meeting.

Mrs. Robert Mitchell presided at the meeting at which plans for the annual Christmas party to be held at the home of Mrs. Grace Geneit Dec. 10 and a Sandra party to be held at the home of Mrs. W. E. Goss Nov. 17 were made. A letter from a member, Mrs. Charles Evans who is in West Palm Beach, Fla., for the winter was read. Mrs. George Cook was in charge of devotions and Mrs. Luther Hannah, club chaplain, led the prayer. The mystery package, furnished by Mrs. Allers, was won by Mrs. William Ager.

Other members present were Mrs. Fred Gill, Mrs. Earl Blood, Mrs. Goss, Mrs. Geneit and Mrs. Raymond Seymour.

St. Mary's School Plans to Organize Boy Scout Troop

Boys enrolled in St. Mary's school who are interested in becoming Cub Scouts or Boy Scouts and their parents are invited to a meeting scheduled Friday evening.

The meeting will be held at St. Mary's school hall following devotions at 8:30 p.m. Friday and all boys eight years or older who are interested in the Boy Scout program and their parents are urged to attend.

Harvey Griswold of Petoskey, Northern District Scout representative, and George Schraut of Traverse City, executive director of the Scenic Trails Council, will be present to discuss the Scouting program and to assist in the organization of Cub Scout Dens and a Boy Scout troop if the boys and parents wish to do so.

Boys in the 8, 9 and 10 year age group pare eligible for Cub Scouts and those 11 years or older for Boy Scouts.

This meeting does not apply to boys already in the Scouting program either as Cubs or Boy Scouts.

SUNDEW REPORTS

Last week the Sundew report was not written because we did not return to Charlevoix in time to have it at the newspaper office.

The trip to Frankfort was delayed enroute by high winds so we anchored all day Tuesday, Nov. 3, in Sleeping Bear Bay. By nightfall the winds abated and we proceeded to Frankfort, arriving about 9 p.m.

Though our work there eventually took two days we were delayed the remainder of the week by high winds. Some of the crew returned to Charlevoix for the weekend.

On Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 9 and 10, the cable was removed from the water and new cable [illegible] on the Breakwater. The ship left Frankfort Tuesday about 9:30 p.m.

Wednesday was holiday routine but we were underway at 10 p.m Thursday for the Soo. After arriving in mid-morning on Friday we off-loaded equipment and took on board some new range light equipment for delivery to Sturgeon Bay, Wis. We ran all day Saturday and spent Saturday night in Sturgeon Bay. On Sunday morning we got underway for Charlevoix arriving about 6 p.m. that night. The trip back home was a bit rough as we bucked head winds.

SUNDEW SCUTTLEBUTT . . .

A new seaman, Richard Kratz, reported aboard for duty from boot camp at Cape May, N. J. He enlisted at Green Bay, Wis., after graduating from high school there last June. Our yeoman, Waldemar Rosinski, YN2, exchanged duty stations with the yeoman stationed at the Marine Inspection Office in St. Ignace. Mr. and Mrs. Ski are now residing in St. Ignace while John Helser YN3 took up his duties here. John hails from Roseville, Michigan, near Detroit. Pool was the main recreation while moored at Frankfort. The lifeboat station had a table in the basement which we were allowed to use. Encountered our first ice in Sturgeon Bay, a grim reminder of the winter ahead

Justice Court News

Justice John Connolly reports the following cases which appeared in his court recently.

John Fortune, 24, of Petoskey, and his brother, Thomas Fortune, 21, of Clarion, charged with being disorderly persons in a public place on a citizen's complaint, were ordered to pay fine of $15 and costs of $4.90 each or serve 15 days in the county jail. Both were committed.

Herbert Fuller, 28, of East Jordan, charged with consuming beer in a public place on the same citizen's complaint, was ordered to pay a $10 fine and $4.90 costs or serve 10 days in jail. He was committed to the local jail.

Carl Ainsbury, 19 of Boyne City, charged with driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, was ordered to pay $50 fine and $4.30 costs. Summons was issued by the Sheriff's Department.

Ronald J. Hoosen, 27, charged by the Conservation Department with having in his possession parts of carcasses of two deer unlawfully taken, was ordered to pay a $100 fine and $7.90 costs and sentenced to 10 days in jail.

Harvey Hamilton, 43, charged with driving with an expired operator's license, was ordered to pay $5.00. Summons was issued by the State Police.

● Mr. and Mrs. Leo Allard and daughter, Janet of Millington are visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Allard.

MINUTES OF SCHOOL BOARD MEETING

November 2, 1959

Present: Martin, Lieberman, Smith, Boss, Bennett, Supt.
Absent: Freedman

The meeting was called to order at 8:04 p.m.

Minutes of the meeting of October 19 were read and approved; as were those of a special meeting held October 20.

Moved by Boss and supported by Martin that bills in the amount of $2,218.28, payable from General Fund, be approved and ordered paid. Carried: 4-0.

Moved by Martin, supported by Smith, that a bill in the amount of $635.70, payable from the Building and Site Fund, be approved and ordered paid. Carried: 4-0.

Announcement was made that a special meeting would be held next Monday, November 9, for the purpose of accepting bids on additional kitchen equipment.

Report was made of the condition of the State Aid Bill as affected by the Supreme Court ruling on Use Tax. Mr. Bennett was authorized to attend the educational council with Dr. Lynn Bartlett, to plan what steps should be taken.

Suggestions were made and plans discussed for the properties connected with Kipke Field, on which the new high school is now being built. A resolution, including an offer to the American Legion, was proposed but tabled for a future meeting.

Announcement was made of an Open House in the High School, with a P.T.A. meeting to follow, on November 2 —and an Open House in the elementary school on November 11.

It was moved by Martin, and supported by Smith, that Hal Forbrig be hired, to inspect the construction of the sewers and footings at the new high school, the time not to exceed two hours per day — except by special instruction of the Board of Education. Carried: 4-0.

Authorization was given for the investment of the Building and Site Funds in excess of the needs for November and December.

The meeting adjourned at 9:35 p.m.

ALBERT H. SMITH, Secretary

MINUTES OF SPECIAL MEETING OF SCHOOL BOARD

November 9, 1959

Present: Lieberman, Freedman, Smith, Bennett, Supt.
Absent: Boss and Martin (entered meeting later).

The meeting was called to order at 8:14 p.m.

Reading of the minutes of the previous meeting was dispensed with until the next regular meeting.

It was moved by Freedman, and supported by Smith, that bills in the amount of $11,477.22 — payable from the Building and Site Fund — be approved and ordered paid. Motion carried: 3-0.

Mr. Gordon Cornwell and Richard Greenlees, architects, appeared with pertinent information regarding the high school building project.

After discussing changes in the Hot Lunch Kitchen for the new project, to meet recommendations of the State Director of hot lunches, and the County Health unit engineer, it was moved by Freedman and supported by Smith that those revisions submitted by the Post Fixture Co. be accepted; namely, additions detailed on Sheet A19 and described as Item No. 4, with the deletion of Item No. 12, for a new total of $19,826.92. Motion carried: 3-0.

Dr. Martin entered the meeting at this time.

After considerable discussion of Special Equipment for the new high school, it was moved by Freedman and supported by Martin, that the Board accept the bid of the Oglesby Equipment Co., with the complete package of Groups A, B, C and D, for a total of $36,815.00. Carried: 4-0.

It was moved by Freedman, supported by Mratin, that Alternate No. 1 from the general contract as awarded to Wallace N. Bjorklund, be deleted, and to replace concrete walled plate roof in the contract, for an additional $1,350.00. Motion carried: 4-0.

The meeting adjourned at 10:07 p.m.

ALBERT H. SMITH, Secretary

IT HAPPENED ON . . . . BEAVER ISLAND

By MARION MARTIN

Our readers will be interested to know Darlene Schmidt has returned home from the hospital and is doing nicely. Ann Gatliff has regained conscoiusness and is improving slowly but steadily. Ann is still in the hospital.

Bridget (Biddy) Mooney died in Traverse City November 3.

Recent visitors on the mainland were Mrs. Ada Martin, Mrs. Mary Greene, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Greene and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bud McDonough and son Timmy.

Mrs. Nora Gallagher has departed for the winter months. She will reside in Charlevoix.

Mrs. Mary V. McDonough has left to spend the winter months on the mainland.

Jim Cull from Pontiac, Mich. is visiting his brother Mike Cull.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Cull and family have gone to make their home in Hazelcrest, Ill. Larry is sailing at the present time.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray O'Donnell are visiting his parents Mr. and Mrs. James O'Donnell.

Due to factory lay-offs both Emmet Schmidt and Ronnie O'Donnell are here indefinitely.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Reavis of Detroit arrived last Wednesday from Detroit to spend a week with the latter's grandmother, Mrs. Marie McCall.

Mrs. Wayne Saunders and daughters, Susan and Diane, Mrs. Ed Beene, Mrs. Earl Kroll and sons, Mark and Kevin, Mrs. Burl Walker and children, Mary Jo

Henry Allen is spending a few days here.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Burke and baby Jeff are going to spend some time here. They were called home due to Ed (Bub) Burke's illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Wielkie and son Douglas are spending a week here.

Jeanne LaFreniere is visiting her mother Mrs. Elizabeth LaFreniere and family.

The Elston, Pischner family have settled at 1840 West 4th St., Mesa, Arizona. They are enjoying warm weather but do miss the Island.

Old man winter settled in with a vengence but it didn't stop the deer hunters. They continued to arrive by boat and plane. The exact number is not known at present but will have more later.

Ironton News

Mrs. James Barnt

Mrs Guy Smith and children, Randy, Connie, and Kelley, visited Mrs. Smith's mother, Mrs. Celia Olsen, of Petoskey, Sunday while their husband and father went deer hunting.

The weekend guest of Mr. and Mrs. Art Geer was their daughter, Miss Artis Geer, of Traverse City.

[illegible] Martin, Mr. Guy Smith and [illegible] Kelley, Mrs. Howell [illegible] and son, Tommy, all of Ironton and Mrs. Joseph Williams, of Charlevoix were the guests of Mrs. Max Hosmer, of Pine Point, for a "Kaffee Klatsch" Friday morning.

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Saunders and daughters were Mrs. Saunders' sister, Mrs. Herbert Griffin and son, Bryan, of East Jordan, and Mr. Saunders' uncle, Mark Saunders. Sunday afternoon and evening guests at the Saunders home were Rev. and Mrs. William H. Harmon, of Cheboygan.

Mrs. Mark Saunders is spending this week visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sibinic and sons, of Ypsilanti.

The Ironton Farm Bureau Group will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Art Geer this Saturday evening, November 21st, at 8:30 p.m. The discussion for the month of November is "The United States Supreme Court and the Constitution." All members are urged to attend.

Pinochle Club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Russell last Thursday evening. First prizes were won by Mrs. Glen Williams and Ashford Orvis. Mrs. Sam Alexander won the booby prize.

As of Monday evening, this reporter had received only one report of a successful deer hunter from this community. Irving Bulmann shot an eight-pound buck on opening day near Wolverine. I'm certain there will be more lucky Ironton hunters. Don't forget to phone in and report your kill. The number is Liberty 7-2098.

Several couples from this community have set up a deer camp near Vanderbilt. Mr. and Mrs. Glen Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Williams and friends, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Russell, Sonny Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Harrison, of Royal Oak, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hickey and son, of Fairgrove, are spending from one to two weeks at the camp. Miss Lynda Williams spent the weekend at the camp and returned home Monday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Irving Bulmann and daughter, Lori, who spent Monday at the camp. James Smith, of Charlevoix, and Tom Harrison spent the weekend at the camp. Mrs. Tom Harrison and children visited the camp on Sunday.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Bennett were their daughter-in-law and grandsons, Mrs. Don Bennett and sons, Michael and Thomas.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilson, of Hudson Ohio, arrived at their Ironton home Tuesday, November 10th and returned to Ohio on Sunday.

Don Shepard, of Ann Arbor, was admitted to the Charlevoix Hospital last week, following a heart attack. I'm certain your cards and notes would be appreciated.

Mrs. Lottie Tumath is still a patient in the Charlevoix hospital. She appreciates visitors and notes.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Tunison were their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Tunison and son, Barton, of Charlevoix.

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Barnt were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Tunison. Afternoon visitors at the Barnt home were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hamilton and daughter, Judy of [illegible]

[illegible] Mrs. Wayne Saunders and Mrs. [illegible] were luncheon [illegible] Mrs. Marie Luehr on Thursday of last week. In the afternoon Mrs. Saunders and Mrs. [illegible] visited Mr. and Mrs. Clifford [illegible] and sons, also of Traverse City.

The annual congregational meeting of the Ironton Congregational Church will be held this evening in the church basement. The meeting will be preceded by a potluck supper at 6:30 p.m. There will be entertainment for the children during the meeting, so bring them along. There will be election of officers.

This community has certainly had its share of serious auto accidents this fall. Last Thursday [illegible] William Shepard, of East Jordan, was involved in a traffic accident near the south edge of Ironton. Mr. Shepard, who was northbound, collided with a truck which was loaded with scrap iron, which was southbound. Mr. Shepard's automobile was demolished and the truck was damaged extensively. The [illegible] Charlevoix [illegible] He was [illegible] with [illegible] to the left arm, it was necessary to amputate three fingers from his left hand, and he was treated for multiple abrasions, contusions and pneumonia.

Fifteen members of the Charlevoix Rayders' championship football team are among the 81 young prep school athletes of the Northern Michigan Class C league to hank up their jerseys and cleats for the last time.

The list of 81 includes 53 regulars from the eight teams that compose one of the strongest Class C leagues in the state.

Charlevoix heads the list with 15 players who will be lost to the annual 'cap and gown' parade in June. Pellston counts 13 seniors; Mancelona 12; Gaylord and East Jordan 11 each; Grayling 10, Boyne City six and Harbor Springs only three.

Coach Don Carey, who had led his team to two straight conference titles in two years, counts nine members of his starting line-up among the graduates. They include his entire starting backfield, Charles Coleman, Stan Smith, Gary Chew and Bud Balch, the latter the top scorer in the loop. The line losses include ends Dick VanRaaphorst, who handled the team's kicking chores, and Joe Beaudoin, tackles Bruce Pease and John Martin and center Mike LaBlance. The guards, Jerry Keiser and Gene McBride, were the only juniors in the forward wall.

Other seniors who saw action on defense or as substitutes for starters are Tony Genia, Ralph Brock, Ron Grunch, Jim Browe, Dave Schuenard and Mark Cross.

These players, most of whom were understudies to the 1958 championship team, played major roles in this year's successes which included seven conference victories while allowing only 19 points to be scored against them.

The Rayder squad has received recognition throughout the season as one of the top Class C-D teams in the state and for five of six weeks headed the UPI list. The Rayders dropped to second place on the list released Nov. 4 but were back on top the following week.

The Pellston Hornets will lose 13 players by graduation, among them several outstanding gridmen. Coach Francis McMahon counts among his loses Backs Garry Spencley, top scorer for his team and one of the swiftest backs in the loop, Barry Anderson who played in an end position as well as in the backfield, and Ronnie Searls and linemen Jerry Mallory, Burt Stanley, Charles Hiar, Bill Kerridge, Curt Fonger and George Smith, all regulars, and Ken Parkey, John Blanchard, Ray O'Neil and Ivan Sanford.

Matt Jacobson, coach of the Mancelona Ironmen who were the chief threat to the Rayders title aspirations, loses Jason Buckwheat, top scorer for his team and second only to Balch in the league despite the fact that he missed the Charlevoix game because of leg injury, and Bill Weiser, both backs, and such outstanding linemen as Job Jacobson, Ron Lockman, Fred Moore and Terry Dickinson along with defensive players and subs Jerry Pruden, Terry Bengtson, Frank Konetzka, Alvin Moran, Howard Alexander and Gary Cantrell. Mancelona finished in second place behind the Rayders.

The Gaylord Blue Devils who finished in a fourth place tie with Boyne City also has 11 players who will graduate in June. Coach Don Burnison counts among them his son, Bob, Terry Cremeans, Roger Walker and Bob Noirot, all backs, and linemen Hugh Campbell, Bob Super and Tony Tripp, all regulars and Roy Wolf, Bill Karbowsky, Roy Middleditch and Gener Van Togeron, who saw limited action.

Coach Don Ferguson at Grayling will lose such outstanding player as Roger Hatfield, Tim Perry and Ray Lovely, all regular backs, and starting linemen Dave Wyman, Curt Smith, Jack Hull and Tom Brooks along with subs Jon Bond, Bill Krerker and George Gingerick. These players along with the remainder of the Viking squad were instrumental in pulling the Grayling outfit out of the loop cellar for the first time since the 1955 season. Grayling finished in fifth place.

At Boyne City, where Coach Paul Pfahler has been working on a rebuilding program, only three regulars will be lost by graduation including starting linemen Dave Kirby, Lloyd McGeorge and Don Tompkins and subs Kent Boutillier, Daryl Smith and William Potter who saw limited action with the Rambler squad which finished in a fourth place tie with Gaylord after getting off to a slow start.

At Harbor Springs where Coach Charlie Paige's squad was composed almost entirely of juniors and underclassmen only Doug Meeker, one of the few real speedsters in the loop, Jim Hull and Norm Terpening will be among the graduates.

Lancers Lose Hard Fought Final Game To Inland Lakes

Ellsworth — The Ellsworth Lancers closed out their 1959 football season last Friday night when they lost a hard fought game to Inland Lakes by a 26-8 score on the local field.

Inland Lakes scored the only touchdown of the 1st quarter on an eight yard pass play. Their try for extra point was no good and they led 6-0.

Ellsworth scored their only touchdown of the game on an 18 inch plunge by Bill Girrard. Ron Vander Ark then kicked for 2 points and Ellsworth led 8-6.

Their lead was short lived, however, as Inland Lakes came right back and scored on a 41 yd. run and went ahead 12-8. Their try for extra point was no good and the first half ended 12-8.

In the 3rd quarter Inland Lakes scored on a 25 yd. pass play, again their try for extra point failed and they led 18-8.

Ellsworth then scored on a 21 yard run by Mick Veenstra but the touchdown was nullified by a penalty.

In the 4th period Inland Lakes scored on a 15 yard run and kicked for two extra points to go ahead and win the game by a 26 to 8 score.

As this marks the end of the season our hats are off to the boys of the team and their coaches for their fine games and wish them lots of luck for the next season.

Is Your TV Antenna 3 Years Old?

Your antenna takes a terrific beating up on the roof ...exposed to rain, wind, snow, and sun. After 3 years, the antenna no longer has its original power and efficiency...resulting in faded, weak, or "snowy" pictures.

That's why, if your antenna is 3 years old or more, it's a good idea to have it replaced. But this time install an antenna that you can rely on to provide more years of peak performance. This antenna is the famous Channel Master T-W. No other is so ruggedly built to give you extra years of trouble-free viewing pleasure.

The hunters that are at the spike [illegible] camp east of Gaylord are Herb Peeples, Bob Smalley, John DeYoung, Charles Edson, Emery Wilson, of Ellsworth, Basil Cummings of East Jordan, Johnny Wynsma of Grand Rapids, Pete Peterson of Lansing and Earl Edson of Elk Rapids.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Telgenhof of Central Lake visited with Mrs. Robert Smalley Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. John Drenth and family spent the weekend in Rudyard visiting Mrs. Drenth's relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wassenaar were Sunday dinner guests at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Petter.

Mr. and Mrs. Nick DeYoung were guests Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Klooster.

Re-organize Band Boosters Club

Ellsworth — The reorganization meeting of the Ellsworth "Band Boosters" Club was held as announced in the High School, Tuesday evening, Nov. 3.

Dean Fiedler acted as chairman of the meeting. There were thirteen persons present.

Officers were elected as follows: Bob Smalley, president; Mrs. John Drenth, vice-president; Mrs. Bernice Ruis, secretary; Mrs. Henrietta De Young, treasurer; Mr. Fiedler, publicity director.

After some discussion, it was decided that the executive board would prepare a constitution to be presented at the next club meeting.

In answer to the question concerning the needs of the band, Mr. Fiedler related that he would like to see the club raise funds for one or two of the needed instruments each year until the instrumentation was complete.

President Smalley appointed Alice Drenth, Mrs. Agnes Klooster and Mrs. Catherine Denny to the membership committee.

Lunch was served by the retiring executive board.

At this time we would like to thank the retiring committees for the fine job they have done. Their continued efforts over the last few years has helped the instrumental music department very much and is deeply appreciated. Our community will have more complete music education because of the response of the citizens and the labors of the committees.

Brother of Mrs. Badger Succumbs

The Rev. Robert G. Geiger, 51, brother of Mrs. Dorothea Barger, died Nov. 2 at Berrien Springs where he had served as pastor of the Methodist church for two years.

He had served churches at Lawton, Mendon, Wayland, Martin and Hartford and during World War II was an Air Force chaplain for three years.

Besides his sister, he is survived by his wife, a daughter, Mrs. James Jater of Shelbyville; and two sons, David and Wayne.

Mrs. Barger was in southern Michigan for the services.

- Mrs. Florence King visited in Boyne City for several days with her niece, Mrs. Harry Tompkins.

Nat Burns, Native Of Community Dies in Florida

Nat Burns, 97, a native of this community, died Nov. 11 at Zephyhills, Fla., where he had resided for many years.

The body was returned to Charlevoix for funeral services at the Winchester Funeral Home Sunday with the Rev. Fred W. McNeil officiating. Burial was in Brookside cemetery.

Born in Charlevoix, Mr. Burns lived here until going to Plainwell in the 1920's. He operated a garage there until going to Florida where he operated a real estate business in the Zephyrhills area. He was a member of the IOOF.

Surviving are his wife; two sons, Bernard of Zephyhills, Fla., and Ralph of Plainwell; several grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

● Mr. and Mrs. George Dean left recently for Venice, Fla., to spend the winter months with the latter's brother, Frank Maher.

Fabian Ecklund Fatally Injured in Auto Accident

Fabian 'Bob' Ecklund, 18, Michigan State student and son of former Charlevoix residents, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Ecklund, died Nov. 7 at Sparrow hospital in Lansing as the result of injuries received in an auto accident Oct. 15.

According to information received in a letter from the young man's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Ernest Howe of Ann Arbor, he and three college friends were going duck hunting on the Van Tassle farm near Williamston on Oct. 15. Young Ecklund, whose parents have lived at Springport since June, was riding on the fender of the car because there was no room inside and so he could open the lane gate. As the car was about to cross the highway, Ecklund started to slip and young Van Tassle, fearing he would run over him, jammed on the brakes, throwing him to the pavement with great force. He was rushed to Sparrow hospital in Lansing where he underwent three operations for treatment of the fatal skull injury.

Funeral services and burial were at Springport.

Born at Traverse City, Sept. 12, 1941, Bob was a graduate of the Traverse City high school and was enrolled as a freshman at Michigan State, majoring in art. Since June when his father had purchased the Springport Elevator, he had lived in southern Michigan.

Besdes his parents, he is survived by a sister, Carol; his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Margaret Ecklund of Traverse City, and his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Howe, of Charlevoix and Ann Arbor.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

A Real "Meaty" Subject

Today I've got a tale that really hits close to home—but it's okay, I've got the wife's permission to tell it.

My Mrs. Marsh has been cooking hams—deliciously, I might add—for years. But always, just before she pops 'em into the oven, she slices an inch off one end. Reason: she said her mother always did that to make ham tastier.

Last week, though, Grandma gave the real reason. Sure, she used to slice an inch from a ham but only when her roasting pan was an inch too short.

From where I sit, all of us do things that can't be backed up by reason or fact. Most time they're pretty silly things—particularly the petty prejudices we build. For instance, some folks may resent your preference for buttermilk at dinner, or mine for a glass of beer. If they'd stop to think "why"—they'd realize they were taking a "slice" off our friendship and for no good reason at all.

Island Pioneer Dies At Home of Son

St. James, B. I. — Mrs. Mary Martin, 80, a resident of this northern Lake Michigan island for more than 75 years, died Thursday at the home of her son, John R. Martin, at 212 Antrim st. in Charlevoix. She had gone to the mainland three weeks ago to join her son for the winter.

Funeral services were held Saturday at Holy Cross church here with the Rev. Fr. Louis Wren O.F.M. (Conv.) officiating. Burial was in Holy Cross cemetery. The body was at the family home where the Rosary was recited Friday evening. The Winchester Funeral Home in Charlevoix was in charge of arrangements.

Born in Leelanau county Feb. 7, 1879, the former Mary Floyd came to the island as a child. In 1897 she was married to Barney Martin who preceded her in death in 1942. She was a member of Holy Cross church.

Surviving are four daughters, Mrs. Katherine Nelson of Grand Haven, Mrs. Jack Towers of Milford, Mrs. A. S. Nelson of Gladstone and Mrs. Harvey Hatfield of Detroit; five sons, John R. of St. James with whom she lived and who was living in Charlevoix temporarily, James of Indiana Harbor, Ind., Joseph L. of Chicago, Robert B. of Indianapolis, Ind., and Herbert G. of Eureka, Calif.; four grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. Hubert McCauley of Pentwater and two brothers, Fred Floyd of Muskegon and James Floyd of St. James.

Girl Scouts Buy Property for Headquarters and Camp Site

The purchase of 30 acres of land located in Marion township 1½ miles from the heart of the community by the Charlevoix Girl Scout Council headed by Mrs. Robert O. Bergmann was announced this week.

Included in the purchase is a four-room frame house located on the front of the property thru which Stover Creek runs. Approximately half of the land is cleared; the remainder is covered with groves of hardwood.

The parcel of land to be utilized as a camp site was purchased from Mrs. Alma Stokes of New Orleans, La. for $3,500. A down payment of $1,500 saved over a 10 year period leaves $2,000 to be paid. In making the announcement regarding the purchase, Mrs. Bergmann said that "without increasing our budget we expect to pay off the mortgage held by the Charlevoix County State Bank at 4 per cent interest at the rate of $300 annually for six years. Revenue to retire the debt will come from the annual sale of Girl Scout cookies and funds formerly spent to rent a camp site for troop camping. The recently acquired property will not be developed until it is paid for."

Chief purpose for the purchase of the property is to offer to all girls seven through 17, residing in the Charlevoix area an opportunity to participate in the Girl Scout program in accordance with the purposes of the Girl Scouts of the United States which is to help girls develop as happy, resourceful individuals willing to share their abilities in their homes and as citizens of their community, their country and the world. It is the feeling of the local Girl Scout Council that this goal can best be achieved by having a permanent camp site where the expanding program offered by the Girl Scouts can be developed.

Today the Charlevoix Girl Scout Council boasts six Brownie and eight Girl Scout troops.

Leaders will be notified when

Oppose Location Of Bowling Alley

The McGeach Farm Bureau group Monday evening adopted a resolution opposing the building of a bowling alley near a bar or any other place where alcoholic beverages are served, according to a report from Mrs. Arnold Copeland.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Howard were hosts for the regular monthly business and social meeting.

The action apparently stems from a recent report that an alley is to be built on property located on South US-31 between the Airport Bar and Liston's restaurant.

JayCees to Sell Yule Wreaths

The Charlevoix JayCees have launched their Christmas wreath project and Monday evening the members will canvas the homes in Charlevoix to take orders for wreaths.

The project has a two-fold purpose, according to JayCee President Don Brown. Proceeds from the sale will go into a fund to aid in financing various programs for community betterment. Secondly, the sales will provide some income for the persons making the wreaths.

In addition to the special canvas Monday, all members of the organization will accept orders for wreaths after that date.

To Honor Rayder Squad at Dinner Wednesday Eve

Members of the Charlevoix Rayder football squad which has brought state-wide recognition of Charlevoix the past two years will be honored Wednesday evening by a testimonial dinner at the Weathervane Inn.

The event is being sponsored by a group of local businessmen who believe the Rayders and their coaches, Don Carey and S. E. (Irish) Coleman, well deserve community recognition for the record they have established.

Tickets for the dinner will be available Friday at Lieberman's. Due to limited seating capacity there will only be 85 tickets available. These will be sold on the basis of first come first served.

Each ticket includes the purchaser, a guest member of the squad plus the attractive trophy which will be awarded to each member of the team.

Three Recovering From Injuries Following Crash

Elma "Red" Woodard, 62, and his wife, Edna, 51, were reportedly in satisfactory condition at the Charlevoix hospital Wednesday where they are being treated for injuries received in a head-on collision on the Murray school road in Hayes township last Wednesday.

Mr. Woodard, who was driving west on the township road at the time, received a fractured ankle, lacerations and bruises in the accident. Mrs. Woodard received fractures of both the upper and lower left arm which necessitated surgery and a fractured lower left leg in addition to bruises and lacerations.

Nathaniel Smith, Jr. 19, of Bay Shore, driver of the second car which collided with the Woodard vehicle near the crest of a hill 500 ft. east of the Murray school was in fair condition at Little Traverse Hospital where he was treated for severe head lacerations and a fractured knee.

Henry Sorgat, 59, a passenger in the Woodard car, was discharged from Little Traverse Hospital after being treated for minor injuries.

Smith was charged with driving to the left of the center line in a warrant issued Monday by State Police of the Petoskey post who investigated the accident.

Tell of Program For Counseling And Guidance

Clifford Sjogren of Harbor Springs, who is in charge of the guidance and counseling program in the Harbor Springs schools, and Robert Vratanina of the faculty of North Central Michigan College in Petoskey where he also serves as registrar, were the guest speakers at the recent meeting of the Program Study Discussion group of the PTA.

Mr. Sjogren outlined the guidance and counseling program as conducetd by him in the Harbor Springs school where a regular schedule of parent-teachers conferences are held in order to discuss the students' needs. The program also includes course planning following a guidance program which includes administering and processing tests. The results of these are then discussed with the students in order to advise them of their capabilities and aptitudes.

Mr. Vratanina outlined the academic background necessary to specialize in guidance and counseling. He said that all persons working in these fields have completed work on their bachelor's degrees before specializing in guidance and counseling and thus are qualified teachers as well as advisors.

Guidance and counseling in the local schools were discussed. It was revealed that many of the components of a good guidance program are currently in practice here and that it would be possible to enlarge the program with the existing faculty in charge.

This latter subject will be discussed at the next meeting of the program study group with the Community Chest Drive Nears Goal

The 1959 Community Chest fund drive neared its goal of $9,823.06 Wednesday with only $446.78 remaining to be solicited, Mrs. James Coleman, campaign chairman, reported.

"If persons in the community will mail in checks they have promised and those who were missed during the house-to-house canvass will come through with their contributions, the drive can be brought to a successful conclusion," Mrs. Coleman said in urging these people to mail or leave their checks at the Charlevoix County State Bank.

Workers who have not completed their 'call backs' are urged to do so at the earliest possible date so that the books may be closed on the fund drive.

Organizations for whom funds were collected during the drive include Michigan United Fund, $1,452; Charlevoix hospital, $1,121.06; Community Nurse, $1,450; Boy Scouts, $1,450; Charlevoix county chapter of the Red Cross, $1,000; Girl Scouts, $750; [illegible] recreations, $800; Salvation Army, $325; Charlevoix Association to Aid Retarded Children, $450; Charlevoix Service Organization, $225; Emergency Fund, $300; Mt. McSauba Ski club, $400; campaign expenses, $100.

Community Choir Organizing for Vesper Concert

The Charlevoix Community Choir will begin rehearsals at 8 p.m. Tuesday in preparation for the annual Vesper concert to be presented Dec. 20 C. A. Odmark, director of the group, has announced.

Everyone interested in participating in this traditional Christmas event is urged to attend this first rehearsal, one of four to be held prior to the concert. Dates of rehearsals have been set for Dec. 1, 8 and 15 with a final one to be scheduled before the date of the concert.

The Christmas Vesper Concert presented at 4 p.m. on the Sunday preceding the great holiday, has become a tradition in Charlevoix. A choir of volunteers interested in presenting the finest in Christmas choral literature join together in presenting this program.

Former choir members are urged to attend the first rehearsal Tuesday. New members are cordially invited to join the choir. Those who cannot attend the initial rehearsal are asked to call Mr. Odmark at LI 7-2494 to enroll in the group.

Newcomers to the community are especially encouraged to join the choir which makes two appearances annually, at Christmas and at the Baccalaureate Service preceding graduation time at the Charlevoix high school.

Farmer-Merchant Annual Banquet to Be Held Monday

Farmers of the area will be the guests of local business people Monday evening at the annual Farm-City dinner to be held at the Mason Temple, Edward K. Shanahan, chairman of the Kiwanis committee sponsoring the event in co-operation with the Farm Bureau, has announced.

Mrs. Marjorie Karker, co-ordinator of the Michigan Farm Bureau Women's program, has accepted an invitation to speak. Her topic, according to Mr. Shanahan will be "The Dangers of Creeping Socialism."

Mrs. Karker is a former school teacher who has been associated with the Michigan Farm Bureau for many years.

Tickets for the dinner may be obtained from H. E. Schofield at Brown Motors. Business people purchasing tickets are requested to give Mr. Schofield the name of the guest they wish to take. Mr. Schofield also has a list of farmers in the area from which to select guests.

The dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. by the ladies of the Charlevoix chapter of the Order of Eastern Star.

Offer Prizes for Best Christmas Home Decorations

The municipal utility department of the City of Charlevoix will again offer prizes for the best decorated homes during the forthcoming Christmas season.

Prizes of $15, $10 and $5.00 will be offered for the most attractively decorated homes in each of the city's three wards.

A $10.00 prize will be given for the best decorated home outside the city limits using city utilities.

A committee of judges will be named later to judge the entries.

Judge Downs to Speak at P. T. A. December Meet

Probate Judge William T. Downs will be the speaker at the December meeting of the PTA scheduled for 8 p.m. Wednesday in the high school band room.

Judge Downs, regional co-ordinator of Area 3 of the White House Conference on Youth and editor of the area report completed recently, will give a brief explanation on the conference scheduled for March, 1960, explain the approach on the area report and the results of the findings.

Area 3 is composed of Grand Traverse, Missaukee, Benzie, Manistee, Wexford, Emmet, Antrim, Kalkaska, Leelanau and Charlevoix counties. Work on the report was started last spring by PTA and similar groups on a community basis. Later the information was compiled on an area basis and forwarded to the state level.

Mrs. Charles A. Duerr, program chairman, said that the PTA would again sponsor an information booth with material on colleges, careers and scholarships at the December meeting. Refreshments will follow the meeting.

Mrs. Anna Eccleston to Retire

Mrs. Anna E. Eccleston, Register of Probate in the Charlevoix county Probate Court for the past 12 years, will retire from the post December 1.

In the position, Mrs. Eccleston has served as assistant to the late R. L. Lewis and Floyd A. Supp and to the present Probate Judge, William T. Downs.

Prior to becoming Register of Probate on Jan. 2, 1948, Mrs. Eccleston had served as clerk of the Charlevoix county draft board from 1943 through 1948.

How does the work in the office today compare with that at the time she became Register of Probate? "As it has in so many offices, the work load has grown steadily with the years. This office embraces so many fields of work . . . state matters, guardianships, afflicted and crippled children, delayed birth registrations and juvenile matters, to name a few . . . and each has required more and more records. It is work I have enjoyed because it is so diversified and I shall miss it. However, I am looking forward to a rest from the routine and the trip west for the winter."

Accompanied by her son, William Schwab, Mrs. Eccleston plans to leave December 5 for southern Michigan to visit briefly with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Gorsline and family of Lansing, her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schwab and family of Detroit and her sister, Mrs. Don McHugh of Birmingham before departing for the west on December 15.

In San Diego they will spend the holidays with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. David Dunkerley and two children and also visit in El Cajon, Calif., with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James Eccleston and family, before returning to Charlevoix in the spring.

"And," Mrs. Eccleston added, "if I enjoy traveling I might even plan future trips to visit my other children.

Should she decide to do this, she will be covering a lot of miles in the years ahead for her son, Senior Master Sgt. Joseph Schwab, his wife and daughter are in Montevideo, Uraguay, with the U. S. Air Force; Dr. Robert L. Schwab, his wife and family live in Neenah, Wis., where he is a pathologist at Memorial hospital there and M/Sgt. John Eccleston, his wife and family are currently stationed at Loring Air Force Base, Me.

City Authorizes Plans For Improvements of Local Disposal Plant

The City Council, at its regular meeting Monday night, authorized the engineering firm of McNamee Porter & Seeley of Ann Arbor to make detailed plans and specification for improvements at the sewage disposal plant as outlined in the preliminary study made by the firm.

The improvement project has become necessary to meet the requirements of the State Health Department and in order to become eligible for a grant under the Water Resources Commission.

Two parking regulations, one of them a new ruling, were ordered by the council, effective at once.

The new regulation prohibits parking on the east side of Grant st. between Mason and Clinton sts. during the school year.

The second is a regulation effective during the winter months prohibiting parking on city streets and across sidewalks between the hours of 3 and 7 a.m.

Approval was given the completion of the 1959-60 budget obligation to the Chamber of Commerce for advertising in the amount of $1,141.94.

Permission was granted the Beaver Island Boat Co. to erect a [illegible] by 15 ft. [illegible] airport property at a site to be designed by the City Superintendent.

[illegible] of proposed plans [illegible] runway at the Charlevoix airport were approved for [illegible] to the Medusa Portland Cement Co. of Chgo. and for the company's consideration. The company's railroad right-of-way runs through the present airport. The new plans call for extension of the present runway across the highway (Norwood road) on to property owned by the Medusa company.

Bills and payroll amounting $27,721.07 were approved and ordered paid. The figure includes a payroll of $6,576.40; a $2,109 payment for diesel fuel oil; $1,900 payment on the new utility truck for the utility department, two months accounts receivable including $8,700 from the water department and $3,700 from the sewage department.

The Family Doctor

The family doctor holds a high and honorable place in American history and tradition. The very phrase brings up pictures of a dedicated physician, fighting his way through storm and darkness in a horse and buggy or a primitive car.

Yet, some years ago there was a feeling that the family doctor was on the way out, and that medical knowledge had become so vast and treatment so complex that only specialists could meet the need. And, for a time, the statistics bore this idea out. In 1940, only one medical student in 10 planned on entering general practice. But a dramatic change has taken place. Today, six medical students in 10 will go into general practice.

There are good reasons for this. The general practitioner of today is far more competent, far more knowledgeable, than his predecessors. Postgraduate work, reading, medical meetings and other factors see to it that he keeps up with medical progress. And there is more to the matter than just the question of competence. The family doctor fills a niche that no one else can fill. He knows his patients — and they know him, as a friend as well as a medical man. He is on call when needed. He brings with him confidence and peace of mind — psychological medicines, so to speak, which are important to building and regaining health. He knows when a specialist should be summoned, and what kind.

The American scene wouldn't be the same without the family doctor. It's good to know that he is holding his important place in the great canvas of American medicine.

The American scene wouldn't be the same without the family doctor. It's a point to keep in mind lest we become gullible to the propaganda dispensed by those who would substitute socialized medicine.

Grassroot Opini'ns . . .

—As viewed by other Editors

Miles City, Mont., Star: "Steelworkers themselves know that any raise will be of transient value, because any raise they get will trigger demands of unions in all other industries . . . Newspaper polls before the strike showed that union members were generally aware of this discouraging fact.

"Yet a strike we had, because monopoly unions today are more responsive to the demands of intra-union politics than to the wishes of the members.

"Thus we are reminded that the new labor act, valuable as it is, lacks provision for secret strike vote by those most concerned — union member."

Birmingham, Ala., Labor News: "Youth could well take for its creed today the Oath of Citizenship which the Youth of Athens took upon arriving at their majority..

" 'To bring no disgrace to this city by a dishonest act; to fight for the ideals and sacred things alone and with many: to desert no faltering comrade: to revere and obey the city laws: to incite respect and reverence in those above us who are prone to annul or set them at naught. To strive unceasingly to quicken the public sense of civic duty. To transmit this city no less but more beautiful than it was transmitted to us.'

"If the Youth of today would do this, there would be no need to fear the future."

Liberal, Kans., Daily Times: "Seems no matter how convinced you are that it's a bad risk to pick up any hiker, you still feel just a little like a heel when you sail on past . . This writer would suggest . . . that you just go on feeling like a heel and pass up all the hitch-hikers because a survey shows that the percentage of thugs is NOT one in a thousand or anything like it. For instance the police department at Globe, Arizona made a survey of 300 hitch-hikers. It showed 81 had criminal records or were wanted by authorities. Criminal records included 24 for burglary, 2? for auto theft, 11 for personal violence."

The weekly newspaper is uniquely an American institution. Nowhere else in the world will be found a system of journalism anywhere near the completeness of the American weekly newspaper. Nowhere else in the world will one find a newspaper primarily interested in Susie's birthday, nor a system that so thoroughly reflects the trivia of events that make up the life of all of us.

Many have said over the years that the weekly newspaper would disappear because it is totally unnecessary. They have been proven wrong. The weekly has grown strongly and has become even more firmly entrenched into the American way of life.-Somerset, Ky., Journal—

Walden, N. Y., Herald: "The National Safety Council reveal that 1,265,000 persons have died in this century in motor vehicle accidents in this country.

"By comparison, 604,773 Americans have been killed in battle or died of wounds in all this nation's principal wars, from the Revolutionary War through the Korean conflict.

"War is a grim thing--but we live with something even grimmer, day after day on our highways and byways."

Kittanning, Pa., Leader-Times: "Unwarranted pessimism has developed among some observers in evaluating Soviet rocket advance. The error lies in confusing progress in space research with expansion of defense capabilities.

"Dr. Herbert F. York, U. S. chief of military research and engineering, does not make this mistake. He describes the Soviet lead in space research as 'more of a question of acute embarrassment than national survival'."

Michigan Mirror
By ELMER E. WHITE

MICHIGAN'S NEXT budget is bound to be a whopper.

Even while the legislature searched for a tax program to balance the 1959-60 budget, state agencies were completing requests for their 1960-61 allowances from Michigan taxpayers.

THE MONEY PINCH has made agencies economy conscious the past few months; but not so much so that there has been a widespread clamor for budget cuts by agencies themselves.

A HALF BILLION dollar general fund budget is expected to be sought by the agencies. Mental health and education will be the most costly items.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams and the legislature will be under tremendous pressure when they review agency requests. The Governor claims the current budget provides for the most rigid and severe economy, even before curtailment brought on by the cash crisis.

Department heads will argue that three years of "austerity" mean the next budget should be larger than would have been sought had the state been able to keep pace with demands for service.

On the other hand, there are those in the legislature who will argue that now more than ever there is need for further economies. They want to deal with inefficiencies caused by civil service regulations, overstaffing, long coffee breaks, etc.

WORDS FROM THE past by Williams are expected to be repeated in the Governor's budget message.

For the past three years he has introduced his budget much the same way:

"If this budget appears to be large, let us remember that we are paying not only tomorrow's bills, but the bills we have accumulated through yesterday's neglect."

FURTHER CONSOLIDATIONS will be recommended to the legislature by the Governor's advisory council on reorganization.

Among proposals considered by the council:

1. Suggestions to create a central agency to coordinate the work of the various professional and vocational licensing boards now operating as separate departments.

2. Let the Department of Public Instruction do the work of some state educational boards and commissions.

3. Give the Conservation Commission jurisdiction over the Mackinac Island state park.

It won't be easy, but it seldom is to bring about change in government. The "ins" are usually better entrenched, work harder at resisting, and have more at stake than those seeking the change.

POWERFUL LOBBY interests can be expected to oppose any moves that would result in a loss of stature for any professional licensing boards.

A furor was raised when Williams proposed the merging of State Board of Alcholism with the Health Department. The Senate vetoed the proposal.

WHAT EVER HAPPENED to the six reorganization plans approved by the legislature earlier this year?

These plans, which included consolidations in the fields of revenue-collecting, health and welfare, were drafted to go into effect Jan. 1, 1960. But technically they can not become effective until 90 days after the 1959 legislature adjourns. Since we are already within 90 days of Jan. 1, a new confusion has been created.

ENCOURAGING SIGNS have emerged from all of the clouds of controversy about Michigan's business climate.

William M Day, president of Michigan Bell Telephone Co. and chairman of the Economic Development Commission, said the state's success in getting new industry the first nine months of the year was encouraging.

Seventeen companies on the Economic Development Department's list of prospects located plants in Michigan during the period. The department said it was "working on" 50 other prospects.

COMMUNITY COOPERATION is a major factor in luring new industry to Michigan. The state has 100 communities prepared to offer financial assistance, and 39 can establish planned industrial sites.

More than 300 Michigan newspapers helped develop a spirit of community cooperation by donating space for a series of industrial promotion ads.

MICHIGAN'S FIRST SNOW brought with it predictions that big things are ahead this season for winter sports.

Michigan is counting on a 15-million-dollar ski season. The state has 73 winter sports areas, many of them with their own snowmaking machines.

This year's theme: "Ski and Stay."

State officials are hoping the ski crowd will include visiting industrialists who will consider Michigan as a location for plant expansion.

New Cars Ride in Style

The shiny new '60 cars you've seen appearing in show rooms all over Michigan— know how they got there? 85% of the new automobiles the country over travel by motor carrier from factory to dealer — and this applies pretty well to Michigan . . . That's only part of the story of how much the automobile industry depends on trucks. The basic materials, the parts and accessories—everything that goes into the manufacture of automobiles—travels most if not all the way from source to destination by truck . . . So, you see, cars just couldn't be turned out in today's volume—or get to their destination as quickly—if it weren't for the direct, dock-to-door service truck transport provides.

St. Mary's Parish Asks Clothing for Overseas Needy

The eleventh annual Catholic Bishops Thanksgiving Week Clothing Collection for the needy overseas is now underway in St. Mary's parish here, Rev. E. Francis Denay has announced.

St. Mary's school has been designated as the depot for items of clothing which will be sorted and packed and forwarded to Grand Rapids where it will become a part of a larger shipment to be sent to the needy overseas.

Residents of the community are invited to participate in the program. In issuing the invitation to the public, Rev. Fr. Denay said that the clothing was sent overseas and distributed to the needy regardless of their religious beliefs and not confined to only the Catholics of the countries participating in the program.

The clothing needs, in order of priority, include men's pants, suits, shirts and shoes; blankets, quilts and coverlets of all kinds; children's clothing and layettes for infants and women's clothing of all kinds. Shoes for all age groups are also needed.

All contributions should be clean, in good repair and practical.

National Honor Society Inducts 15 Local Students

Fifteen new members were inducted into the Charlevoix chapter of the National Honor Society at an impressive candlelight ceremony held in the music room Tuesday evening.

A 6:30 p.m. dinner in the cafeteria hosted by the organization's membership and sponsors and attended by the inductees and their parents preceded the ceremony.

Membership in the Society is based on the following four principles which present members outlined briefly: scholarship, Marilou VerWey; character, Judy Koleskey; leadership, Bruce Kroll and service, Ruth Ann Riley.

Adult advisors who conducted the induction ceremony were Mrs. Robert G. Martin and H. E. Bingham. Faculty advisors, C. A. Odmark and Mrs. Harold E. Kohn also participated. Marilyn Novak was chairman of the activities.

Robert G. Lieberman, president of the Charlevoix Board of Education spoke briefly on what membership in the National Honor Society means to student and the people of the community.

Students who were inducted in the third annual induction ceremony were James Ladd, a senior, and Lynette Mayne, Mable Bingham, Frances Hayes, Lenore Erber, Sandra Tuomela, Betty Stoel, Karen Uhrick, Kathy Boss, Jean Curtis, James Sneathen, Thomas Martin, Don Newland, Carl Mitchell and Jerry Keiser, all juniors.

Officers Elected By Girl Scouts Leaders Club

Mrs. Eugene Bergmann was elected president of the Girl Scout Leaders club at the regular meeting of the organization held Wednesday at the City Hall. She succeeds Mrs. Jack Rader.

Other officers are: Mrs. Ray Wood, vice president and Mrs. Robert Pearl, secretary. Mrs. James Gallagher, Girl Scout program chairman, will handle publicity.

Information regarding the purchase of a Girl Scout camp site and the rules for its use by local troops were announced at the meeting.

Mrs. Lloyd Arnold, training chairman, reported on her program with the troops. Mrs. Gallagher led a discussion of projects to be completed before Girl Scout week. She also outlined proposed projects for the various troops including Christmas caroling for the Brownies and the preparation of Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets for the needy for the Girl Scout troops.

A letter from Miss Helen Langlois of the Midwestern Field Branch office in Chicago was read. It stated that all meetings pertaining to the proposed formation of an area council will be postponed until spring.

H. E. Bingham, Charlevoix high school principal, will go to Detroit next week to attend the annual conference of the Michigan Association of Secondary School Principals being held at the Fort Shelby Hotel Dec. 2-4.

Speaker at the general session will be Dr. Eugene Youngert who will report on the Conant American High chool Study.

Guild Notes . . .

The Women's Hospital Guild expresses its appreciation and thanks to all who helped make the Second Annual Thrift Shop a success. This project netted $531.00.

For that last minute Christmas Gift — Remember the candy which is on sale at several business places and at the hospital. This helps toward the nurses scholarship.

We are indeed grateful to have such faithful "Cart Pushers." It is a voluntary service which is much appreciated by the patients. Anyone wishing to take part in this service please contact Mrs. Gordon Freedman, 2436.

Our membership list has grown to approximately 350 members. However there is need for many more. Anyone wishing to become a member may call Mrs. Floyd Brown for particulars.

The serving committee has been supplying "Perky" a little puppet that is given to every child upon entering the hospital. We need help in getting these made up. Won't someone volunteer? Call Mrs. Dave Fowler, 9314.

* * *

With the Holidays coming up our very efficient Holiday Committee will be busy decorating the lobby and solarium in addition to making favors for each patient's tray.

Couple Surprised On Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Farrell of Norwood township were honored Thursday evening when 25 neighbors surprised them on their 18th wedding anniversary. A co-operative supper was served, including a large anniversary cake.

Progressive pedro furnished entertainment during the evening. First prizes were won by Mrs. Percy Empey and Al Smith. Consolation prizes were awarded to Mrs. Don Farrell and Fred Hull.

Mr. and Mrs. Farrell were presented a gift by the group.

Last June he was rated a consultant by the firm following a training course in business insurance. He was assigned to the Traverse City district in the capacity but was authorized to assist clients throughout the state.

Mr Wexstaff says he is delighted to return to his home town in a business capacity. While his business activites with Metropolitan were centered out of town, Mr and Mrs Wexstaff made their residence in Charlevoix

Hunting Family Gets Deer Quota

Some hunters have all the luck, or are they just crack shots. Without questioning their prowess as hunters it must be reported that Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hess sr., and Mr and Mrs. Ralph Hess, Jr., know where and how to get deer.

They returned Sunday from a week's hunting trip on Beaver Island an dthe party of four can [illegible] it got three bucks and a doe.

SUNDEW REPORTS

We had plans to check and pull [illegible] buoys in the Grays Reef [illegible] area but after arriving [illegible] Monday morning the wind increased making it impossible to come alongside the buoys. Heavy winds also made it dangerous for men to be on the buoy deck while taking on board the chains and sinkers. We turned around and returned to Charlevoix, arriving just before the snowfall.

Tuesday was the day of the [illegible] so we stayed in Charlevoix. We also remained in port Wednesday.

Thursday the barometer rose [illegible] the sea calmed down. This [illegible] the first time this fall the [illegible] favored us. As a result [illegible] six buoys for the [illegible] four in Grays Reef Passage, Simmons Reef buoy midway [illegible] White Shoals and Lansing Shoal [illegible] and Garden Island [illegible] just south of Lansing [illegible] light. We returned to Charlevoix after dark.

On Friday we picked up the [illegible] buoy in the Great Lakes, [illegible] new one at Boulder reef. Again the weather was calm with almost a flat sea. After removing the Boulder Reef buoy we had to work on the generators thus delaying our trip to South Fox island. That pick-up was scratched [illegible] we returned to Charlevoix. [illegible] picking up the Boulder [illegible] buoy we had to put a small boat in the water and send men to the buoy to knock off about two tons of ice that had formed as a result of Tuesday's storm and cold weather. Because of its size the buoy was placed on the breakwater at the Lifeboat station before we moored at the buoy depot. We remained in port over the weekend.

SUNDEW SCUTTLEBUTT . . .

Maybe it's because we have seen it several times now but the buoy crew seems to be working more smoothly than ever before. Ed Munch, John Massey, Tom Rudd and Paul Prey are the backbone of the buoy team. These men have the experience required to teach the newer men. Deer hunters have been able to get away in between our trips but so far "Cookie" Bryant has not received any venison in the reefers. Dick Marble shot a 10-pointer over near Midland, Michigan but those who stayed in the local area have not fared as well. Maybe next week's report will show better results. Frank Stolpe almost stepped on a big one but he tells us that surprise, coupled with a strange rifle, caused him to miss. Jerry Wyant, Red Lent, Charlie Hart and John Massey among others have had no success. Where are all those men who made sharpshooter at Grand Haven Rifle Range last August?

Police Continue Warning Against Faulty Heaters

The Michigan State Police continued this week to warn hunters and regular trailer dwellers of the dangers of the Thurm heaters using bottled gas.

Sgt. John Davis said that two more deaths from asphyxiation from such heaters were reported in Kalkaska county last week, bringing to eight the number of deaths in recent weeks traced to the heaters which are manufactured by the Thurm Engineering Corp. in Elkhart, Ind.

The heaters are illegal and prohibited in Michigan under provisions of the State Liquified Petroleum Gas regulations administered by the State Fire Marshall's Division of the Michigan State Police, Sgt. Davis said.

The use of the heaters is dangerous and may cause death by carbon monoxide poisoning.

Sgt. Davis explained the heater is a 'silent killer,' removing all oxygen from the air in an airtight trailer within 20 minutes leaving only the deadly carbon monoxide fumes.

Back from hunting. No luck as yet but I'm still trying. So are many others.

STEVE'S BAR made the last jump tonight. They finally made the top. We are in first place by virtue of the 4 point win over United Farm Agency.

O'Rile led the parade wilh a nice 221-566 series followed by Meg's 531. Ken Col had a 500 series.

For the United Boys, they didn't unite, but they tried hard. Ed Culbertson had a 449 series followed by Ken Boss 429. A new face for the Ununited tonight, Ron Sanger.

Fergie had a 495 series. For Freedman No. 2 "Les-toil" Smith and his 95-351 series was low. H. Pearsall was high with a 119-418 series.

MOONLIGHT Gardens without the aid of their boss, Jim Lawyer, struggled and won 3 points from Neff's. "Sand bagger" L. V. Miles had a 542 series followed by Grover's 205-526 series.

The Bowling Dentist had a 124-488 series. Good lhing you werent bowling for turkeys tonight, Doc.

For Neff's "Bennie" Ward had high series with a 504. Clayton Smith had a 119-395 series. P.S. Good luck and best wishes for a speedy recovery to Jim Lawyer, who is in the hospital

LAKE CONSTRUCTION also moved up the ladder. They took Puff's for 4 points. George Bergmann's 497 series was high for the Construction crew followed by John Wojan's 481.

Poor Pufl didn't have much help. He bowled a 204-578 series, but Ron Wojan's 122-137-134 393 series held lhings up.

Terry Rice had a 522 series. Charlie Donaldson with a 108 average, bowled along with Puff with a 446 series.

AIRPORT INN didn't have anything real big but still run over Freedman No. 1 for 4 points.

Des Milligan had a 511 series followed by Hank's 491 series.

Capt John Swanson, started off with a 191 game but the 145 third game gave him a 513 series. Henry Supernaw followed with a 453 series.

School Boasts Largest Band

The 74-piece Charlevoix high school band, the largest in the school's history, began its concert schedule last week after a busy fall.

The band was increased to its present membership when nine musicians who also were cheerleaders or members of the football squad rejoined the 65-piece marching band to round out the current roster. Now at full strength, the entire ensemble, directed by C. A. Odmark, has started preparation for the strenuous schedule ahead.

Earlier this fall the marching band, also the largest in history, presented three halftime shows during football games after the Oct. 2 was cancelled because of rain, marched in the Homecoming parade and the pep rally and coronation ceremony which preceded the game and furnished music for the weekly pep meetings at school.

Band membership this year includes 11 freshmen who were promoted to senior band status in order to ease schedule difficulties in the high school, Mr. Odmark said. A well-balanced instrumentation of five flutes, two oboes, one bassoon, 20 B-flat clarinets, two bass clarinets, eight alto saxophones, two tenor saxophones, 11 cornets, four French horns, two baritones, seven trombones, four basses and six percussion instruments has been achieved, Mr Odmark said. He added that he is pleased with the resulting band tone though still dissatisfied with the technical facility of the group.

Officers of the band are Judy Koteskey, president; Janice Burns, student director; Sandra Richardson, secretary and Don Hesse, treasurer. All are seniors.

Leading the marching band this fall were Larian Sanford, drum major and Mable Bingham and Lenore Erber, majorettes. Miss Sanford also serves as librarian as does Marilou VerWys, Hilda Bruce and Richard Odmark.

The complete roster of the band follows:

Flutes: Ruth Ann Riley, Elva Trimble, Sandra Tuomela, Garlyn Bice, Shirley Stoel; Oboe: Marilou VerWys, Richard OdMark; bassoon, Larian Sanford; B-flat clarinets: Rex Davis, Sally Harrington, John Martin, Marilyn Novak, Sandra Richardson, Sharon Cunningham, Jerry Keiser, Lynette Mayne, Don Nowland, Karen Pierce, Carol Smith, Betty Stoel, Sharon Abfalter, Dagmar Brock, Marlene Chew, Kathy Gallagher, Virginia Hamlin, Ann Hawley, Elaine Martin, Ruth Schofield.

Girl Scout troop 13 met Tuesday at a meeting called to order by the president, Marsha McCall. Dues and roll call were taken.

We opened the meeting with a flag ceremony. A new member, Cheryl Pearsall, repeated the Girl Scout laws in order to receive her tenderfoot rank.

Our assistant leaders, Susie Helms and Virginia Hamlin, taught us to lash and tie the clove hitch. After the meeting was adjourned we sang taps and had a candlelight circle.

Adventures in Understanding

Notes from a northerner's diary

By Harold E. Kohn

See For Yourself

Many of the "Nature-lovers" I know are of the hot-house variety. They enjoy thinking about trees as trees are pictured in Joyce Kilmer's celebrated poem. They adore baby animals on the moving picture screen. They watch the "Michigan Out-of-doors" on the television set. They know much about trees but fail to become acquainted with the giant plants themselves, never feeling the exultation of an oak that wrestles with the wind and storm, never sensing the strong and silent stauchness of a giant hemlock, never witnessing the cordial open welcome a birch extends to nesting tanagers. The [illegible] loving infant animals from afar have never stood still to see a family of baby weasels emerge from their log home at dusk and frolic about on a shadowed woodland trail, nor have the television-screen nature experts ever come to know intimately, by process of slow absorption, a hundred yards of a lake shore, pain-takingly scrubbed by finicky waves, nor have they watched an early morning sky sift its multicolored light through silver-green poplar leaves, nor have they laid all other interests aside to count the tollings of a wood-thrush's silver bell chiming at dusk of a summer's evening. Their eyes follow woodland roads on television screen and through magazine pages but no forest trails wind through their hearts.

Even the so-called nature "authorities" are not always vitally involved in their subject matter. Edwin Way Teale has told of lunching with two scientists, a botanist and an ichthyologist. In the course of their conversations the authority on plant life admitted he never kept a garden and the specialist in fish life never went fishing!

One of life's worst tragedies is the person who never becomes deeply involved in the good, the true and the beautiful. At best he remains a distant spectator of the glories of nature and the grandeur of living in God's world. At worst such a person is but a gatherer of second-hand reports.

A short time ago I received an enthusiastic letter from an elderly woman, telling of her excited anticipation of the annual flower show to be held in the great municipal auditorium of her city. Knowing the lady was not in robust health and even limited household chores absorbed nearly all her strength, I could have advised her "Save your time and strength. Stay at home. Tune in on your radio and you can doubtless pick up a broadcast of the flower show on your local station. You can then enjoy the show while you are doing your weekly ironing." A foolish suggestion, wouldn't you think? No matter how modern the radio, no matter how many delicate tuning instruments, there would be colors, textures and fragrances that would not come to that woman over her radio receiving set. Five minutes at a flower show is worth more than five hours of descriptive reports. Little value can be derived from flower shows, unless you "see for yourself."

There is no satisfying substitute for personal experience with the good things of life. That is why in the important matters we invite people to "See for yourself." The Pilgrim Fathers, seeking religious freedom, finally reached the shores of America, and wrote back to their relatives and friends in the Old World about their newly found liberty. But the Pilgrims did not regard their word as bearing final proof. "Come, see for yourself," they said.

A housewife tries a new recipe, and her family and guests respond to the tasty dish with glowing praise. The next day she tells her friend about the gusto with which the delicacy was eaten. She then writes out the recipe, gives it to her friend, and exclaims, "See for yourself." She knows, as the old proverb put it, "The proof of the pudding is in the eating."

Personal experience is a great dispeller of doubt, and sincere doubt, when it is honestly, valiantly, tested and tried, leads to some of the highest personal experiences. Galileo once called doubt "the father of discovery." It is — and the father of many another advancement, besides. Belief in a flat world was doubted and the world was proven round. Doubt in "spontaneous generation" of diseases, led to the discovery of bacteria and germs. Doubt that it was necessary for man to suffer through surgery while painfully conscious led to the development of anesthetics. Doubt that slavery was a God-sanctioned economic necessity led to Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation. The great pioneers of history have been those who doubted what they had always heard. But they were not content to remain mere doubters. They went into action. They saw for themselves. And the whole world has been better for their courage.

Every individual needs such a venturesome spirit if life for him is to be interesting, vital, vividly real and authentic. Everyone must pioneer for himself, setting out from where he is into new areas yet unvisited, seeing for himself what is thus far only a report from some other adventurer. Especially is this true of religious living. One reason why religion is vague and unreal to many people is that they are depending almost wholly on second-hand descriptions for their impressions. They read about prayer and hear much talk about prayer but they seldom pray in any earnest and sustained fashion. They know much about churches, but they do not know a church, thoroughly, from being a part of its fellowship and regularly participating in worship. They admire loyalty from afar, and venerate those who have proven true to their convictions, but they have never taken an ideal, like unstinting service to others, and stuck with it through thick and thin, through good moods and foul, when it was easy and when it was well-nigh impossible. Such persistent, unflinching loyalty to a spiritual principal is still good reading matter, but as yet not personally explored.

A person can possess a mind ever so full of beautiful sayings, proverbs and Scripture tests, and be overflowing with lovely sentiments, but until he acts in accord with his beliefs his life and the lives of his fellows will be entirely unaffected for good.

It is not the Pilgrim's hope for freedom that inspires the world it is when they set sail and seek liberty that the world takes notice.

It is not the composition of air that you read about in a chemistry book that does you good, but rather the deep breath of the clean out-of-doors that you take that invigorates your body and sweeps cobwebs from your mind.

We do not so much "think things through," as we "see them through" to solid conviction.

See for yourself!

A birthday cake for Mrs. Bert Ferron, one of Charlevoix county's oldest Grangers, was a feature of the refreshments. Mrs. Ferron who is 81 years of age was unable to attend because of ill health. However, a piece of the cake along with a corsage of pink carnations was sent to her.

Consider Fund Raising Projects For School Band

The need of the rapidly growing Charlevoix high school band and methods of raising funds to meet the needs were the main topic of discussion at the first meeting of the Charlevoix Band Parents Association held Friday in the band room.

C. A. Odmar, director of the music department, reported that there was imediate need to replace 38 pairs of trousers to uniforms which have been in use since 1946. Five complete uniforms are also needed to outfit this year's 74 piece band. Mr. Odmark also called attention to the band's needs next year when the Senior band will have more than [illegible] members.

Various fund-raising projects were discussed before the group decided to sponsor the annual dinner on Jan. ~~24 and~~ the sale of the World's Finest Chocolate beginning Feb. 10. Mrs. Robert Withers will serve as general chairman of the band dinner.

At the election of officers which followed the entire slate of officers was re-elected. Versal Seymoor will continue as president; Mrs. Lyla Arvilla, vice president; Mrs. Laverne Heise, secretary and Mrs. Hugh Mayne, treasurer.

The Band Parents Association has a membership of 107 parents of Reserve and Senior band members.

LANSING OBSERVER

By FRANK G. MORRIS

When a legislator starts writing a tax program, he feels like a guy looking for a way to commit suicide painlessly and remain alive.

It long has been established that one way not to win friends among the voters is to reach into their pocket-books with a friendly smile remarking: "Pardon me, for at heart I am an angel, not really a pickpocket."

That is why Gov. Williams double-crossed the Republican majority in the Senate last week after leading the Senators into a trap which was to have provided "bi-partisan action, freed of all political entanglements and designed only for the good of the people."

Well aware that Republican Senators never would give him an income tax, the Governor was on safe legislative ground when he insisted that an income levy should be the answer.

(Democratic legislators sweated that one out, remarking to their Republican friends: "Boy, Oh, Boy! If you should give us an income tax we all would be waving farewell to beautiful Lansing as the sun sets beyond the capitol dome.")

"Then give me any kind of tax that will free Michigan from the money-lenders and from the fatal blows of the bankruptcy court," said the Governor in a cosy visit with Senators Clyde H. Geerlings (R) of Holland, chairman of the taxation committee, and Frank Beadle, of St. Clair, chairman of the GOP caucus.

Well, they did — and it took a lot of doing.

Mindful of the fact that the people have said through many polls that they will not accept an income tax, and that no one complained loudly about the four-cent sales tax before it was ootlawed by the Supreme Court, Republicans put together a package that was not a happy perfume for anyone.

Everyone is aware by now that the package, like the perfume, could be labeled "My Sin" — that it included new levies on liquor, beer and tobacco.

Once the Republican program was drawn, Gov. Williams' promise of bi-partisanship was relegated by him to the limbo of fool's paradise.

Democrats refused to become co-sponsors of any of the bills. ("Let Republicans tax the people," they said, shaking hands gleefully.)

To the surprise of most Democrats, Republican Senators accepted the responsibility, although sitting in what has been described in politics as the "suicide seat."

Since the Supreme Court decision in the sales-use tax case, it has been plain to everyone in Lansing that the legislatore has had only three roads.

The first was to follow Gov. Williams and enact an income tax.

The second was to enact specific taxes like those which make up the Republican package.

The third was to do nothing while everyone stands back to watch the state government collapse.

It should be obvious that the Republican majority in the Senate had only one choice.

The only educational gain to the public, while paying beer and whiskey taxes instead of an income tax, is that talk of bi-partisanship, even when it emanates from the Governor, is hog-wash.

The business of politicians is politics. No one can contend that the politician screaming loudest for bi-partisanship has not been backed into a corner and is caught in a wringer.

Value of Pelt Overshadows Versatility of American Mink

Because the mink boasts an [illegible] appealing and lucrative coat of fur, his fame as one of North America's most eminent fur bearers has long overshadowed his robust versatility.

Nature has gifted this crafty animal with the composite talents of other members of the weasel family; a family composed largely of specialists.

Although he cannot swim as well as the otter, climb as well as the marten, catch mice as adeptly as the weasel, dig as well as the badger, or smell as bad as the skunk, he dose a commendable job in each of these departments.

His well-rounded repertoire is an extremely valuable asset, both for saving his precious hide, so [illegible] for getting food. When attacked or merely confronted by his chief foes—large [illegible], bobcats, foxes or man—the mink is quick to find refuge.

[illegible] is equally at home on [illegible] or in water, he might use his swimming skill to [illegible] ... [illegible] crevice [illegible] will halt a rat.

Should no hideaway be available, he can call upon his lightning-like speed and elusive movements to outrun and outdodge any ordinary enemy. If cornered, reasoning will give way to [illegible] and transform him into a savage fighter, regardless of his opponent's size.

Although the mink is highly adaptable in many respects, he has never learned to socialize, either with his fellow wildlife creatures or man. A staunch disbeliever of "togetherness," he works himself into a veritable frenzy when appproached by others.

From looking at the mink's menu, it appears that he follows the old saw, "variety is the spice of life." He shows little discretion in his selection of food and is guided primarily by what is available.

When frequenting the waterfront, his usual appetite-appeasers are fish, frogs, crayfish, turtle eggs, and muskrats. When touring the countryside, birds' eggs, small birds, mice, rabbits, squirrels, and domestic poultry are the most common items on his diet.

Depending upon his choice of food, the mink alternates between the role of hero and villain. If his food happens to be mice or rats he is considered a true friend to man. On the other hand, should his meat be trout, chicken or muskrats, the mink is branded a villain.

An ardent and itinerant lovemaker during the mating season from late January through early February in Michigan, the male is at best, a promiscuous cuss. Meanwhile, the female lives the life of a martyr.

The male's attachment to any one mating partner is short-lived. He cavorts freely, leaving the female to bear and protect the young. These are usually born in April or May and average five or six per litter. When born they are about the size and shape of a human's little finger. They are pale in color, blind, naked and totally dependent upon the mother.

Both the male and femanle are active chiefly at night doing their deeds of good and bad. After their nocturnal outings, they lug their booty home and stow it away until the next evening spree.

Mink dens are generally found near water. Long burrows in banks, holes under logs, stumps or roots and hollow trees are their favorite dwellings. Crevices of rocks, drains and nooks under stone piles and bridges are also frequently selected. The male often takes up his residence in muskrat homes.

The male's constant roaming makes him more difficult to trap than the female whose range is limited. Both are extremely wary of man's trapping devices. They draw the major attention of trappers from around the latter part of November through December which is their prime fur season. Approximately 16,500 mink were taken by trappers in Michigan during the 1958-59 season, about 4,000 above the previous season's mark.

Whether his acts are good, bad or indifferent, the mink is an important and versatile animal. He is truly the wildlife "jack of all trades."

A. J. LaFreniere, Retired Engineer Dies on Island

Archie J. LaFreniere, 72, retired engineer for the city of Detroit who has resided at Beaver Island for the past 14 years, died unexpectedly at his home there, Nov. 14.

A Requiem Mass was held at St. Mary's church here at 8:15 a.m. Thursday with the Rev. Fr. [illegible] OFM of St Francis church in Petoskey officiating. Graveside services were held at St Thomas cemetery in Ann Arbor Thursday afternoon with Msgr. Warren Peek officiating. The Winchester Funeral Home here was in charge of arrangements.

Born in Winchester May 15, 1887, Mr LaFreniere had been an engineer for the Detroit Board of Water Supply for 25 years before retiring to Beaver Island in 1946. He was a veteran of World War I, and a member of Holy Cross church at St. James.

His wife, the former Josephine Belonga, and a son, Allen, preceded him in death.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. C. Russell Pryce of Ann Arbor, one granddaughter, Sally Pryce of Ann Arbor; two sisters, Mrs. Marshall Griffin of East Jordan and Mrs. Nels Bergstrom of Iron Mountain; a brother, Henry LaFreniere of South Haven and several nieces and nephews.

SWAT THE HUMAN!

What we need this time of year is a [illegible] campaign to convince [illegible] that human beings carry germs.

New 50-Star Flag Available from Legion Post

The new 50-star United States Flags are now available from the Leslie T. Shapton Post, American Legion, Fenton R. Bulow in charge of flag sales, has announced. Although the 50-star flag is not to be displayed until July 4, 1960, they may be purchased in adavnce of that date.

The local Legion post also has a limited number of the 48-star and 49-star flags on hand. These may also be obtained from Mr. Bulow as well as the State flag.

The new 50-star flags on hand are of sturdy quality cotton, 3x5 feet, the quality generally accepted for street display. Other sizes are available, however, in wool and silk as well as cotton.

NMCC Athletes Get Primed for 1959-60 Basketball Campaign

With the football season behind them, young athletes of the Northern Michigan Class C league have taken to the basketball courts in preparation for the opening of the cage season less than three weeks away.

Four teams in the loop will open their schedules earlier with pre-season non-loop games. All teams will take to the hardwoods for their first conference games Dec. 4

Meanwhile, all coaches will have their work cut out for them as they condition their teams for the forthcoming 16-game court season which will end late in February.

Looking over the list of returning veterans such coaches as Bruce Smith at Grayling finds most of his 1958-59 team intact as does Bill Brighton at East Jordan while others have from one to three regulars and from two to six lettermen around whom they will build this year's teams.

Coach Smith at Grayling will have forwards Frank Gross and Roger Hatfield, center Jack Hull and guard Joe Robertson as the nucleus for his team along with lettermen Gary Springs, Dick MacLeod and Curt Smith, one of whom will doubtless make up the fifth member of the starting line-up. Grayling will have plenty of height in Hull who is 6 ft. 6 in., the tallest candidate in the loop, and Gross and Hatfield who are 6 ft. 2 in. and six ft., respectively.

Bill Brighton who has taken over as basketball coach at East Jordan finds himself with four regulars from last year's squad. They are forwards Larry Hayden and Louis Kraemer, and guards Mike Kowalske and Larry Drenth with Hayden at 6 ft. and Kraemer at 6 ft. 1 in. giving the group a little more height then the Jordanites have boasted in recent years. Lettermen Richard Kraemer who at 6 ft. 3 in. will be a candidate for the center position and Bill Taylor, Bob Bulow, Basil Morgan and Gil Redmer, all of whom are six feet or more will be vieing for starting assignments.

Coach Jake Schurmann at Mancelona boasts three veterans among the 36 players out for the sport. They are Jerry Bengston, junior forward, who will be returning to the sports arena after recovering from a shoulder injury suffered late in the softball season, Walt Klein, a guard and Fred Moore, 6 ft. 2 in. senior center. Lettermen Tom Moeke and Bill Klein will be strong contender for starting assignments as will Jerry Pruden, a senior center and a transfer from Dimondale who saw limited action late in the season last year.

Coach Don Carey will build his squad around Joe Beaudoin, a 6 ft. 2 in. forward, Charles Coleman, another forward and Dave Schuchard, a guard. Lettermen Bruce Pease, Dick VanRaaphorst and Jim Ladd along with Bud Balch, Stan Smith, Ralph Brock and John Martin who saw limited action last season will form the basis for this year's line-up.

Coach Jim Mongeau will utilize the services of regulars Bob Burnison and Roger Walker along with those of lettermen Roy Wolf, Terry Cremeans, Hugh Campbell, Bob Nottot and Dave Raab in determining this year's line-up at Gaylord.

Coach Paul Pfahler has two forwards returning, Mike Kane and Tom Christensen, 6 ft. 3 in. and 6 ft. 1 in., respectively as a nucleus for this year's Boyne City squad. Only returning lettermen are Jack Dixon and Doug Grubbe.

Coach Francis McMahon of Pellston finds himself with two regulars, Barry Anderson, 6 ft. 2½ in. forward, and guard Gary Spencley but with six lettermen around whom to build this year's squad. Among the latter are Jerry Mallory, a center, Ken Parkey and Curt Tonger, forwards and Burt Stanley, Ron Searles and Dave Schmalzried, guards.

At Harbor Springs Coach Charlie Paige will have only one regular, Fran Lauer, a junior forward, and must depend on returning lettermen for starters. Among these will be George Pamp, a 6 ft forward and tallest candidate for the squad, Jim Hill, Jay VahlHoeven, Gary Stutzman, Tom Graham, and Tom Burns plus a transfer from Vanderbilt, Pat Proctor, junior forward. Norm Terpening, another letterman, will be lost to the team as the result of an arm injury suffered during the football season.

Other candidates for Varsity positions on all teams will come from among players who saw action with Reserve squads last season.

The 1959-60 season will open the day after Thanksgiving, Nov. 27, with Boyne City playing at Petoskey.

The following Tuesday Dec. 1, Gaylord will travel to Cheboygan to take on the Chiefs. Grayling will host a new eastern Michigan team, Prescott-Whittimore, and Harbor Springs will take on Petoskey St. Francis on the latter's floor.

Know Your Rayders . . .

The Charlevoix Courier would like to take this opportunity to introduce to its readers the members of the Charlevoix Rayders who have represented the community on the gridiron throughout the past football season.

Dave Schuchard (67), senior halfback who saw limited action this season with the Rayders' championship squad. He is 5 ft. 10 in., weighs 145 pounds and played some J-V ball before playing with the Varsity this season. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger O Bergmann.

James Browe (44), 6 ft., 150 pound senior center who was an understudy to regular center, Mike LaBlance, during the current season. He has played two years of Reserve football and two years of Varsity ball. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Browe.

Don Moore (66), 5 ft. 9 in. 140 pound junior halfback who has seen limited action with the Varsity after two years with the Reserves. He is the son of Mrs. Walter Moore

Randy Kies (70), a transfer from Muskegon who was an early candidate for the squad but who did not finish the season. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elvie Kies.

Terry DeYoung, (81), 5 ft. 9 in. 145 pound junior back, who saw limited action this season, his first with the Varsity after two years with the Reserves. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold DeYoung.

Darrell Somerville (33) 5 ft. 11 in. 183 pound guard, the only sophomore on the Varsity this season. Though not a member of the starting line-up, he played regularly throughout the season after one year on the J-V squad. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Somerville.

Tony Genia (66), 5 ft. 9 in. 150 pounds who played regularly on the defensive squad after missing early games because of a rib injury. This was his second year with the Varsity after two years with the Reserves. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Genia.

Betrothed

Mr. and Mrs. Quinton D. White have announced the engagement of their daughter, Quinella Marie, to Franklin Potter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Potter of Norwood township.

The couple is planning a February wedding.

- Ralph Brock of Eveline township filled his license while hunting in the Loeb farm area.

I See By the Courier

- Greg Shadko, hunting near Watersmeet with Mrs. Shadko, filled his license early this week when he brought down a young buck.

Speaker Challenges Citizens To Find Out 'What's Going On'

Citizens of the United States were challenged Monday evening by Mrs. Marjorie Karker of the Michigan Farm Bureau, speaking at the Farmers-Merchants dinner to find out "what is going on" in these United States and "do something about it." Her concern is over the creeping socialism fostered by communism.

She boldly pointed her finger at four avenues of approach thru which communism is subtly working its peaceful strategy to eventually gain complete control of the nation. Calling names, she cited labor unions, politicians, the progressive education movement and the National Council of Churches. Many "supporters" of these groups she said, are the innocent victims of communistic forces working within the groups.

She recalled that for 6.000 years the people of the earth were unable to produce sufficient food and starvation was the common lot of man. Discovery and settlement of the new world brought with it a new order of society based on freedom and free enterprise and government controlled by the people. Under the new order man achieved the highest standard of production and living in the history of the world.

The increasing trend toward centralization of power in government is gradually robbing the people of the freedoms which made the nation great.

Mrs. Karker says the trend toward socialism is alarming and warned that it is time the public finds out "what is going on" and does something about it. In her opinion the people are letting the politician run the government. Too many citizens feel they have done their patriotic duty when they have gone to the polls to vote. They neglect to be active in the party of their choice and have a voice in its policies and the selection of candidates, thus leaving the door wide open for those who would establish themselves in power.

In the field of education she said we had been negligent by failing to instill in youth the principles of our American heritage.

Car Demolished on Trip to Florida; Smiths Injured

Mrs. E. J. Smith is hospitalized at a Jefferson, Ind., hospital for treatment of a fractured lower leg and other injuries received in an auto accident in the southern Indiana city about 1 p.m. Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith had left Charlevoix Monday morning enroute to Florida for the winter.

Mr. Smith was badly shaken up in the accident but did not require hospitalization. Their car, however, was demolished.

Details of the accident are lacking.

Mr. Smith called their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Getch Campfield, Tuesday evening. They left at once for Jefferson, Ind.

VanRaaphorst Is Named All-State

Dick VanRaaphorst, an end on Charlevoix's Class C-D State championship football team, was named to the Detroit Free Press Class C-D All-State team announced Sunday.

VanRaaphorst won a first team berth and Charles Coleman, Rayder quarterback, a second team position on the United Press International All State C-D team named last week.

According to a Detroit Free Press news release, the 77 man All-State squad selected by the Free Press All-State board is recognized as official by the Michigan High School Coaches Association. The board selected three top teams, drawing players from schools in all enrollment classifications, and added two teams from Class B schools and two more representing Classes C-D.

VanRaaphorst was named to the latter squad. Only other player in the loop to receive recognition was Jon Jacobson, Mancelona tackle, who was given a berth on the C-D second team.

In the UPI selection VanRaaphorst was named to the Class C-D first team and Coleman to the second team. Jacobson of Mancelona was given honorable mention.

Fire Damages Motel on US-31

Fire believed to have been caused by an overheated chimney damaged the living room of the owner's quarters at Mulvihill's Motel on US-31 South shortly before noon Wednesday.

Reported by the owner, J. J. Mulvihill, at 11:45 a.m., the fire was confined to the wall area around the chimney, according to Assistant Fire Chief Patrick R. Martin, who added that there was extensive smoke damage to the building and its furnishings as well as some water damage.

No estimate was made of the damage which was partially covered by insurance.

In recent months Charlevoix has had few major calls. This was the department's first serious fire since early September.

One More Push Can Complete Chest Fund Drive

"Wanted: $212.18 that the 1959 Comunity Chest fund drive may be brought to a successful conclusion."

That is the plea that was issued this week by Mrs. James Coleman, fund chairman and Hal M. Hill, president of the Community Chest board of directors.

The current campaign reached the $9,610.88 mark this week as all but one or two workers reported the results of the drives in their respective areas, Mrs. Coleman reported.

"Unless persons who have been missed for one reason or another in the drive come forth with their contributions the goal of $9,823.06 will not be reached," Mrs. Coleman added in urging all such persons to leave their contributions at the Charlevoix County State Bank or mail them to either her or Mrs. Gerald Left who is in charge of the mail campaign.

Every effort is being made to bring the fund drive to a conclusison at the earliest possible time so everyone who has not contributed to the campaign is urged to do so at once.

City to Supervise Grant St. Coasting

Grant street hill between Antrim st. Hurlbut ave. has been designated as a supervised coasting area, according to City Superintendent James Taylor.

The hours for supervised coasting will be announced at a later date, Mr. Taylor said.

Rain and above freezing weather has cleared the street of snow, thus discontinuing play on the hill for the present.

Install Electric Powered Ski Tow On McSauba Slope

The installation of an electric ski tow on the main slope at the Mt. McSauba sports park is underway according to William Fochtman, president of the Charlevoix-Mt. McSauba Recreation Corp.

In making the announcement Mr. Fochtman said that the platform where the necessary machinery would be mounted has been completed at the top of the slope. Some of the poles have been put down and transformers installed in preparation for the opening of the skiing season tentatively scheduled for Dec. 20. A covering over the machinery remains to be built, Mr. Fochtman said.

Current for the tow will he purchased from the city.

Work is also continuing on the new slope on the north side of Mt. McSauba. The slope has been 'brushed' and graded and when completed will offer a challenge to more experienced skiiers. It will be cut through the woods and will be bordered hy trees. It will be much narrower and steeper than existing slopes and far more scenic. Efforts will be made to install a tow on this slope as soon as possible.

Work has been continuing at the slope under the direction of Frank Boss, Lee Moerland, Mr. Fochtman and others who are contributing time and labor.

Anyone wishing to assist with this community project is asked to contact any of these men for additional information.

Tommy Meggison Injured Coasting

Tommy Meggison, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Meggison, is a patient at the Charlevoix hospital where he is being treated for injuries received in a coasting accident at Mt. McSauba Sunday.

He suffered fractures of both bones in his lower left arm near the wrist and a cracked elbow, according to his father.

Ratigan Publishes Fascinating Biogrophy of Bridge Builder

We look upon the Mackinac bridge as one of the outstanding engineering achievements of our time but few who have gazed in awe at the mighty structure are familiar with the almost fantastic life story of the designer, Dr. David B Steinman.

This story, stranger than fiction, has now been told by William Ratigan in his new book, "Highway Over Broad Waters," published last week by Wm. B. Eerdmans Publishing Co., of Grand Rapids.

Biographies, as such, often fail to have appeal for the general reading public. Not so with "Highways Over Broad Waters. Dr. Steinman, the greatest bridge builder in history, a contemporary figure who personifies the technical skill, spirit of adventure, and creative imagination of America, might well be a character in fiction as his life story is pieced together by Mr. Ratigan.

"Highway Over Broad Waters" is an intimate step-by-step account of genius in action, tracing the career of the Manhattan-born son of immigrant parents, from the days when the shadows of Brooklyn bridge falling across his cradle were truly the forecast of coming events—the more than 400 bridges he was destined to build on five continents.

As a seven year old newsboy David Steinmen dreamed of building a bridge such as the one on which he hawked his papers — the Brooklyn Bridge. He lived not only to see his dreams come true, but to see his name engraved on a bronze tablet affixed to the very bridge of his boyhood dreams, as a memorial of his having modernized the old horse and buggy crossing into a thoroughfare for today's motor transportation. And of course, one may look to the Mackinac bridge as his crowning achievement.

The author has discovered and revealed the compelling forces that were at work during the builder's formative years — the population pressures, the development of mass transportation, the increasing demand that ferry boat crossings be converted into highways over broad waters. The era needed a master bridge builder and the Brooklyn bridge and environ offered the challenge to the boy who grew up in its shadow.

The biography is well described as a refreshing and heartening picture of creative genius in the broad tradition, — the scientist who is an artist, the artist who is also a realistic man of business. All has been woven into the fascinating true story.

Youth Killed When Sled Runs Under Auto

Roger Paul Ross, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Ross of Cadillac and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Ross, died at Merry Hospital in Cadillac early Tuesday from head injuries received in a coasting accident Monday evening.

According to Cadillac police, the child was coasting in a municipal coasting area when his sled went onto a little-traveled street and under a passing car. The driver, hearing a thud stopped, looked under the front wheels of the car and, when he saw nothing, continued down the street for 300 ft. before the child became dislodged. The driver, Walter A. Risley, who lived near the coasting area, was told of the accident by Roger's playmates.

The child received a crushed skull and other injuries.

Funeral services will be held at the Bostwick Funeral Home in Cadillac at 2 p.m. Thursday with burial in Maplelawn cemetery in Boyne City.

Born in Grand Rapids, the boy was a fourth grade pupil at Lincoln school in Cadillac .

Besides his parents and grandparents, he is survived by two brothers, David, a student at Ferris Institute and Stephen, a Cadillac high school student and his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Marjorie Sayles of Boyne City.

Non-Conference Games Reveal Teams Strength

Grayling dumped Whittimore-Prescott, a consolidated school in eastern Michigan, 61 to 35 while two other Northern Michigan Class C teams, Gaylord and Harbor Springs, were downed by non-league opponents.

Gaylord lost to Cheboygan 71 to 51 and Harbor Springs was dumped by Petoskey St. Francis 39 to 23.

All three games were slow moving, particularly in the early periods, as players parried for positions. However, action was increased in the final periods as they got the feel of the basketball courts.

Frank Goss dumped in 23 and Roger Hatfield 18 points for Grayling as the Vikings led Whittimore-Prescott 6 to 3 at the quarter; 23 to 11 at halftim and 46 to 25 going into the final period. Jack Goubil had 15 points for the losers.

At Cheboygan the Gaylord Blue Devils trailed 16 to 12; 39 to 30 and 56 to 39 by quarters before being downed by a 20 point margin by the Cheboygan Chiefs who are flooring their best squad in recent years. Jay Robarge with 17 and Del Jewel with 16 paced the victors. Roy Wolf had 13 and Hugh Campbell 11 for the Blue Devils. The later was handicapped by the loss of regular Roger Walker who is sidelined with a knee injury suffered in football and Bob Burnison, who saw limited action as the result of a groin injury received during the football season.

Petoskey St. Francis led Harbor Springs 8 to 6; 21 to 13 and 25 to 16 before taking the Rams 39 to 23 as Bob Youngs scored 10 points for the Crusaders. Fran Lauer had seven points for the Rams.

Civil Defense Day to Be Observed Dec. 7

Monday, December 7, the 17th anniversary of Pearl Harbor has been designated as National Civil Defense Day according to Gen. George Ely, Charlevoix county Civil Defense director.

In announcing plans for the observance of the special day, Gen. Ely said that Civil Defense was everyone's business, not that of one or two people. In order to put into operation a practical and realistic program for the protection of the population of the county requires the combined cooperation of the people if it is to work.

Gen. Ely, who will soon open an office in the county building here, has been working for some time on such a plan.

Superintendent Assumes Duties

James Taylor assumed his duties as city superintendent for Charlevoix Monday.

Mr. Taylor who was associated with the community of Hillsdale for 32 years in various capacities before coming here, was named City Superintendent here early last month to succeed Hal M. Hill who resigned in June and left the position Sept. 1 to accept a position in industry.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor have moved here to make their home and are living at 406 Barns st.

Orton Van Dusen, Former Norwood Supervisor Dies

Orton VanDusen, 83, retired Norwood township farmer and supervisor, died late Friday at Grandvue hospital where he had been a patient since August. He had been in failing health for several years.

Funeral services were held Monday at the Winchester Funeral Home with the Rev. George L. Majors officiating. Burial was in Brookside cemetery.

Born in Norwood township Nov. 24, 1876, Mr. VanDusen resided on a farm located on US 31 South until retiring from farming and moving to Charlevoix in 1947. He served the township on the board of supervisors for more than 25 years and was chairman of the board for several terms. He also served in other township offices and on the board of the former McGeagh school. He was a member and Past Master of the Barnard Grange and a member of the McGeagh Farm Bureau.

Surviving are his wife, the former Mrs. Lucy Molet, whom he married in 1951; two daughters, Mrs. Robert (Lula) Cummings of Royal Oak and Mrs. Clarence (Hazel) Murray of Charlevoix; eight grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

Parent-Teachers To Launch Drive For New Members

The Charlevoix PTA has launched a week-long membership drive under the direction of Mrs. Gordon Bartlett.

The drive opened at the regular PTA meeting Wednesday evening and will continue thru next Thursday, Dec. 9.

Notices regarding the drive will be sent to parents and other interested persons. A PTA member will be at the school from 8 until 9 a.m. daily throughout the drive to accept any membership fees sent to school through the students.

Checks may be mailed to Mrs. Bartlett or Mrs. Robert Pearl, treasurer of the organization.

A $10 prize will be given to the room or grade which has the largest percentage of parents join the PTA during the current drive. Parents are urged to support the drive and help their children's room win the cash prize.

Eveline Resident Is Fatally Injured By Hunting Companion

An Eveline township resident, Norbert F. Nachazel, 38, became Charlevoix county's only hunting fatality of the recent deer hunting season when he was struck in the head and killed by a bullet believed to be have been fired from an Italian army carbine by a hunting companion, Arden Flower, 38, of Barryton, while they were hunting Sunday near the victim's farm.

The accident occurred about 3:15 p.m. in a wooded area west of Ironton about 6½ miles southeast of here.

According to Sheriff Glenn E. Rose and Trooper Weldon Forrest of the Petoskey State Police Post who investigated, the pair was hunting with Flower's wife, Frances; Nachazel's brother, Robert, 35, and Elden Pettigrew, 40, of East Jordan, when Flower saw a deer passing in the underbrush between him and the general area where Nachazel was last sighted. Flower told the officer he called out to Nachazel that the deer was moving between them and then fired. When he heard no response from Nachazel, he went to investigate and found the wounded man approximately 400 ft. away.

Some of the party went for assistance while Robert Nachazel remained with his brother. He was brought to the Charlevoix hospital via ambulance from the Winchester Funeral Home and was pronounced dead-on arrival by Dr. G. B. Saltonstall. The body was taken to the Watson Funeral Home in East Jordan.

A native of East Jordan, Mr. Nacnazel was a graduate of the East Jordan high school and a veteran of World War II. He was active in farm circles and in St. Joseph's Catholic church in East Jordan.

He is survived by his wife, the former Mable Clark; a daughter, Connie, 14; three sons, Edward, 11, Joseph, 9, and John, 2; his step-father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. William Zitka; a sister, Mrs. Guy Ewton of Birmingham, Tex., and two brothers, Robert of East Jordan and Edward of Rochester.

Funeral services were held Wednesday at St. Joseph's church in East Jordan with the Rev. Joseph Molinowski officiating. Burial was in St. Joseph's Calvary cemetery.

Officials Attend Local Govt. Meet

The annual midwinter conference of county officials sponsored by the Michigan Institute of Local Government headed by D Hale Brake was held in Grand Rapids Tuesday and Wednesday.

Attending the two-day conference were Sheriff Glenn E. Rose, County Clerk Fenton R. Bulow, Charles A Robinson, Charlevoix county superintendent of School, and Clarence F. Rabach, Charlevoix township supervisor.

Mr. Robinson was one of the speakers at the Tuesday luncheon meeting.

The Charlevoix Rayder basketball squad will open their 1959-60 court schedule on their home floor Friday when they host the Boyne City Ramblers in the first game of a 16- game calendar.

The Ramblers bowed to Petoskey by a score of 52 to 35 in a pre-season game played Friday.

During the past three weeks, Coach Den Carey has been busy putting his candidates through conditioning exercises and drills and trying several player combinations in an effort to come up with a starting five for this opening game.

On Wednesday he had not decided on a full quintet but said he thought he would start veteran Joe Beaudoin, at 6 ft. 3 in. the tallest player on the team, in one of the forward spots; Dick VanRaaphorst, a returning letterman, at center and Dave Schuhnard, veteran guard, in the back court.

Charles Coleman, another veteran who is recovering from an ankle injury, Jim Ladd, a returning letterman, or Sam Supernaw, up from the Reserves, will probably get the nod for the remaining forward and guard positions.

Others who may see limited action are Jim Dennis, Tom Martin, Lee Wielinga, Terry DeYonng, Perry Smith and Don Nowland, juniors up from the Reserves, and Stan Smith, Ralph Brock, Bud Balch and Bruce Pease, who played with the Varsity last season.

Coach Paul Pfahler is expected to send about the same line-up against Charlevoix this week as was used at Petoskey Friday.

This will include Center Mike Kane who scored 15 points against Petoskey, forwards Jack Dixon and Kent Boutillier and guards Doug Grubbe and Tracy Newville.

The Ramblers are a comparatively young outfit paced by Kane, the only returning veteran. A second veteran, Tom Christensen, and Wayne Everest who were scheduled for starting assignments, are scholastically inelegible for play. Grubbe and Dixon are lettermen from last season.

James E. Shaw Dies Suddenly At Home Here

James D. Shaw, 44, lifelong resident of this community and Will-Flow Corp. employee, died unexpectedly at his home at 701 State st. Sunday afternoon.

Funeral services were held at the Winchester Funeral Home Wednesday with the Rev. Fred W. McNeil officiating. Burial was in Brookside cemetery.

Born in Charlevoix Jan. 16, 1915, Mr. Shaw attended the Charlevoix high school and during World War II was employed in defense plants in southern Michigan. In recent years he had lived here and for several years was employed at the Will-Flow Corp. He was a member of the Methodist church.

He is survived by his wife, the former Mrs. Grace Belding Maxfield, whom he married in 1956 and four step-children, William, Linda and Gwendolyn Maxfield of this city and Connie Maxfield of Minneapolis, Minn.

Voice of Our Readers . . .

28 November, 1959

Editor
Charlevoix Courier

The proposed construction of a bowling alley on US 31 just south of town was extremely welcome news to the crew of the U. S. Coast Guard Cutter SUNDEW. Since our move from Sturgeon Bay to Charlevoix, the personnel on board have sorely missed the opportunity to bowl. Our operational schedule and the fact that we are oftentimes on immediate recall status when in port, make it impracticable to enter any league competition. Bowling in Petoskey or East Jordan is therefore limited to rare occasions for the men on the ship.

While the SUNDEW was based in Sturgeon Bay the crew formed an intra-ship league with four teams. Bowling was available in the afternoons prior to the times scheduled for the city league bowling. The pleasure derived from our bowling activities in Sturgeon Bay has been the subject of many conversations whenever the men talk over the comparative advantages of the two ports. There is no question of our preference in other respects. Charlevoix has been everything we had hoped it would be. The city officials and the townspeople have extended to us every courtesy, kindness and an attitude of good neighborliness that has made us proud to be an accepted part of the community.

The objection to establishing a bowling alley adjacent to, or in the vicinity of, a business licensed to sell alcoholic beverages, has been raised by a group who undoubtedly have what they believe to be valid reasons for adopting this stand. However, it is requested that all the desirable aspects of the proposed construction be taken under consideration when the subject is brought before the township council. Denying the community accessible recreation and funneling off revenue to neighboring towns or cities because it is believed that there might be one undesirable factor, is, in the opinion of the undersigned, poor business as well as a restricted civic spirit.

To quote William Hickling Prescott, "Where there is no free agency, there can be no morality Where there is no temptation, there can be little claim to virtue. Where the routine is rigorously prescribed by law, the law, and not the man must have the credit of the conduct."

I, like Mr. Prescott, do not feel that we should pat ourselves on the back for being pure, when we are so compelled by our legislation.

The strict adherence to the state laws, as maintained by all of the bars locally, should be ample assurance that there will be no abuse of the existing regulations.

Sincerely,
H. D MUTH LCDR, USCG
Commanding Officer
USCGC SUNDEW

The Meaning of Self-Expression

One sunny afternoon many years ago, while I was living in southern Michigan, a fellow townsman guided me on a walk over a farm he had inherited from his sister some years before. Since the land had cost the man no sweat and back-bending labor and nothing of himself was invested in the farm, he placed little value upon the acreage. He had ploughed no fields, planted no crops, harvested no grain, and mended no fences. There was a good chance for a farm to engage in self-expression. The farm had seized upon the opportunity and had indulged freely in self-revelation. The fields were waist high in burdock, Canadian thistle and all manner of other weeds. Where cows once plodded to pasture after sunrise milking-time and homeward again at sunset, the lanes were choked with rank growths of noxious plants. Wild vegetables infested the fence-rows and the old orchard. There was a farm emancipated from man's interference, and every square yard bore witness to the land's self-government. It was literally a "land of liberty" a real utopia of independence, and it was ugly to see.

Now twenty years later, when someone speaks to me of the glories of free self-expression I think of that abandoned farm in southern Michigan. It was unrepressed by cultivator or hoe. It was unbiased by the sowing of any particular seed and could grow what it pleased. What it pleased to grow were weeds.

Our twentieth century culture was elevated self-expression to a high place among the virtues. We have sung "Don't fence me in," and have made the title something of a motto for personal behavior and a standard for the fine arts. The free gospel shouted by the expressionists advises us to let ourselves go. Throw away restricting moral codes. Let liberty become libertinism. Cast aside all standards in painting, sculpture, poetry and music. Slap on the paint. Throw together the clay anyway it happens to clot. Toss words in abstract heaps and call them poetry. Bang on the drums. Thump on the piano: that is music. Express yourself.

One thing the cults of self expression have seemingly forgotten is the importance of having something to express. They are more absorbed in being "characters" than in developing character, more fascinated by painting techniques and painting materials than in subject matter, more interested in spouting wierd verse than in possessing a meaningful, provocative thought that merits poetry, more concerned with making sounds with percussion, stringed and wind instruments than in sensing some message the music could enoble and convey. The expressionists are determined to say something, but give little thought as to what deserves being said.

Self-expression is not enough. In fact, raw self-expression is one of the most irritating influences we ever confront. What makes a bore a bore? One thing, mainly—unrestrained self - expression. Whether he is conversing with an acquaintance or speaking to hundreds of listeners, the bore is hardly thinking of his audience at all. He speaks to relieve himself, and not to inform or inspire his hearers. Ungoverned self-expression motivates the public speaker who chooses subjects that suit his own liking rather than the interetss and needs of his audience, and then drones on and on, oblivious to the yawnings, fidgetings and dwindling of his audience. Self-expression excuses the hypochondriac whose greatest pleasure is in locating and describing his vagrant aches and pains as if the world were breathlessly awaiting the latest report. Such people are basically uninterested in others — excepting as others can serve their self-indulgence.

Unruly self-expression drives the fault finder to nagging and the scold to indulge in tongue-lashing. Most family squabbles are not the result of attempting to help each other, but are the consequence of unloading ill feelings. The parent who daily "bawls out" the youngsters, the wife who needles her husband, the husband who constantly criticizes his wife, the upset citizen who writes weekly, fault-finding letters to public officials, the vexatious grumbler who complains about every organization of which he is a member — such people are seldom so interested in improving a situation as they are in relieving their feelings. They are expressing themselves.

Is self-expression an evil thing, then? Not at all – providing there is something worth expressing. While the abandoned farm, growing weeds is self-expressive, so is the fruitful farm with its generous fields yielding tall corn, row on row, pumpkins on the vine, fruit hanging in the orchard and bins heaped with grain. Such a farm expresses itself, as well as it reveals something about the farmer, the climate, the benevolent sun and the creative goodness of God. The worst and the best farms are alike, self-expressive.

While the criminal who stabs a man in a hold-up is expressing himself, so is the skillful, dedicated surgeon saving a life with his scalpel.

The gossip who attempts to debase her neighbors with the worst news about them is self-expressive, but so is the cheerful soul who inspires with words of hope and heartens with words of encouragement.

The brawler fighting in the streets is expressing himself, and so is the high-minded civil servant battling corruption in government and struggling with social injustice.

If the licentious man who squanders his passions on the promiscuious conquest of women is expressing himself, so is Dr. Albert Schweitzer giving expression to his real self when he buries himself alive among the natives of French Equatorial Africa and ministers to their physical and spiritual welfare.

The real value and significance of self-expression is in having within you something worth revealing to the world. Basically the person who is intent upon self-expression for its own sake is on the wrong track. The secret of the world's real achievers has been in expressing something bigger than themselves. The musician reveals a beauty of sound that was here on earth before he came and will remain here long after he is gone. He expresses something greater than himself. The scientist does not make truth. He reveals it Truth was here before his birth. Truth will outlast him. He does not manufacture truth: he but expresses it.

We need to lose ourselves in the best things of life and absorb them if we are to have anything worth expressing to the world. A person must lose himself in music to enjoy it or to express it. An athlete must be lost in the game if he is to find pleasure in it or give his best to it. A person must immerse himself in beauty if he is to give beauty back to the world in picture, poem, story or in his own character.

It is significant that the One Person who has given us the clearest picture of God said, "My teaching is not mine, but His that sent me." Even He could express only what He had first received. He could make God real to men only by daily living in the Presence of the Almighty.

Now, may God be in your lips and in all your speaking
May God be in your mind and in all your thinking.
May God be in your heart and in all your living.

About this question:

"This summer my camera was stolen, I had $460 medical expenses from a boating accident, and a $3000 liability suit for injuries to the others involved—none of these losses covered by my insurance. Is it wise to have one local agent make a survey of all my risks and the insurance I need for full protection?"

College Students Visit Homes for Thanksgiving

The four-day Thanksgiving weekend found many university and college students joining their families, some for the first time since September.

Among these who were here from the University of Michigan were Carol Duerr, David Miles, Larry Smith, Carolyn Kohn, John Bingham, Cynthia Curtis, JoAnn Geer and Sandra Ulrich.

Tom LaBlance, Joe Etienne, Joel Arvilla, Jill Stewart, Mrs. Herbert Hamlin and Quint Walker were here from Marquette where they are attending Northern Michigan College.

Bob Miles, Terry Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Kit Carson, Susie Duerr, Carl Sneathen, Jill Davis, Scott Supernaw and Ken Wojan, students at Michigan State, also were here.

Jim Haggard was here from Ferris Institute and spent most of the weekend hunting on Beaver Island; Carol Belfy, Mary Ann Kiogima and Katherine Oleksy were here from their studies at Mercy Central School of Nursing in Grand Rapids; Sue McBride, a second year student at Blodgett Memorial Hospital School of Nursing in Grand Rapids, was here from Friday until Sunday; Barry Pischner, a student at Kendall School of Design in Grand Rapids, also was here.

Students at Northwestern Michigan College in Traverse City including Roy Whitley, Pete Phillips, Larry Minch, Eric Arvilla, John Lucas, who was accompanied by Mrs. Lucas, Janice Stutzman and Ardis Geer were also among those home for the holiday.

Marian Kay Richardson, Helen Schwab, Nancy McDermott and Joyce Krulik, students at Davenport Institute in Grand Rapids, were also here along with Eilene Arnold, a student at Tracy Beauty Academy.

Campus Comments

Carolyn A. Kohn, a first semester freshman at the University of Michigan, is among the 587 students in the college of literature, science and arts participating in the University's honors program.

The three-year program is designed to give challenging educational opportunities to superior students. Special sections of regular courses, honors courses and counseling by faculty members on the honors council are among the opportunities available.

First year freshmen interested in the program are chosen on the basis of high school records, test scores and other information.

Carolyn, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Harold E. Kohn, is a 1959 graduate of the Charlevoix high school and was valedictorian of her class.

Bogarts Observe Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Bogart of 109 Green Street, Charlevoix celebrated their golden wedding anniversary with fourteen members of their family at a dinner Nov. 22, at the Dilworth Hotel in Boyne City.

Mr. Bogart was 77 years old Aug. 14 and Mrs. Bogart was 70 Oct. 13. They were married in Kingsley, on Nov. 23, 1909. Since that time they have resided in East Jordan and moved to Charlevoix in September 1929.

They were each presented with an Elgin gold watch in memory of the occasien.

They have four children, Mrs. Richard Farmer, Mrs. Ilo Helms, Carl and Donald all of Charlevoix, nine grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Life Membership Awarded by Masons To Allen E. Arnold

Allen E. Arnold, a former resident who now lives in Royal Oak, was awarded a Life Membership in the Birmingham Masonic Lodge No. 44 on Nov. 19.

On hand to present him with the unusual award was Harry A. Craig of Charlevoix who has played several major roles in Mr. Arnold's life, he relates.

A native of Charlevoix, Mr. Arnold joined the Masonic Order and took his Blue Lodge degrees in Charlevoix lodge No. 282. He became a Master Mason Sept. 16, 1919. At that time Mr. Craig was Master of the Charlevoix lodge and the late Mason Rose was secretary. Besides being head of the local lodge when he took the work, Mr. Craig was superintendent of Schools here when Mr. Arnold was graduated from the Charlevoix high school. Mr. Craig signed and presented him with his high school diploma.

Mr. Craig, accompanied by Mrs. Craig, made the trip from East Lansing to Birmingham to award Mr. Arnold with his Life Membership. One must have 40 years of membership to receive a Life Membership.

Another former Charlevoixan, Dr. G. Franklin Weaver of Farmington, was present for the special presentation. Though Dr. Weaver was not present when he took his degrees, Mr. Arnold was present when Dr. Weaver took his.

Something you don't know about mortgages—but should!

When you mortgage your home, the bank insures its share of the investment. But that doesn't protect the part of your home you've already paid for—the part represented by your down payment and the mortgage payments you've made up to now. Make sure the unmortgaged part of your home is fully insured, too! Call us for a thorough property insurance checkup. It's free!

Bowling News

BY MEG

Tuesday, December 1, only 24 days until Christmas. One wish from all of the bowlers from Santa, "Please bring us better scores next year." Nothing real big tonight except Al Anderson's third game of 235.

Steve's Bar remains on top by a 3 point win over Freedman No. 2. We tried to make it four but fell short in the third game. Ken Cedinc and Ted Ager rolled a 407 series for Steves, but Loone's 418 series fell short of his average. For Freedman, Sidewinder Huey had a 463 series followed by "Lesto" Smith's 451.

Lake Construction [illegible] by John [illegible] took 3 from Freedman [illegible] Hall had a 102 first game [illegible] series. George Bergmann had [illegible] series. John had a 597 series. For Freedman No. 1 Cal P[illegible] had a 506 series followed by [illegible] Swanson's 136-500 series. [illegible] had 116-114-114—346 series. [illegible] took it on the chin. [illegible] started [illegible] late. His [illegible] 212 and series of 513 [illegible] the Moonlighters. [illegible] Holbeck had a 482 series. United Farm did the damage to Moonlight. Bill Potter rolled a 204-523 series, followed by Ken [illegible] 201-493 series. B. Mathews [illegible] 54-109-131-374 series.

Airport Inn dropped to 6th place, even though they won 3 points from Browe Electric. Al Anderson had a nice 235-565 series, followed by Dez with a 215-539 series. Hank Felix had a 123 game. Ted Browe tried to lead his boys to victory but all they could muster was the second game. Ted had a 214-552 series followed by Bob Ouderkirk's 503 series.

Puff's took off tonight. They finally won 4 points. Puff had a 202-539 series. Ed Lemcke had a 509 series. Who did Puff pick on? Well, poor Central Drugs didn't win a point. R. Edwards had a 74 first game a 177 second game a 128 third game they still lost all four. Pete Withers was high with a 400 series.

Neff Grocery stayed in 11th place. (There's only 12 teams bowling). They lost 3 points to the Gravel Boys. For Neff's Clayton Smith was high with a 482 series. Gordon had a 111 game with a 395 series. Big Bergmann was real consistent. He rolled 138-146-136-420 series.

For Swanson Fergie had a 221-541 series followed by Ron with a 472 series. Ed had a 105 first game.

High Individual — Al Anderson 235-565

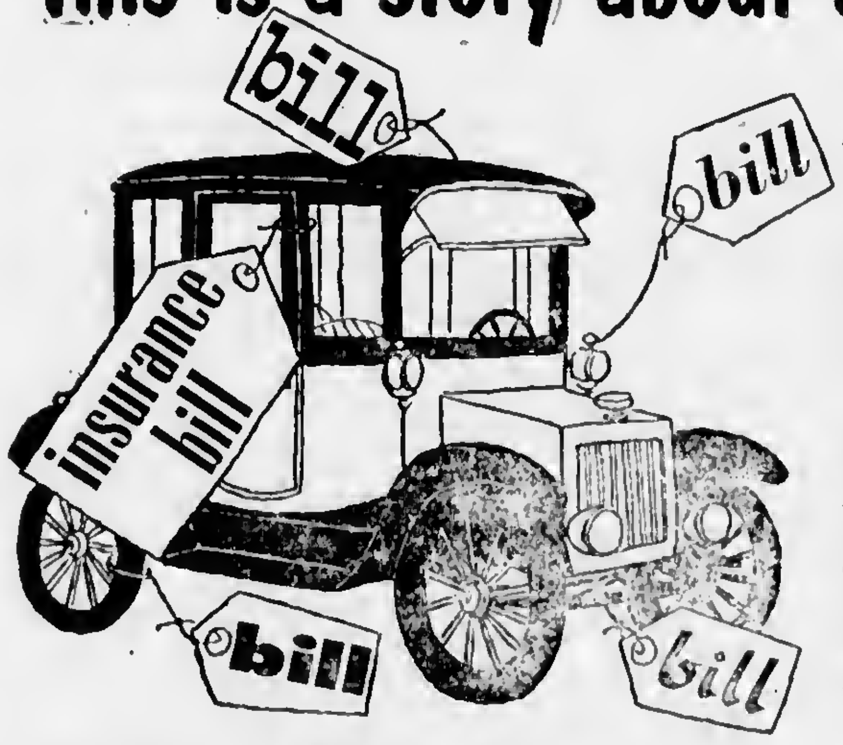
this is a story about a bill collector



This is the story of a bill collector—Well, not a real live flesh and blood bill collector but a bill collector commonly referred to as an automobile—something most Americans own one or two of. These seemingly innocent automobiles have a method of collecting bills in such a way that their owners are not aware of their costly operation. Bills are collected in small amounts over a long period of time—a little gas here, a little oil there—now and then a wash job or some minor repair. However—once a year these smooth collectors get caught literally with their fenders down. There is one bill that whacks their owners right between the eyes and this is when he finds out how expensive his little bill collector is. We mean insurance—Yes, once a year that big bill must be faced.

Now—we are not on the side of your bill collector but we do know how to cut the insurance cost down—that is if you're a safe driver. The Riverside Insurance Company of America has just released a new low-cost insurance plan for safe drivers—a plan that will save you up to 25% over your present policy. Let us help you with this once-a-year big bill—we're sure it will fit your budget—Call or see us today.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Junior's [illegible] was "[illegible]"

Red Jackson's seven-year-old, Junior, was passing by the local beauty parlor the other day. He looked in the window and saw a lady with one of those mud packs on her face.

Busting with curiosity, he walked in and asked her why she had all that stuff on. The lady was taken back for a moment but politely answered, "It's to make me look pretty."

When the beautician removed the mud pack, Junior took a close look at the lady and commented, "It didn't really work, did it?"

From where I sit, count on children to tell the truth—sometimes, the embarrassing truth. Maybe we adults could use more of that. For instance, maybe we ought to admit that tolerance "doesn't really work" until we eliminate all our intolerances—even to respecting a neighbor's right to enjoy a quiet glass of beer. Good neighborliness begins when intolerance ends... and, in truth, we all ought to work towards that end.

Joe Marsh

Charlevoix Kiwanians Celebrate 25th Anniversary with Banquet

Why is a Kiwanian a Kiwanian? Frank Stager, secretary of Michigan Kiwanians answered the question Monday evening at the silver anniversary banquet of the Kiwanis Club of Charlevoix. Held at the Weathervane Inn, the observance was attended by Kiwanians of Charlevoix and neighboring clubs and their Kiwaniqueens.

Mr. Stager gave four answers to his question: 1) because a person is asked to join, 2) because a person likes the fellowship of Kiwanis, 3) because a person believes he can contribute to the betterment of the community through Kiwanis, 4) because he believes in the objectives of Kiwanis International. He noted that these objectives had never been revised since the first Kiwanis club was organized in Detroit more than 40 years ago.

Present to honor the local club on the 25th anniversary were State Governor Sid Main, District Lieut. Gov. Herman Meyer of Petoskey, Lieut. Gov. Elect Ralph S. Hamilton.

Recognition was paid charter members who have been active in the local club since its organization in 1934. Three of these were present: Frank Bird, Harry Bingham and Clarence Meggison. The fourth charter member, Meyer Levinson is in Florida for the winter.

Rev. Fred McNeil, as toastmaster, had the diners in an uproar of laughter throughout the program as he cleverly got himself in and out of one predicament after another as he introduced the guests and speakers.

A noteworthy event of the evening was the induction of Curtis Burlin as a member of the local club. The induction was conducted by the state governor, Mr. Main.

Also recognized for his outstanding work as chairman of the annual White Elephant sale during the past two years was Barney Englehart who was presented a ceramic white elephant by Lieut. Gov. Elect Hamilton. Proceeds from the annual Kiwanis sale will be used for the purchase of an indoor swimming pool to be installed in connection with the new school building program.

The Kiwanis Club of Petoskey sponsored the organization of the Charlevoix club 25 years ago. Organizer for the sponsors was Carl Spitler, recently retired superintendent of the Petoskey schools. Mr. Spitler was present to join in the anniversary celebration.

Community Choir To Present Vesper Concert Dec. 20

The Charlevoix Community Choir held its second rehearsal Tuesday evening in preparation for the annual Christmas Vesper Concert to be presented Sunday, Dec. 20.

C. A. Odmark who is directing the group of local vocalists said that the response to his call for volunteers to sing in the choir had been gratifying.

The program which officially ushers in Christmas week in Charlevoix has become a tradition in the community. The concert features some of the finest in Christmas choral literature.

Council Approves Improvements on Disposal Plant

Bids for a three-quarter ton pick-up truck for use by the street department will be accepted until 8 p.m. Monday, Dec. 21, following action taken at the regular meeting of the city council Monday night.

The bids may be left at the office of the city superintendent.

Approval was given the proposed repairs on the diesel engines at the municipal power plant as suggested by City Superintendent James Taylor. The repairs will cost an estimated $6,500 and will include the overhauling and installation of new parts in the two Rathburn-Jones diesels.

The warning regarding parking on city streets during the winter months is to be published once more in the Charlevoix Courier. Under the order, there is to be no parking on city streets or across sidewalks between the hours of 3 and 7 a.m.

The city will join with merchants in the business district in decorating Bridge st. for the holidays. Decorated Christmas trees are to be placed in parking meter posts opposite city-owned property in the downtown section. All businessmen are urged to decorate trees in front of their places of business.

Mr. Taylor reported that the ice skating rink will be built at the tennis courts on the school property between Mason and Clinton sts. this winter and that the initial work on the project had been started.

Approval was given the purchase of Christmas candy for distribution by Santa Claus at 2 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 19.

The police report submitted by Police Chief Joseph L. Smith was read and approved.

Bills amounting to $15,061.24 were approved and ordered paid. Besides the payroll, the figures include payment for the body and ladder equipment on the city's new utility in the amount of $2,079.85 and diesel fuel oil in the amount of $2,054.26.

Football Squad Honored by Fans at Testimonial Dinner

Charlevoix's Class C-D State Championship football team, their coaches and managers were honored at a dinner at the Weathervane Inn Wednesday evening.

The 28 members of the Rayder squad, team managers Bruce Kroken and John Pearl and coaches, Don Carey, S. E. 'Irish' Coleman, Terry Rice and Leonard 'Pete' Burns were guests of more than 50 local businessmen, parents and sports fans who gathered to pay tribute to the Rayders who have captured the State C-D title for the second straight year.

Each member of the squad who was introduced by Coach Carey was presented with a miniature football bearing the legend "State Champs 1959" as a momento of the event. Bill Carey, who served as master of ceremonies, then presented each of the coaches with an appropriate gift from the group.

Jake Jacobson, popular sports announcer at Station WWTV in Cadillac, and Jim McGregor, noted international coach, were the guest speakers.

Mr. Jacobson entertained the assembled guests with the clever patter that has made him one of the most beloved sports commentators and 'weather prophets' in the area. He concluded his brief talk in a more serious vain saying that as football players the Rayders had received training that would stand them in good stead for life was much like a football game with another tough play around every corner.

Like Mr. Jacobson, Mr. McGregor, former basketball coach at the University of Southern California who now coaches Olympic teams around the world, commended the Rayders and their coaches on their fine record, spoke briefly of his experiences as a coach and concluded with more serious remarks. He said that the friendships made on the athletic field or court were lasting ones as were the lessons learned there. He added that this country was entering the most competitive period of its history and that it was important to have men who were strong not only in the field of sports but in all fields of endeavor including business if the United States is to continue to be a top world power. He concluded by saying that if the Rayders would follow the advice of their coaches and the lessons they had learned in athletic competition they would become the type of leaders tis country so sorely needs in the years ahead.

Six Candidates Nominated for C of C Board

Three directors will be elected by the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce during the annual election by mail this month.

Six candidates have been named by the nominating committee composed of Dean Davenport, Gordon Freedman and Lee Moerland. Candidates are William Carey, Robert Kenyon, Floyd Brown, Lee Moerland, Kenneth Cellner and Glenn Kenny. Members may make additional nominations by filing informal nominating petitions, signed by not less than ten members, with President Norman D. Ance at 213 Bridge st., prior to 5 p.m., Dec. 15. Ballots will be mailed to members after the closing nomination date.

Directors whose terms expire this year are Richard Fochtman, Franklin Boss and Robert Neff. A director can not be re-elected until he has been off the board for at least one year.

Boatmen Urged To Register for Marine Classes

Final plans for the U. S. Power Squadron course in piloting will be discussed at the regular meeting at 7:30 this evening of the Charlevoix Marine club, sponsors of the program.

The course is scheduled to start in January with instructions given by members of the Traverse City unit of the U. S. Power Squadron.

The instructions are free and any person interested in boating is urged by the club to take advantage of the opportunity. It is not necessary to be a member of the Charlevoix Marine club to attend the classes.

Persons wishing to register for the course, but who are unable to attend the meeting tonight, may sign up with any of the club officers. This should be done immediately in order to arrange for necessary materials in advance of the beginning class.

Plan Work Bee at Mt. McSauba Slope

Plans for a work bee at the Mt. McSauba Ski run Sunday have been announced by Bill Fochtman, president of the Charlevoix-Mt. McSauba Recreation Corp. which operates the ski resort.

In issuing the call for workers for the bee scheduled to begin at 1:30 p.m. Sunday, Mr. Fochtman said there are a number of jobs to be done before the new electric ski tow can be placed in operation and the slopes opened for the season. Every one who can spare some time is asked to join the group in completing the many details of the new installation.

Mr. Fochtman also said that season tickets are now available and may be purchased from King Saunders, manager at the park.

Mr. Saunders has issued a request for used Christmas trees and has asked that persons having Christmas trees during the next month leave them at the club house. The trees are used on the ski slopes.

Realtors Group Elects Officers

Officers were elected Monday evening at the annual dinner meeting of the Antrim-Charlevoix Board of Realtor, held at the Weathervane Inn. Keith Dressel of East Jordan was name president to succeed Earl A. Young who resigned. Kay Unger of Bellaire was re-elected vice president and Mrs. Irma Scheid was elected secretary-treasurer to replace Ethel Noel of Boyne City.

Members and their guests attending from Charlevoix were Mr. and Mrs. Young, Mr. and Mrs. Drew Young, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Schied, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Olsen, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm MacDowell and Mrs. Mark Cross.

Other members and guests were present from Boyne City, East Jordan, Bellaire, Elk Rapids and Walloon Lake.

Saturday Postal Hours Extended

The Charlevoix postoffice will remain open until 3 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 12, and Dec. 19, to accomodate patrons who might wish to send parcels for Christmas, Postmaster Peter H. Timmer said Wednesday.

The postoffice usually closes at noon on Saturday.

However, as a service to the public, the stamp and parcel post windows will remain open until 3 p.m. on the two Saturdays before Christmas.

Santa's Visit Slated For December 19

A special message from the North Pole to the members of the Charlevoix Fire Department brings the news that Santa Claus will visit the children of Charlevoix at 2 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 19.

He will arrive by plane at the local airport where he will be met by the fire truck and brought to East Park where he will distribute gifts of candy and nuts to the small fry of the community.

In the event of inclement weather, he will come to the fire hall.

His visit is being sponsored by the city of Charlevoix and the Charlevoix fire department. Fire Chief John Curtis and Assistant Fire Chief Patrick Martin will be joined by the 14 volunteer firemen in packaging the candy and entertaining the children.

Co-op Authorizes Dividend Payment To Stockholders

The Charlevoix Co-Operative Co. will pay a four per cent dividend on all outstanding common and preferred stock, George Smith, president of the organization Monday evening at the annual meeting of the stockholders. He also reported $6,290 worth of stock will be issued as patronage dividends and that $5,000 of the oldest outstanding stock will be retired this year.

Three directors were elected to the board for two year terms. George Smith and Aaron Brock were elected to succeed themselves. Russell Dohm was elected to replace Vern McGhan who has retired from farming and declined to be a candidate. Mr. McGhan served on the board for 18 years and was president of the organization for 17 years.

Howard King, store supervisor for Farm Bureau Services, was the speaker for the occasion. He discussed business condition and how farms and farm supply stores are affected by the rapid change in farming methods.

Other entertainment included quartet singing by Robert Gill, Tom, Bill and Don Carey and humorous recitations by Francis Peters. A film shuwing mass production of beef in the United States was a feature of the program.

The meeting was concluded with the awarding of 25 door prizes and refreshments.

Rod and Gun Club Elects Officers

Officers and directors were elected last Thursday evening at the regular meeting of the Charlevoix Rod and Gun club.

Harold Lang was elected president to succeed Joseph R. Williams who headed the club for two years. Mr. Williams was elected vice president to succeed Gordon Moehler. Clayton Trimble succeeds Orlin Cunningham as treasurer. Hugh Mayne was re-elected for his third term as secretary.

Directors whose terms expired this year were Max Novak and Clare Staley. They were re-elected to succeed themselves.

Regular business meetings of the club are held the first Thursday evening of the month. Weekly social meetings are held each Wednesday evenings.

Rider Fatally Injured in Fall From Horse

Beverly Falting, 12-year-old only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Falting of Marion township, died early Saturday at the Charlevoix hospital. Death was caused by a severe concussion incurred late Friday afternoon when she was thrown from the horse she was riding.

Beverly, a seventh grade student at the Charlevoix public schools, returned home from school about 4 p.m. Friday via school bus and announced to her parents that she was going to take her horse for a jaunt. The weather was beautiful for the first time in several days and Beverly, who had been riding since she was four years old, added that she'd better ride while she had the chance. She went to the barn, readied her horse and rode through the yard to the county road that passed her farm home. A few minutes later her mother looked out the window and saw the horse standing less than a block from the driveway. The parents rushed to the scene to find Beverly unconscious beside the road. She was rushed to the hospital via ambulance at 5:30 p.m. She never regained consciousness.

There were no witnesses to the accident but it is believed that the horse must have bolted for some reason, throwing the young rider from its back. Beverly was an able and experienced rider.

Beverly, who would have been 13 years old on Saturday, Dec. 12, was born in Charlevoix. She attended the Charlevoix public school where she was a member of the Seventh Grade band. She had always been active in the Girl Scouts and was a member of Troop 13.

Besides her parents, she is survived by five brothers, Donald of Charlevoix, Sgt. William with the U. S. Army at Sault Ste. Marie, Staff Sgt. Richard with the U. S. Air Force at Westover Air Force Base, Springfield, Mass., Pfc. Arthur at Fort Campbell, Ky., with the U. S. Army and Douglas of Owensboro, Ky.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at the Winchester Funeral Home with the Rev. George L. Majors officiating. Burial was in Brookside cemetery.

Grade School Students Plan Yule Program

The Charlevoix Elementary school will present its annual Christmas program in the high school auditorium at 2 p.m. Friday, Dec. 18, Glenn B. Snider, elementary school principal, has announced.

Mrs. Frieda Novotny and C. A. Odmark are directing the production which will feature the appearance of the popular Kindergarten band, always a favorite on the program; the early elementary chorus of more than 200 voices and a later elementary school chorus of equally as many voices.

A dance will be presented by sixth grade students. A playlet entitled "Greensleeves" depicting scenes from the Nativity will climax the heur-long program to which parents and friends are invited.

All elementary school teachers are assisting in various phases of the program.

Elzinga Named Master of Local Masonic Chapter

Julius Elzinga was named Worshipful Master of Charlevoix lodge No. 282 F. & A. M. at the annual election of officers held Tuesday evening.

He succeeds Jerold Murdick in the post.

Other officers who were elected at the same time are: senior warden, Rupert Reinhart; junior warden, Frank J. Novotny; treasurer, E. J. Hiller who was elected to his 46th year in the office; secretary, H. B. Schofield; senior deacon, Robert Somerville; junior deacon, George Hutchinson; tyler, Harry Stewart; stewards, Bruce Henley, Byron Stockwell, Byron Wright and Kenneth Empey.

Controversy Develops Over Proposed Bowling Alley in Community

More than 40 interested persons representing various groups appeared before the regular meeting of the Charlevoix township board Tuesday night to present petitions asking the board to give its approval to a proposed bowling alley to be constructed adjacent to the Airport Bar on US 31 South and to ask questions regarding the bowling alley.

Joseph Etienne, commanding officer of U. S. Coast Guard Group Charlevoix, presented a letter in behalf of the service group; John Sladek presented a petition bearing signatures of 42 township residents; Ken Cellner presented a second petition bearing 160 signatures of area residents and Don Brown, representing the Jaycees bowling team, appeared to request information regarding the board's stand in the controversy.

Letters from the WSCS of the Norwood Methodist church, the McGeach and County Line Farm Bureaus opposing the construction of the bowling alley on the proposed site were also read and placed on file.

Clarence Rabach, township supervisor and chairman of the township board, then made an effort to clarify the issue and to answer questions presented to the board composed of Mrs. Clayton Smith, clerk; Mrs. Ted Bergmann, treasurer; Henry Steffan and Edwin Zeitler, trustees. All were present with the exception of Mr. Zeitler.

Mr. Rabach explained the situation thusly:

Thomas Venema, of Petoskey, who plans to build and operate the new bowling alley, consulted with the zoning administrator, Henry Steffan, regarding the zoning ordinance which the township adopted earlier. Mr. Steffan explained at length the existing ordinance as well as recommended changes made to the township board by the zoning board.

Mr. Venema, who up until now had inquired only about the zoning ordinance, decided to await the township board's action regarding the proposed changes before presenting specifications and requesting a building permit, feeling that if the recommended changes were adopted by the township board, it would be easier for him to comply with the ordinance.

In the meantime, necessary action including the publication of the hearing notice, has been followed by the township board in preparation for the hearing scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Friday, Dec. 11.

At that time the board will hear the public's opinions regarding the recommended changes in the zoning ordinance and then act on the issue. Unless the board is petitioned for a referendum on the issue, their decision will be final.

Auto Accident Takes Life of 'Sabra' Skipper

Roman Brotz, skipper of the 87 foot yawl, Sabra, was killed Nov. 29 when his car struck a concrete bridge abutment enroute home from a hunting trip in Wisconsin.

One of the most widely known yachtsmen on the Great Lakes, Mr. Brotz was a frequent visitor to Charlevoix and Beaver Island. Brotz and the Sabra were major contenders in most every yachting race on Lake Michigan and in the annual Port Huron to Mackinac Island race.

Syrup Producer Dies at Kingsley

Mrs. Louis Courtade was informed Sunday of the death of her brother, Ernest Voice, 70, of Kingsley, at a Traverse City hospital where he was taken Thursday after suffering a stroke.

Until last year Mr. Voice operated the largest maple sugar bush in the state.

Mr. and Mrs. Courtade were in Kingsley from Monday through Wednesday. Funeral services were held there Wednesday.

Funeral Services Held Saturday for Willis J. Kerns

Willis J. 'Doc' Kerns, 80, former owner of the Argonne, died Thursday at his home at 204 Lewis st. following an extended illness.

Funeral services were held at the Winchester Funeral Home Saturday with the Rev. Fred W. McNeil officiating. Burial was in Brookside cemetery.

Born in Georgia Nov. 20, 1879, Mr. Kerns came to Michigan as a child and in the early 1900's lived in Charlevoix. He was a druggist and for many years managed a chain of drug stores in Detroit. He retired in 1932 and returned to Charlevoix to make his home. He owned the Argonne for 12 years before selling it in 1948.

He was a member of the Methodist church and a member and past exalted ruler of the Petoskey B.P.O.E.

He is survived by his wife, Blanche, whom he married in Detroit in 1932; a step-daughter, Mrs. Cy Grana of Detroit and three grandchildren.

Adventures in Understanding

Notes from a northerner's diary

By Harold E. Kohn

When Seen in a Certain Light

This has been an unusually bright and beautiful late-autumn day. From the clear arc of the sky falls a shimmering light that bathes forest and field with an unaccustomed splendor. Against a pale blue background of sky, leafless trees are starkly silhouetted. Where a few days ago snow lay thick upon the pasture, the long grasses can now be seen, sharply articulated. Every passing animal and every bird on the wing looks like a different creature from what it does on dull gray, overcast days. Now all things seem silvered with a soft sheen. Never before have I seen the North look like this on an early December day — never quite so miraculously gleaming, with the air fairly singing with light and all things of earth and heaven touched with a gleaming glory. This is a different December day.

Light seems delicate and unsubstantial. It is brittle and fragile, being easily broken by falling on a twig, or shattered into countless sparkling fragments by lighting on a pond's dancing surface. Yet this transparent, fragile stuff of nature is used by the Creator to accomplish all manner of purposes. Light is a weaver of shadows, a builder of rainbow arches. Light is the power that runs the food-factories of living plants, enabling green vegetation to combine carbon dioxide, water and minerals to make apples, melons, tubers and nuts.

An increasing amount of light in the day triggers the alarm that awakens sleeping seeds and bulbs, and times the flowering of all plants. Such seasonal events as the migrating of birds, the changing color of plumage in male scarlet tanagers and bob-o-links, the dramatic transformation from brown to white of the weasel and the varying hare depend upon the length of day and the amount of light in the sky. Radiation of solar light is in some way linked with the welfare of all living things of earth.

But most obvious of all, light is the conveyor of images from the outer world to the seeing centers of the brain. Eyes would be useless without light. All an eye can do is to focus whatever light reaches it from this illumined world, focus it on the screen-like retina which lines the inside of the eyeball and leave there an image to be interpreted by the brain. But whether there will be any image at all, in all the world, to be interpreted by the brain of man or beast depends upon light.

The amount and quality of light, as well as the condition of an observer's eye, determines how well we see. The dimmer the light the more things look alike. In bright, clear illumination, and at close range, you can distinguish between your two neighbors who are of the same size and are dressed in similar fashion. But in semi-darkness you cannot be certain which of them approaches you. Light clarifies differences, sharpens perception and deepens insight.

There are people who lead us into light like that of a bright clear autumn day. They show us where we should stand if we want to see more clearly and understand more profoundly. This is one of the many things the Master has done for us: He has shown us human nature in a new light. Like a jeweler displaying a choice pearl or diamond to a friend, Christ held human nature in the light of God's love and turned it about carefully, tenderly, and described its meaning until those who watched and heard could hardly believe they had ever seen a human being before. He did this with Zacheus, with Mary Magdelene and with a little child, and made such seemingly insignificant people memorable. Never again could they be overlooked as commonplace, once Christ had held them to the light.

We all know some people who are Christ-like in this sense: they illuminate all things. When we are with them we see more clearly, we understand more deeply. Duveen, the authority on oil painting, was such a person. One late afternoon he stood before a picture he had sold to Andrew Mellon. Duveen was enthusiastically describing the magnificence of the work of art to the purchaser when suddenly a beam of radiance from the setting sun stole through the window and showered the picture with a resplendent glow. When Duveen had finished his ardent detailing of the beauty of the painting, Mr. Mellon said reflectively, "Ah, yes. The pictures always look better when you are here."

Can anything better be said of anyone?

How about you? How do things look when you are near? Better?

Voice of Our Readers . . .

Editor
Charlevoix Courier

I welcome this opportunity to present to you on behalf of the Coast Guard personnel, our views towards the proposed construction of a bowling alley in Charlevoix, County, Michigan.

Perhaps the most significant facts presented here can best be explained in clear laymans language as the progressive rise of our population in this community. Nearly all of our shore stations, combined with the floating units, represents a total of approximately one hundred (100) [illegible] personnel. As you know, the demand of increased recreational facilities for our personnel in Charlevoix can best be realized from the percentage of our people going out of town, traveling some great distances, thus creating a serious lowering of morale among some of our most valuable and highly trained men. In this connection, I know that you are familiar with this problem. I believe sincerely that you will obtain a better appreciation of the allied recreational needs that is considered extremely important for service morale. With these remarks as background, I feel that you will gain a more meaningful understanding and favorable support of the proposed facility.

We are also hopeful that the objections raised by certain individuals will reconsider their reasons accordingly. In the event it is considered more desirable to meet with this group for a mutual understanding of the problems involved, the undersigned shall be happy to accept an invitation.

Speaking from a military standpoint, we are all public servants and on a twenty-four (24) hour standby status which naturally eliminates the majority of us from joining a bowling league out of town. If a bowling alley was maintained here, many of our single enlisted men would not be required to roam the streets, but would find many hours of leisure in competition with their friends and civilian population as well. Bowling is recognized as a good [illegible] competitive sport for the young school children.

At present, the only after school recreation offered them is an occasional school dance, which is restricted to children from the 9th grade and above. As a result, the lower grade pupils have little or no recreation activities whatsoever. All of us are of the opinion that they also should be remembered for participation as it is recognized that the younger generation shall be the future of this great America.

In conclusion, let me say that this great little city of Charlevoix will be rewarded a thousand fold as a civic group, for the recreation and welfare of all concerned.

Sincerely yours,
Joseph Etienne
Commander, Coast Guard Group

Mr. and Mrs. William Fisher Observe Golden Wedding Anniversary

William Fisher, retired U. S. Coastguardsman, and Mrs. Fisher will observe their golden wedding anniversary Sunday.

An open house at their home at 402 Antrim st. from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday will mark the memorable occasion for the couple who have made their home in Charlevoix since 1942.

The couple was married at Grand Haven Dec. 14, 1909, two years after 'Capt' Fisher, as he is affectionately known, had enlisted as a surfman in the Lifesaving Service which became a part of the U. S. Coast Guard in 1915. At the time of their marriage, he was No. 1 Surfman at White Lake Station near Muskegon where he remained until 1923 when he was transferred to North Manitou Island Lifeboat Station as officer-in-charge. After two years at that station which has since been closed, he was transferred to the South Manitou Island Lifeboat station where he served until 1928. July of that year he was assigned to the South Haven Lifeboat Station where he served as officer-in-charge for 12 years. In 1939 he was transferred to St. Joseph Lifeboat station for a two-year tour of duty before going to Milwaukee, Wis., for one year.

It was during the years of World War II that Capt. Fisher came to Charlevoix in 1942 as the first commanding officer of the newly-established U.S.C.G. Group Charlevoix with headquarters here. During the next three years he served here, was transferred to the main office in Chicago, returned to Charlevoix briefly and was assigned to Fort McHenry at Baltimore, Md., before returning to Charlevoix in 1945.

The following year, 1946, he was retired from the U. S. Coast Guard after 39 years of service with the rank of Chief Warrant Officer.

During Mr. Fisher's years in the service, Mrs. Fisher made homes for her family at lifeboat stations up and down the shores of Lake Michigan. The family has resided here since 1942 though Mr. Fisher's assignments took him elsewhere.

Mrs. Fisher is the former Ida Kamphuis. She was born in Grand Haven April 15, 1890. Mr. Fisher is also a native of Grand Haven where he was born March 8, 1888.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Fisher are members of the First Methodist church and the Charlevoix chapter No. 72, Order of the Eastern Star. Mr. Fisher is also a member of the Elks Lodge and the Metropolitan Club of America and a life member of the Masonic Lodge and the Royal Arch Masons.

Besides his activities with fraternal groups, Mr. Fisher is an ardent sports enthusiast and follows all Charlevoix sporting events. He also does woodworking as a hobby and occupies himself with making bird houses, bird feeders and other items in his workshop. Mrs. Fisher fills her days with her housekeeping duties, her grandchildren and lodge activities.

The couple has two daughters, Mrs. Alfred M. (Ardene) Anderson of Traverse City and Mrs. Melvin (Beverly) Plum of Charlevoix and a son, George W. Fisher of Sarasota, Fla. They also have eight grandchildren and three great-grandchildren. Both his son and son-in-law are retired from the U .S. Coast Guard after more than 20 years of service.

Eleanor Ann Lagerman Married To Loren Holfeld of Chicago

Our Lady of the Wayside church in Arlington Heights, Ill., was the scene recently of the wedding of Eleanor Ann Lagerman and Loren Holfeld.

The bride is the daughter of Edward Lagerman, former local resident now living in Arlington Heights, and the late Mrs. Lagerman Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Holfeld of Chicago are the parents of the bridegroom.

The Rev. Fr. John O'Hare officiated at the double ring service during a nuptial Mass celebrated Nov. 14 in the presence of 200 guests. Arrangements of yellow and white gladioli and brown and yellow mums and lighted tapers decorated the altar. The choir of the church sang the Mass and "Ave Maria" and "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a waltz length gown of white satin for her wedding. Fashioned along princess lines, the gown had a round neckline outlined with shirred chiffon, long tapered sleeves and a bouffant skirt. A seedpearl crown secured her fingertip veil and she carried a bouquet of white roses, lillies of the valley and ivy.

Mrs. Charles Hansen as her sister's matron of honor and Mrs. James Mally as bridesmaid wore identical gowns of emerald green velvet styled along princess lines with round necklines, long tapered sleeves and ballerina length skirts. They wore matching velvet headdresses and carried bouquets of yellow carnations and ivy.

Kimberley Hansen, niece of the bride as flower girl also wore a green velvet gown similar to the attendants. All are from Arlington Heights.

Dan McGuire of Arlington Heights assisted the bridegroom as best man. Arnold Grove, also of Arlington Heights, was groomsman.

Mrs. Holfeld, mother of the bridegroom, selected a beige brocade gown with matching accessories for the wedding. Her corsage was of yellow roses.

Following a wedding trip to Florida, the couple will live in Chicago. For traveling the bride wore a gray sheath dress and silver accessories.

The bride is a graduate of the Charlevoix high school and is employed as division clerk at the Chicago Northwestern Railroad office in Chicago. The bridegroom [illegible] clerk in the [illegible] office.

In Arlington Heights for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Lagerman and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald C[illegible].

Betrothed

M[illegible] [illegible] announced the engagement of their daughter, Mary Ann, to Vincent A. Chew at a family dinner at their home recently.

The prospective bridegroom is the son of Claire A. Chew of Flint.

A June wedding is planned.

The bride-elect is a graduate of the Charlevoix high school and is attending Flint Junior College.

Mr. Chew is a graduate of Flint Junior College and is presently serving with the U. S. Marine Corps at Parris Island. South Carolina.

Garden Club to Have Yule Party

The Garden club will meet at the home of Mrs. Ralph V. Hess, sr. at 2 p.m. Tuesday for its annual Christmas party.

During the meeting members will make corsages for the nurses and tray favors for the patients at the Charlevoix hospital from materials assembled by the entertainment committee composed of Mrs. Clark Coulter, Mrs. Allen Campbell and Mrs. Harold Geiken.

Members will exchange garden gifts.

Girl Scout News

Girl Scout troop 15 met at the City Hall Thursday.

We had our attendance taken and dues collected. Then we learned a new song, Kookaburra, followed by a game. We closed with our goodnight circle and then went home. Mrs. Goss is our leader.

Phyllis Johnson Lee Recently Married to Leslie Anderson

The Barnard Methodist church was the scene recently of the wedding of Mrs. Phyllis Johnson Lee and Leslie Anderson.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl O. Johnson of this city. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Martin Anderson of Fountain.

The Rev. Charles Dunbar of East Jordan officiated at the double ring service on Nov. 27 before an altar decorated with white chrysanthemums, lighted tapers, Michigan holly and cedar.

Mrs. David Matchett, at the organ, played the traditional wedding marches. Mr. and Mrs. Matchett sang several traditional selections.

Mrs. Richard Renwick of Fountain was her only attendant. She wore a beige suit dress and matching accessories. Her corsage was of red and white roses.

Mr. Renwick assisted the bridegroom as best man. Nuel Johnson of East Jordan and Paul Johnson brothers of the bride seated the guests.

Mrs. Johnson chose a peacock blue taffeta dress and bronze accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Anderson, mother of the bridegroom, wore a navy crepe dress and matching accessories. Their corsages were of bronze mums.

A reception given by the Barnard WSCS followed in the church parlors. Mrs. Lawrence Korth of Ironton served the tiered wedding cake.

After a northern Michigan wedding trip the couple will make their home at Fountain. For traveling the bride wore a peacock blue and black tweed suit and matching accessories.

The bride is a graduate of the Charlevoix high school and attended the Petoskey branch of Central Michigan University. Mr. Anderson is a graduate of the Scottville high school, veteran of the U. S. Armed Forces and president of the Fountain Rural School board.

Downs Previews Area Report For White House Conference

Probate Judge William T. Downs, co-ordinator of a 10-county area for the White House Conference on Youth to be held in March 1960, was the guest speaker at the December meeting of the PTA held Wednesday at the high school band room.

He reported on the area findings resulting from the use of questionnaires and personal interviews conducted by the PTA and similar community groups throughout Northern Michigan.

Judge Downs listed among the problems always facing youth such things as learning the answer to the question "Who am I?"; learning to make adult choices and decisions; finding a place in society; developing a proper set of values and relations with parents, schools and community.

He went on to say that the problems peculiar to this generation are such things as universal military training; early marriages; larger families; college preparation which may be inadequate; decentralization of industry; the present emphasis on science; trend toward mechanization; political apathy; general cynicim; longer retirement; television and the increased use of baby sitters.

The questionnaires revealed that today's youth in this area have some definite ideas regarding a number of things. For instance they feel that though many aptitude tests are given there is little guidance or counseling for vocations, careers and colleges and that they have very little confidence in teachers as counselors for careers; they feel counseling should start when the stu-

About this question:

"The heavy snow fall last year caused roofs of homes, porches and garages to sag or collapse. Does a Homeowners Policy cover such snow and ice damage while the standard 'extended coverage' policy does not?"

Mrs. James Barnt

Sunday evening guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Williams and daughter, Lynda, for a dinner of wild goose were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Jack McDermott, and Mr. and Mrs. John Witte, of Charlevoix.

Albert Carlson reports that he has a little feathered friend who has been making regular visits to his back door. The visitor is a partridge that has made its home in the Carlson orchard, and has become quite bold.

Burl Walker was admitted to the Charlevoix Hospital last Friday morning. He returned home Tuesday following a series of tests.

Pinochle Club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Cooper last Thursday evening. Winners of the first prize were Mrs. Raymond Williams and Irving Bulmann. Mrs. Richard Russell and Ashford Orvis won the booby prizes.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Howe and Mrs. Rena McKenzie returned to their homes in Detroit Sunday after spending a week at the Howe cottage.

Mrs. Sam Alexander spent three days with her mother in Petoskey last week.

Ladies' Aid will meet at the home of Mrs. Tom Nielsen at 1:00 p.m. Thursday (today) for the annual Christmas party. There will be a "grab bag" Christmas gift exchange.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Smatts and Albert Carlson, who have been Grange members for more than forty years, were guests of honor at a potluck dinner held at the Rock Elm Grange last Sunday. Mrs. Smatts received a corsage and the gentlemen received boutonnieres. District Grange Deputy Jack Luebke, of Petoskey, gave a short speech commending the honor guests. Mrs. Ila Balog, secretary of the Michigan State Grange, and Mr. Balog, of Lansing, were special guests for the occasion.

Word has been received here of the death of Kenneth Rhoades, brother of Gilbert A. "Dusty" Rhoades, who was stationed with the United States Coast Guard in Charlevoix for three years, and who is the fiance of Miss Joyce Nielsen. Kenneth had spent the Thanksgiving holiday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Rhoades, of Lakewood, Ohio, and was returning to San Diego, California, where he was stationed with the U. S. Navy. He had picked up a hitchhiker who shot him in the head, left him in the desert near Needles, California, and took his car. After forty-eight hours he was found by some persons who were hunting rocks. He was rushed to a Las Vegas, Nevada, hospital where he died shortly after his parents arrived from Lakewood.

Beginning next week, Ironton will have a new correspondent to the Charlevoix Courier. Miss Julie Hubble has accepted the job of Ironton correspondent. She will appreciate your help in making the column a success. Please phone your news items to her by Sunday evening. Miss Hubble's telephone number is LIberty 7-2226.

This correspondent wishes to take this opportunity to thank all those who have aided in the gathering of the Ironton News. They have helped make it an enjoyable task.

SCHOOL ACTIVITY

The 8th grade had a sliding party Tuesday evening. They had a good time because of the nice snow we got over the weekend.

The Varsity Club held a party Monday night at the school gym.

Wednesday they had the retesting of the eyes. All in all it was a very busy week.

Christmas vacation begins at 1:30 December 23.

The Ellsworth Seniors presented their annual play this past Thursday and Friday evening. It was a wonderful 3 act comedy entitled "The People versus Maxine Lowe."

Lancerettes Lose Opener to C. L. Varsity Wins

Ellsworth — Ellsworth Junior High and the Lancerettes opened the 1959-60 basketball season in Ellsworth by hosting the Junior High and girls teams from Central Lake.

In an abbreviated Jr. Hi game Central Lake took lead from the very start and then stayed out in front to lead 14 to 9 at the end of the first half. In the second half Central Lake really got hot and scored 14 points to 6 for Ellsworth and won the game 48 to 15.

In the girls game it was pretty much the same story as Central Lake showed more aggressive play and better shooting from the outset and led by scores of 12 to 7 at the first quarter, 22 to 13 at the end of the half, 28 to 17 at the end of the 3rd quarter and finished the game with an impressive 43 to 21 victory. High point girls were Shirley Dawson from Central Lake with 21 points and Myra James from Ellsworth with 12 points.

The Varsity and the 2nd team had better luck when they met Central Lake Friday night in the Ellsworth gym. High point man for that game was Morry Taylor with 19 points.

The Varsity team also beat Central Lake by a score of 52 to 48. High point men were Ed Drenth with 16 points and from Central Lake Art Zelenak with 17 points.

The next few games are as follows: Ellsworth at Frederic Dec. 11 at 7:30; Elk Rapids at Ellsworth Dec. 15 at 7 o'clock. Rapid City Girls and Varsity at Ellsworth Dec. 18 at 7:30.

SUNDEW REPORTS

This past week started fast. Underway early Monday morning to pick up South Fox island buoy for the winter. By 1:15 p.m. we had finished the job and were on our way to Grand Traverse Bay to pick up four lighted buoys. It was just dusk as we tied up at the fuel dock in Traverse City. In the process we also removed the special buoy placed near Traverse City by the University of Michigan. This one had been used to study the effect of sunlight upon certain marine plant life.

We left Traverse City at 2:30 a.m. Tuesday and arrived in Charlevoix at 6 a.m. The remainder of the week was spent in port.

We have almost reached the half-way point in the removal of buoys for the season. Only Lake Huron and the Straits area plus two in Lake Michigan are left to be removed. Of course the eight large buoys in the Straits area will take some time to remove. If the weather remains quiet, we will depart Monday for Lake Huron.

SUNDEW SCUTTLEBUTT . . .

Those who had Thanksgiving dinner aboard ship not only ate turkey, they looked a little stuffed themselves. All the married men who had to stand duty over the holiday invited their wives and children aboard for dinner . . . Congratulations to Tom Rudd upon his advancement to BM3. Cigars are again in order . . . Christmas came early for two of our boys. Gettings presents is always a thrill regardless of how old you get. Mentioning Christmas reminds us of the leaves that will be coming up for the holiday season. Some will be traveling as far as Omaha, Neb., and Cincinnati, Ohio . . . We forgot to mention Ed Haley and "Arab" being members of the buoy crew.

After spending Monday in port because of the weather, we got underway on Tuesday for a busy week of bouy work. We put a winter buoy marker at Dahlia Shoals before stopping at Greys Reef light to deliver food, put two men aboard and take one crewman off.

The ship continued on to Mackinaw City with two black can buoys from the Greys Reef Passage area. After leaving them on the pier there we went down the south passage, polled the Cheboygan traffic buoy and moored at Cheboygan Tuesday evening. We also tanked a light near the entrance of the Cheboygan river.

As we made preparations to get underway Wednesday morning we received radio notice that a ship was aground in Round Island passage near Mackinac Island. We arrived there about 7 a.m. and attempted to tow the ship, the Ball Brothers, off the rocks. We moored the remainder of the day at Mackinac Island until help arrived to unload the ship's cargo. During the night she floated free.

Thursday we worked buoys in the area of the Cheneaux Islands and put them all on the dock at Port Dolomite. By 10 p.m. we were moored in Calcite near Rogers City. This gave us an early start on Friday as we moved down the coast picking up all buoys there before turning northward to False Detour passage.

After arrival there we were hampered by a heavy sea. Being unable to remove the buoys there we moved up the passage and anchored between Drummond and Cockborn islands until Saturday morning. Again an early start and calm weather gave us a full day on Saturday. We put all buoys we picked up on Friday and Saturday on the fuel dock at Detour and continued to Spectacle Reef to remove the personnel and close the light station for the winter.

After putting the men ashore at Cheboygan we gave the ship full throttle and headed for Charlevoix. We passed through the bridge at 9:30 p.m. Thus ended a buoy week.

SUNDEW SCUTTLEBUTT . . .

We were sorry to see Bob Gideon sent to U. S. P. H. S. hospital in Detroit for surgical treatment. His wife, Lefa, joined him there for a few days before going on to Virginia to be with her parents until Bob returns to duty aboard the Sundew . . . Another boatswain mate was advanced . . . Garabed Araiainian, "Arab" to us, was promoted from BM3 to BM2 . . . Wish everyone could see the new Christmas lights on the Mackinac Bridge. Quite a sight from 10 miles distance on a clear night . . . New men aboard, Robert Vavro SA, reported from Coast Guard boot camp at Cape May, N. J. He hails from Flint. Enlisted in Detroit after graduation from high school in June . . . Two men from the district office in Cleveland, Ken Parsons, JO1 (Journalist) and Ted White PH2 (Photographer) reported aboard for temporary duty under orders from Coast Guard Headquarters in Washington. They are aboard to take motion pictures of men coming off the light station and also still pictures of removal of buoys . . . This report will have a new writer next week. Bob Seiinger, SN, will take over the job.

Editor's note: Warren 'Doc' Toussaint, HC1 c, who has written the Sundew report for the past year, has been transferred to Hawaii and will depart Dec. 20 to spend the holidays with relatives in Milwaukee and Chicago before leaving for the West coast enroute to this country's newest state. He will be accompanied by his wife, Norma, and their children, Dale, Cary and Debby.

To 'Doc' a "Well done" and to him and his family "Aloha" . . . from the Courier staff.

Rayder Swamp Boyne In Season Opener

The Charlevoix Rayders opened their 1959-60 court season by trouncing Boyne City 67 to 36 on the home court.

This week the Rayders, coached by Don Carey, will travel to Grayling to take on the Vikings, a powerhouse composed of four regulars, all 6 ft. or more, in a game which promises to be one of the toughest of the forthcoming season.

In Friday's game the Rayders got off to a fast start, scoring eight points before the Ramblers hit from the free throw line for their first point of the game.

Charlevoix ended the period with a 17 to 6 lead to set the tempo of the game. After rolling up a 40 to 12 halftime lead, Coach Carey tried several combinations, using the bench as the game progressed.

Starting for Charlevoix were Joe Beaudoin and Jim Ladd, forwards; Dick VanRaaphorst, center; and Dave Schuchard and Sam Supernaw, guards.

VanRaaphorst laid one in under the basket to put Charlevoix ahead. Schuchard and Beaudoin hit on field goals and Supernaw added two free throws before the visitors scored their first point.

As the quarter ended Schuchard had five, Beaudoin four, Supernaw three, VanRaaphorst and Stan Smith one field goal each.

The Rayders pumped in 23 points in the second period to go ahead 40 to 12 at halftime with Schuchard accounting for seven, VanRaaphorst five, Beaudoin and Charles Coleman four each, Ladd two and Smith one.

As the second half got underway, the Rayders continued their scoring attack with Beaudoin scoring nine points, Schuchard two field goals and Ralph Brock one free throw for 14 points as the line-up was changed repeatedly by substitutions.

The Ramblers, who had scored only 12 points in the first half, had their best quarter as they dumped in 13 points.

The action slowed down in the final period as the Ramblers, in an effort to gain possession of the ball, collected countless fouls.

Charlevoix scored 13 points including nine on free throws as Jack Dixon left the game with five fouls with 6½ minutes remaining, Doug Grubbe with 5½ minutes left and Dave Kirby with three minutes remaining.

Beaudoin scored seven points including five gift shots; Tom Martin four and Dennis two.

Beaudoin with 24 points including 10 on 15 free throw attempts paced the game followed by Schuchard with 16.

Mike Kane with 10 led the Rambler attack.

Winning Class C Teams Meet In This Week's Schedule

Action in the Northern Michigan Class C league this week will pit last week's winners against each other.

The Charlevoix Rayders, for instance, will travel to Grayling to take on the Vikings; while Pellston will host Mancelona.

In others games Gaylord will invade Boyne City and East Jordan will host Harbor Springs.

The Rayders will have their work cut out for them this week as they travel to Grayling to meet the Vikings, the most promising team in the league. Composed of four veterans, Frank Gross, 6 ft. 2 in., a forward; Jack Hull, 5 ft. 6 in. center and Roger Hatfield, 6 ft. and Joe Robertson, at 5 ft. 9 in. the 'midget' of the squad, guards. The other forward, Gary Springs, a letterman, is 6 ft. 3 in. thus giving the Vikings not only height but experience.

The Rayders, on the other hand, will depend on Joe Beaudoin, who at 6-3 is the tallest man on the team and Jim in the forward position; center Dick VanRaaphorst and guards Dave Schuchard and Sam Supernaw. Charles Coleman may be ready to start but even with his return the local five will lack height against the Vikings who have their sights on the title they have never won.

Charlevoix will be the underdogs in the meeting. However, they could come through with a win if they play 'smart' ball and manage to control the pace of the game.

Pellston will be defending its hard-earned title when they take on Mancelona this week. The Hornets had smooth sailing all the way in their game with Harbor Springs but this week will find themselves meeting a real threat to their high position.

Mancelona upset the East Jordan Red Devil's plans last week by coming up with an 11-point victory over the favorite. This week the Ironmen will find themselves meeting a tougher adversary with a lot at stake. The Hornets will have a slight edge in the meeting not only because the game is being played on the home floor but because the host team has a better balanced squad.

The Gaylord Blue Devils almost upset the Vikings and should come up with a lop-sided win over the Boyne five which offered little in their game with the Rayders last week. Despite their loss to Grayling, the Blue Devils are not to be under-rated for with veterans, Bob Burnison and Roger Walker, back in the line-up they could give any team in the loop a good game.

East Jordan is another team not to be discounted. Composed almost entirely of veterans, the Jordanites will win their fair share of games. Heading the list will be a win over the Harbor Springs Rams who show little promise for this season.

Last Week With Class C

With one exception, favored teams posted victories in the Northern Michigan Class C league Friday night as the 1959-60 season got underway.

The exception was the Mancelona 52 to 41 victory over the veteran East Jordan quintet which had been favored in the meeting.

Mancelona 52; East Jordan 41

East Jordan, with a veteran team, had been given a slight edge in their meeting with Mancelona but the Ironmen, paced by Walt Klein who poured in 18 points, came through to win by an 11 point margin.

The Ironmen took an early lead to go ahead 10 to 6 at the quarter and 22 to 14 at halftime before the Jordanites cut their advantage to 37 to 28 going into the final period. Center Fred Moore had 15 points for the victors.

Louis Kraemer, Larry Hayden and Bill Taylor shared scoring honors with 10 points each for the Red Devils who were hurt by the loss of center Richard Kraemer via the foul route early in the final period.

Grayling 51; Gaylord 50

The highly - touted Grayling Vikings, represented by a veteran team which averages well over six feet, found themselves battling for victory in the closing minutes of their game with Gaylord after leading the Blue Devils 14 to 12 at the quarter; 27 to 23 at halftime and 40 to 36 going into the final period. The host team slowly trimmed the Vikings slim lead to knot the score midway in the final period before Grayling finally came up with the one-point victory.

Gaylord tied the score only once and were never ahead but they gave the visitors a much closer game than they had anticipated, especially in view of the fact that the Blue Devils were playing without their two returning veterans, Bob Burnison and Roger Wolf, both sidelined with football injuries.

Frank Goss with 20 points and Roger Hatfield with 19 led the Vikings scoring attack. John Johnston and Hugh Campbell had 16 points each for Gaylord.

Pellston 64; Harbor Springs 32

The defending champions, the Pellston Hornets, by virtue of their lop-sided win over the Rams, that they were out to defend their title against all comers again this season.

The Hornets romped into an 18 to 6 first quarter lead, increased it to 27 to 14 at halftime and 47 to 22 going into the final period as the Rams fought a losing battle all the way.

Bowling News

Steve's Bar kept up their winning ways by out powering Moonlight for 3 points. Grover was high for the "Space Men" with a 544, followed by L. V. with a 530 series. O'Rile was the big power for Steve's followed by Ted Ager and Meg 561, 527, 500 respectively.

Lake Construction fell by the wayside after dropping 3 points to the underdogs. Central Drugs put on a fine display by bowling over their average every game. Al Bergmann was high followed by Big Dick 441-433. For the Construction crew, John wasn't very high but still led the crew, followed by George Bergmann 441-423.

High Team Game Moonlight Garden 882; High Team Series 2472.

Swanson Gravel took the Ununited Farm for 4 points. Fergie has a 217-573 series followed by Ron 496 series. Ken Boss was trying all the way but his 533 series couldn't hold up Forest Burke's 94-322 series.

Puff's had to settle for a 2-2 split with Airport Inn. Puff had a 215-544 series but was the only one over the 500 mark. Airport Inn pulled Andy from behind the counter but he didn't help too much with his 423 series. Nick's 126 didn't either. Des was high followed by Al Anderson 534-529.

Neff Grocery had three points handed to them by Freedman No. 2. Nobody was hot. Big was high for Neff, followed by Bernie 452-449 series.. For Freedman Les (toil) Smith had 466 followed by Jack Niswander 422.

Browe Electric also settled for a 2-2 split with Freedman No. 1. Ted was high for his Electric crew with 208-548 series followed by Bob Ouderkirk 464 series. For Freedman No. 1 Cal Peters had 210, 511 series and then came (Swaney Johnson) John Swanson with a big 475 series.

Rayders Reserves Squeeze Victory From Boyne Squad

Charlevoix's Little Rayders edged the Boyne City Reserves 37 to 34 in a game which had the fans on their feet most of the final period as the visitors trimmed an early 16 point lead to three points as the battle ended.

Coach Terry Rice started a quintet composed of Jim Stewart and John Pearl, forwards, Barry Pierce, center and Henry Wagner and Stan Martin, guards, who rolled up a 20 to 7 first period lead before frequent substitutions broke up the scoring combination and slowed the action.

When the second half started the local quintet seemed to have lost their punch as they tried to hang on for the victory after being out-scored 12 to 7 in the third period and 10 to 6 in the final quarter.

Stewart, Pierce and Wagner left the game in the final period via the foul route but not before the latter had scored 12 points for the victors. He was followed by Martin with 10 and Pearl with nine.

dent is in the ninth grade; that there is no place in high school for sex education; that they want help with financial matters, insurance, etc., and other factors of marital life; students believe there is no relationship between broken homes and problem children, a conclusion also reached by experts following nine years of research.

The study also revealed that adults believe those things most important to youth are the school program and facilities; parent-child relationship; community services; leisure time and marriage, in the order mentioned.

The youth listed the things most important to them in the following order; careers, first, and then marriage; parent-child relationship; making right decisions and citizenship responsibilities.

Questionnaires showed that a very small percentage of those interviewed turn to the clergy for help with problems.

Prior to making his report on the results of the study, Judge Downs outlined the history of the White House conferences which started in 1909 and have been held every 10 years since then. The conferences have been responsible for legislation concerning child welfare, health, safety; child labor laws which resulted from the 1920 conference; the children's charter and Sections 4 and 5 of the Social Security Act which resulted from the 1930 conference.

Jack Rader presided at the meeting at which a brief discussion on the proposed bowling alley was held. Petitions were offered but PTA by-laws state there can be no connection with a commercial concern or with any partisan interets so no action was taken on the issue.

It was announced that the membership drive is now on and that the school room with the greatest percentage membership will receive a $10.00 prize. The PTA now has 110 members it was reported. The meeting was well attended.

Cash Bid-a-Bucks at Auction Sale Friday

Bid-a-Bucks take the spotlight Saturday when local merchants will auction a choice selection of new merchandise to the holders of Bid-a-Bucks who make the highest bid on each item. The auction will be held in the high school gymnasium at 8 p.m.

Value of the merchandise, purchased from local stores by the Retail Merchants Division of the Chamber of Commerce, range in price from as low as $1 to as high as $199.50. There is a wide variety, too, in the selection of merchandise. It's an opportunity for gift hunters to cash in their Bid-a-Buck before Christmas.

The list includes such items as an upholstered swivel chair, a portable television, bicycle, turkeys, chickens, decorated cakes, records, tools, toys, candy, men's and women's wear, kitchen utensils, and many other items. They all go to the person making the highest Bid-a-Buck bid.

You can still increase your wad of Bid-a-Bucks the remainder of this week. Participating merchants are well supplied and will continue giving Bid-a-Bucks with all purchases of more than 50 cents on a dollar for dollar basis until the Saturday auction.

Forty-two Charlevoix merchants are participating in the Bid-a-Buck campaign which was launched Oct. 8. Since then thousands of dollars in Bid-a-Bucks have been given to customers of these merchants.

Resident Aliens Must Register During January

All aliens residing in the United States on January 1, 1960, are reminded that they must report their current addresses to the Commissioner of the Immigration and Naturalization Service within the period of Jan. 1 and Jan. 31.

All post offices throughout the United States, Guam, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands will participate in the program to the extent of distributing the address report cards to the aliens and forwarding the completed cards to the designated Immigration and Naturalization Service offices.

These address report cards, Form I-52, for 1960 are a manila punchcard similar to the one used for 1959 and are furnished to all postmasters by the Immigration and Naturalization.

These cards have been furnished to each postmaster but distribution to the public will not begin until the first day of January, 1960.

Community Chorus to Present Annual Christmas Vesper Service

Continuing a Christmas tradition in Charlevoix, the Charlevoix Community Choir will present its annual Christmas Vesper Concert at the high school auditorium at 4 p.m. Sunday.

The choir of more than 40 voices appearing under the direction of C. A. Odmark, is made up of volunteer singers from the entire area including several from East Jordan. They will present a program of the finest in Christmas choral literature.

Among the selections to be presented will be "Break Forth, O Beauteous Heav'nly Light" by Bach! "Sing We Noel," a Bas-Querct carol; "The Virgin's Slumber Song" by Roger; the Appalachian carol, "I Wonder as I Wander;' Christiansen's beautiful "Lost in the Night;" "A Joyous Christmas Song' by Gavaert; "What Child Is This," an English carol; the modern "Twelve Days of Christmas," "Listen to the Lambs," a Finnish folk song and, climaxing the program, the mighty "Hallelujah Chorus" from the Messiah by Handel.

Soloists for the various numbers in the program will be members of the choir including sopranos Mrs. Lee Moerland, Mrs. Chester Belfy and Mrs. Robert Wexstaff and baritone Byron Wright. Mrs. Leonard Burns will be the accompanist.

The Vesper Concert is intended as a gift to the people of the Charlevoix area by the choir members who are giving of their time and talents that the residents of the area might usher in the Christmas season with this timely music

There will be no charge for the concert to which the public is invited.

Board Approves Zoning Change In Township

The Charlevoix township board Friday evening approved four to one a revision of the commercial zoning ordinance recommended Sept. 3 by the zoning board. Henry Stepian made the only dissenting vote. Approving the proposal were Edwin Zeitler, Mrs. Clayton Smith, Mrs. Ted Bergmann and Clarence Rabach. The revisions in the ordinance become effective 30 days after publication, according to Mrs. Smith, township clerk.

Three revisions in the present commercial zoning ordinance were approved. The first change, Section 4.02 Size of Premises, provides that a parcel of land upon which a building is to be erected shall be sufficiently large to provide off-street parking and have sufficient area to supply a safe and adequate water supply and a safe and adequate sewage disposal system as established by the standards of the District Department of Health.

Setback from the highway are revised in Section 4.04 provides that new structures shall conform to the setback of building within a distance of 300 feet on either side, but in no case would the required setback be more, than 25 feet.

The third revision provides that buildings abutting each other shall have a sideyard of at least 12 feet on one side of each building.

The Friday evening hearing attracted at least 50 residents of the community. Many of these anticipated an opportunity to discuss the pros and cons of building a bowling alley on a sit next to the Airport Bar. Discussion of this subject was dismissed by Chairman of the Board Clarence Rabach. He pointed out that the board had not had a request for such a building permit and that the only subjects discussed would be relative to the recommended revisions in the commercial zoning ordinance.

An attempt was made to tie the suggested bowling alley in with the rezoning proposal. This was squashed when it was pointed out that the recommendation for revising the ordinance was made prior to the time there was talk of an alley.

Youths Charged in Justice Court

Two Boyne City youths charged with breaking and entering in the nighttime were arrested last week and brought before Justice John J. Connolly.

They are James Buchin, 19, and Roy Cool, 19, which were charged with breaking and entering the Boyne City branch of the Hankey Lumber Co. the night of August 24. They waived examination and were bound over to the March term of circuit court. Bonds were set at $500 each. They were returned to the county jail when they failed to furnish bond.

After appearing in justice court Tuesday on the Hankey Lumber Co. charge, Buchin was returned to court Wednesday afternoon on a charge of breaking and entering the B & D gas station in Boyne City the night of July 4 and taking a total of $242.

He waived examination and was bound over to the March term of circuit court. He was remanded to the county jail after failing to furnish a $1,000 bond set by Justice Connolly.

Contempt Charge Brings $200 Fine

Albert Webster, 34, charged with contempt of court for failure to make payments for child support, was ordered to pay $200 or spend 60 days in jail by Judge Charles L. Brown during a special term of circuit court here last Thursday.

He was released after paying the $200 and making arrangements to bring the child support payments up to date.

Santa's Coming

"You better watch out, you better not cry. Santa Claus is coming to town."

That's right! He'll be at East Park at 2 p.m. Saturday to distribute gifts of candy and nuts and to take late Christmas orders.

In the event of bad weather, he will come to the Fire Hall at the City Hall.

His visit is sponsored by the Charlevoix Fire Department and the city of Charlevoix.

Plane Crashes In Emergency Morning Flight

Gordon L. Freedman of Freedman Artcraft Corp. here escaped serious injury early Sunday when his plane struck the windsock pole on take-off and crash landed on the western section of the local airport at 6:50 a.m. Sunday.

The plane, a four - passenger Cessna, was a complete loss.

Following the accident, Mr. Freedman drove to Willow Run to catch a plane for Cincinnati, Ohio, where he had been called by the illness of his brother, Stewart, who had suffered a heart attack Saturday.

Mr. Freedman said he had been unable to fly to Cincinnati Saturday because the airport there was 'closed in' by fog and rain so, after checking on weather conditions early Sunday and finding them satisfactory, decided to leave Charlevoix as early as possible, spend the day in Cincinnati and return home before dark Sunday night.

He said he 'pre-flighted' the plane carefully before taking off on the west runway. There was no wind at the time. Because there are no lights on the field he used his landing lights to light the runway which is marked with white barrels at the edge. He said he looked away from the instrument panel momentarily toward the markers and as he did the plane evidently veered to the right about five degrees, striking the windsock pole. As the plane struck, Mr. Freedman said he cut the ignition switch and turned to land, coming down in the rough terrain at the west section of the airport. Major damage to the plane was done when the plane struck the pole which is comparable in size to a medium-sized telephone pole, Mr. Freedman said.

Improvements Made for Skiing At Mt. McSauba

"All we need is snow, and more snow to provide the best skiing since the slope at Mt. McSauba was developed." That's the word from Bill Fochtman, president of the Mt. McSauba Recreation Corp.

Work bees have been busy in recent weeks making improvements which will make Mt. McSauba more attractive as a family skiing center.

The major improvement is the newly installed electrically powered ski tow, which makes two tows for the slopes. A new building has been constructed at the top of the mountain to house the new power plant.

More power for the tow motors has been made available with the installation of power lines to supply three-phase 220 current which will be supplied in the future by the Charlevoix municipal plant. Prior to this year electric power has been purchased from the Top O' Michigan Rural Electric Co.

Cost of the new electrical installation for material and labor was $1,993.73, Mayor Jim Hiller reports. The Recreation corporation has assumed $1,500 of this cost which is to be repaid to the city over a three year period. This leaves the city with a capital investment of $493.73. Returns from the sale of electrical power will eventually offset the investment.

Labor cost of the project were cut to a minimum by members who brushed out areas for the power lines, dug holes for poles and assisted the city electrical crew in stringing lines.

Members of the city electrical crew also contributed their help during off hours in the installation of the new power line.

Although the ski club obligated itslef for most of the cost, all materials used remain the property of the city.

Community Churches Announce Special Christmas Services

The Birth of the Redeemer once more will be celebrated in Charlevoix throughout Christmas week, bringing hopefully its message of peace and good will to men.

As the message of His birth in a stable in Bethlehem was brought to the shepherds as they watched their flocks, so the priests and ministers throughout the Christian world will again retell the age old story to their congregations on the anniversary of His birth.

In Charlevoix churches the anniversary will be observed thruout Christmas week beginning Sunday when most ministers will devote their sermons to the story of that first Christmas. Others will celebrate the anniversary of the birth of the Christ Child on Christmas Eve and Christmas Day.

All have opened their doors to worshippers and extended a cordial invitation to everyone to attend the services dedicated to Christ the King.

CHRIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

The beautifully symbolic worship service of the early Christian church will be reenacted at the 11 o'clock Christmas Eve service at Christ church, before a background of Christmas music.

A short meditation by the Rev. Robert J. Yonkman will be given relative to the birth of our Lord entitled "Why a Stable?"

ST. MARY'S CHURCH

The joyous feast of the Nativity, marking the coming of the Saviour to redeem mankind, will be celebrated with impressive ceremonies at St. Mary's Church this Christmas season.

The Rev. E. Francis Denay will celebrate Midnight Mass on Christmas Eve with the adult choir singing the "Mass of the Angels" under the direction of Mrs. C. D. Geiken.

The choir will sing "Adeste Fideles" at the Offertory. Mrs. Frank Oleksy will be the organist.

The high school choir will sing a prelude of Christmas carols beginning at 11:30 p.m Christmas Eve.

Masses on Christmas Day will be celebrated at 8:30 and 10:30 a.m.

Confessions will be heard following the Novena service Wednesday evening and from 4 to 5:30 p.m. and 7 to 8 p.m. Thursday.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SOCIETY

Readings appropriate to the Christmas season will be read at the 11 a.m. service at the Christian Science Society Sunday.

Sunday School will be at 10 a.m.

BETHANY EVANGELICAL LUTHERAN CHURCH

Christmas will be observed during the services at Bethany Lutheran church Sunday.

The Sunday morning worship service will be held at 9:15 a.m. The Rev. Raymond Essig will deliver the sermon which will be in keeping with the Advent and Christmas theme: "Tell Us About the Christ Child."

On Sunday evening, Dec. 20, the Sunday School Christmas Service will be held at 7:30 p.m. The theme of this service will be "Children Tell of Christmas." The children, in song and recitations, will tell of the Christmas tree, candles, carols, Christmas angels and bells and the Christmas story, the birth of the Christ-Child.

COMMUNITY CHURCH OF GOD

The Missionary Aid Ladies of the Community Church of God have planned a Christmas party at Fellowship hall Thursday afternoon. They will bring cookies for distribution and prepare fruit baskets for the shut-ins. The children of Sunday school have been collecting toys to be turned over to a group headed by Mrs. Keith Miles for distribution to less fortunate youngsters at Christmas time.

A special morning worship service is being planned for the Sunday before Christmas. The Rev. George L. Majors will speak on the subject "Where is He?" at the 11 a.m. worship service. The choir, under the direction of Glenn Bearss, will sing "The Angel Chorus" and "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear."

During the evening service Sunday the young people of the church will present a Christmas drama titled "Unto the Least of These."

Kohler Named Secretary By CC Directors

Paul Kohler, a part-time summer resident for many years and a permanent resident of Charlevoix for the past 18 months, has been named secretary-manager of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce, Norman D. Ance, president of the organization, announced Wednesday.

The appointment will become effective Monday.

Mr Kohler will succeed C. Thomas Symons jr. who resigned last month.

Mr. Kohler lived in Toledo prior to his retirement in July 1958 For the past five years he had served as a factory representative for the American Photocopy Co.

A native of Vermont who was reared in Boston, Mass., Mr Kohler has an extensive background principally in executive positions in manufacturing for 32 years and in the east.

Mrs. Kohler, who was employed for several weeks last summer at the Chamber of Commerce office, will assist her husband, doing the clerical and secretarial work as needed and serving in the capacity of an office assistant when Mr. Kohler must be absent from the Chamber office on Bridge st.

In making the announcement Mr. Ance said that the office in East Park would be open daily beginning Monday when Mr. Kohler assumes his new duties.

He added that the Chamber would conclude its first full year of operation shortly, having successfully executed a progressive program during the past 12 months. A more ambitious and extensive program is planned for 1960.

The John Franklin Letters

The future of the United States as presented in the John Franklin letters (The Bookmailer, Inc., New York) is not a pretty picture. How well the authors have projected what socialism and communism will do to this country over the next 15 years is based on their interpretation of facts and fears of socialistic trends.

John Franklin tells his story in a series of letters written to an uncle in the midwest during the years 1957 to 1976. Quite appropriately, the concluding letter is dated July 4, 1976 when the freedom loving people have finally unseated the bureaucratic communists who had succeeded in taking over the government.

It is almost unbelievable that the events as told in the letters could happen in this country. They have, however, happened in other countries. They could well happen here if the citizens remain indifferent to some of the trends in government.

There is a warning truth in the foreword to the letters, reprinted in part: "Ours is a nation enfeebled by political materialism. Our voters have been conditioned to vote themselves largess out of the public treasury—to rely upon 'government' to provide them jobs, security, ease.

"But government cannot give of itself; what government gives to one — either an individual or a pressure group — it must take from others. And the public treasury is guarded only by the public conscience.

"If the public conscience tolerates taking from some, to give to others, grasping men will exploit the frailty."

If we take an honest look at the present picture, we see government handouts on every side. If we are the beneficiary let's not kid ourselves. The handout we get is taken via the tax route from the other fellow. At the same time we sob about the heavy tax taken from us to hand over to the other fellow. Conducting this "give and take" game that runs into the billions, are a galaxy of bureaus and agencies who take a sizeable cut of every transaction plus another army of chisellers who find ways to get the cream of the give-away.

It's time to face up to the situation and get government out of the "give and take" game before we are completely subservient to the socialistic state.

John Makel to Head Michigan Week Event in County

John Makel, a member of the National War Manpower commission has been named 1960 Charlevoix county Michigan Week chairman, according to George E. Schraut of Traverse City who is chairman of the 10-county northwestern region.

In accepting the appointment, Mr. Makel stated that Michigan Week success begins at the local level. "When we are enthusiastic in our support of local activities, we assure the overall success of the entire celebration," he said.

Mr. Makel, as local chairman of the 1959 Michigan Week observance, instilled enthusiasm that resulted in an unusually successful observance of Michigan week in this community.

The theme for special emphasis this year will be "The People of Michigan."

Letters to Santa Claus

A letter addressed to "Santa Claus North Pole" by Thomas Dixon requests an army jeep, truck, boat and trailer and a holster set.

Dear Santa Claus,

We hope you won't forget to come to our house. I'd like a "Tiny Tears" doll and Karen wants a doll with booties. My brother Pat would like a gun and holster and Barbie and Susie want dollies too. But my little baby brother, Mike, just wants his two front teeth.

We love you.
Laura Martin

Dear Santa Claus,

I would like to have a "Tiny Tears" doll, a piano, a play watch and a pair of high heels. I would also like a chalk board, a typewriter, a jumper and blouse with a bow on it. I also want a skating skirt, sweater and leotards for skating. Also a play stove, refrigerator and sink.

I hope you have a Merry Christmas.

Love, Donna Martin

Dear Santa,

I want a train, a doll. I want pots and pans and a stove, table and chairs, and a buggy, dishes to cook with a pretend burners. I think that is all.

I love you, Santa. Kisses and hugs. I've been a good girl, Santa. One more kiss and hug. I love you very, very, very, very, very much. I am going to give you two Christmas cookies and a glass of milk.

Rayders Pull One Out; Dump Grayling, 65-59

The Charlevoix Rayders, playing heads-up ball, won over the favored Grayling Vikings 65 to 59 in a game which saw the Rayders come from behind to take a one-point, 44 to 43 edge going into the final period when the lead changed numerous times before the Rayders finally posted the victory.

This week the Rayders will find themselves with another hard-fought game on their hands when they invade East Jordan to take on the veteran Red Devils.

With forwards Joe Beaudoin and Jim Ladd, center Dick VanRaaphorst and guards Sam Supernaw and Dave Schuchard carrying the Charlevoix colors into a game in which the Rayders were definitely the underdogs. Charlevoix trailed 22 to 11 at the quarter and at one time were behind as much as 18 points before outscoring Grayling 15 to 8 in the second period to whittle the Vikings halftime lead to four points 30 to 26.

Roger Hatfield paced the first period for the Vikings scoring four field goals, Joe Robertson and Gary Springs added five points each and Frank Gross four as the tall, experienced quintet outscored the Rayders 22 to 11. Schuchard nad two field goals, Ladd three points, VanRaaphorst one field goal and Beaudoin and Supernaw one point each.

The Rayders seemed to find their stride in the second quarter as they settled down to score 15 points including seven points by Schuchard, five by VanRaaphorst and a field goal each by Beaudoin and Charles Coleman while holding the Vikings to one field goal each by Gross, Springs, Robertson and Hatfield. Jack Hull was the fifth member of the starting five. Stan Smith and Bud Balch joined the line-up in the second quarter.

Both teams hit as the game went into the second half. The Rayders, however, had an edge as they outscored their hosts 19 to 14 tieing the score 42-all before taking the lead for the first time as the quarter ended 44 to 43.

VanRaaphorst scored seven of his 20 points in the third period to pace the scoring. Supernaw and Schuchard had four points each, Coleman three and Beaudoin two.

In the final period Hatfield scored 12 of the Vikings' 15 points on six field goals and Gross added the remaining three as the Rayders took advantage of the Grayling errors scoring eight of their 20 points from the free throw line as the Vikings went after the ball in an effort to salvage the game. The score was tied and the lead changed numerous times as the two teams battled it out.

However, as the clock ticked off the closing minutes the Rayders took command by controlling the ball, hawking the backboards and hitting when it counted most.

VanRaapherst scored two field goals and two gift shots, Beaudoin and Supernaw a field goal and two free throws each, Ladd a field goal and Schuchard two free throws.

The Rayders were outscored 25 to 24 in the field goal department but made up the deficit on the free throw line where they scored on 18 of 26 attempts while collecting 12 personal fouls. Grayling hit on nine of 17 tries and had 17 personal fouls.

Hatfield paced the scoring for the game with 26 points including 12 field goals.

Last Week With Class C

Charlevoix and Pellston remained the only undefeated teams in the Northern Michigan Class C league with only two weeks of the season gone following Friday's games.

Charlevoix won over the favored Grayling Vikings 65 to 59 and Pellston posted an easy win over Mancelona 42 to 31. Boyne City upset Gaylord 66 to 59 and East Jordan dumped Harbor Springs 80 to 33 to round out the night's games.

Pellston 42, Mancelona 31

In a low scoring game in which Barry Anderson scored 19 points for the victors, Pellston had little trouble with Mancelona as they led the visitors 11 to 7 at the quarter and 19 to 17 at halftime before the Ironmen went ahead 25 to 24 late in the third period. The Hornets, however, snapped back to a 29 to 25 third period advantage before winning by an 11 point margin. Walt Klein scored 12 points for Mancelona.

Boyne City 66; Gaylord 59

Boyne City, playing a man to man defense, trailed the visiting Gaylord quintet 20 to 15 at the quarter before switching to a zone defense which held the visitors to six in the second period while the Ramblers pushed in 20 points to take a 35 to 26 halftime advantage.

In the third quarter the Blue Devils came back to outscore their hosts 19 to 16 but their efforts were in vain as Boyne City led 52 to 45 going into the final period, behind the scoring of Mike Kane who accounted for 23 points. Hugh Campbell had 18 for Gaylord.

East Jordan 80 Harbor Springs 33

Harbor Springs failed to score a point as the East Jordan Red Devils went ahead 16 to 0 at the quarter; 37 to 14 at halftime and 39 to 25 at the three-quarter mark. Coach Bill Brighton emptied the bench as 11 of the 15 players who saw action got into the scoring column. Bill Taylor led the scoring with 16 points for the victors. Gary Stutzman had seven for the Rams who scored only nine field goals in the game.

Little Rayders Poise for Jump at Gaylord

Full Slate of Contests In NMCCC As Teams Battle For Position

As the Northern Michigan Class C conference court schedule goes into its third week of play Charlevoix will play at East Jordan, Boyne City will travel to Mancelona; Gaylord will entertain Pellston and Harbor Springs will journey downstate to Grayling.

Weekly games are always important in the race for the title but seldom have games this early in the season set the pattern of 'things to come.'

Charlevoix, sharing first place with the defending champions, the Pellston Hornets, will invade East Jordan Friday for a strategic game with the Red Devils who currently have a one won-one loss record.

In this loop, where anything can happen on the basketball court, Charlevoix will have their work cut out for them when they take on the Jordanites who are shaping up into a smooth-working outfit composed of veteran players who boast not only height but versatile scoring talents. Though the starting five played less than two quarters against the Harbor Springs Rams, five of the 15 players, several of them second stringers scored four or more field goals.

Charlevoix, of course, will offer much more opposition than did the Rams but it is evident that the Red-Devils are a serious threat to any team with title aspirations.

The Rayders came from behind last week to defeat a tough Grayling outfit who were favored to win over the local five. However, Charlevoix had the stamina and the ability to take advantage of the breaks when Grayling ran out of steam late in the game and thus remain in the league lead along with Pellston.

This game will doubtless be a close one but if the Rayders continue their best brand of ball they should come through with a victory.

The Ramblers showed little when they played here in their opening game but evidently have taken the lessons learned in the bout to heart for last week they upset the Gaylord five, an outfit that held Grayling to a one-point win the week before.

Mancelona dumped East Jordan in the opening game of the season and then were downed by Pellston last week.

On the basis of returnees, Gaylord was expected to be a strong contender this season but thus far has lost three games, the first to Class B Cheboygan and to two loop opponents, Grayling (51-50) and Boyne City (66-59).

Pellston, on the other hand, has won, hands down, over Harbor Springs (66-33) and Mancelona (42-31) and look as though they are well on their way to a second straight title.

The Hornets should make this No. 3 on their victory trail unless the Blue Devils come alive.

Rayder Reserves Lose to Grayling In Final Period

After getting off to a fast start Charlevoix's little Rayders ran out of steam in the final period to bow to the Grayling Reserves 49 to 48 in an exciting game played on the Vikings floor Friday night.

Charlevoix jumped into a 10 to 7 first period lead, kept pace with the Vikings to hold a three-point halftime lead, 27 to 24, and 41 to 38 going into the final period when they were out scored 11 to 7 as the Viking reserves posted the one-point victory.

Henry Wagner with 12 points including 10 in the first period paced the scoring for the Rayder J-V's. Stan Martin had 10 points including six in the first and four in the third periods. Barry Pierce scored five in the third and four points in the fourth periods. John Pearl scored five and Jack Stewart and Dan Pearl who joined the line-up in the third period had two each.

Sherman Neal had 14 for Grayling.

Bowling News

BY MEG

Dec. 15th. Only 10 days until Christmas. A wish to Santa from Airport Inn. Please bring us better luck next year, so we can beat Steve's Bar.

Steve's team "Rolls On." We took the Airport for three points. For Steve's Anchor Man Agerbaum (Ted Ager) rolled his high series with a 587 and a nice 230 third game. Meg had a 540 series followed by Ken Cels 518. For the Airport Des had a nice 201, 214 first two games, but couldn't stand the pace and rolled a 156 third game. Al Anderson had a 512 followed by Nick's 511 series. Don Kimbler had a 135 first game.

Moonlight took three from Lake Construction even though the anchors were dragging. The Bowling Dentist had a real nice 142-139-140—421 series followed by Register of Deeds 174-161-105—450 series. L. V. was high with a 531 series followed by Jim's 506 series. For Lakers, Al Smith flipped his lid and rolled three games over his average of 131 for 147-154-168—471. Hal pulled up the rear with 111-106-123—340.

Swanson Gravel took three from Central Drugs. Fergie started off in a roar with a 204 but the 126 last game sure made the difference in his total series of 594. Ron followed with a 127-462 series. Central Drugs led by Al Bergmann's 461 series and Dick Edwards 426 sereis couldn't hold up the other 3. Mike had a 97 first game, Pete had a 114 second game, Frank had a 109 first game. (A little wish for the Pill Rollers) Santa, just a little help from the pin boys for next year.

Puff Appliance blasted out a 2510 series with four men going over the 500 mark. Coach Terry led the parade with a 203, 536 series followed by Puffs 531, Ron's 518 and Ed's 518 series. For Freedman No. 2 Harry Pearsall had a bad 135 middle game to spoil his 194 first and 234 last game. His 563 series wasn't big enough to hold up Bob Coakley's 394 series.

Browe Electric didn't have any real big scores but had a bunch of games in the high 170's to 190's. Ted led his team with a 548 series, John had a 523. Bob had a 509. They picked on United Farm. Bill Potter had a 420 series, high for the United Farm and here come the boys: Ken Boss 115, V. Mathews 115, D. VanDreumel 128 and Eds 2 games of 134 and 139.

Neff Grocery started slow but took the 2nd game with top team game of 940, but took a spill in the third to settle for a 2-2 split with Freedman No. 1. Bob Livingston had a 223 second game but Big Bergmann was high with a 529 series. Bob had a 504 series. Clayton Smith had a 119 first game. Bernie had a 113 game. Clayton's 202 second game should at least be mentioned.

For Freedman No. 1, not to belittle John, by waiting until the last paragraph to tell about his 233 game and a 615 series and Pat's 95, 107, 88 290 series they had to settle — period.

High Game—Harry Pearsall 234.
High Series — John Swanson 615
High Team Game—Neff Grocery 940. High Team Series — Steve's Bar 2622.

SUNDEW REPORTS

After spending most of the week in port because of strong winds, we got underway early Friday morning enroute to Lansing Shoals light station. Two Electronics Technicians from Traverse City Air Station, William Cunningham ET3 and Frank R. Peasley ET2, were to be placed on the station for temporary duty.

Originally, we were to close down Lansing Shoal light as well as those at White Shoals and Greys Reef but commercial shipping will attempt to run another two weeks, and if possible, until the first of the year. As a result the Coast Guard will keep the above mentioned lights manned as long as needed.

We arrived at Lansing Shoal light station at 8:30 a.m. but found it was too rough to pull alongside the light and moor so we continued in the direction of Squaw Island to remove a buoy there. Strong winds made it impossible to pull along side the buoy so we anchored five miles from Lansing Shoal light to wait for the wind to diminish. By 6:30 p.m. the wind velocity had increased to 40 mph so we got underway for Port Inland in the UP and moored for the night.

Underway Saturday morning for Lansing Shoal Light Station. Upon arrival at 9 a.m. we moored the bow to the station. Strong winds again prevailed so we passed supplies by line to the station. The two Electronics Technicians, however, remained aboard the ship.

We departed for White Shoal Light Station at 9:30 a.m. and upon arrival put the port cargo boat over with the supplies for the station. On the return of the cargo boat, we got underway for Greys Reef Light Station, mooring the bow to the station upon arrival at 12:50 p.m. We were close enough to pass the mail and supplies from the foc'scle to the station without the use of a line. Underway at 1 p.m. for Charlevoix. Passed through the bridge at 3:30 p.m. Saturday and remained in port for the remainder of the weekend.

SUNDEW SCUTTLEBUTT . . .

LTJG D. E. Poppen returned from cadet procurement in the South Bend, Ind., area last Sunday. Basketball was played the last two Monday nights at the Charlevoix high school gym. A good time was had by all who participated. William G. Cunningham and Frank R. Peasley the two ET's we couldn't put on Lansing Light because of weather, departed for the Traverse City Air Station. Kendall J. Parsons and Theodore S. White departed for Cleveland and the district office upon the ship's return to Charlevoix. They are the journalist and photographer, respectively, who took quite a few pictures at the three light stations mentioned above. Gordon Brodie returned Saturday after two months in the USPHS Hospital in Detroit. He is feeling fine and the crew welcomes him back. Frank Stolpe entered the Charlevoix hospital last week for examination. It was a short stay and he is back on the ship and feeling fine. It's official now: the Sundew rifle crew won second place honors in the district competition at the Grand Haven rifle range last summer. Bob Selinger, the new writer of the Sundew report, is very happy for the chance of writing for the Courier. I've always had the desire to do something like this and I'm happy for this opportunity.

Editor's Note: Bob Selinger, who succeeds Warren Toussaint HC1, as the author of the Sundew Report, is a native of Chicago. He has had two years in the U. S. Coast Guard Reserve and has completed six months active duty aboard the Sundew. He has 18 months active duty yet to serve. Welcome to the Courier staff.

IT WAS NOONTIME. The lineman opened his lunch box and looked inside.

"Peanut butter sandwiches! Last week, yesterday, today; nothing but peanut butter sandwiches! I don't care if I ever see another peanut butter sandwich."

"Gee," said a friend. "Why don't you ask your wife to make you something different?"

"Wife?" answered the lineman. "W [illegible] marrie!? I made these myself."

CHRISTMAS GIFT TIP

Before making a final decision on that very special gift, stop in at your business office and see our colored telephone display. Our latest tip is a colored extension with night light feature. You can place your order, have it gift wrapped, take it home to put under the tree, and we will install it after Christmas. We have many suggestions and arrangements for Christmas. Your service representative in the business office will be glad to help you.

ENJOY GRACIOUS LIVING WITH A GIFT THAT GOES ON GIVING

DID YOU EVER WISH THAT YOU WERE TWINS during the month of December? One person to stay home and write Christmas cards, cook and decorate; while the other takes charge of the shopping and visiting. It would make everything a lot easier, wouldn't it? Now a telephone won't do quite as much work as an extra person, but it certainly can speed up some of those last-minute chores such as shopping, visiting, or making appointments. If you kept a record of all the telephone calls you make during a week, you'd see the time and money you save by telephoning!

ALL OF US AT THE TELEPHONE COMPANY send you our best Christmas wishes. We'll be trying to give you even better service in the year to come.

Photo copies of your important papers, letters, etc., at the Courier. Fast Service, low cost.

Dickens Club Has Christmas Party

The home of Mrs. Clark Coulter was beautifully decorated in a Christmas motif for the Dickens Study club holiday party Tuesday.

Following a brief business session, the members sang carols and then enjoyed a game in which members who had Christmas packages when the music stopped related some Christmas incident they had experienced.

Mrs. Harold Totten and Mrs. Ralph S. Hamilton presided at the refreshment table.

Adventures in Understanding

Notes from a northerner's diary

By Harold E. Kohn

The Beauty Of An Unhurried Pace

The sculptor Rodin onetime said, "Slowness is beauty." There is a kind of beauty that belongs to an unhurried pace. One can sense it these wintry days while sauntering down a snow blanketed woodland trail. Leisurely breezes make a faint stir as they wander through the birches toward some yonder pasture playground. These zephyrs leave a trail of grace, a path of the quiet rhythmic elegance of slowly swaying limbs. Such slow-paced movements are quiet in contrast to the mad and ugly frenzy of a hurrying gale.

Snowflakes drift gently from a heavy sky, falling in magnificent languor, lightly brushing the winter stillness. Sleet rushes. Hail tears through the sky. Neither possesses the beauty of a snowflake that has time to dawdle with a breeze or to loiter with a twig before joining its waiting companions on the ground. Even our wild neighbors do not awkwardly scramble in mad rushes from our path. They watch. They wait. And when they see man intends to come relentlessly on, they hie away out of sight with a few well-calculated bounds and then watch again until the invader disappears in the distance. Chickadees are never in a frenzy of haste. Nuthatches are never irritated about their schedule. Deer are never vexed by the many things they have to do. Snowshoe hares never fume about a "full program." Watch them and see.

Of course, no one wants to be as composed and cool as a chickadee if such natural nonchalance also means being bird-brained and having a chickadee's limitations of thought and feeling. But would it not be good for the world if we could all capture at this Yuletide season some of the beauty of slowness found in the natural world, and then hold on to that trait for the rest of our lives?

Isn't it ironic that the season of the year that should be most unhurried is really busiest and most frantic? Is there any other period when we should be so quietly reflective, so aware of life's most significant values? Is there any other time that occasions so much fellowship, when we could, if we were wise, stop awhile to look at each other with imagination, trying to picture how empty life might have been if we had never met? We could look at each other now through our gratitude. How that would color all our thinking and our conversation! We could look at the Manger now, in an unhurried and meditative way, and try to imagine living in B. C. — before Christ.

But we hasten so fast to wrap gifts from the store that we neglect to bestow the gifts from our hearts, gifts of patience, and love and laughter. We work so hard to decorate the tree, the house, the yard, the church, the club, that there is no time for lovely thoughts and beautiful deeds that would mean most just now. We need to put the beauty of slowness into Christmas.

Take time, enough time, to give the gifts that count most. Give a little child a few moments of patience, undistracted listening to his chatter, to his "why's" and his "when's." Give a word of encouragement to a young man trying to find his place in the world and a compliment to a girl who is not yet confident of her good looks or her natural grace. Give to the old people you know the assurance they need that they still count, that their infirmities have not shelved them beyond the reach of your respect, your concern, and your care. Give to your enemies understanding and forgiveness, even when they do not ask it.

Perhaps the most pathetic figure of Christmas is Befana, a little old lady who is the Christmas gift-bringer in Italy much as Santa Claus is the gift-bearer in America, Father Christmas in England, and Julenissen in the Scandanivian countries. According to tradition, when the Wise Men journeyed toward Bethlehem they stopped at the home of Befana, who was performing her household chores. The Wise Men urged her to accompany them to Bethlehem, but she said she was too hurried, too busy, and stayed home and missed the glory of that first Christmas. Ever since, Befana has been wandering over the world, asking vainly for the Infant Jesus. Phyliss McGinley has pictured Befana's preoccupation and her light in meaningful lines —

Befana, the housewife, scrubbing her pane,
Saw three old sages ride down the lane,
Saw three gray travelers pass her door—
Gasper, Balthasar and Melchior.
"Where journey you, sirs?" she asked of them,
And Gasper answered, "To Bethlehem,
For we have news of a marvelous thing:
Born in a stable is Christ the King."
"Give him my welcome!" Balthasar smiled,
"Come with us, mistress, to greet the Child.'
"Oh, happily, happily would I fare
Were my dusting through and I'd polished the stir."
Old Melchior leaned on his saddle horn.
"Then send but a gift to the small Newborn."
"Oh, gladly, gladly, I'd send Him one
Were my cupboards clean and my weaving done.
I'd give Him a robe to warm His sleep.
But first I must mend the fire and sweep.
As soon as ever I've baked my bread,
I'll fetch Him a pillow for His head,
And a coverlet, too," Befana said.
"When the rooms are aired and the linen dry,
I'll look to the Babe." But the Three rode by.
She worked for a day and a night and a day.
Then, gifts in her hands, took up her way.
But she never could find where the Christ Child lay.
And still she wanders at Christmastide,
Houseless, who house was all her pride,
Whose heart was tardy, whose gifts were late;
Wanders and knocks at every gate,
Crying, "Good people, the bells begin!
Put off your toiling and let love in."

The curse of Christmas is what it has always been — a hurried busyness. The glory of Christmas is also what it has always been—the beauty of slowness, like a star twinkling brighter as darkness falls, like wonder dawning in a shepherd's eyes, like the growth of the Manger Infant into the Man of Galilee and the Saviour of the world.

Guild Notes . . .

The Women's Guild of the Charlevoix Hospital is calling for volunteers to man a new service at the hospital being taken over by this group. Beginning as soon as volunteers can be recruited, a Guild member will be stationed at the main desk where she will distribute cards to patients' visitors. Anyone interested in contributing an hour of her time each evening is asked to call Mrs. S. E. Coleman at 2489.

The gratitude of the Guild to the Hospital Board for its cooperation in planning the Guild's latest project . . . the purchase of a sterilizer for Central Supply Station at the hospital.

Mrs. Ralph Gillam has been named candy chairman to succeed Mrs. Thomas Symons Jr. The Guild is offering a variety of luscious candies suitable for those last minute gifts. Call Mrs. Gillam at 2889 . . . She will be happy to fill your orders. Funds realized from the sale support the Guild's nursing scholarship fund.

An interesting and well attended meeting was held in the solarium at the hospital last Tuesday. Plans for decorating the hospital, on the exterior as well as the interior, for the forthcoming holidays were announced.

A social hour and refreshments concluded the meeting. Among those attending was Mrs. James Taylor, a newcomer to Charlevoix.

Anyone for puppets? Mrs. David Fowler is still asking for volunteers to sew puppets which are given to every child admitted to the hospital. Known as Perky, the puppets are made from faces and materials furnished by the Guild. They're cute as can be and a welcome gift to all children.

Family Reunited After 50 Years

Mrs. Elizabeth Cannon of Tampa, Fla., and former Charlevoix resident, recently joined her sister and two brothers for the first reunion of the four in nearly 50 years.

The progressive reunion was started in October when Mrs. Cannon visited her sister, Mrs. Bruno Degenhardt, 76, of Seattle, Wash. The two then journeyed to Bellingham to visit a brother, Lewis Cromp, 79. The reunion was completed when the three went to Ladysmith, B. C., to visit a brother, A. C. Cromp, 77.

The former Elizabeth Cromp and her brothers and sister were born in Banks township and later resided here before separating more than 44 years ago.

REZONING NOTICE

CHARLEVOIX TOWNSHIP, CHARLEVOIX COUNTY

At a regular meeting of the Charlevoix Township Board, the following resolutions were passed:

Article IV Commercial District C-1

Section 4.02 Size of Premises

The present paragraph shall be eliminated and the following substituted: "Every parcel of land upon which a building is hereafter erected shall be large enough to accommodate the building, provide sufficient off-street parking, and have sufficient area to supply a safe and adequate water supply and a safe and adequate sewage disposal system as established by standards of the District Dept. of Health No. 3."

Section 4.04 Setback and Yards

1. Setback

The present paragraph shall be eliminated and the following substituted: "Every building hereafter erected shall not be built beyond the highway right-of-way and shall conform to the average setback of existing buildings 300 feet on either side, but in no case would it be required to set back more than 25 feet."

2. Side Yards

The following shall be added to the existing paragraph: "EXCEPT where buildings are abutted and a suitable driveway of 12 feet (minimum) is provided on one side of each building."

Article XII Definitions

The following shall be added:

"Wherever the word 'owner' appears, it is to be interpreted as including: the owner, his agent, or the lessee, as the case may be."

These amendments become effective 30 days following publication.

Yule Program to Feature Assembly At High School

The approaching Christmas season will be observed at the Charlevoix high school with a special student assembly at 10 a.m. Tuesday.

Music in the Christmas vein will be presented by the 44-voice Girls Glee Club and the newly-organized 85-voice Mixed Chorus. Guest speaker will be the Rev. Fred W. McNeil, pastor of the First Methodist church, will give a brief talk emphasizing the Christmas theme.

Opening the program will be the girls vocal group directed by C. A. Odmark and accompanied by Mrs. Leonard Borns, singing the beautiful carol "Shepherds Awake," arranged for treble voices by Davis; the "Christmas Lullaby," an arrangement of "Silent Night' for violin solo and four-part treble voices arranged by Warren and featuring Mr. Odmark as violin soloist and concluding with Irving Berlin's "White Christmas" and Pierpont's rollicking "Jingle Bells."

The mixed chorus will then sing "Lo, How a Rose E'er Blooming" by Praetorius; the English carol, "Bring a Torch, Jeannette Isabella" and concluding with a group of traditional Christmas carols including "O Little Town of Bethlehem," "O Come All Ye Faithful" and "Silent Night." The audience will be invited to sing with the chorus and continue with a carol sing directed by Mr. Odmark.

Parents and friends are cordially invited to attend the program commemorating the more serious side of the Christmas holiday.

Local Scouts Given Awards at Court of Honor

Charlevoix Boy Scout troop 11 attended a Northern District Court of Honor in Petoskey last week.

STILL A GOOD SELECTION OF CHRISTMAS RECORDS TO CHOOSE FROM

Elementary School Students to Present Yule Program Friday

The annual Elementary School Christmas program, featuring more than 500 students in the kindergarten through the sixth grades, will be presented in the high school auditorium at 2 p.m. Friday.

The Kindergarten Rhythm Band, always one of the favorite attractions of the program, will open the festivities with a rhythm number "Le Secret" and a Christmas version of "The Little Red Hen."

A group of sixth grade girls will then do an original dance to the music of "Let It Snow." Dancers will be Kathy Wege, Kathy Huffman, Rita Sanford, Pamela Hiller, Sherry Jones, Meri-Lynn Edwards; Lorelei Gigg, Ellen Cunningham, Linda Hamilton and Susan Freedman.

A carol sing, directed by C. A. Oamark, and accompanied by Mrs. Leonard Burns will be followed by the early elementary chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Frieda Novotny, singing "We Wish You a Merry Christmas," "Santa Claus is Coming to Town," "Rudolph, the Red-Nosed Reindeer" and "Frosty, the Snowman."

The play, "Greensleeves, the Shepherd Boy" will then be presented by a cast composed of Bruce Livingston playing the title role. Others appearing in the first scene will be Steve Paterka, Michael Lord, Terry Cummings and Ronald Johnson, as the shepherds; Trudy Goldstick, Carl Russell, Leslie Lugibihl, Candy Miller, Leisa Ager, Candy Grams, Michael Woed, Thomas Dixon, Clarence Russell, Sandra Cellner and Vicki Potter as the sheep.

Angels in the second scene will be Connie Geer, Carol Annis, Elaine Kimbler, Christine Light and Geraldine Kuebler.

In the third scene Donald Ward, Brian Flanery and Klaus Rosenthal will play the roles of the kings and Ronald VanRaaphorst, James Potter and Charles Bascom, the king's attendants.

Scenes four and five will feature Karen Lewis as the angel, Michael Bascom as Joseph and Virginia Ochs as Mary.

Readers will be Deborah Dixon, Susan Lyons, Gary Plum, Linda Boss, Steven Smith and Larry Feindt.

Alan Lusk will be the cymbalist .Two high school students, Ruth Ann Riley, flutist and Marilou VerWys, pianist, will assist in the production. Students are being prepared for the production by their respective teachers.

A 300-voice chorus composed of fourth, fifth and sixth grade students, singing familiar carols, will furnish the background music for the play.

Usa "For Sales" for results.

Mrs. Glenn Rose Named President By Rebekah Lodge

Mrs. Glenn E. Rose was elected Noble Grand of the Charlevoix Rebekah lodge No. 293 at the annual election of officers held Tuesday at the K. P. hall.

She and other elective and appointive officers will take office following an installation ceremony next month. She will succeed Mrs. Jerold Murdick.

Other officers elected are: Vice Grand, Frances Durance; recording secretary, Mrs. Eldred Ostrum; financial secretary, Mrs. Sims Baker and treasurer, Mrs. Edward Swanson.

Plans for the annual Christmas party to be held at the K. P. hall at 8 p.m. Tuesday were completed. All members are invited and asked to bring a gift for exchange. IOOF husbands are invited to join members for refreshments following the party.

At the business meet the group voted to send a gift of $5.00 to the IOOF home at Jackson.

During the winter months both the IOOF and the Rebekah lodges will hold their regular meetings at the Knights of Pythias hall.

Santa Comes to Town But Where Is He?

Courier Photo

Youngsters of all ages gathered in East Park Saturday to await the arrival of Santa Claus whose visit was sponsored by the City and the fire department.

Santa distributed more than 825 boxes of candy and nuts to the children of the community during his stay. Because so many children were confined to their homes because of illness, he made many calls at their homes. He also visited all the patients at the Charlevoix hospital.

Election Interest Mounts in City as Filing Time Nears

With the announcement that several incumbents will not be candidates for re-election to their present offices, interest in the forthcoming city primary election is mounting as the deadline for filing nominating petitions nears

The deadline is 4 p.m. Monday, Dec. 28.

Lee Moerland, first ward alderman for the past three years, will not be a candidate for re-election because he is moving out of the ward. Jesse Smith, who has served the third ward as supervisor for several years, has announced his retirement from the political arena.

Two petitions have been filed thus far. E. D. Hawley has filed a petition for the first ward alderman post and Harry Gebeau who has served as third ward alderman for five terms has filed for the post of supervisor in his ward to succeed Mr. Smith.

Other incumbents who are expected to seek re-election to their respective offices are: mayor, E. James Hiller; clerk, Hugh Mayne; treasurer, Nelle A. Hammond; second ward alderman, Ray L. Kipke; first ward supervisor, Ivan Phillips and second ward supervisor, T. R. Miller.

William Farkas' Mother Fatally Injured by Car

Mr. and Mrs. William Farkas and family have returned from Muskegon where they were called recently by the accidental death of the former's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Farkas, 77, on Saturday, Dec. 13.

Mrs. Farkas, who lived in Fruitport township, was killed instantly when she walked into the side of a car driven by Robert T. Christmas, 19, of Roosevelt Park, as she was crossing the highway to her mailbox.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at Sacred Heart church in Muskegon with burial in St. Mary's cemetery.

A native of Austria, she had come to this country in 1909 and lived in Muskegon Heights until moving to the Fruitport address 10 years ago.

Besides her son, William of this city, she is survived by three other sons; five daughters; 30 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Bid-a- Buck Sale Attracts Large Crowd to School

Approximately 1,000 residents of the Charlevoix area gathered at the Charlevoix high school auditorium Saturday evening for the Bid-a-Bucks auction sponsored by the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce.

More than 120 separate items were auctioned by David Matchett during the evening.

Bid-a-Bucks received during the past three months were the medium of exchange at the auction.

Close Lighthouses For Winter Season

Lighthouse crewmen at White Shoals, Grey's Reef and Lansing Shoals light stations in northern Lake Michigan were removed from the stations Sunday by the U. S. C. G. cutter Sundew and put ashore at Mackinac Island.

The ship then proceeded to northern Lake Huron to remove Coast Guard crewmen from Martin's Reef and Poe's Reef light stations before removing the last buoys from the Straits of Mackinac as navigation closed for the season at the latest date in memory.

The Thunder Bay light station off Alpena was the last lighthouse to close. The crewmen were removed from the station by helicopter from the Traverse City Air Station Wednesday.

The light station were kept open in order to facilitate shipping on the Great Lakes, especially the ore carriers.

C. of C. Office To Operate on Regular Hours

Paul Kohler, recently appointed secretary-manager of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce, assumed his duties Monday. He plans to have the office in East Park ready to operate on a full time schedule soon after the first of the year. Regular hours will be from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

PAUL KOHLER

Ballots were mailed Wednesday morning to all members of the Chamber for the election of three directors, Mr. Kohler reports. There are seven candidates for the board: William Carey, Robert Kenyon, Floyd Brown, Lee Moerland, Kenneth Cellner, Glenn Kenny and Byron Wright.

Members are to vote for three of the seven candidates and return their ballot personally or by mail to the Chamber of Commerce office by five p.m., Jan. 5.

Mr. Kohler was quickly initiated into his new duties Monday when he received a telephone request from Chicago for eight reservations for the holiday season. When he called back to report the reservations were made, the party was amazed at the promptness, Mr. Kohler said.

State Liquor Store Closes Early Thurs.

Early pre-holiday closing hours have been established for the local retail-wholesale liquor store by the State Liquor Control commission, Gerald Murdick, local manager has announced.

The day before Christmas, Dec. 24, the store will be closed at noon. The same closing hour will also be effective Dec. 31, the day before New Years.

Community Chest Drive Tops Goal

The 1953 Community Chest fund drive went over the top this week according to Mrs. James Coleman, fund chairman, who reported that contributions totaling $10,003.13 had been made to the Chest during the recent campaign.

The amount is $180.08 over the campaign goal of $19,823.06.

The 1959 budget was $10,323.06 and included the following requests from participating agencies: Michigan United Fund, $1,452.00; Charlevoix hospital, $1,121.06; Community Nurse, $1,450; Boy Scouts, $1,450; American Red Cross, $1,000; City Recreation, $800; Charlevoix Association to Aid Retarded Children, $950.00; Girl Scouts, $750; Salvation Army, $350; Charlevoix Service organization, $225; Emergency fund, $300; Mt. McSauba Ski club, $400 and campaign expenses, $100.

Funds will be disbursed shortly to the participating agencies, Hal M. Hill, Community Chest chairman, said Wednesday.

Both Mrs. Coleman and Mr. Hill commended the contributors and the workers for their efforts in bringing the campaign to a successful conclusion.

St. Ignace Man Dies Following Traffic Arrest

Leon John Corp, 51, of St. Ignace died Sunday at the Charlevoix county jail where he was being held on a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, according to Sheriff Glenn E. Rose.

Corp had been arrested Thursday and was to have been taken into Justice Court Monday.

Death was due to natural causes according to Dr. Robert G. Martin, county coroner.

He is survived by his wife.

The body was taken to the Davis funeral home in St. Ignace for services and burial.

City Asks Bids On Replacement At Light Plant

Bids for the replacement of an interior wall at the Charlevoix municipal light plant will be received at the office of the city clerk until 8 p.m. Jan. 8 as the result of action taken Monday by the city council.

The bids call for the removal of approximately 704 sq. ft. of cement block wall which serves as a partition between the main section of the plant and the north section where the Cooper-Bessemer engines are located and the replacement of this wall with steel and mortar pilaster and Waylight masonry or a wood frame and asbestos board. Specification for the project may be obtained at the office of the city superintendent. Deadline for filing bids has been set for 8 p.m. Jan. 4 at the office of the city clerk.

The council gave its approval to applications for SDD licenses in conjunction with 1959 SDM licenses filed by Richard L. and Louis Edwards and Andrew Essenberg Jr. Copies of the council's resolutions are to be forwarded to the Michigan Liquor control Commission.

Approval was given to applications for the renewal of taxi cab licenses submitted by Oscar and Dorothy Ward, Lacey Oldham and Robert Matchett.

Bids for a 3/4 ton pickup truck for use by the street department were received from Northern Auto, Charlevoix Oil Co. and Brown Motors. The bids were referred to the City Superintendent and the street department for tabulation.

Bills amounting to $14,067.88 were approved and ordered paid.

Churches Plan Special Services For Christmas

"Behold I bring you good tidings of great joy, that shall be to all people; for today is born to you a Saviour, who is Christ the Lord . . . You shall find the infant wrapped in swaddling clothes, and laid in a manger. And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly army, praising God and saying: Glory to God in the highest; and on earth peace to men of good will."

And as the angel brought this message to the people of Bethlehem on that first Christmas day, priests and pastors of local Churches will repeat the age-old message at services on Christmas Eve and Christmas Day at Christ Episcopal church, the First Congregational church, St. Mary's Church and the Bible Baptist church.

THE BIRTH of our Lord will be commemorated at Christ church at services at 11 p.m. Christmas Eve.

Traditional music by the choir will form a setting for the beautiful Christmas service at which the pastor, the Rev. R. J. Yonkman will deliver a brief sermon on the Christmas theme.

THE LOVELY, traditional Christmas Eve Candlelight service will again be held at the First Congregational church at 11 o'clock Songs of Christmas joy will be sung by the congregation; the best-loved Bible passages telling of the birth of the Prince of Peace will be read and songs of rejoicing will be presented by the Senior and Youth choirs directed by C. A. Odmark with several soloists participating.

The Rev. Harold E. Kohn will present a brief Christmas eve meditation on the subject "Openhearted Moments."

Near midnight the service will close with the "Service of the Lights" when the church will be illuminated only by candles held by the worshippers while the choir sings the closing anthem.

AT ST. MARY'S church the youth choir will sing Christmas carols beginning at 11:30 p.m. until the hour of the Midnight Mass when the choir will sing "The Mass of the Angels" under the direction of Mrs. C. D. Geiken Mrs. Frank Oleksy will be the organist.

The beautiful "Adeste Fidelis" will be sung during the offertory.

The Rev. E F. Denay will celebrate the Midnight Mass.

On Christmas Day there will be two Masses, the first at 8:30 a.m. and the second at 10:30 a.m.

SERVICES WILL BE held at the Bible Baptist church at 7:30 p.m. Christmas Eve.

The Rev. Lester Wasoski, pastor of Grace church of East Jordan, will present the first message of the evening and the Rev. James E. Lugibihl will present the final message entitled "The Virgin Birth of Christ."

There will be solos by both pastors and special numbers by a quartet from the church. Mrs. Wasoski will be the pianist. She will also present several special numbers.

Plans for a special New Year's Eve service to be presented at 9 p.m. at the church have also been announced.

Supervisors and Clerks Meet

A District II Association of Clerks and Supervisors Institute of Local Government and Township Officers Conference, was held at Northwestern Michigan College in Traverse City Thursday.

Search Continues For Craft and Crew Lost in Lake

The search for some trace of the 61 ft. steel-hulled boat, "Bridge Builder X" which disappeared in Lake Michigan last week with two men aboard was extended to the Beaver Island-Charlevoix area over the weekend when friends of the families of the two men walked the shores of the islands in the Beaver group and the shoreline of Grand Traverse Bay searching for some trace of the vessel.

The Craft which was used to transport logs from South Fox island to the mainland at Northport, was enroute to Northport from Sturgeon Bay, Wis., where it had been in the shipyards for repairs when it disappeared. Aboard were Stirling Nickerson, 37, of Kingsley and Glenn Ropp, 25, of Northport.

Nickerson had notified his family that they would leave Sturgeon Bay Tuesday morning and travel up the east shore of Wisconsin before crossing Lake Michigan. Nothing has been heard of the 61 ft. craft since it left the shipyard.

A search for the missing craft was started Thursday by the U. S. Coast Guard at the Traverse City Air Station after Mrs. Nic-Nickerson, brother of the skipper The Coast Guard continued its search during the daylight hours until 1:30 p.m. Saturday but shorelines reported negative results after an extensive search of Michigan and Wisconsin according to Group Comander Joseph Etienne of Group Charlevoix, who was in touch with the search plane.

On Sunday Jack Cross jr., Dick Lyons, Mark Cross and Jim Driggett and a group of 13 men from Kingsley including Max Nicerson, brother of the skipper of the missing boat, went to Beaver Island aboard the Cross tug, the Jackie C II, and walked the shoreline on the west side of Beaver Island, the south and west shores of Garden island and the entire shoreline of High island searching for some trace of the missing craft.

On Monday Mark Cross, Dick Lyons and Bob Withers patroled the shore of Lake Michigan from North Point to Norwood Point where they were met by the group from Kingsley who had searched the beach from El Rapids north.

Mr. Lyons said Tuesday that the search parties had found no debris which might reveal the fate of the missing vessel. He added that since the boat was of steel construction and the lifeboat was known to be lashed to the deck in heavy weather there would be very little that could be recovered from such a boat unless it was an oar from the life boat or some similar object.

The Coast Guard is investigating the accident in an attempt to determine what happened to the boat.

Mrs. Richard Lomas Dies Following Short Illness

Mrs. Richard Lomas, 83, former owner of Moonlight Garden, a local night spot, died Tuesday at the Charlevoix hospital where she had been a patient for 10 days

Funeral services will be held at the Winchester Funeral home at 2 p.m. Thursday with the Rev. Robert J. Yonkman officiating. Burial will be in Brookside cemetery.

Born in Hamden, Ohio, Nov. 18, 1876, the former Della R. Ish came to Gaylord as a child and later lived in Marquette before coming to Charlevoix in 1914. In 1905 she was married to Allen Jeffery who preceded her in 1935. In the early 1930's they built the Moonlight Garden night spot on US 31 north which she continued to operate until recent years. In 1945 she was married to Richard Lomas who died in April 1959. She was a member of Christ Episcopal church.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Paul Berandt of Marquette; a son, Theo, of East Jordan; four grandchildren and two sisters, Mrs. Andrew Falk of Manistee and Mrs. Bertha Vincent of Gaylord.

Ex-Band Members Asked to Rehearse

All former members of the Charlevoix city band who are home for the holidays are invited to attend the Monday night rehearsal scheduled for 7:30 p.m. and play with the band.

The invitation has been issued by C. A. Odmark and regular members of the band.

Emmet County's Only Weekly to Be Discontinued

The Emmet County Graphic which has served Harbor Springs and parts of Emmet County continuously for the past 85 years will suspend publications with this week's issue, Albert Schaller, president of the Northern Michigan Review, Inc., announced Wednesday.

Dwindling revenue from subscriptions and advertising coupled with mounting production costs have made it impractical to continue publication, Mr. Schaller said.

The Graphic was one of the oldest community weekly newspapers in northern Michigan and the only weekly newspaper in Emmet county. It was purchased by Northern Michigan Review, Inc., in December 1956.

To replace the Graphic the Review plans to publish a weekly shopper to cover Emmet county, Mr. Schaller reports. The forthcoming shopper will be enhanced with the inclusion of features which will offer reader interest not usually found in this type of advertising media.

Personnel formerly employed on the Graphic will be retained to print the new shopper. Herman Verseput, formerly general manager of the Graphic will continue to operate the Harbor Springs office for the new publication and Kalyd J. Fettig of Petoskey has been named general manager.

The Northern Michigan Review, Inc. also publishes the Petoskey News-Review, the only remaining newspaper in the county.

Board to Close Offices Thursday

The Charlevoix county draft board located in the city hall here will be closed all day Thursday, according to Mrs. Mary Bourgoin, clerk of the board.

The office will be open at the usual hours, 8 a.m. to 12 N. Monday.

Give A Life This Christmas

Will the committee on Religious Participation in Traffic Safety reduce accidents and fatalities over the holiday season? Motorists only can answer the question.

Publishers, editors, writers and broadcasters, have launched a campaign to combat public apathy over the vicious increase in traffic deaths and accidents. The theme of the campaign is "This Year Give Life." The campaign can be successful if every motorist will seriously heed the message recently published.

"In the greater sense, of course, life is the gift of God—but we his stewards are charged with aiding and sustaining it. Strange that we should mobilize the community resources to dig a child out of a well or help a kitten out of a tree and dismiss with a shake of the head the weekly death of hundreds on our highways.

"The sorrow and loss attendant upon these so-called accidents is largely preventable. The major portion of them are caused by human action or reaction. The astonishing thing is that the Christmas season, when good will to all men should prevail is the time also of the greatest highway death toll.

"We can, as individuals, have some effect on this great social problem. We can make it part of our daily Christian program to live the Golden Rule in the car as well as out. We can encourage our family, friends and those with whom we are in contact to develop a sense of moral responsibility in their driving as in other phases of our daily life. We can keep in mind that no where is good will to men expressed with more immediate effect than behind the wheel."

Keep that in mind when driving.

LANSING OBSERVER

By FRANK G. MORRIS

Bleeding and battered by their 11-month free-for-all, legislators and Gov. Williams staggered to their feet for another round and suddenly heard carolers singing an ancient promise of peace on earth and good will to men.

They could not betray the Spirit of Christmas by kicking Santa Claus in the teeth.

So for this merry Christmas, Michigan has a new tax package tied with soiled old string instead of bright ribbon —but welcome nonetheless.

In this year of political cut-throating, the pink-cheeked gentleman in the red coat and white beard turned out to be Senator Frank Beadle, of St. Clair, chairman of the Republican caucus.

Because of the faith shining in his eyes and the longing hope in his voice, Beadle caught both Republicans and Democrats by their hearts.

Beadle talked with Gov. Williams while hymns of peace rang through Lansing from loud speakers at the top of the National Bank Tower. He had a strange presumption that for a few hours, at least, they were humans seeking understanding instead of party advantage.

The GOP leader then went individually to Republican Senators who have been accused of stubborness because they were fighting desperately for a principle in which they sincerely believed.

He pleaded next with Democrats in the corridors and in committee rooms and found them willing to listen.

So the break came on an evening that was exatly seven evenings removed from the glowing night when the promise of brotherhood is renewed throughout all Christiandom.

It could not have come earlier. The legislators of both political parties had fought too long and at too great a cost in prestige to have surrendered before the final hour when there was no alternative except disgrace for all.

The lawmakers had finally reached the point of no return.

No one is proud of the temporary tax package.

The new tax on cigarettes, cigars and tobacco will be resented

The levy on whisky could be justified if it produces a little more temperance.

But the three percent telephone tax will cost the people another $8 million or more that many can ill afford.

Selling the $50 million worth of U. S. government bonds for $40 million will anger war veterans.

And the $13 million-a-year boost in the corporation privilege fee is a blow for industries already staggered by high state taxes.

But the big point of the compromise, transcending all of the annoyances and grumbling that the next taxes will produce, is that Michigan is not being burdened with an income tax.

After 11 years of battling, Gov. Williams lost the main objective of his career — the levy that was intended to shift most of the cost of government to the corporations that already are struggling to survive in this state of sky-rocketing labor costs.

Yet corporations are being hit hard by the new tax legislation this year. This point has not been made clear.

An increase in the Business Activities Tax, passed last August, will cost industry another $8 million annually.

The final package included a $13 million boost in the privilege fee.

This $21 million blow hit corporations on the very day when business men filled the municipal court room in Battle Creek to testify to the Senate Tax Committee that the cost of operating in Michigan has reached the breaking point.

They blamed the high state levies (now going higher) and the pyramiding production costs forced on them by the UAW.

Senator Carlton H. Morris, of Kalamazoo, chairman of the committee investigating job opportunities, and Senator Clyde Geerlings, of Holland, chairman of the tax committee, were so impressed by the testimony they would not listen to Senator Beadle in his role of peace-maker.

Both voted against the corporation privilege fee increase.

And next day Dr. Dwight Yntema, Hope College economist who has spent two years comparing Michigan business taxes with the levies in other industrial states, reported that the tax load here is double that in Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin.

His inquiry was completed before the legislature added another $21 million in business levies.

AIRPORT INN

Voice of Our Readers . . .

Charlevoix Courier
Dear Editor:

Two letters to your paper have been published on the BOWLING BUILDING BUSINESS, arguing that it would be OK to build next to the Airport Bar. Hasn't anyone written you objecting to building at that location? Well, I am. Editors often print letters which do not necessarily present the opinions of the editor. Hence no credit or embarrasement to the editor.

There is a simple solution to this BOWLING BUILDING BUSINESS. Will some person please provide a Bowling Alley in a location far removed from a Bar? I understand bowlers like to eat. So let it be with or near a place that would provide healthful refreshments. Hasn't everyone suffered or been degraded to a small or great degree because of what liquor places contribute directly or indirectly?

Also while we are at it, why not eliminate and prohibit smoking? It is a costly, dirty, unwholesome, unhealthy, unnecessary habit.

The simple solution is to overcome evil with good, and answer our daily prayer of "Lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil."

Rise up, O men of town, Be done with tempting things, Give heart and mind and soul and strength To fun that leaves no stings.

This sport is intended to be clean and entertaining and helpful in these days of stress and sin and tension. Let us keep it that way. Why degrade ourselves as adults or set a bad example for our young people?

We gloat and call our city, The Beautiful. Let us keep our places of fun and recreation beautiful and refined, too. Rise up, O men, again I say, And build for healthy things; May we soon see the day, When Bowling Alley Rafters ring — even in Charlevoix.

Sincerely Yours,
Mrs. Jane Fiedler

Observe 51st Anniversary

Courier Photo

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Struthers, pioneer residents of this community, celebrated their fifty-first wedding anniversary at a family gathering held recently at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Struthers in Petoskey.

A highlight of the gathering was a conference telephone call which brought together Mr. and Mrs. Struthers and their sons and daughters, Clarence Struthers of Los Angeles, Rev. Charles Struthers of Philadelphia, Pa., Clifford Struthers of Chicago, Rev. Richard Struthers of Greenville, Mrs. Leo Berg, Mrs. Bruce Bartlett, and Mrs. Orval Richardson of Charlevoix and Howard Struthers of Petoskey. It was the first time in 25 years some of the family had heard the voices of others.

Mr. and Mrs. Struthers were married in Charlevoix Dec. 8, 1908, and until 1941 lived on a dairy farm in Hayes township. Since retiring they have lived in Charlevoix and for a number of years at their present address, 502 Newman st.

Mr. Struthers was born in South Arm tawnship Oct. 11, 1867, and came to Hayes township as a child. His parents were among the early settlers in the area.

Mrs. Struthers, the former Anna Sauder, was born at Ayr July 6, 1883.

Besides their three daughters and five sons, they have 16 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Paul Weds Marshall W. Acker

The Grosse Pointe Memorial church was the scene Saturday of the wedding of Mrs. Robert A. Paul of Charlevoix and Marshall W. Acker of Charlevoix and Alton, Ill.

The bride selected a Dior blue lace gown, matching satin and lace hat and accessories for her wedding. She carried a bouquet of violets.

Mrs. Walter Bernard of Grosse Pointe attended her sister-in-law as matron of honor.

The couple left for New York from where they will depart New Year's Eve on a world cruise.

In Grosse Pointe for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Edwards.

Geo. LaBlance Wins Monthly Sales Event

George LaBlance, Charlevoix representative of The Lincoln National Life Company and a member of Gail L. Shoup & Assoc., is a national winner in a one-month sales contest recently conducted by the company, it has just been announced by Henry W. Persons, vice president and director of agencies.

In recognition of this honor, which was won by producing a specified large amount of business during the contest, Mr. LaBlance will receive a prize from Mr. Persons.

Senior Class to Sponsor Annual Christmas Ball

The annual Christmas ball, Silver Bells, sponsored by the senior class of the Charlevoix high school will be presented at the high school gymnasium Wednesday, Dec. 30, Richard Schols, president of the class, has announced.

Julie Hubbel and her escort, Robert Sharrow, have been named queen and king of the ball. They will be crowned during the ball.

Queen Julie will wear a pink chiffon semi-formal gown and white accessories.

Silver bells will be the main feature of the decorations being planned by a committee headed by Julie Koteskey and Mary Ann Makel. Dick VanRaaphorst will be in charge of tickets; Randy Kies will handle the publicity and Vicki Miller will be in charge of refreshments. All will be assisted by members of the senior class.

Music for dancing will be by the Rocking Kings of Cadillac.

Dancing will begin at 9:30 p.m. and continue will 12:30 a.m.

All high school students from the ninth through the twelfth grades, college students home for vacation and other young people in the area are invited to attend the ball at which both semi-formal and formal apparel will be worn.

The Goblin Fathers are co-sponsors of the dance.

County Line FB Has Yule Party

The annual Christmas party of the County Line Farm Bureau group was held Dec. 15 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Parsons.

Following a cooperative oyster supper the members were entertained with games and an exchange of gifts. Ladies of the group made bibs for use of patients at Grandvue hospital.

Letters to Santa

Dear Santa,

I would like a little car very much and a small pair of ice skates. My name is Kevin Gallagher and I live at 101 Wood st. in Charlevoix, Michigan.

I would like a new pair of shoes. I am almost three years of age I hope you can bring me what I want and if you can't it's alright with me. I love you, Santa.

Two local youngsters, hopeful of getting their requests for gifts in early, mailed their letters to Santa Claus on Sept. 29.

They are Kim Wood and Mike Wood, both of whom requested a bike and a tobbogan. Their letters, mailed to Santa at the North Pole, have been forwarded to the Charlevoix Courier.

Dear Santa,

I want a BB gun and a tether ball. Susan wants some mixes and a ring. Mary wants some mixes and a ring too. Allan wants a gun and holstser set. Elaine, Beth Ann and Esther want dolls and Leslie wants a soft toy. Susan, Mary, Allan, Elaine and I had very good report cards and are very good in school.

Adventures in Understanding

Notes from a northerner's diary

By Harold E. Kohn

Against A Dark Background

The gospel stories of Jesus' coming underscore the fact that when the Savior was born the world was in darkness. Shepherds were keeping watch over their flocks by night when heavenly messengers announced the Lord's birth. Wise Men came from the East, guided by a certain star through the silences of the night. The Light of the world came in a dark time, and it was against a dark background that the Light shone.

It is always so that light shows best against the darkness. Like Wise Men of old we must have night if we are to follow stars. And if we are wise we do not complain of the darkness; we look for a star.

This is one characterizing trait of wise men and women of all time; they acknowledge the darkness, but they follow the light. How is it that social case workers in the slums who daily see the worst side of life are not most grumpy about the evil in human nature? Could it be that against the dim-out of abominable conditions for living they still see enough flickering courage, enough capacity to love, enough blazing, herioc self-sacrifice to make man worth saving?

You have noticed how frequently those who criticize the way God has made the world are arm-chair quarterbacks and parlor critics. They find fault from positions of comfort. And often those who love life most and are of the sunniest disposition have developed patience and graciousness in the face of overwhelming odds. What is the answer to this conundrum? One explanation might be this: some people have no dark background against which they can see the bright beneficence of God and the good He has set in the heart of man. Others look through dark distress and in the night of trouble see stars of hope and flashes of God's goodness everywhere. Could it be that the Almighty lets some people get into trouble because a crisis is the only time they think of Him? Against a bright background of comfort, health and prosperity they do not see the light of His Presence. But a dark background of affliction makes God vividly real.

Where was Paul when he wrote most of his New Testament epistles? In prison.

Where was Isaiah when he prophesied the coming of the Messiah? He was an exile in Babylon.

Where was Jesus when he asked his disciples to "Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which dispitefully use you?" He was surrounded by enemies. Words like those do not come from an easy mind and an untroubled heart. They could only be expressed by One who saw something to love in apparently unlovable people. He looked for a flicker of light against dark backgrounds.

Christmas reminds us of the darkness, but celebrates the Star. It tells us of an evil world into which came an Infant Goodness, and the evil world could not destroy the Goodness. He lives still.

Darkness comes and goes, but there is always light in the world, light by day for everyone, and a star in the night for the wise who will follow it.

Rayders Hold Lead In Class C; Edge Win at East Jordan

The Charlevoix Rayders and their coach, Don Carey, received an early Christmas gift Friday . . . sole possession of first place in the Northern Michigan Class C league as the result of their 63 to 62 win over East Jordan and Pellston's upset at the hands of Gaylord by a score of 56 to 55.

The Rayders will return to the basketball court Saturday, Jan. 2, when they travel to Petoskey to take on the Northmen in a traditional post-New Year's game.

In the game at East Jordan Friday night the Rayders edged into a 19 to 18 quarter lead which they increased to nine points, 33 to 24, at halftime. As the game continued, the Rayders remained in control with a 46 to 38 advantage as the game went into the final period. A couple of bad passes which gave the scrappy Red Devils possession of the ball gave the Jordanites a chance to whittle the Rayder lead to one point as the final horn sounded.

Charlevoix won the game on the free throw line after being outscored from the floor to 17.

In the first quarter Charlevoix's scoring was limited to five field goals and nine free throws with Dave Schuchard and Dick VanRaaphorst scoring six points each. Joe Beaudoin five and Jim Ladd two. Other members of the starting line-up were Bruce Pease who was replaced by Ladd and Charles Coleman. Sam Supernaw also saw action in the first period. East Jordan had eight field goals and two gift shots for 18 points.

In the second period the Red Devils attack was limited to three field goals as Charlevoix continued to take regular trips to the free throw line, scoring eight charity shots and three field goals.

Beaudoin and Ladd with four points each, Supernaw with three and VanRaaphorst with a field goal accounted for the Rayder offensive attack.

East Jordan started their comeback in the third period as they outscored the Rayders 14 to 13 to cut Charlevoix's lead 46 to 38 as the period ended. Schuchard had four points, VanRaaphorst and Ladd three each, Coleman two and Beaudoin one. East Jordan had five field goals and four charity shots.

In the final period the Red Devils started to hit and outscored the visitors 24 to 17 when the Rayders blew a sizable lead as time ran out. East Jordan had nine field goals and six free throws.

Charlevoix, in the meantime, scored 17 points including six by Ladd, four by Beaudoin, three by Schuchard and two each by VanRaaphorst and Coleman. Stan Smith joined the lineup in the final period.

Louis Kraemer paced the scoring with 17 points for the Jordanites. Beaudoin and Ladd had 15 points each for Charlevoix.

Rayder Reserves On Scoring Spree At East Jordan

Charlevoix's little Rayders got back on the victory trail Friday night as they trimmed the East Jordan Reserves 66 to 28.

The Rayders romped into a 15 to 5 first quarter lead, outscored their hosts 20 to 5 in the second period for a 35 to 10 halftime advantage and then poured in 25 points in the third period for a 62 to 22 lead going into the final period when the Rayder scoring was confined to four points as Coach Terry Rice emptied the bench.

Stan Martin with 23 points including 11 field goals paced the scoring before he and other members of the starting five were replaced by substitutes as the game went into the final period.

Henry Wagner had 14; John Pearl 12; George Majors, 9 and Barry Pierce 4.

Others who scored were Bruce Murray with two; Frank Curtis and Dwight Boss with one point each. Others who played were Darryl Somerville, Bruce Bartlett, Tony Duerr, Danny Pearl, Joe Smith, John Tuomela, Marty Shannon, Stewart VerWys, Herb Cummings, Melvin Holborn, Bill Dohm, Jim Rohm and Denny Wojan.

Bud Gee had 12 for East Jordan who were outscored 30 to 11 in the field goal department. Charlevoix hit on only six of 19 free throw attempts and collected 16 personal fouls. East Jordan scored on six of 19 attempts and had 16 fouls.

Bowling News

BY MEG

Dec. 22, 1959. We roll again. Steve's Bar is still on top without rolling tonight. We bowl Central Drugs Sunday afternoon to make up for tonight, because of the "flu bug". The standings won't change much even though we win four Sunday!!

Moonlight pulled tonight. Puff didn't. Puff fouled tonight in the 10th. Moonlite took 4. The Registrar had a 540 series followed by LV's 518. The Bowling Dentist had a 464 series. Sarg had a 203-505 series. For Puff — The Big Puff had a 192 with a foul - 502 series, followed by Ron's 493 series, they still lost 4.

Lake's couldn't hit the mark, so they split with Neffs. Neffs just about bowled their average but had to settle for 2 points. Hal did his bit with a 478 series followed by Geo. with 456 series. Big John had a 130 game to hinder the cause. For Neffs there wasn't much. Big had a 497. Bob Livingston had a 475 series. Clayton had a 106 game.

Swanson Gravel took advantage of Browe's 2nd game of 666 and came out with a split of 2 and 2. Fergie had a series of 542 followed by a Short Stub with 417. Browe Electric had Sladek eight pins over average, Ted was 45 pins under average to follow up. Need I explain more.

Freedman No. 2 gave Freedman No. 1 a lesson. Dear John, I brought your saddle home. If you can't bowl, I'll still work for Freedmans. Freedman No. 2 took 4 but look out next time, there mite be descension among the ranks, there always is. Sidewinder Harry had a 499 series for No. 2 and Little John had a 508 for the No. 1 Classic. If Ball Point had put one of his 2nd game pins in the 3rd game, he would have had a triplicate of 144, (so sorry)

Des was dragging anchor, but Airport still carried four. Ununited helped! They couldn't hit the mark. Henry stepped in and had high series with a 199-534 followed by Al's 506 series. For the Ununited Ed's 172-427 series was the top.

One question was asked of me tonight. Why isn't the Bowling News published in the East Jordan News. I would like to know? There is a good number of teams from Charlevoix bowling in East Jordan and a good number of Charlevoixan's reading the "News" but no news (Why)

Last Week With Class C

Charlevoix took over first ploce in the Northern Michigan Class C league following Friday's games after edging East Jordan 63 to 62 and Gaylord's upset of the defending champions, the Pellston Hornets by a score of 58 to 55.

Mancelona came through with a 56 to 42 win over Boyne City and Grayling rolled over Harbor Springs 74 to 49 to round out the loop action which will be suspended until after the holidays.

Gaylord 56 Pellston 55

Pellston romped into an 11 to 8 first period lead over the Blue Devils and increased their advantage to 28 to 23 as the half ended.

As the second half got underway the Blue Devils outscored the Hornets 19 to 13 to go ahead 42 to 41 going into the final period when first one team and then the other took the lead. Gaylord finally went ahead 52 to 47 with 2½ minutes remaining and hung on for the win.

The victors won the game in the field goal department, scoring 26 to 19 for the Hornets who hit on 17 of 26 free throw attempts while collecting only eight personal fouls. Gaylord scored only four free throws in seven tries and had 19 personal fouls.

Barry Anderson paced the scoring with 26 points including 10 of 13 free throw attempts. Hugh Campbell had 13 points for the victors who lost John Johnston via the foul route with 1½ minutes to go and Dave Raab with 30 seconds remaining.

Mancelona 56 Boyne City 42

Mancelona served notice that they were still in the running for the title as they led Boyne City 16 to 8 at the quarter; 25 to 18 at the half and 41 to 29 going into the final period. Jack Dixon with 17 and Mike Kane with 15 were top scorers for the Ramblers. Walt Klein had 15 and Jerry Bengston had 11 for the victors.

Grayling 74 Harbor Springs 49

Frank Gross and Roger Hatfield shared scoring honors for Grayling as they dumped in 50 points between them as the Vikings led Harbor Springs 26 to 3; 44 to 16 and 61 to 31 by quarters. Gary Stutzman had 24 for the Rams.

Independents Post Two Wins

The Charlevoix Independents, one of six teams in the Petoskey Recreation Basketball league, have posted two wins during the past week.

Last week the local quintet dumped Harbor Springs 53 to 37 and earlier had defeated the Petoskey Elks 71 to 37.

In Tuesday's action the Charlevoix outfit led Harbor Springs 25 to 9 behind the scoring of Norm Helms who had 14 and Glenn Bearss and Bob Klooster who had 12 each for the victors. Randy Lauer had 11 for the losers.

In the first game, Dec. 10 game Klooster paced the scoring with 21 points. Dale Beatty had 12 for the Elks.

Suburbs By The Truckload

Suburbs are spreading farther out into the wide open spaces as our population continues to grow by leaps and bounds—and truck transportation makes this giant expansion program possible. That's because trucks are the only transportation system flexible enough to service all the out-of-the-way places people are moving to these days . . . Trucks go wherever there are roads—so homes (and factories and business establishments, too) can be located just about anywhere and everywhere in this big country . . . No matter where you live or do business, trucks assure you fast, efficient service for all your transportation needs.

NCMC Approved For Vet Training Under GI Bill

North Central Michigan College at Petoskey has been approved by the Veterans Administration for training under the GI Bill, according to A. D. Shankland, dean of the college.

Being approved by the Veteran's Administration means that eligible veterans may receive training under the Public Law 550 at North Central and be reimbursed at the same rate they would be at other approved colleges and universities.

Inquiries regarding training under the GI Bill at North Central may be directed to Robert Vratanina, registrar at the college.

The VA approval is retroactive to the start of the fall semester and new veterans enrolling for the second semester will be eligible for assistance.

Kroger to Split Christmas Fund With Employees

Kroger employees in this area of the state will divide approximately $24,000 in cash Christmas gifts, Jack Bone, vice president of the Grand Rapids division has announced.

Cash Christmas gifts of this type have been presented Kroger employees for the past 22 years.

In all, more than $900,000 will be distributed to 30,000 employees of the retail firm in stores, warehouses, offices and manufacturing plants in 20 mid-western and southern states.

Christmas checks are given to all full-time employees with six months or more of service, with the exception of those who participate in a company incentive plan, Mr. Bone said. Incentive plan checks will be distributed early in 1960.

Albert Hyek, 67, Former Resident Dies in Detroit

Albert Hyek, 67, former local resident, died Friday, Dec. 11, in Detroit where he had lived for the past 25 years.

Contests Develop In First-Second Ward for Alderman

Contests for the posts of alderman in two of the city's three wards developed Monday, the deadline for filing nominating petitions for the Feb. 15 Primary election.

In the second ward, incumbent Ray L. Kipke will be opposed by Kenneth A. Staley, who operates Staley's Grocery, and Frank M. Oleksy, contractor and president of the North Central Labor Council, for the office of alderman.

In the third ward Jack Grubaugh who is employed at Freedman Artcraft and John Wolf, retired Detroit building inspector, will seek nomination to the post of alderman being vacated by Harry Gebeau who is a candidate for third ward supervisor to succeed Jess Smith who is not a candidate for re-election.

In the first ward, E. D. Hawley of the Charlevoix County State Bank will be unopposed for the office of alderman being vacated by Lee Moerland who is moving from the ward.

Incumbents who have filed petitions and who are unopposed for their respective offices follow: mayor, E. James Hiller; treasurer, Nelle A. Hammond; clerk, Hugh Mayne; first ward supervisor, Ivan Phillips and second ward supervisor, T. R. Miller.

No candidates for the offices of justice of the peace or constable filed petitions.

Persons must have voted some time during the past four years to be eligible to vote in the forthcoming primary election if they are registered.

Deadline for registering to vote in the Feb. 15 Primary election is 8 p.m., Jan. 18, 1960.

All residents of the community are urged to register before that date in order to be eligible to vote not only in the Feb. 15 Primary election but in the all-important primary and general elections in August and November.

County Cherry Pie Contest to Be Held Jan. 12

The annual Charlevoix county cherry pie baking contest will be held Jan. 12, Mrs. Clare Brown, county extension agent in home economics has announced.

Six contestants, two from each the Charlevoix, Boyne City and East Jordan schools, will compete for the honor of representing the county in the state contest to be held Jan. 28-30 in Grand Rapids. The bake-off to determine the county champion will be held at the home of Mrs. Brown. Following the bake-off, the contestants and their instructors will be guests of the East Jordan Rotary club at a noon luncheon.

Cherry pie baking contests will be held in each of the schools between Jan. 4 and 11 to select county contestants. All contestants must be between the ages of 14 and 21.

Marion Kay Richardson, a Charlevoix high school senior, represented the county in the state contest last year. Miss Richardson placed in the top 16, receiving honorable mention.

Funeral Services Held Tuesday for Mrs. Robt. Gerrie

Mrs. Robert Gerrie, 53, of Boyne City, former local resident and sister of Mrs. Alfred Gill, died Sunday at Lockwood General hospital in Petoskey following a long illness.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at the Stackus Funeral Home in Boyne City with the Rev. John Chironna officiating. Burial was in Maple Lawn cemetery.

Born in Bluffton, Ind., July 28, 1906, the former Elizabeth Higman came to Charlevoix with her parents in 1908. She was graduated from the Charlevoix high school and attended Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo. On Aug. 30, 1929, she was married to Mr. Gerrie at Traverse City. They made their home in Boyne City where, since 1946, she had been associated with her husband in Gerrie's Drug Store. She was a member of the Presbyterian church, the Alpha Bible Class and Evangeline chapter, Order of the Eastern Star..

Besides her husband, she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Robert Pearson and a son, Kennard, both of Boyne City; two grandchildren; three sisters, Mrs. Gill, Mrs. M. Franklin Olmstead of LaCrescenta, Calif., and Miss Bonita Higman of Tucson, Ariz. and a brother, George Higman of Frankfort.

The family has requested that those wishing to honor the memory of Mrs. Gerrie may do so in the form of a contribution to the Organ Fund of the First Presbyterian church in Boyne City.

March of Dimes Campaign Starts In County Jan. 1

The Charlevoix county chapter of the National Foundation will launch its 1960 new March of Dimes campaign Jan. 1, joining with 3,100 other chapters to raise funds to carry on its work toward the control of birth defects, arthritis and polio as major health threats, Charles A. Robinson, county campaign chairman, has announced.

For many years the Charlevoix chapter has provided patient aid for county polio victims. In all, more than 50 polio patients, among them a number of the area's most severe cases, have received aid from the fund since it was started. At present there are 10 patients receiving financial assistance from the chapter. Expenditures for these services in the county have exceeded all contributions by approximately 50 per cent. Grants from the National Foundation were forwarded to supplement local funds in order that the work could be carried on, Mr. Robinson said.

At present, funds are completely exhausted and local volunteer workers are looking to the 1960 campaign for help. Residents of the county are asked to respond generously to the community fund-raising programs.

The new March of Dimes program has been called the biggest and most ambitious ever undertaken by any voluntary health organization. Without it, such weapons as medical research, patient aid and the training of medical professionals would suffer greatly in this war against crippling diseases. To millions of people, the March of Dimes has come to be a symbol of a whole nation joined in concerted voluntary action to free mankind of its physical ills, to render aid and courage to the stricken and to make the world a safe and happy place.

Sleet Storm Damages Area; Slows Traffic

A sleet storm which hit northern Michigan late Sunday did extensive damage throughout the north country and made driving hazardous Sunday night and Monday.

Power to the city's northside was off for a total of one hour and 50 minutes during early morning hours Monday as municipal light crews sought to repair wires damaged when a pole near the Northside Freedman plant was snapped off by the storm.

Another pole was broken off near the light plant but wires were not damaged.

Two poles between Charlevoix and the Bellaire hydro plant were broken and power from the plant was cut off until repairs could be made.

Streets crews were busy Monday sanding city streets and picking up debris, mostly broken branches.

Highways are still slippery as the result of the storm and a six-inch snowfall on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Ironton Ferry Suspends Service Until Spring

The Ironton ferry which transports traffic across the South Arm of Lake Charlevoix will cease operation at noon today (Thursday) John J. Martin, superintendent of the Charlevoix county road commission, has announced. The commission operates the ferry for th Board of Supervisors.

The unseasonably mild weather has made it possible to keep the ferry in operation until the last day of the year.

The ferry was closed on Dec. 11 in 1957 whn the South Arm was frozen over. It has been in operation since April 21.

Motorists must now travel the county road on the north side of Lake Charlevoix or the route through East Jordan.

Armidoes Browe Dies Following Short Illness

Armidoes Browe, 87, retired stone mason and gardener, died late Monday at the Charlevoix hospital where he had been a patient for a week.

Funeral services will be held at St. Mary's church at 9 a.m. today (Thursday) with the Rev. E. Francis Denay officiating. Burial will be in St. Mary's cemetery. The Rosary was recited at the Winchester Funeral Home Wednesday evening.

Born at Lake Leelanau Jan. 12, 1872, Mr. Browe was married to the former Rebecca St. Charles at Lake Leelanau in 1893. The family came to Charlevoix in 1914 and made their home at 401 Alice st. Mrs. Browe preceded him in death in 1948. He was a member of St. Mary's church.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Arthur White of Grand Rapids, Mrs. Newt Dieterle of Brooksville, Fla. and Mrs. Glenn Allen of Cheboygan; two sons, Theodore of Charlevoix and Wilfred of Detroit; 26 grandchildren; several great-grandchildren and a sister.

Call Special Session of Court

A special session of circuit court is scheduled to open here Tuesday with Judge Charles L. Brown presiding, according to County Clerk F. R. Bulow.

Several cases which have been pending for some time will be brought before the court at that time.

Employees Shift Jobs at Post Office

A mutual exchange of positions at the Charlevoix post office will become effective Jan. 26, 1960, according to Postmaster Peter H Timmer.

At that time Perry Smith will take over as rural carrier on RFD No. 1 which serves the Norwood and Barnard areas and Rex Davis who has served the route for 5½ years will replace Mr. Smith as window clerk.

Mr. Smith joined the staff of the local postoffice on April 1, 1948, as sub-clerk. Mr. Davis was appointed rural carrier on May 11, 1953, following the retirement of Earl E. Miller.

The exchange was voluntary on the part of both employees, according to Mr. Timmer.

Rayders to Play Non-Conference Game at Petoskey

The Charlevoix Rayders will travel to Petoskey Saturday to take on Ace Zographos' Northmen in the renewal of a series which started in 1915.

The Rayders will go into the game with a record of three wins in loop play. The Northmen have a record of wins over Boyne City and Cadillac and losses to Cheboygan, Alpena and the Petoskey Alumni. The Rayders, currently in first place in the Northern Michigan Class C Conference, have victories over Boyne City, Grayling and East Jordan.

By virtue of their record, the Rayders will be slight favorites as they go against Petoskey in a traditional battle in which past records are usually thrown to the winds.

According to records supplied by Fred Lovelace of the Petoskey News-Review, both teams have won 39 games since the series originated back in 1915 with Petoskey dominating the early games in the series and the Rayders the action in recent years. This week's game will be the 'rubber' game in the longest series on the Rayder schedule.

Coach Zographos is expected to start a veteran line-up against the Rayders which will probably find 6 ft. 3 in. Ed Colwell at center, John Rigg and Bob Woodruff at the forward positions and Mike Rosenow and Mike Gibson in the back court. Brook Smith, Ken Klumpp and Willie Shomin will be likely substitutes.

Coach Don Carey will probably use the starters he has used all season. This includes Joe Beaudoin and Jim Ladd or Bruce Pease, forwards; Dick VanRaaphorst, center; Dave Schuchard and Sam Supernaw or Charles Coleman, guards. Others who will probably see some action will be Bud Balch and Stan Smith.

Last year Charlevoix defeated Petoskey twice by scores of 63 to 44 and 65 to 41.

Announce Cribbage Tournament to Start Monday Eve

The first round of the annual winter cribbage tournament between the Oddfellows and Masons will be held Monday at 8 p.m. in Masonic Temple.

The Masonic team will be captained by John Grey with Hap Cunningham as co-captain. Robert Mitchell is captain of the Oddfellow team with William Bergmann co-captain. Players this year are urged to bring a friend to participate in the matches which are held each Monday evening.

The match Monday evening will mark the beginning of the twenty-ninth year the winter tournament staged by the two local fraternal organizations.

AEC Reveals Proposal from Consumers-GE

Consumers Power Co. and General Electric Co., have submitted a proposal to participate with the atomic energy commission in the development of a nuclear power plant at Big Rock Point, four miles northeast of Charlevoix on Lake Michigan, according to an Associated Press release from Washington.

Announcement of the proposal was made late Tuesday by AEC Chairman John A. McCone.

The proposal suggests AEC support necessary research and development up to an agreed amount and would also waive fuel use charges up to a set amount. The research and development program would be performed by Genral Electric and Consumers under a separate contract with the commission.

Site for the proposed plant was purchased last June from Edward K. Shanahan. Total cost of the site, site preparation and plant at that time was estimated at $30 million.

Since the purchase, crews have been conducting tests and surveying the property. It is understood actual construction will be started in the spring if agreements are reached wih the atomic energy commission.

Consumers Power Co. has named the Bechtel Corp., San Francisco, as architect-engineer and constructor of the plant.

Christmas Trees Wanted

Wanted — your discarded Christmas tree! That's the plea of King Saunders, manager of the Mt. McSauba Recreation Corporation ski slopes. The trees are placed where thin snow spot occur on the slopes to catch and hold additional snow. Mr. Saunders reports.

When trees are dismantled, he suggests they be tossed in the car and dropped off at the ski run.

Name Winners of Home Decorations For Christmas

Judges in the Christmas decorations contest found their job a difficult one when they toured the community last Wednesday evening, looking over the many homes which had been decorated for the holidays.

They reported more homes than ever decorated for the occasion.

The results of the judging by a panel composed of Mrs. R. G. Bennett, Miss Florenz Milner and Wayne Belding follow:

First ward: first place, Karl J. Erber; second, Kenneth Cellner; third, Fay Davis; honorable mention, Mrs. James Coleman, Jack Rader, William Fnchtman, Gerald Goss and Dr. G. B. Saltonstall.

Second ward: first place, Andrew Essenberg Jr.; second, Harley Ochs; third, Dr. Walter Hoffman; honorable mention, James Law, George LaBlance and Walter Russell.

Third ward: first place, Ted Browe; second, Peter H. Timmer; third, Tom Carey; honorable mention, Ilo Helms, William Supernow, Charles Howard, Arthur Emmons and Jack Grubaugh.

Outside the city limits and using city utilities: first place, Robert Withers; honorable mention, Ann Baumgartner, Clark Coulter and John Schroeder.

Prizes of $15, $10 and $5.00 were given to the prize winners of each ward and $15 to the top winner outside the city.

The things you and your friends are doing is news. Call 6633 or 6558 and let us know about it.

Review of News that Made Headlines for Charlevoix in 1959

A review of the headlines in the Charlevoix Courier during 1959 reveal a number of outstanding events in the community.

The announcement by Consumers Power Co. that it plans to construct a $30 million atomic power plant at Big Rock Point northeast of here on property acquired from E. K. Shanahan, owner of Birchwood Ranch, was probably the biggest story of the year.

The record snowfall, which made the winter of 1958-59 the most severe in the memories of oldest residents, was another story that was headline news during the first three months of 1959.

While there were many stories that were important in their own right, the following have been selected as the headlines of the 52 weeks which made up the year of 1959.

A Lesson Not Learned

Foreign competition, heightened by the widening difference between U.S. and foreign wages, has fretted the AFL-CIO into changing its traditional stand on trade. The former free-traders now want tariffs and quotas to be brought to bear when the domestic market (and domestic jobs) are threatened.

Further, they resolved in San Francisco that the U.S. ought to step in and ease the plight of union members whose jobs have gone because foreign workers now make products that the unions themselves have priced out of the market.

In their data, the AFL-CIO bosses have fingered the wage differential as the reason for lost markets, which it clearly is. Then they passed another resolution—supporting an increase in the federal minimum wage law from $1 an hour to $1.25, which would further widen that differential.

Writing in The New York Times, J. H. Carmical says that the pressure of Soviet oil exports on the markets of the free world is steadily increasing. The flow approaches 300,000 barrel a day, and it has become the Russian's main economic weapon in many cases. Moreover, he adds that the prospects are that the drive on free world oil markets has only started.

How much will it cost to send men into outer space? U. S. News & World Report places the price of a round trip ticket to the moon at $60 million, or $100 a mile. By way of comparison, flying around the world by airliner costs 7c a mile at tourist rates.

Notes from a northerner's diary

By Harold E. Kohn

On Getting The Best Of Time

The old year fades and disappears as the cloud of a man's breath dims and vanishes on the frosty air. Man is the only creature of earth that notices. The chickadees that visit our feeder know nothing about years, either old or new. Our neighboring fox keeps no daily memo. Trout in the pond are unacquainted with years, months and minutes.

Nothing in nature marks the end of the old year, the close of a decade or the finish of a century. No salvo of thunder signals the change. No heavenly fireworks salutes the passage of an era. Man is earth's time-conscious creature, the only one aware of his fleeting mortality, the only one to keep calendars and to manufacture and wear watches. Whether man observes New Year's Day as did his ancestors on September 21st, December 21st, March 25th or on January 1st, as has been his custom only for two or three centuries, the Old Year passes and the New Year is ushered in with holiday festivities. The tick of the watch that bridges the gulf between 1959 and 1960 will sound no different from any other tick and the chimes of the clock that ring out this decade will bear the same tone as all the others. But to these particular ticks and chimes we will bend an attentive car. For we are God's time-enamoured and time-panicked creatures.

We love time and we fear it. We beg for more of it, asking, "For heaven's sake, give me time!" Yet the relentless, unchangeable pace of time's passing stampedes us toward nervous ruin. Dr. Richard H. Hoffman of New York City declares that civilization's three greatest killers are not heart disease, cancer and accidents. Rather, he insists, the three chief murderers of modern man are calendars, which remind us of deadline dates; telephones, which fatigue the nerves with their frequent jangle; clocks, which constantly remind us to "Hurry, hurry." So man fears the thing he loves, and is brought to nervous destruction by a trait that makes him unique among his fellow inhabitants of the earth—his sense of time.

How can we get the best of time? How can we master time rather than being driven to lunacy by its mad rush?

* If we recognize that each moment we live we are becoming something more than we already are, all our days will be significant rather than frenzied. When boys are prankish and misbehave we sometimes make allowances and excuse them lightly, saying, "Boys will be boys." Of course "boys will be boys," but not for long. Soon they will be men. And young men will be middle-aged men, and middle-aged men will be old men, and at last "this mortal must put on immortality." We are all on our way. A sound use of time is to invest it toward self-improvement, molding tomorrow's character by being all that we should be today.

* If we learn to handle the year a moment at a time we shall find our opportunities and problems manageable. Maudlin regret for yesterday's failures and rankling anxiety about tomorrow added to today's needs make too much of a burden for anyone to carry. God gave us our years a day at a time, and our days a moment at a time because such parcels are proportionate to our strength.

* If we succeed in making a different person happy each day of this year, three hundred and sixty-five people will be happier than as if we had not lived. Filling time with happiness is one of its nobler uses.

* If every good feeling and every good thought is put into action, think how many gracious deeds will be performed this year. And good feelings and good thoughts must be expressed in behavior or soon, like unused muscles, they are no good at all. Minutes and hours are empty pockets that can be filled with good deeds. If we are as careful in packing our hours as we are in packing our luggage, we will fill up all the small spaces with good little deed so that no time is wasted by remaining empty.

* If we see the present moment in proper perspective, relating it to the long outreach of history, we will become more patient people. If you telescoped all the time since the earth began, an estimated one and one-half ibllion years, into one year reaching from January 1st to December 31st, then the period covered by recorded history would begin at one minute and twelve seconds before midnight on December 30th. And you were born the merest instant before the clock struck twelve on New Year's Eve! Apparently God is in no hurry to complete His purposes, nor did He hasten to bring you on the scene. If, with all He has to do, He does not rush, why should you?

* If we live on tip-toe, with joyful anticipation rather than dread, we make good use of time. What is a New Year? A New Year is a vast virgin territory of unrealized opportunity. A New Year is a friendship yet undeveloped; a pathway yet unexplored; a song still unsung; a plan yet unfolded; a foundation as yet unlaid; a wrong not yet defeated; a record yet unchronicled; a kindness not yet performed; a cheerful word yet unspoken; a reward yet unearned; the person we hope to be, yet unattained. With so much adventure before us need anyone live without joyful excitement and "great expectations?"

* If you keep correcting your life by a higher standard than the clock on your mantle or the watch on your wrist, you can get the best of time. The world's time is kept in Greenwich Observatory and it is by Greenwich Observatory time that the precision clocks of the world are tested. At this scientific laboratory the clocks are mounted on concrete piers sunk far into the earth to avoid all terrestial vibration. The clocks there are housed in a room where a constant temperature is maintained, and they are automatically wound every twenty eight seconds. Yet, with all these safeguards Greenwich clocks do not keep perfect time. They must be checked against the stars, and each night Greenwich clocs are corrected by testing them against the movements of the earth in relation to "the fixed stars" millions of light years away. Scientists get their true time from the sky.

So do we. We do not understand much more about God than the astronormers know about the far off stars, but we know enough to set our lives by. We believe we know how God spends His eternities — creating better worlds, making better people, and doing all that He does in love.

Wouldn't that be a good standard for spending our time, building a better world, being — and helping others to be — better people, and doing all that we do in the spirit of love?

Start the New Year with a glance at the clock? Most of us will. But we also need to look beyond clocks and get the heavens into our thinking. The Greenwich astronomers do. Will you?

Happy New Year

We all know that happiness comes not from the outside, but from within . . . It is the reward of working hard at something socially useful, and of being considerate and good-humored with family and friends. We also know that the happiness and success we have achieved must be wisely safeguarded by insurance to protect our loved ones and the gains we have made. Our wish for you for the New Year is all possible success and happiness.

Safety Survey Shows Men Involved In 88% of Accidents

A survey of Michigan drivers involved in fatal accidents over a six month period showed that 1,035 drivers were involved in 750 accidents in which 850 people were killed.

James M. Hare, chairman of the Michigan State Safety Commission, said that the study showed that twelve percent of the drivers involved were women. 88 per cent were men.

"This is the first time we have done such a searching study into the backgrounds of the persons involved in fatal accidents," Hare said. "We found out a good many things we never were sure of before. For example, drivers over sixty years of age were involved in 105 fatalities while 99 were under 21 years of age."

Violation tickets issued to survivors of the 750 accidents were for:

1. Excessive Speed — 196
2. Disregard Stop Sign — 32
3. Improper Turn — 18
4. Improper Passing — 8
5. Wrong Side of Road — 58
6. Driving While Intoxicated — 5
7. Car Not Under Control — 21
8. Negligent Homicide — 6
9. Manslaughter — 5
10. Leaving the Scene of a Fatal Accident — 4
11. Fail to Yield the Right of Way — 46
12. Fail to Stop in the Assured Clear Distance — 3
13. Reckless Driving — 3
14. Without Due Care and Caution — 8

Investigators checked the percentage of drivers who had violations over a period of years. For example, 594 or 57 percent had one or more convictions during the five years previous to the fatality. Of the drivers involved in fatal accidents 44 lived outside of Michigan and of these 16 were charged with a moving violation, a record which was sent to their home state.

Beaver Island Ferry Service Closed for Season

The Beaver Island ferry, the Emerald Isle, closed its 1959 navigation season Wednesday when it returned here for the winter months according to James W. Gallagher, business manager for the Beaver Island Boat Cu.

The buat, which has made its headquarters at St. James since September made its last round trip of the season Tuesday when it came to Charlevoix to transport a warehouse full of freight and supplies to the island for the winter.

The boat will be moored here for the winter when engines are overhauled and other repairs made to the craft which operates between Charlevoix and the mainland from mid-April until Dec. 31 of every year.

All traffic to Beaver Island, whose harbor is located 32 miles northwest of here in northern Lake Michigan, will be by plane from now until navigation opens in the spring. All mail, freight and passengers will be carried by Joseph McPhillips of McPhillips Flying Service here.

Prizes Awarded In Event Staged by Schroeder & Hovey

Winners of prizes in the Schroeder & Hovey drug store Christmas promotion campaign were announced Dec. 23 by John Schroeder.

The Sylvania Stereo Hi-Fi was won by Mrs. James W. Gallagher, 301 May st. Toni Goss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Goss, 803 Dixon ave., was awarded the Effanbee doll and layette set. The Lionel train set of 31 pieces, complete with transformer, cross-over, uncoupler and track went to Tim Wiles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wiles.

Dealers to Attend Furniture Mart

Three representative of Hess Furniture will leave Sunday for a ten day tour of the January furniture markets at Chicago and Grand Rapids, according to Ralph Hess jr. He will be accompanied by Joe Zahrt and Jerry Whitley.

These two markets offer home furnishing retailers an opportunity to preview the newest in furniture styling, colors and fabrics designed by manufacturers thruout the country.

Ronald Anderson Completes Course At Fort Belvoir

FORT BELVOIR, Va. — Army Pvt. Ronald L. Andersen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Andersen, R-2, Charlevoix, completed the nine-week equipment maintenance course Dec. 11 at The Engineer School, Fort Belvoir, Va.

Andersen was trained to perform maintenance on construction equipment such as tractors, graders and crane shovels.

He entered the Army last July and received basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

STREAMLINE AIR FORCE

The U. S. Air Force Recruiting Service has 'streamlined' its aviation cadet processing procedure under the new system interested in the state of Michigan according to T-Sgt. Carl M. Stout, local Air Force recruiter, who said that young men are afforded the opportunity to take the Air Force Cadet screening test in their own local area.

Prior to this time the applicant was sent to Detroit for the test. Under the new program the tests will be administered in northern Michigan by officers from the U.S.A.F. Recruiting Detachment headquarters in Detroit. These men will make special trips to this area any day of the week to give the tests. Upon successful completion of the cadet test, applicants may be sent directly to Selfridge Air Force Base for complete physical testing and further evaluation. With this new 'streamlining' of procedures, the Air Force will be able to more efficiently administer tests to more pilots and navigator hopefuls and realize more saving per tax dollar, Sgt. Stout added.

COLONIAL SPOON RACK

For those who have an Early American decor, you can give a maple or fruitwood finish wall rack, notched to hang up old and "special" silver spoons. Charming!

CARD OF THANKS

I want to thank everyone who helped make my Christmas a merry one, by voting for me in the contest at the Central Drug Store. Thank you, Marcia Lynn Brown.

CARD OF THANKS

Our heartfelt thanks to all who extended comforting sympathy and help in our recent sorrow. For the beautiful service, floral offerings and other kindnesses, we are deeply grateful.

Theo and Ann Jeffery and family; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Berandt.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank all the people that voted for me at the Central Drug store and made it possible for me to win the bicycle. Thanks again, Michael Mol.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear husband, father and grandfather, Charles Tuhy, who passed away Jan. 2, 1956.

We are thankful, God, today for giving us the grace to bear,
The sorrow that came four years ago when God took Dad up there
Peacefully sleeping, resting at last.
The world's weary troubles and trials are past.
In silence he suffered, and patience he bare.
Till God called him home to suffer no more.

Truly missed by his wife, Mary, daughter, Anne Staley, and all grandchildren.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my husband Oscar A. Teboe, father and grandfather who passed away 4 years ago, January, 1960.

This date recalls sad memories.
Seems twice as long to us.
Only God knows how much we miss you
You meant so much to us.
Sleep on dear one, God knew you needed rest
And bore you far from mortal pain;
To heaven where among the happy blest-
I pray the Lord we meet again.

Greatly missed by his wife, Pearl, also children and grandchildren; Mrs. Pearl Teboe, children and grandchildren.

New "Jean Allen"

Miss O'Neal

Appointment of Miss Kay O'Neal as "Jean Allen" and head of the home economics division of the Kroger Food Foundation has been announced by George F. Garnatz, director.

A graduate of the University of Alabama, Miss O'Neal has been active in home economics work for several years. Prior to joining Kroger, she was assistant director of home economics for the Continental Baking Co. in New York.

As "Jean Allen," Miss O'Neal helps solve the cooking problems of homemakers in the 20-state area where Kroger stores are located. She also assists in the company's educational program for schools and homemaker groups.

The Food Foundation, which was founded in 1931, is the Kroger Co.'s quality control and research center. It is the only organization of its kind operated by a food retailer.

To Hold Special New Year Service At Church of God

Special New Year's Eve services will be held at the Community church of God this evening according to the pastor, Rev. George L. Majors.

The activities will begin with the mid-week prayer service at 7:30 p.m. during which the theme of New Year's will be followed.

A time of fun and fellowship has been planned from 8:30 until 11 p.m. featuring skits, games, cartoons and a potluck lunch at Fellowship hall.

All will return to the church at 11 p.m. for a candlelight watch service of special selections of Scripture, songs and poetry and a thought for the evening delivered by the Rev. Majors. A time of meditation and prayer will be concluded with the ringing of the church bell by Roy Ranger, announcing the arrival of a new year and a new decade.

All are cordially invited to attend any or all of the activities of the evening.

Bowling News

BY MEG

With only one night of bowling left in the first half, here we go.

I'll have to extend an apology to Central Drugs, who took Steve's Bar in the make up game Sunday. I stated the standings wouldn't change, but low and behold, they moved from the cellar to 11th place. We had to like it, they took 3 points. They moved back to the cellar tonight by ½ a point.

For the No. One Team (Steve's Bar) "ALL" we have to do is win three points!!—and we have the first half.

STEVE'S BAR kept in the spotlight tonight by taking 3 points from Puff. For Steve's, O'Rile led the scoring with a 202-575 series followed by Meg with a 200-557 series.

MOONLIGHT kept in the running tonight by rolling over Airport Inn for 3 points. The King Pin for Moonlight was Grover with a 203-556 series. L. V. and the Bowling Dentist pulled up the rear with a 452 series apiece. Airport Inn had only one man in the 500 bracket and that was anchorman Des with a 509. Don Kimbler was dragging anchor with 455.

LAKE CONSTRUCTION tried to stay in the running but had to setle for a 2-2 split. Big John's 96 first game didn't help much. For Lake's Geo. had a 494 series followed by Big John 464 series. For Swanson Fergie's 485 series was high, Stub's 98 first game was low.

FREEDMAN NO. 2 dropped 3 points to Browe Electric but still stayed in 5th place. Jack Niswander was high for the No. 2 with a 442 series. Les Toil's 374 series was low. For Browe's Bob Ouderkirk's 429 series was high. Mr. Kroger's 405 series was low. Max was 24 pins over his average though.

NEFF HAD TO settle for a 2-2 split with Central Drug. Bernie had high game for Neff with a 209-509 series. Big had a 501 series. Neffs only won one game but that was big enough to take total pins. For Central Drugs (Bless their bowlers) Long John had a 455 series, the Boss was low with a 399 series.

SUNDEW REPORTS

Underway Monday for Ile Aux Galets and Stoney Point where we removed buoys and put down winter markers. At 2:30 p.m. we got underway for Charlevoix, passing under the bridge at 3 p.m. Strong currents forced us to moor starboard side to the dock here for the first time in many months.

After two days in port we got underway Thursday to remove the last of the buoys in Lake Michigan including the Charlevoix lighted bell buoy (off South Point), Ile Aux Galet East End gong buoy and Hog Island Reef buoy, replacing them with special winter markers before getting underway for Charlevoix at 3 p.m. Passed through bridge at 5 p.m. The weather had been perfect for removing buoys with nary a ripple on the lake.

After field day and ship's inspection Friday, we got underway Sunday morning to pick up light station keepers' at Gray's Reef, White Shoals and Lansing Shoals Lake Michigan and Martin's Reef and Poe's Reef in Lake Huron as well as all remaining buoys in Lake Michigan. Removed four men from each of the Lake Michigan light stations before closing them for the winter. We then proceeded to Squaw Island to remove the shoal buoy thus completing the removal of all buoys in Lake Michigan for the season.

Underway for Martin's Reef in Lake Huron, passing under the Mackinac bridge at 1:30 p.m. and arriving at Martin's Reef light station at 3:30 p.m. to remove crew and close station. We then proceeded to Cordwood Point to remove lighted bell buoy and put down winter marker before going on to Poe's Reef to remove crew and close the station for the winter. Arrived at Cheboygan where we put the light keepers ashore before leaving for Mackinaw City. We arrived at 9 p.m. and moored for the night.

After spending the night at Mackinaw City, we got underway for Mackinac Island to await the calming of the weather. The winds had increased to 30 mph, forcing us to see out a better mooring. We arrived at the Island moored, port side, to Union Terminal pier.

We got underway Tuesday morning to finish withdrawing buoys at Mission Point, Majors Shoal and North Graham Shoal and replacing them with winter markers. We then proceeded toward the Mackinac bridge and commenced removal of bridge buoys. We picked up Buoys No. 4, 2 and 3, passing under the bridge at 2 p.m. to remove buoys 5 and 6. Secured from buoy removal and headed for Mackinaw City to unload all eight buoys. We arrived at Mackinaw City and moored port side at the Michigan State Ferry Dock.

Underway Wednesday morning for Mackinac Island. Again the wind increased, forcing us to seek a sheltered mooring area. Arrived Mackinac Island but heavy seas forced us to bypass the island and head for St. Ignace. On arrival there, heavy seas again prevailed so we continued on to Cheboygan, arriving there and mooring starboard side to coal dock to await calming of the winds.

Underway Thursday for Charlevoix, passing through the bridge at 2:15 p.m. with "78 Trombones" playing loud and clear over the ship's P. A. system. We remained in port over the holiday weekend.

SUNDEW SCUTTLEBUTT . . .

Frank Stolpe EN2, departed Tuesday for USPHS Hospital in Detroit. We hope it will be for a brief stay. Our basketball team played two games against outside competition. The first was with Fochtman Motors of Petoskey. Jerry Wyant was top scorer with 14 points followed by Don Poppen with 10, Dick Marble 5 and George Peacock and Chuck Sully 4 each. We lost 52 to 38. We then engaged the CGC Mackinaw at the local gym Tuesday, losing [illegible] to 40. This time Wyant had 12 points. Warren "Doc" Toussaint, HM1, was detached to Group Charlevoix Saturday from which he departed Monday for his home in Milwaukee to spend the holidays. He is headed for Hawaii in the 14th C. G. District. Good luck and best wishes to "Doc" from the officers and crew of the Sundew. Our new corpsman, Donald D. Jagoditch HM3, arrived Saturday from the C. G. Air Station in Traverse City. He hails from Appleton, Wis., is a veteran of 2½ years in the Coast Guard and served aboard the CGC Chautauqua (WPG-41) based at Honolulu and Coast Guard base, Sand Is., Honolulu. Welcome aboard. I'd like to take this time to wish the staff of the Courier and all its readers a happy holiday season from the officers and crew of the Sundew.

One quarter of the crew is missing as John Massey, Dick LeLievre, Fritz Leistikow, Red Lent, Dick Letourneau, Dick Kratz and Jerry Wyant departed on Christmas' leave. Christmas Eve and Christmas Day were spent in Charlevoix with the ship decorated with lights strung across the bow and stern and a white cross on the gun deck facing toward town. Cristmas dinner, prepared by Tony Kubetx CS3, was sumptuous with turkey and all the trimmins heading the menu. The Charlevoix bakery brought over some very tasty fruit cake. Frank Stolpe returned from USPHS hospital in Detroit and is feeling fine. To the staff and readers of the Charlevoix Courier a Happy New Year wish from the officers and crew of the undew.

- Garlyn Bice has gone to Detroit to spend the remainder of the week. She made the trip with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. James Capalongo who had spent the holiday weekend here.
- Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Bassett and daughter, Kathy Jo, left recently for Buffalo, N. Y., where he will be stationed with the U. S. Coast Guard. He had been stationed here for the past three years.
- Dale Suomela has returned to Flint after spending the holiday weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Uno Suomela.

WE hope the New Year brings you and yours all the good things of our wonderful world.

Bible Baptists Plan Special New Year Service

Th Bible Baptist church will mark the arrival of the New Year with special services at the church at 904 May st. at 9 p.m. tonight (Thursday) Rev. James Lugibihl has announced.

A feature of the Watch Night Service will be the showing of the film, "The Crimson Shadow," filmed by Dr. Fred C. Schwarz, to show the perils of communism. The complacency-shattering picture of Red plans and progress with Dr. Schwarz, internationally recognized as one of the free world's best informed anallysts of communist ideology, as commentator, brings the true picture of the aims of communism to the free world.

An old-fashioned hymn sing, a testimony time, special music by Rev. and Mrs. Lester Wasoski of Grace Baptist church in East Jordan and messages by Rev. Lugibihl and Rev. Wasoski will also be featured at the watch service to welcome the year of 1960.

The public is invited to the Watch Night Service so they may have a first viewing of communism and its pitfalls and trickery.

Widespread Cold And Flu Epidemic Sweeps Community

The hospital on Wednesday had a total of 31 patients, the largest number in recent months, according to Miss Ann Baumgartner, superintendent of the hospital.

The increase is due, in part, to numerous cases of flu and colds in the community, some of which have needed hospitalization. There are also an increased number of surgical and medical cases other than colds, flu and pneumonia cases, Miss Baumgartner said.

In addition to the increased number of patients hospitalized there are many others ill at home as the result of flu and colds. The latter are blamed, in part, on the erratic weather the community has had during the past few weeks.

Newsmen to Visit City On Winter Sports Tour

Charlevoix will be host Saturday afternoon to representatives of newspapers, magazines, radio and television stations and travel organizations from four midwestern states on a tour of west Michigan winter sports areas under the sponsorship of the West Michigan Tourist and Resort Association.

Approximately 30 men and women news representatives from Ohio, Illinois, Indiana and Michigan will be guests of West Michigan winter sports areas and the WMTRA on the three-day 515-mile trip to be made by North Star bus.

The group is scheduled to arrive here at 3:15 p.m. Saturday for a stop-over at the Weathervane lodge where the manager, Ralph Gillam, a director of the WMTRA, will entertain the writers. Paul Kohler, secretary-manager of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce, Mrs. Kohler and members of the board of directors, William Fochtman, president of the Charlevoix-Mt. McSauba Ski Club and others will be on hand to greet the visitors and tell them of the winter sports facilities and housing that Charlevoix has to offer.

A tour of the beautiful new Weathervane lodge and refreshments in the lodge lobby will also be offered to the visitors who will receive a packet of literature about Charlevoix and the lodge plus small bottles of maple syrup made in Charlevoix.

All of west Michigan's 28 winter sports centers will be covered in the tour which will begin Friday in Grand Rapids and end at Manistee on Sunday.

Ice Skating Rink Opened at School

The ice rink opened this week at the former site on the tennis courts adjacent to the public schools.

Cold weather early this week made it possible to open the rink at this time.

The rink will be open for skating from 3:30 to 5 and 7 to 9 p.m. Monday through Friday. Older skaters will be allowed to skate until 10 p.m.

Skating will be allowed Saturday and Sunday afternoons and evenings weather permitting.

Credit Union to Hold Annual Meet At St. Mary's Hall

The third annual meeting of the Charlevoix Credit Union will be held next Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the St. Mary's school hall, Mrs. Al Scheid, treasurer has announced.

The agenda will include the election of officers, a guest speaker, entertainment, door prizes and refreshments.

In addition to the election of officers, two members will be elected to the board along with two committee chairmen. Members of the board whose terms expire are Dr. Gerald Gibbons and Rev. E. Francis Denay. Ralph S. Hamilton's term expires as chairman of the supervisory committee as does the term of Joseph Brun of the credit committee.

Guest speaker at the meeting will be Mr. Metro of the Cuna Mutual Insurance Co.

$400 Scholarship To Be Awarded by Electric Company

Boyne City — A $400 scholarship will be awarded to a 1960 high school graduate by the Top O'Michigan Rural Electric Co., Harlan E. Rubach, manager, announced this week.

Any senior residing or attending a high school in the area serviced by the company is eligible to apply. Counties served include Charlevoix, Antrim, Kalkaska, Emmet, Otsego, Crawford, Grand Traverse, Oscoda, Montmorency and Cheboygan. Mr. Rubach said.

Applications must be accompanied by a 1500 to 3200 word essay on the subject, "How rural electrification has affected living standards in rural areas." This material must be submitted on or before April 1, 1960.

The student receiving the scholarship does not necessarily have to be the best scholar in the class, Mr. Ruhack points out. The composition of the essay, knowledge of subject, financial need, character and scholastic standing will all be factors considered by the judges.

The board of directors have named Herbert Ruggles, William Parsons and Mr. Ruback to select an impartial panel of judges and to formulate final arrangements for the program.

Application forms and additional information are available from superintendents, high school principals, or direct from the Top O' Michigan Rural Electric Co. at Boyne City.

Name Officers And Committees For Girl Scouts

The annual meeting of the Charlevoix Girl Scout Council was held Monday evening at the City Hall.

The election of officers and the approval of recommended changes in the council by-laws highlighted the action at the meeting.

Officers are as follows: president, Mrs. Robert Bergmann; first vice president, Mrs. Ray Wood; second vice president, Mrs. Orlin Cunningham; secretary, Mrs. Lester Smith; treasurer, Mrs. Leonard Burns; registrar, Mrs. Gordon L. Freedman; program chairman, Mrs. James Gallagher; finance chairman, Mrs. Arnold Wadas; training chairman, Mrs. Lloyd Arnold; organization chairman, Mrs. Herbert Campbell; Juliette Lowe chairman, Mrs. Harry Stewart; publicity, Fran Martin and nominating membership committee, Mrs. Robert Pearl, Mrs. Max Novak, Mrs. Robert Yonkman and Mrs. Robert Richards.

The proposed changes in the by-laws resulted from the fact that the Council had to become incorporated after the purchase of property to be used as a camp site. It was recommended by the National Girl Scout Council that the following changes be made: that officers serve three year terms; that council hold three meetings each year with entire council present; that board of directors meet five times each year instead of every month and that quorum be established at eight members in order to facilitate the action proposed by the board. The recommended changes compiled by a committee composed of Mrs. Bergmann, Mrs. Arnold, Mrs. Cunningham, Mrs. Wood and Mrs. Gallagher were given unanimous approval.

Several new committees to handle camp site affairs were named. Chairmen of sub - committees of the general committee

Wm. Ratigan Is Kiwanis Speaker

Drawing upon his years of experience in the field of communications as he addressed Charlevoix Kiwanians last Monday evening, local author-teacher William Ratigan stressed the importance of accurate reception and transmission of information if our nation is to continue to give leadership in today's world.

He indicated that what we hear and how we understand it, what we say and how we are understood are the factors which will determine how well we will meet the problems and threats of this nuclearthermo age. He concluded that failure to communicate may well become failure to exist.

Two Injured in Car Collision

Two drivers escaped serious injuries when their cars collided at the intersection of the Norwood road and Carpenter ave. West.

The accident occurred about 5 p.m. Thursday when a car driven by Mrs. Ethel Bost, 44, going south on the Norwood road was struck by a second car driven by Herbert Chew, 28. The latter, going east on Carpenter drove out of the side road without stopping according to sheriff's officials who investigated.

Both were taken to the Charlevoix hospital for treatment of lacerations and bruises. Mr. Chew was discharged Saturday.

The condition of Mrs. Bost was said to be satisfactory by hospital attendants Wednesday.

Classes Offered For Adults by Local School

Registration for adult education classes to be offered by the Charlevoix public schools is now underway according to Supt. R. G. Bennett who said that classes would begin as soon as a minimum of students are enrolled.

Suggested classes include upholstering, car driving, welding, sewing, commercial subjects including typing, bookkeeping and related subjects, Spanish and any other subject which would attract a minimum of 12 students.

Persons interested in enrolling in these or any other class are asked to call the business office, LI 7-6583 to enroll and name their choice of subjects. Further information regarding the program may also be obtained by calling this number.

One class in Spanish has been meeting for several weeks. Another will be introduced if enough interest is shown, Mr. Bennett said.

Local Hospital Rates Lower Than National Average

Room rates at the Charlevoix hospital are slightly below the national average when compared with the report of a survey released this week by the Health Insurance Institute.

The Charlevoix hospital rate for a two-bed semi-private room is $15 per day as against rates that range from $9.29 to $27.80 a day in cities of 100,000 or more population. In cities of 25,000 or more population the range is from $8 to $32 a day. Rates at Little Traverse hospital, Petoskey, which also serves this section of northwest Michigan are $17.50 for a two-bed semi-private room.

The study was based on information supplied by the American Hospital association from a survey of hospitals throughout the United States conducted early in 1959.

The survey discloses that generally rates and charges were higher in the West, Northwest and North-Central sections of the country and lower in the south.

It is pointed out that the extent of the services available are reflected in the range of rates as is the cost of living in the local community.

Cities with hospitals offering lower rates than Charlevoix listed in the report, are Salt Lake City, Dallas, Texas, Louisville, New Orleans, Miami, Memphis, Atlanta, Tulsa and Montgomery with a low of $9.29.

Band Director To Attend Annual Mid-Year Meet

C. A. Odmark, music director in the Charlevoix schools, will be in Ann Arbor Friday and Saturday for the annual Midwestern conference for school music sponsored jointly by the Michigan Band and Orchestra Association, the Michigan School Vocal Association, Michigan Music Educators Association and the University of Michigan. The conference annually attracts 1,000 music educators from throughout the state.

Mr. Odmark will participate in a panel discussion on "Band Rehearsal Procedures" scheduled for Friday afternoon.

Mr. Odmark will be accompanied by Max Novak and Wilmer Moyer of the Petoskey public schools.

Elect Three New Members To CC Board

Results of the mail balloting to elect three directors to the board of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce were disclosed Tuesday evening when the ballots were opened and counted by the election committee. Winning places on the board in the order of the votes received are William Carey, Floyd Brown and Lee Moerland. They will replace Richard Fochtman, Franklin Boss and Robert Neff.

Other candidates were Kenneth Cellner, Glenn Kenney, Byron Wright and Robert Kenyon. All received substantial support in the voting. Write-in votes were received by Robert Livingston and Elmer Engelhart.

Organization meeting of the directors has been scheduled for Tuesday evening at the city hall, Secretary Manager Paul Kohler has announced. All meetings of the board of directors are open to members, it is pointed out by President Norman D. Ance.

Directors for 1960 are Elmer D. Hawley, Fay Davis, Harold M. Totten, Robert Lieberman, Max Hosmer, Norman D. Ance and the three newly elected members.

Industrial Corp. To Hold Annual Meeting Tuesday

The annual meeting of shareholders of common stock of the Charlevoix Development Corp., will be held next Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the city hall community room, Joseph Williams, secretary has announced.

Three directors will be elected for a term of three years and a financial report will be made by the secretary. Directors whose terms expire this year are S. E. Coleman, Clarence Rabach and Max Novak.

Bulletin

The Boyne City Citizen, one of Charlevoix county's oldest newspaper was sold this week by Mrs. Guy Baker to Greg Smith who has been associated with the publication for the past 14 years. This week's edition is published under the new ownership.

Mrs. Baker has carried on the publication of the Citizen since the death of her husband in 1949. Congratulations and best wishes to Greg in his new capacity as publisher and editor.

McSauba Ski Run May Open Soon

With the limited snowfall this week, the Mt. McSauba Ski slopes are expected to open this weekend for the first time this season, according to Bill Fochtman, president of the sponsoring organization.

The ski tow will be operated by the old gasoline engine, however, until the new electrically-operated tow motors can be installed. The new equipment was held up by the steel strike, according to Mr. Fochtman who said delivery was promised for this week.

Clifford Riley Resigns Post as Deputy City Clerk

The resignation of Clifford G. Riley as deputy city clerk effective Feb. 29 was accepted with regrets by the City Council at its regular meeting Monday night.

Mr. Riley, who has served in the position since May 1951, is resigning the post to accept a position with American Mold Engineering Corp.

The Lake Construction Company's bid in the amount of $1,129.20 for proposed work at the municipal light plant was accepted. Only other bid was submitted by Swanson Gravel and Construction Co.

The bid submitted by the Northern Auto Co. in the amount of $1,776.01 for a three-quarter ton pick-up truck for use by the street department was accepted. Other bids were submitted by Brown Motors and Charlevoix Oil.

Approval was also given a request for expenses so that Justice John Connolly would attend a Justices of the Peace Seminar at East Lansing Jan. 12 through 14.

Bills amounting to $12,928.63 were approved an dordered paid.

Youths Injured When Car Rolls Down Embankment

Margaret McCracken, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd McCracken, was in satisfactory condition at the Charlevoix hospital Wednesday, according to hospital attendants. She was admitted Saturday night for treatment of head injuries, lacerations and bruises suffered in a one-car accident on US-31 south in which five other young people from the Barnard-Norwood area escaped serious injury.

According to Sheriff Glenn E. Rose who investigated, the car driven by Roy Bolhuis, 14, in which Miss McCracken was a passenger was enroute to Charlevoix when it went out of control on the ice-covered highway, took out a guard rail, went over an embankment and rolled down a hill near the intersection of US-31 and the Norwood road. The accident occurred about 8:30 p.m.

Others in the car who were given first aid and released were the driver, Don Bolhuis, Susan Himebaugh, 14, Allan Bolhuis, 15; Doris McBride, 15; and Donald Kelly, 15.

The car was demolished.

College Buys Building Site

The purchase of a future site for the campus of North Central Michigan College in Petoskey has been announced by Dr. Dean C. Burns, president of the board of trustees. The property includes 71 acres in the north section of city near the present college building.

There are no immediate plans for building on the site. It is estimated the present building will serve for another five years.

North Central College opened in September with 168 students. A sophomore program will be added next year and an enrollment of 200 is expected.

Skiers Make Charlevoix Center for Winter Sports

More than 600 skiers from thruout the midwest visited Charlevoix in the 10-day holiday period from Christmas through the New Year's weekend.

The majority of these visitors were at the Weathervane lodge and in other housing arranged by the lodge manager, Ralph Gillam. The Indianapolis, Ind. Ski Club was placed in East Jordan.

As many as 125 skiers were lodged at the Weathervane facilities one night during the vacation period.

Guests at the lodge enjoyed coffee or hot chocolate upon arrival and on their return from the ski slopes, a continental breakfast every morning during their stay and ski movies and treats during the evening.

Among those visiting here over the holiday were guests from the Detroit area including Pontiac, Farmington and other cities in southeastern Michigan, Grand Rapids, Battle Creek, Kalamazoo, Muskegon and Jackson, Riverside and Grimsby Beach, Ont., Can., Chicago, Morton Grove, Park Ridge, Highland Park, Hinsdale, Lyons, Jacksonville, Wilmette, Shiller Park and Whiteford, Ill., Toledo and Cincinnati, Ohio, Indianapolis and Jeffersonville, Ind., Miami, Fla., Newton, Mass., and St. Louis, Mo. The Windy City Ski club was included in the group from metropolitan Chicago.

In the weeks ahead, groups and ski clubs from Loyola and Chicago, Ill., Cincinnati and Toledo, Ohio, Indianapolis, Ind., Detroit, Jackson, Saginaw, Battle Creek and Grand Rapids as well as other midwestern cities will stay at the lodge Mr. Gillam said.

Charge Employee of Weathervane Inn With Taking Funds

James Paterson, about 38, maitre d'hotel at the Weathervane Inn for the past six months, is being sought by state and local police on a charge of absconding with holiday receipts of the establishment. He is believed to have disappeared sometime Saturday accompanied by Norman "Spec" Gillispie, Gillispie is not believed to have been involved and no warrant has been issued for his apprehension.

The complaint charging Paterson with grand larceny was signed Monday by Paul J. J. Olsen, manager of the Inn. Mr. Olsen would give no statement as to the amount of money that may be missing. A grand larceny charge, however, indicates it is in excess of $100.

Following issuance of a warrant Monday for Paterson, State Police put out a state-wide broadcast for the apprehension of Paterson and his companion.

It is known that Paterson purchased a 1952 Cadillac Saturday at the Charlevoix Oil Co., according to Sheriff Glenn E. Rose. He is then believed to have left Charlevoix, accompanied by Gillispie, enroute to Florida. The two had not been located late Wednesday afternoon.

Sentence Youths At Session of Circuit Court

A Boyne City youth was sentenced to Southern Michigan prison, another was placed on probation and two other men arraigned during a special term of circuit court here Tuesday before Judge Charles L. Brown.

James Buchin, 19, of Boyne City who had pleaded guilty to two charges of breaking and entering in the nighttime, was sentenced on each charge two to 15 years in Southern Michigan prison with the sentences to run concurrently. Buchin had pleaded guilty earlier to breaking into the B & D gas station in Boyne City July 4 and taking more than $200 and the Hankey Lumber Co. in Boyne City Aug. 24 with intent to taking monies there. However, there was nothing in the safe at the lumber company office.

Donald W. Davison, 20, of Boyne City, who had pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny from a vacant building, was placed on two years probation and ordered to pay $500 in fines, costs and oversight fees. The amount was paid and he was released.

Charles Kenneth Ford, 18, of Boyne City, pleaded guilty to larceny from an automobile and his case referred to the probation department for investigation. He will be sentenced at a later date. He was arrested Dec. 16 and has been held in the county jail after failing to furnish $1,000 bond.

Lawrence N. Shananaquet, 22, of Petoskey, stood mute when charged with breaking and entering in the nighttime. A plea of not guilty was entered in his behalf by the court. He was remanded to the county jail and the bond of $2,500, as set by Justice John Connolly was continued. He is charged with breaking into the Bell restaurant April 5.

Pomona Grange To Discuss Offer Of Deer Lake Hall

Charlevoix County Pomona Grange will meet the evening of Jan. 16 at the Peninsula Grange Hall. Mrs. Helen Artesinger, secretary, has announced.

The proposal of the State Grange to transfer the Deer Lake Grange hall into a permanent meeting place for the Charlevoix County Pomona Grange will be considered at this meeting. In the past Pomona meetings have been held at the various community Grange halls in the county. Acceptance of the State Grange offer would give Pomona a permanent headquarters but it would also entail extra expense of maintaining the property and possibly the purchase of furnishings for the hall.

A pot luck lunch will be served following the meeting.

Local Skiers to Be Guests at Avalanche Tues.

A limited number of Charlevoix skiers have been invited to be the guests Tuesday evening from 7 to 10 of the Avalanche Ski Club at Boyne City, Greg Smith of the Boyne City Citizen announced, Wednesday. Due to limited capacity of the slopes only 50 free tickets will be available for the evening.

Tickets will be available at the office of the Courier Monday morning. They will be issued on the basis of first come, first served, and only one to a person. No tickets will be reserved by telephone calls or letters.

This will be the second year the Avalanche club has invited skiers from the neighboring communities to enjoy the facilities. A mix up in schedules occurred last year when Skiers from both Charlevoix and East Jordan arrived on the same evening resulting in an overcrowded condition. Mr. Smith says the situation will not reoccur this year.

He reports the two main slopes are in excellent condition and he assures the skiers an enjoyable evening.

Vandals Break Into Warehouse

Vandals gained entry to a warehouse at the Charlevoix Co-operative sometime over the New Year's weekend, according to State Police of the Petoskey post who investigated the break-in.

An inventory is presently being made to determine if anything was stolen. The vandals broke a padlock on the door to gain entry.

Adventures in Understanding

Notes from a northerner's diary

By Harold E. Kohn

Almost

These sub-freezing nights and days, when snow drifts almost unendingly through the cold blue silences, are critical times for our wild northern neighbors. Winter is the season of narrow margins of safety. These are the days when only five or ten degrees of temperature, a few extra feathers, a small surplus of fur, an additional bit of food and a little spare fat around the ribs mean much to the creatures of the North. Those that perish will die because they had almost, but not quite enough, warmth, food and stamina to bring them through the winter. The deer that will starve are those animals that are only slightly smaller than other members of the herd and cannot quite reach the browse that hangs tantalizing close, only an inch or two above their outstretched muzzles. Those that survive will greet the coming spring because they possess a little advantage in height and strength and have a small margin of reserves. We have entered the season of "the almosts," when the dying almost live and the living almost die.

The origin of much of the adventure and drama of life can be found in its narrow margins, its brinks, verges, and breathtaking almosts. Before authorities put a stop to the practice a few years ago, at least thirty-one people atempted death-defying stunts at Niagara Falls, trying to see how close they could come to death without being killed. Twenty sought to pass through the mighty rapids in small boats or by swimming, and four of these died. Two of the five who ventured over the falls sealed in barrels or rubber balls perished. Six attempted walking on a tight rope over the deep gorge, and one of these died. Those sensationalists were not seeking death, but aiming to come as close as possible to it, knowing that there is incomparable excitement for the participant and the spectators in a hairbreadth escape.

There are other hairbreadth escapes that are tragic rather than thrilling, depressing rather than exciting, and plentiful rather than rare. They are the narrow margins by which the best, rather than the worst, is missed. Here is a young man who goes into business and is almost a success —but not quite. He can nearly support his family, but not completely. He comes close to saving his self-respect but misses. Or here is a promising man with a little family. He has recently moved from a small community to the big city to practice his profession. Where he was raised and married he was well known and highly respected, but where he now lives he is lost in a world of crowds. Neglecting to establish himself in a fellowship of people whose high standards would lend support to his own, he soon finds himself tempted to desert the old, familiar moral values. He almost remains true to the high ideals of his youth; he nearly clings to an early decision that selfless service is better than mere money-making; he almost remains faithful to the woman he married — almost.

Some of life's greatest heartaches and most searing tragedies can be found in the "almost's." A carload of young people speed down a Michigan highway at 1 A. M. on a Saturday morning. The driver loses control of the car on slippery pavement, then almost regains control — but not quite, and four youngsters lose their lives when the car hurtles into a tree. A boy nearly passes his university examinations, but not quite. An adolescent girl is invited to participate in some devilishness that is beyond all rules of decency. But goodness, honor and self-respect are attractive to her, too. She almost decides to do the honorable thing. She nearly says "no" to evil enticements and "yes" to the call of the highest — almost but not quite. Somehow it wouldn't seem so bad if these people had missed being spared by a wide margin. But how disappointing to be almost saved from accident, almost acceptable at college, almost admirable and good and then to miss it —to miss ever so slightly.

If we fail at being what we ought to be and doing what we ought to do isn't our failure usually by a small margin? The spectacular failures are few. The slight failures are plentiful — the many people who almost win promotions, nearly become leaders, narrowly miss being saintly. The difference between the great achievers and the mediocre performers is small, but that little "edge" distinguishes between champion and all others. The world champion hundred-yard dash sprinter can run that distance only a few seconds faster than you can. The world's best high jumper can leap only a few inches higher than a local high school athlete. The man who wins the presidency of his country may receive only a few votes more than the opposition candidate. But how consequential the little differences can be!

In this world where narrow margins make wide differences how ought we to live? We must aim at the miximum kind of a life. The miserable are those who live by minimal standards, just inside the law, those who merely manage to hold their marriage together without ever making a real home of their house, and those whose spiritual exercises are not enough to make them strong but consist of an occasional nod in God's direction. Those who live abundantly do for their world far more than the law requires. They give more than the minimum. In their community they are not content to bear the name "citizen" when they have merely paid their taxes. They work for the general welfare beyond the call of duty. In marriage they do not insist "I will go half-way and that's all. Marriage is a fifty-fifty proposition." They behave as if marriage were a hundred-hundred proposition where each person is solely responsible for its success. And the welfare of their souls is nourished by more than a mere trickle of meditation and prayer. Their spiritual roots grow deep into inexhaustible supplies of gratitude, wonder, reverence, trust and peace, resulting in more than enough vitality and power for all their common days or any emergency life can offer.

The welfare of the spirit like that of the body rests mainly on having more health than is absolutely necessary. This is what we mean by resistance — reserves of health beyond the demands of ordinary everyday life. We are constantly pelted with germs from our environment, but probably more than 99 per cent of the germs that fall upon healthy humans die within the first ten minutes. What kills them? Health does. A healthy body simply does not meet the conditions on which most germs thrive. The best way to kill germs is to strengthen the organism upon which they attempt to grow.

So it is with temptations toward meanness, smallness in dealing with others or moral looseness. We invite trouble when we are minimal Christians, lukewarm and spiritually anemic. Evil thrives on the person who is nearly vital, almost healthy, — but not quite. But evil has little chance of success in the soul of one who is whole-hearted, utterly dedicated and spiritually healthy.

In the light of this necessity for maximal spiritual healthiness one can almost hear God speaking to us in the words of a romantic song of yesteryear, "Take good care of yourself: you belong to me!"

Voice of Our Readers ...

The Charlevoix Courier has been coming into my home for over 60 years and I cannot stop taking it now although I recognize few of the names mentioned in the news anymore. I believe it was called the Democrat, was it not, when first published? I remember Bridge st. was still unpaved and we had old wooden sidewalks and Fred Cartier came there shortly after we did.

We had an apartment on the second floor of the old Martha Ayers building (now torn down) and the picture of Charlevoix harbor with all the schooners tied up there with their sails drying was taken from our back porch. The Ferguson House (a hotel) stood where the dime store is (corner of Mason st. and Bridge) and Mrs. Elston's residence was where the Lakeview Hotel now stands. Park ave. was then Main

Beverly Barrow and Keith Mort Speak Vows in Church Ceremony

In a quiet ceremony solemnized on Saturday, December 26, Beverly Barrow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Barrow of Central Lake became the bride of Keith Mort, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Mort.

The Rev. Fred W. McNeil officiated at the double ring service at the First Methodist church in the presence of their immediate families.

For her wedding the bride selected a winter white jersey sheath dress fashioned with three-quarter length sleeves, a white feather hat and black accessories. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and red poinsettas.

Karen Barrow of Central Lake attended her sister as maid of honor. She wore a light blue sheath dress and black accessories. Her bouquet was of white carnations.

Jack Mort assisted his brother as best man.

Mrs. Barrow chose a brown silk dress and beige accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Mort, mother of the bridegroom, wore a deep blue paisley print dress and matching accessories. Their corsages were of pink roses.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the Rod and Gun club for more than 100 guests. Mrs. Steve Dainovice of Petoskey and Judy McConnell of Ellsworth, niece of the bride, assisted.

The couple is living at 202 Nicholls st.

The bride is a graduate of Central Lake high school and the Academy of Beauty in Traverse City. Mr. Mort, a graduate of the Charlevoix high school, is a veteran of four years in the U. S. Air Force.

Friends Honor Mrs. Sutton On 93rd Anniversary

Mrs. Emma Sutton was honored on her 93rd birthday anniversary Dec. 28, when a group of friends gathered at her home for the occasion

The party was interrupted with the surprise arrival of a floral bouquet sent by her granddaughter, Miss Shirley Turner of LaJolla, Calif.

Refreshments of ice cream and a cake decorated with red poinsettias was served by the hostesses, her daughter, Mrs. Fred Trimble, and granddaughter, Mrs. Carl Johnson.

It's tough going when an American business comes up with something new. The Russians invent it a week later, the Japanese make it cheaper and the tax collector does the rest.

Girl Scouts Name New Committees

to be known as the Existing Camp Committee follow: Camp rules and standards, Mrs. Lester Smith; Health and safety, Mrs. Robert Bergmann; Inside building administration, Mrs. Wood; Outside building administration, Mrs. Arnold and keeper of the keys and camp finances, Mrs. Gallagher.

Mrs. Bergmann announced that an oil heater donated by Mrs. James Shaw had been installed; water and other facilities at the property had been checked; a telephone, listed under Girl Scout camp until an official name is adopted, has been installed and 12 chairs donated by Christ Episcopal church.

Mr. Gallagher, program chairman, reported that more than 60 Brownie Scouts participated in caroling activities at holiday time. The troops met, were transported via school bus to the hospital where they sang Christmas carols for the patients and then were treated to hot chocolate and cookies by the superintendent, Miss Ann Baumgartner. This is one of the community projects in which the younger Scouts can participate.

IT WAS DEEPLY APPRECIATED

The many kindnesses shown me by Drs. Grate and Saltonstall, the nurses and nurses aids, as well as the flowers and cards sent to me during my recent illness at the Charlevoix Hospital by my neighbors and friends and staff of the Charlevoix Courier, were deeply appreciated.

Mrs. Fred Dittmer

CARD OF THANKS

Words cannot express our gratitude for the many acts of kindness shown us during our recent bereavement. To the men, who walked the beaches, to those who sailed their boats, to the pilots who flew their planes for many hours, to the Coast Guard, the Ministers for comforting words and to all the friends who sent food and gifts and offered prayers we extend our thanks. Mrs. Sterling Nickerson, Jr. and family, Mrs. Glen Roop and family, Mrs. Edith Roop, Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Nickersnn, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Max Nickerson and Mr. and Mrs. Quinton Nickerson. 3x

Mrs. Alfred Gill Named President By Past Matrons

Mrs. Alfred Gill was named president of the Past Matrons club at a meeting and Christmas party held Monday at the home of Miss Frances Durance.

Miss Durance was named vice president and Mrs. Floyd Ikens secretary-treasurer.

Members present exchanged gifts, revealed the names of secret pals, drew names for 1960 and enjoyed a social hour followed by refreshments.

Our increasing population may pose some problems but there's still be plenty of room for more honest, sincere, average people.

Rowley-Goss Vows Said Saturday at Saranac Church

The Saranac Community Church was the scene Saturday of the wedding of Helen Rowley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rowley of Saranac, and Pvt. Thomas A. Goss.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Goss of this city.

After a brief wedding trip to Charlevoix Pvt. Goss will leave late this week for Fort Hood, Tex. His bride will remain in Saranac until he completes his duties with the U. S. Army.

With the 310th

Editor's Note — With this issue we introduce our readers to Pfc. Harry Webster of the 310th Ordnance Co., U. S. Army Reserve, with headquarters in Charlevoix. Pfc. Webster, as public relations representative for the unit, consents to keep our readers informed of its activities and in interesting tidbits about the personnel.

Through this column we would like to bring you news of an organization which has been long active in the service of the community and the country. Some communities which have active members of the unit are not aware of the existance of an Army Reserve organization in the area.

Members of the 310th serve under two categories — career reservists and obligated reservists. As a unit, however, they train two hours each week and attend a designated army post for training two weeks each year with full pay and allowances.

The 310th Ordnanee Co. personnel now includes 20 reservists living within 30 miles of Charlevoix, the training center for the area. John N. Barkdoll commands the company. Other members of the unit are: Chief Warrant Officer Byron D. Stockwell, Sp. 5 Charles F. Bricker, Sp. 4 Nathaniel Herriman Jr., William F. Kerr, Lawrence P. Maner, William F. McClanaghan, Charles McDonald; Pfc. David A. Dutcher, Robert E. Geer, Norman L. Helms, Charles Hooker, Harold McClanaghan, Donald O'Brien, Ivan G. Parsons, Donald E. Reynolds, Donald E. Falting; Pvts. Robert E. Matthews, Clinton D. White; Recruit Leonard F. Hughes.

A regular army instructor, Master Sgt. Hedrick, was assigned to the unit in September. He reports there are now a number of openings in the 310th for young men who may wish to fulfill their military obligation if they live within 30 miles of Charlevoix.

He will be glad to furnish full details of the various proeedures. Interested young men should contact him at the 310th Ordnance Co. headquarters Monday evening.

Guild Notes...

A 'well done' to the Guild's holiday committee headed by Frances Milner who planned the beautiful Christmas decorations. Decorated trees in the lobby and solarium and garlands and Christmas lights outside did much to bring Christmas to those who had to be hospitalized over the holidays. The maintenance staff at the hospital also assisted in the project.

The Garden club was again responsible for the beautiful Christmas favors that patients found on their trays Christmas morning . . . Also on each tray was a gift provided by the Guild in an effort to make the day a brighter one for the patients . . . Gay little snowmen, each carrying a miniature banner announcing the arrival of 1960 were found on the trays on New Year's Day. These were made by Miss Milner and her holiday committee.

The next meeting of the Guild will be held at the hospital solarium at 8 p.m. Tuesday. A film designed to promote better public relations will be shown at the meeting. Mrs. Karl Schultz has urged that everyone resolve to take a more active part in promoting the good works of the Guild by attending the meetings and participating in the many projects conducted by the organization for the hospital.

- The Kiwanis Club of Charlevoix will be represented at the mid-winter state meeting by District Lieut. Gov. Ralph S. Hamilton, Pres. Edward J. Edwards, Secy. Jack Grubaugh, Barney Engelhart and Edward K. Shanahan. They plan to leavo Sunday for the two-day event at Flint.
- William Zeitler has returned to his classroom duties in Grand Rapids after spending the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Zeitler.

Rayders Dump Northmen After Trailing Throughout Contest

The Charlevoix Rayders returned to the basketball court Saturday night to defeat the Petoskey Northmen 47 to 40 in a traditional battle which saw the local five come from behind in the final period for the victory.

Starting for the Rayders were Joe Beaudoin and Jim Ladd, forwards; Dick VanRaaphorst, center and guards, Charles Coleman and Dave Schuchard. Stan Smith and Bud Balch were the only other players to see action.

The Northmen got off to a fast start and rolled up a 17 to 3 first period lead which was increased to 28 to 18 at halftime. As the game went into the second half the Rayders outscored their hosts 12 to 3 to cut the Northmen's third period advantage to one point, 31 to 30. Early in the final quarter the Rayders went ahead as they pumped in 17 points to nine for Petoskey for the victory.

Charlevoix outscored the Northmen 17 to 11 in the field goal department.

The Rayders scored only one field goal in the first period, a long shot by Schuchard, as they trailed 17 to 9 as the quarter ended. Coleman had three, Beaudoin two, Ladd and VanRaaphorst one charity shot each to account for the Rayder scoring. Petoskey had five field goals and seven gift shots.

In the second period the Rayders continued to trail as Petoskey scored four field goals and three free throws. Beaudoin scored two and Balch and Ladd one field goal each with Smith adding a free throw for Charlevoix's nine points as Petoskey maintained a 10-point 28 to 18 halftime lead.

Charlevoix caught fire as the second half got underway, outscoring Petoskey 12 to 3. Beaudoin and Smith had three each and VanRaaphorst, Coleman and Schuchard two points each on five field goals and two free throws as they trimmed the Petoskey lead to one point 31 to 30 as the game went into the final quarter.

Paced by Beaudoin with three field goals and Schuchard with two double-pointers and three singles, the Rayders had their best period, scoring a total of 17 points to nine for their opponents in the final quarter. VanRaaphorst and Balch each contributed a field goal to the score as Petoskey was held to two field goals and four free throws.

Little Rayder Dump Northmen 79-62

The Charlevoix Reserves rolled over the Petoskey J-V squad by a score of 79 to 62 in a game in which a total of 57 field goals were scored by both teams.

The little Rayders took an early lead and held on 18 to 14 at the quarter and 35 to 32 at halftime before breaking the game wide open in the last half for a 55 to 50 third period advantage. In the final period the young Rayders outscored their hosts 24 to 12 for the lop-sided victory.

Paced by Ink Martin with 27 and John Pearl with 26 points, Charlevoix scored 18 points in the first period including seven by Henry Wagner who had 15 for the game, five by George Majors, four by Pearl and two points by Martin for a total of eight field goals and two free throws. Petoskey had six field goals and two charity shots.

The Rayders were outscored 18 to 17 in the second quarter but remained ahead 35 to 32 at halftime after Martin and Pearl had each scored three field goals, Wagner two and Barry Pierce a free throw. Petoskey had seven field goals and four gift shots.

In the third period Pearl poured in four field goals, Martin three plus one free throw, Wagner two and Pierce a free throw for 20 points. Petoskey had seven field goals and four free throws as the period ended with Charlevoix ahead by five points, 55 to 50.

In the final period the Rayders scored 24 points to 12 for Petoskey despite the fact that they lost Wagner and Majors via the foul route. They were replaced by Corky Curtis and Jack Stewart.

Martin scored half the Rayders' points for the period on four field goals and the same number of gift shots followed closely by Pearl with three double-pointers and two free throws. Pierce and Stewart had one field goal apiece. Petosey scored three field goals and the remainder of their points from the free throw line.

Charlevoix had a total of 34 field goals including 12 by Pearl and 11 by Martin; 11 of 32 free throws and 20 personal fouls. Wagner had 15 points on seven field goals and a free throw; Majors had five, Pierce four and Stewart two points.

Jack Cilke paced Petoskey with 20 points as the little Northmen scored 23 field goals and 16 of 31 free throws while collecting 23 personal fouls.

Last Week With Class C

The eight teams of the Northern Michigan Class C league will launch a concentrated drive this week as they play the first games of their remaining 11 on Friday and Tuesday.

Friday will find East Jordan playing at Grayling, Gaylord invading Mancelona, Boyne City journeying to Pellston and Charlevoix hosting Harbor Springs.

On Tuesday Pellston will play at East Jordan, Charlevoix will travel to Gaylord, Boyne City will host Grayling and Harbor Springs will entertain Mancelona in the first game in the Rams new gymnasium.

The East Jordan-Grayling game should be a good one for it will pit two veteran-packed teams against each other. Grayling, however will have the edge because of Roger Hatfield and Frank Goss, both excellent ball handlers. The Red Devils may be able to counteract this, as did Charlevoix, by use of a more balanced team that can hawk the ball and tie the two major scorers up. If East Jordan can do this they might dump the Vikings who boast the tallest team in the loop.

Gaylord has the distinction of upsetting the defending champions, the Pellston Hornets, a team which soundly defeated Mancelona earlier in the season. If this is any recommendation then Gaylord should defeat the Ironmen with little trouble. Mancelona, however, is not to be counted out of the running. Coach Jim Mongeau said this week that it is doubtful if Bob Burnison will be able to play for some time. As a result the Blue Devils will not be too much of a threat to Mancelona who are strong, particularly on their home floor.

Because the Boyne City Ramblers upset Gaylord by a sizeable score before the Blue Devils dumped the Pellston Hornets, there is always the chance that the Ramblers could do a repeat performance and down the Hornets when the two teams clash this week. However, the Hornets seem to have gotten their bearings and should come up with a win when the teams meet Friday.

The league leading Charlevoix Rayders, fresh from a 47 to 40 win over Petoskey, should have no trouble with the cellar-dwellers, the Harbor Springs Rams when the latter plays here this week.

All eight teams of the loop will meet league rivals Tuesday in the second of six games to be played this month.

Pellston will play at East Jordan in a game that will headline the action Tuesday night. If both teams win this week this could be a 'toughie.' However, should the Red Devils drop their Friday game to Grayling the Hornets should come through with a win while hoping the Rayders will fall victim to Gaylord. Should this happen Pellston could get back into a first place tie.

Gaylord, on any given night, could be a real threat but without any veterans to spark the offense they seem to lack the punch necessary to a winning team. If Charlevoix continues their present pace and do not become overconfident, they should be able to handle the Blue Devils.

The Boyne City Ramblers, tho they try hard, will be no match for the strong Grayling outfit next Tuesday even though the Vikings should lose to East Jordan Friday.

Harbor Springs is scheduled to play their first game in their new gymnasium next week. The occasion may be spoiled by their opponents, the Mancelona Ironmen, who should win, hands down, though the Rams will be trying to make it a gala occasion by winning.

Steves Bar Wins First Half

For Steve's tonight, Ted Ager rolled a 201-569 series, followed by Ken Cellner's 538, Donk's 533 and O'Rile's 526 series and Bob Miller had a 482 series. Everyone got into the act by rolling high series for the first half of 2648. For Browe Electric Ted Browe said he was going to get 125 the last game and he did. He also led his boys with a 481 series. Bob Ouderkirk was dragging anchor with a 134-111-105—350 series. John and Bill had a bet on a 180 game but neither one made out.

MOONLIGHT rolled the second shift tonight. When they hit the alleys they knew they couldn't win, because Steve's took 4. We will have to give them credit—they didn't try to win, but came out on top with 3 points. Old Boss Jim led the parade with a 518 series, followed by Grov with a 505 series. L. V. dragged anchor with a 412 followed by "Doc" with a 415 series. How can you win 3 points with those anchors dragging? Freedman No. 1 was at the end of it. John Swanson tried with a 212-530 series. Jesse Penn had 419.

SWANSON GRAVEL could only win one point from Airport Inn, but still stayed in a tie for 3rd place. Airport Inn led by Don Kimbler, who must have blown a fuse with a 524 series followed by Al Anderson who was under his average and Des who was trying a "Don Carter Ball", still took 3. Swanson's Bob Ferguson had a 553 series followed by Stub's 393 series.

LAKE CONSTRUCTION could also only win one, but still tied Swanson for 3rd place in the first half. For Lake's, John Wojan had a 201-496 series followed by George Bergmann's 402 series. Freedman No. 2 had only 2 men over average but still won 3 points. Jack Niswander had a 469 series. Don Trowbridge had a 463 series. Lestoil dragged anchor with a 374 series.

NEFF GROCERY lined it up. They took three points from Puff's. Big was over average with a 509 series, so was the Boss, Gordon, with a 507 series. For Puff's Coach Terry Rice led the parade with a big 212,547 series followed by old Dad's 529 series.

NOW FOR THE last team, I mean the team who was last most of the first half, well they changed their ways. They are serving notice. They are starting up the ladder. I mean Central Drugs. They are now in 10th place and are just as proud of it as the team that took first. More power to you "fellows" it takes the will to win. Central Drugs took 3 points from United Farm even though Frank only rolled a 391 series. Al Bergmann had a nice 493 series followed by "Granpa Pete" with a 424 series. Mike had a 111 first game. United Farm couldn't get anyone going strong so had to settle with Ed's 487 series followed by D. Van Dreumel's 421 series.

AS THE BOWLING goes for the first half, I think I can speak for all. "We will try to be better next half. Let's all go all out to get our own BOWLING ALLEY HERE IN TOWN.

Independents At Petoskey

The Charlevoix Independents defeated Holiday House of Petoskey 58 to 45 in a game played Tuesday night at the Lincoln School gymnasium.

The local quintet, paced by Mike Black and Norm Helms with 12 points each, ran up a 31 to 16 halftime advantage before taking the Petoskey team in the Petoskey Independent league series. Dick Beels had 14 points for Petoskey.

The Charlevoix team will play Fochtman Motors of Petoskey on Jan. 14.

- Rev. Fred McNiel was guest speaker Tuesday at the noon luncheon of the Kiwanis Club of Petoskey.. Other members of the Charlevoix club attending were Fran Bird, Archie Livingston and Curt Burlin.

IOOF Wins First Round of Cribbage

The first round of the annual cribbage match between the Oddfellows and the Masons was played Monday evening at the Masonic Temple with the Oddfellows going into a 284 point lead. The second round will be played next Monday evening at the K. of P. hall.

Robert Mitchell led the scoring for the Oddfellows with 953 points. High point man for the Masons was Fred deCastro with 943 points.

- Susan and Jimmy Abfalter of Elk Rapids spent three days last week with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold M. Totten.

- Mrs. Frank Novotny and daughter, Sharon, accompanied by Mrs. Undrill Mitchell, were called to Newaygo last week by the illness of Mrs. Novotny's mother. They returned Sunday.

State Selective Service Inducts 5398 Men in '59

Michigan Selective Service draft boards continued to insure the strength of the nation's armed forces during 1959 by inducting 5,398 young men and encouraging the enlistment of 17,000 others according to Roman A. Dubas, chairman of local board No. 15 for Charlevoix county.

During 1959 the Charlevoix county board inducted 18 registrants in addition to deferring many others who met their military obligation by enlisting in ready reserve or National Guard units. An additional 20 men were processed for preinduction physical examination and more than one-third were found disqualified.

By the time the local board reaches registrants for induction currently at age 22, almost 50 percent have already voluntarily met their service obligation by enlisting in the service of their choice.

New registrants recorded by the local board during 1959 totaled 156. The board's total registration is now 2,160. All males not on active duty in the armed forces must register within five days after they become 18.

The local board is responsible for screening 202 men and women currently assigned to the Standby Reserve.

Uncompensated members of the Charlevoix county local board in addition to Mr. Dubas of East Jordan are Dan Gencit, secretary and C. D. Geiken of Charlevoix and T. R. D'Anjou of Boyne City.

Manager of the local board office located in the city hall is Mrs. Mary Bourgoin, who has been in charge of office administration since 1957.

Wm. G. Tumath, Life Resident of Ironton Succumbs

William G. Tumath, 88, lifelong resident of Ironton, died Tuesday at Grandvue hospital near East Jordan where he had been a patient for three years.

Funeral services were held at the Winchester funeral home Wednesday with the Rev. James P. Sherman officiating. Burial was in [illegible] cemetery.

Born at Ironton June 13, 1871 Mr. Tumath was married to the former Ella Guilds in 1912. They made their home at Ironton. He was a carpenter and farmer and for many years night watchman at the Chicago Club. Mrs. Tumath preceded him in death in 1950.

He is survived by a brother, Hugh, of Montana and several nieces and nephews.

Draft Board to Call Five County Men

Five Charlevoix county draft registrants will be called for induction next month to fill the county's February draft quota, Mrs. Mary Bourgoin, clerk of the board, has announced.

The men will be ordered to report Feb. 1. Those to be called will be named at a meeting of the board scheduled for next week.

Speakers to Report On Big Rock Plant

Representatives of the Consumers Power Co. will speak on the new atomic power plant to be constructed at Big Rock Point at the guest night meeting and potluck supper of the Dickens Study club to be held at Friendship hall of the First Congregational church at 6:30 p.m. Monday.

Ray Richardson and Robert Hilty of Traverse City and Harold Fredberg of Cheboygan will represent Consumers Power Co. at the dinner meeting.

Bride and Groom To Make Home At Greenville

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Duerr jr. will be at home at 307 West Washington ave. in Greenville after January 7 following a two weeks wedding trip to Florida.

The couple was married in the chapel of the First Methodist church in Greenville on Dec. 23 in the presence of their immediate families.

The bride is the former Anita J Clarke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs Harold A. Clarke. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Harold Duerr Sr of Carson City and the late Mr Duerr.

Winter Sports Writers Visit City

NORTH STAR LINES

Courier Photo

Newspaper, magazine and television feature writers from Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Michigan arrived in Charlevoix for a brief stop and refreshments at the new Weathervane Lodge. The group was on a two-day tour of the northwest Michigan winter sports area, sponsored by the West Michigan Tourist association. The visit to Charlevoix was arranged by Ralph Gillam, director of West Michigan Tourists and manager of Weathervane Lodge. Greeting the visitors in behalf of the Inn were Mr. and Mrs. Kit Carson and Earl A. Young.

Courier Photo

Aurey Strohpaul, secretary-manager of the West Michigan Tourist association, Max Hinkel, public relations representatives for the association, and Paul Kohler, secretary-manager of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce do a little confabbing in the lobby of the Weathervane Lodge during the winter sports writers recent visit in Charlevoix.

Winter sports writers, representing newspapers and other publications from Michigan, Ohio Indiana and Illinois, visited Charlevoix Saturday afternoon while on a 550 mile tour of western Michigan ski resorts sponsored by the West Michigan Resort and Tourist Association.

While here the writers were guests of the Weathervane Lodge managed by Ralph Gillam, a member of the WMRTA board of directors.

On hand to greet the visitors were Paul Kohler, secretary-manager of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce and other Chamber members, William Fochtman, president of the Mt. McSauba ski resort, and others interested in promoting Charlevoix as a winter resort.

After enjoying refreshments and a tour of lodge facilities and talks with local residents, the visitors stopped briefly at the Weathervane Inn where they were greeted by Paul Olsen, manager of the restaurant.

While here they were presented with literature promoting the community as both a summer and winter resort and gifts of maple syrup provided by the Chamber of Commerce, and the popular Hot Seat manufactured by Paul-Reed, Inc.

The group then proceeded to to Traverse City where they attended the winter carnival before going on to Manistee, last stop on the trip.

Beaver Island Civic Association Elects; Plan Year's Activities

St. James — Three new directors were named to the board of the Beaver Island Civic Association during the annual meeting held last week.

They are Mrs. Frank Nackerman, Mrs. John A. Gallagher and Vernon Fitzpatric who were elected to two year terms.

At the election of officers which followed, Archie LaFreniere was re-elected to head the organization for another year.

Other new officers are Mr. Fitzpatrick, vice president; Mrs. Dorothy McGregor, secretary, and Roger Carlisle, treasurer.

At the annual meeting a number of projects were discussed and dates set for several special events.

The dedication of the Historical Society Museum; the dedication of the new docking facility made possible through the joint effort of the Michigan Waterways Commission and St. James township and scheduled for the week of June 11 to 15.

Plans were made for the annual homecoming which was set to coincide with the 100th anniversary of Holy Cross church. This will be the weekend of August 12-14.

The possibility of a "Home for Christmas" movement for 1960 also came in for some discussion. It was suggested that families who ordinarily leave the island before Christmas remain here and have their children and their families come home for the holidays. This also would tie in with the church's 100th year program.

Other suggestions include plans for a joint meeting of St. James and Peaine township boards with representatives of the Charlevoix county road commission regarding road improvements; reactivate the farms as a means of increasing the permanent population; the Airport committee to work on selling lots of their property to raise funds for another runway and the construction of a hangar for rental to regular users of the airport.

Other suggestions include the purchase of fireworks for the Fourth of July picnics; improvement of bass refuge projects; seek to secure Font Lake as a duck breeding area; purchase a gas-powered siren to assist in locating lost persons or other emergencies; plan a winter sports program including coyote, rabbit and fox hunting via motorized toboggan; plan to drag the harbor at St. James as a means of increasing the perch fishing; street and road cleaning and weed control; construction of a launching site for small craft on the harbor and a public swimming beach on Sand Bay.

Committees to work on these proposed projects will be named later.

Petoskey Winter Festival to Begin This Weekend

Petoskey — The Petoskey Winter Festival starts this weekend with the Northern Michigan Championship Speed Skating races to be held on Saturday and Sunday.

On the following weekend, Jan. 23, the Festival moves to the "Big Six" ski areas around Petoskey — Boyne Mountain, Walloon Hills, Harbor Highlands, Nub's Nob, and Thunder Mountain — where various races and general skiing will be held.

On the next week, January 30, the Festival moves back to Petosey with the selection of the Petosey Winter Queen. The Petoskey Figure Skating Club will put on various exhibitions during the week. They are in costume and have been acclaimed one of the best in the Midwest.

Climaxing the Petosey Winter Festiva this year will be the selection of the Michigan Winter Queen on February 6 at the Petoskey High School gymnasium during the Winter Sports Ball to be held that evening.

Any girl that is a resident of the state of Michigan, between the ages of 16 and 25, single, and is sponsored by an organization is eligible to enter the Michigan Winter Queen Contest. Entry blanks have been mailed to most Chambers of Commerce throughout the state, and either your local Chamber of Commerce or the Petoskey Regional Chamber of Commerce may be contacted for entry blanks or further information.

It is fortunate that other areas having less elaborate but similar events have seen fit to leave the weekend of February 8 unconflicted.

Charlevoix Girl Wins County Pie Baking Contest

For the second consecutive year, local participants in the Charlevoix county cherry pie baking contest have brought honors to the Charlevoix high school.

This year it was 15-year-old sophomore, Donna Berg, who placed first in the county contest held at East Jordan Tuesday under the direction of the county home agent, Mrs. Clare Brown. Marion Kay Richardson was the 1959 winner.

Donna will now go to Grand Rapids Jan. 28 and 29 to participate in the state contest where she will compete against representatives from all Michigan counties for the honor of representing Michigan in the national contest in Chicago next month. Mrs. C. A. Odmark, local homemaking instructor, will accompany her to Grand Rapids.

Donna and Jeanette Novak represented the Charlevoix schools in the county contest in which six contestants from the three major schools in the county participated. Judges were Mrs. Max Damoth and Mrs. Orrin Parks. Sheri Sinclair of East Jordan placed second and Marilyn Callard of Boyne City third in the county contest.

Following the 'bake-off,' the contestants were guests of the East Jordan Rotary club at the organization's weekly luncheon. Winners were then announced and presented with checks of $15, $10 and $5.00 by Jack Rader of the East Jordan Canning Co. which joined with the National Red Cherry institute and the Michigan Cherry Growers Association in sponsoring the contest.

Donna, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Berg, and Jeanette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Novak, won the local cherry pie baking contest here last Thursday. Other contestants were Glenda White and Ann Martin, both seniors.

Judges were Mrs. Jack Rader, Mrs. Paul Kohler and Mrs. Robert Lieberman.

Freezing Rain Closes Schools

Rain and freezing temperatures early Tuesday covered northern Michigan highways with ice, forcing the closing of all Charlevoix county schools for the day.

Charlevoix county road commission crews, out since 5 a.m., kept main trunklines and county roads open to traffic but township roads were too icy for buses to travel so all schools were closing.

Continuing rains and temperatures in the mid-30's later in the day cleared the roads of most ice.

Though the roads were slippery in spots, all buses in the county made their regular rounds without incident Wednesday as schools were re-opened.

The hazardous driving conditions existed throughout most of the state with the exception of the Detroit-Monroe area. East central Michigan was hardest hit by the storm. Grayling schools were still closed Wednesday.

Petition Asks Referendum on Zoning Change

The Charlevoix township board at a regular meeting Tuesday evening set Tuesday, Feb. 23 as the date for a public referendum on the amendment to the township zoning ordinance recently approved by the board.

Four amendments to the zoning ordinance, recommended by the zoning board, were approved by a four to one vote at a meeting of the township board Dec. 7, following a public hearing. The only disenting vote came from Henry Stephan. His opposition to the amendment was renewed Saturday when he presented a petition signed by 31 residents of the township to the township clerk, objecting to the amendment and requesting a public referendum.

The amendments as approved by the township board provide for size of lots on which building may be erected in the commercial zones; stipulate distances buildings must be set back from right of ways; and providing adequate driveway space at the side of buildings abutting each other.

The amendments as approved by the township board were also approved by the County Co-ordinating Zoning committee and would have become effective 30 days after publication of the changes on Dec. 17.

Wrecker Truck Operator Injured In Freak Accident

Leon Pease, 31, owner of the Zephyr Service Station, was reported in satisfactory condition at the Charlevoix hospital Wednesday by hospital attendants Wednesday.

He was admitted to the hospital early Tuesday morning for treatment of a fractured lower right leg and shock after he was injured in a freak accident while answering a call for assistance by a stranded motorist.

Funeral Services Held Saturday for Frederick Bellinger

Frederick G. Bellinger, 76, East Jordan jeweler and a native of Charlevoix, died Thursday at Grandvue hospital near East Jordan where he had been a patient for six weeks.

Funeral services were held Saturday at the Winchester Funeral Home here with the Rev. Fred W. McNeil officiating. Burial was in Brookside cemetery.

Born in Charlevoix Jan. 28, 1883, Mr. Bellinger at one time operated a jewelry shop here. Later he lived in California. In recent years he has lived in East Jordan where he continued to follow the jewelry business. His wife, the former Bessie Willis, preceded him in death in June 1958.

Surviving are two sons, F. G. Bellinger of Marshall, Tex., and Adrian Bellinger of Bakersfield, Calif.; a daughter, Mrs. Benita Grimbowski of Springfield, Mass., a brother, William R. Bellinger of Charlevoix and two sisters, Mrs. Martha Dutton of West Branch and Mrs. Frank Schuler of Muskegon.

Avalanche Offers Special Ski Class To Local Students

The Avalanche Ski club at Boyne City this week inaugerated regular skiing classes for men, women and children. Private and semi-privato classes will also be offered by the two skiing instructors at the slopes.

A special class for Charlevoix school students will be offered each Saturday at 1:15 p.m. There will he a special class for men at 8 p.m., Wednesdays and a ladies' class at 8 p.m. Thursdays.

Avalanche is considered by many as one of the best night skiing slopes in the state. It is equipped with a Pomalif and a rope tow.

Tickets issued at the Charlevoix Courier for Charlevoix guest night at the Avalanche ski run will be honored next Tuesday evening.

Industrial Corp. Elects Directors

Three directors of the Charlevoix Development corporation were re-elected for a three year term at the annual stockholders meeting Tuesday evening. Re-electer are S. E. Coleman, Clarence Rabach and Max Novak.

Ralph Hess Sr. was re-elected president of the hoard at the meeting of directors following the stockholders meeting. Other officers elected were Harold M. Totten, vice president; Archie Livingston, treasurer; Joseph R. Williams, scretary.

'Fran' Dolliver Succumbs After Long Illness

Mrs. J. Clark Dolliver, 43, wife of the former owner and publisher of the Charlevoix Courier, died late Friday at Battle Creek where she had lived since leaving here in October 1957. "Fran", as she was affectionately known by her many friends, endured failing health before returning to her native city of Battle Creek in October 1957.

Funeral services were held Monday at the First Congregational church with Dr. Carlton Brooks Miller officiating. Burial was in Oak Hill cemetery.

Born in Battle Creek April 2, 1916, the former Frances Turner was graduated from the Battle Creek high school in 1934. She attended Stephens College and later was graduated from the Chicago Art Academy. Readers of the Courier will remember her interesting column, "Girlie Gigs," and her fascinating pen sketches appearing occasionally. She was more widely recognized, however, for her portraits in pastel and work with other art media.

She was married to Mr. Dolliver on Oct. 22, 1938, at Battle Creek where she was a member of the Junior League, the Order of Eastern Star and the Congregational church.

The couple left Battle Creek in 1940 and lived in several Michigan cities before going to Morehead, Minn., where Mr. Dolliver published a daily newspaper before coming here in January 1951 to publish the Charlevoix Courier. While here Mrs. Dolliver was a member of the Congregational church and its Mary Brewster circle, the Dickens Club and the Women's Guild of the Charlevoix hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Dolliver returned to Battle Creek in 1957.

Besides her husband, she is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard R. Turner of Battle Creek; two sisters and a brother.

Rayders Romp to 64-33 Win Over Gaylord Cagers

The Charlevoix Rayders continued along the victory trail Tuesday night by dumping the Gaylord Blue Devils 64 to 33 in a game which saw the Charlevoix five well in command all the way.

Paced by Dave Schuchard with 18 points, the Rayders romped into a 16 to 6 first period lead, increased it to 31 to 16 at halftime and 47 to 23 at the three-quarter mark before coasting to an easy victory as Coach Don Carey emptied the bench.

Joe Beaudoin had 11 points; Jim Ladd 10, Sam Supernaw seven, Dick VanRaaphorst, the fifth member of the starting line-up, and Charles Coleman, five points each. Ralph Brock got into the scoring column with four points and Jim Dennis and Stan Smith had two points each.

Bud Balch, Bruce Pease, Don Nowland, Terry DeYoung, Tom Martin and Perry Smith also saw action.

Roy Wolf with nine points was top scorer for Gaylord. He was followed by John Johnston and Terry Cremeans with eight points each, Terry Cremeans with five, Bob Noirot with two and Dave Raad with one.

In the only other game played in the Northern Michigan Class C league Tuesday night, Mancelona defeated Harbor Springs 55 to 40. In the second game, Charlevoix dumped Gaylord 64 to 33.

Two other games, the Boyne City-Grayling meeting and the East Jordan-Pellston bout, were postponed until later dates after icy road conditions made it impractical to stage the games.

Hawley Named CC President By Directors

E. D. Hawley was elected president of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce at the organization meeting with the new directors Monday evening. He will succeed Norman D. Ance. Other officers are Fay Davis, first vice president; William Carey, second vice president and Lee Moerland, treasurer.

The resignation of Floyd Brown who was elected a director at the recent election was accepted by the board and Glenn Kenney of the Kit Carson Lumber Co. was named to serve the three year term.

Paul Kohler, secretary-manager was authorized by the directors to establish a temporary office in the Brown Motors building across the street from the Chamber of Commerce building in east park. The temporary office will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily, Mr. Kohler said. He will be assisted in maintaining these office hours by Mrs. Kohler who served as an assistant secretary in the office for a time last summer.

It was considered impractical to attempt to heat the permanent office during the cold weather without first winterizing the building and installing an adequate heating system.

Mr. Kohler plans to be settled in the new office within the next few days thus making the service of the Chamber available at all times.

Mrs. F. Novotny's Mother Succumbs

Mrs. Frank Novotny was called to Newaygo Tuesday by the death of her mother, Mrs. Vesta Moore. She was accompanied by her daughter, Sharon, and Mrs. Moore's sister, Mrs. Undrill Mitchell.

Funeral service will be held today (Thursday) at Newaygo. The body will be brought to Charlevoix for interment in Brookside cemetery.

Power Squadron Classes to Start

A film illustrating the latest methods of applying artificial respiration will be shown Thursday evening at the first meeting of the U. S. Power Squadron to be held in the city hall at 7:30 p.m.

This will be the first class meeting in a series of navigation instruction sponsored by the Charlevoix Marine club. Instructors for the classes will be John Treadwell and Fred Barnet of the Traverse City Power Squadron.

Persons interested in taking the course of instruction are invited to attend the Thursday meeting. Further information may be obtained from Phil Lawrence at the Fairport.

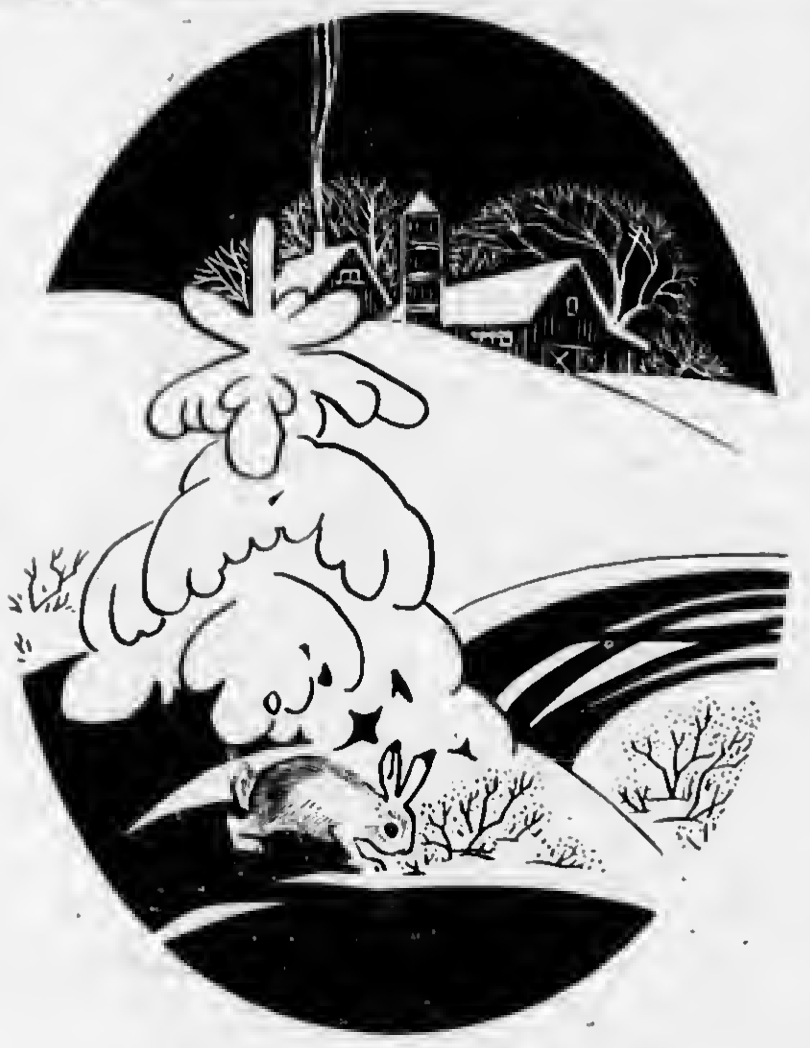
Adventures in Understanding

Notes from a northerner's diary

By Harold E. Kohn



Alert, But Not Anxious

Although the wild creatures of forest and field live dangerously, they seem never to worry. They know sudden fear, but escape chronic dread and prolonged, fretful anxiety. Yonder rabbit, peacefully browsing on low shrubs within hearing of man's night-barking hounds, experienced brief terror this very evening when a predaceous, rabbit-hungry, great-horned owl on muffled wings sailed over his snowladen balsam concealment. But the panic of the hour now past will not haunt him through the night, biting at his consciousness, gnawing on is memories and bleeding off all contentment thru unhealed wounds of mind and spirit. The rabbit soon hops from hiding, trusts his keen senses to warn him of danger and, alert but unanxious, browses on weeds and shrubs and lends to such night business as rabbits were made to pursue.

When dawn ties back the curtains of the night and the wild birds of the North arouse from slumber they will not begin the day chained to ugly recollections of yesterday's alarms. Yesterday the blue jay scolded his enemy, the skulking fox, until he was out of sight and then dismissed him from memory. Should another fox steal into that blue jay's view today he will get individual attention and his own share of blue jay invective and rebuke, "but sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof." Yesterday's fox problems are kept separate from today's, and there is little carryover of past qualms.

A chickadee's song is stilled at sight of a prowling cat, but when the slinking predator has crept on, the chickadee again chants his paeans of praise as if the coming of a new moment had wiped his world clean of fear.

The creatures of the wild make practical use of fear. When alarmed they take flight, or stand up and fight, and then when fear has served its intended purpose they dismiss it until it is needed again. To our lowly furred and feathered brethren fear is a servant, not a master. Worry is fear that comes to stay and to be served. Our animal kin will have none of that. A Chicago medical researcher specializing in investigation of the causes and cures of ulcers has reported that he has been forced to abandon the use of dogs in his experiments. The obstinate creatures refuse to worry, and worry creates ulcers and keeps them active. Although an ulcer can be inflicted on a dog by artificial means, he will then sit down and cure himself by refusing to be fretful about anything. A dog has its fears but no worries.

How can we handle our fears so that they serve rather than master us?

1—For one thing we can recognize that there is a real and tremendous difference between fear that lapses into fretfulness and fear that is expressed in constructive concern. Fretfulness weakens thought and will. Concern sharpens thinking, develops ideas and plans, and strengthens purpose. Worry about your neighbor's welfare distresses you while doing him no good. Concern means caring enough to help, placing your spiritual and material resources at his service.

* Worry about your health means sleepless nights and dread that devours peace and energy. Concern means engaging in well recognized health practices while getting th best diagnosis and treatment available.

* Worry about the state of world affairs means living under a cloud of foreboding of doom. Concern means being well-informed and prayerful, and becoming the kind of person whose conduct could be universal and the world would be better for it. The world needs much less worry and much more dedicated concern.

2—Let your response to fear be that of squarely facing problems rather than running from them. Flight is "for the birds," and running is for rabbits. Be a man. Take a stand, God being your Helper. Our faith makes no promise that we can escape trouble. High religion expects problems — great ones — but without dread, and for good reason. "Yea though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will far no evil: for thou art with me." Awareness of God's nearness and His care makes the difference between worry and acceptance, between victim and victor.

John Wesley one time said "I dare no more fret than I dare curse and swear." Of course! While cursing may seem to belittle God, fretfulness is emotional atheism. It means feeling and acting as if we were alone in the world, with the reins of a runaway destiny in our own feeble, trembling hands. Fretfulness is the spirit's denial of what the mind affirms — that there is a God, and that He is in control.

Trust is the emotions' agreement with the mind's affirmation — "This is my Father's World."

About This Question

"I saw a chart which showed that a home costing $6,000 in 1941 would cost $19,000 to replace in 1958. Household goods costing $3,000 in 1941 would cost $6,600 to replace in 1958. Should fire insurance values be checked at renewal time to be sure of full value coverage to avoid a disastrous loss?"

Mrs. Hamlin in Music Recital At N M College

Mrs. Herbert Hamlin, the former Joyce Fiedler, a music major at Northern Michigan College in Marquette, was among three students to present their student recital at the college Wednesday evening.

Every student majoring in music is required to give a recital on their major instrument to be eligible for a degree.

She presented four piano numbers, Beetheven Sonata Op. 2, No. 1; Debussy's La Fille aux Cheveux de lin (The Maiden with the Flaxen Hair); Lavallee's Le Papillon (The Butterfly) and Chopin Polonaise Op. 26, No. 1. The program was concluded with a piano duet, Francis Poulenc's Sonata for Four Hands, The Final, played with another piano major. The third student who participated in the concert was a bass player.

Mrs. Hamlin will return to Albion at the close of the present semester and complete work on her degree with a correspondence course. She will then be graduated in June.

A graduate of the Charlevoix high school, she was a pupil of Mrs. Gwendolyn Henner Wexstaff when in school here. At Northern she has studied under Dr. Harold Wright. In addition to her work at Northern, she has taken summer courses at Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo.

Mrs. Hamlin-is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Fiedler.

Officers Elected By Altar Society

Mrs. Emerald LaBlance was named president of St. Mary's Rosary Altar Society at the regular meeting held Thursday evening at St. Mary's school hall.

Other new officers are: vice president, Mrs. Charles Wells; secretary, Mrs. Robert Miller and treasurer, Mrs. George LaBlance.

At the social hour which followed the business meeting, Mrs. Herbert Campbell and Mrs. Ivan Phillips served refreshments.

Report Marriages Drop and Divorces Higher in County

Statistics compiled by Fenton R. Bulow, county clerk reveal that fewer marriage licenses were issued in 1959 than in the previous year but that more divorces were started and granted last year then in the year before.

The figures also show that there were fewer births but more deaths in 1959 than in '58.

According to the figures released this week, 87 marriage licenses were issued in 1959 or 28 fewer than in '58 when 115 licenses were issued.

While fewer people were getting married, more couples were seeking divorces. For instance, 49 were started and 32 granted last year as compared with 28 started and 19 granted in 1958.

The birth rate also was down with 185 babies born in the county in '59 or 51 fewer then the year before when 236 were born.

The death rate was up last year with 166 deaths recorded or three more than in 1958 when the 163 deaths recorded included the 33 men lost in the sinking of the steamer Carl D. Bradley in a storm on Lake Michigan off Gull island Nov. 18, 1957.

SUNDEW REPORTS

The Sundew got underway Tuesday, Dec. 29, for the Straits area to complete the removal of the Mackinac Bridge buoys. Arrived abreast the Mackinac Bridge lighted gang buoy and withdrew it for the season. Continued under the bridge and withdrew Bridge lighted bell buoy No. 3 for the season. On completion of withdrawal of the bridge buoys, underway for Mackinaw City to unload buoys. On arrival we moored port side to Michigan State Ferry Dock and commenced unloading buoys.

Underway early Wednesday for Coast Guard base at Sault Ste. Marie. Enroute withdrew Crab Island shoal buoy, and placed a winter marker at the station. Entered St. Mary's river and continued to CG Base Soo, mooring port side to the base.

The CGC Naugatuck (WYT 92) moored starboard to us. The Naugatuck is the tug now based at the Soo after being in Seattle, Wash. She assists the Cherry and the Tamarack.

As soon as we unloaded all aids to navigation equipment and the 25 ft. CG boat we departed for Mackinac Island where we moored port side to the Union Terminal dock.

Underway Thursday enroute Round Island Passage, withdrew lighted buoy for the season and placed winter marker on station. Next we removed Round Island Shoal lighted buoy No. 5 and a winter marker put down. This completed the removal of all our buoys for the season.

We passed under the bridge at 1:30 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 31, and moored port side to CG moorings.

SUNDEW SCUTTLEBUTT . . .

The Sundew logged a total of 12,350 miles for 1960 . . . Quite a record . . . The Sundew is now attached to Chicago Task Group Pipeline. All sailing orders will come from the Chicago Group unless otherwise instructed by the district office in Cleveland. Richard Kratz SA and Richard LeLievre, SA departed Thursday for Groton, Conn., and Aids to Navigation school. It is a four weeks school which will serve to familiarize them with the different types of aids now in use on the lakes and other waters of the U. S. Ens. Harvey R. Litle has reported aboard from CG Reserve Training Center, Yorktown, Va. He will replace LTJG Donald E. Poppen who is being transferred to the District office. Ens. Little hails from Monroe County, Pa. Welcome aboard, Mr. Little. The ship's New Year's party was held at the VFW hall. Members of the Sundew crew as well as those from the lifeboat station and Group office and their guests attended. A good time was had by everyone as 1960 was ushered in. Garabed Arslanian has just returned from the Charlevoix hospital after a two-weeks bout with pneumonia. Anton Kubetz CS3 departed for Charlevoix hospital for in-patient care. We have been informed he is doing fine and will return in a couple days.

Justice Court News

Betty Ann Seamon, 18, and Frances Ellen Andrews, 17, both of Harbor Springs, waived examination on a charge of breaking and entering in the nighttime and were bound over to the March term of circuit court. They were returned to the county jail after failing to furnish bonds of $2,500 each. Later the Andrews girl's bond was waived and she was released to the custody of her mother in Harbor Springs. Summons were issued by the State Police.

The pair is charged with breaking and entering the former Bell restaurant, now known as Jacobs restaurant in Boyne Falls the night of April 5 in company with Lawrence N. Shananaquet, 22, of Petoskey and two other Petoskey youths now being held in Newaygo county.

Marie Sands, 27, of Alpena, charged with being drunk and disorderly for the third time, was ordered to pay $4.90 costs and was sentenced to the county jail for no more than 90 days with release to be granted if she returns to her home in Alpena. Summons was issued by the City Police.

Samuel J. Persons, 25, of East Jordan, charged with driving while under the influence of an intoxicating liquor, was ordered to pay $100 fine, $5.40 costs and to make restitution. Summons was issued by the sheriff's department.

Burton Heights Moving and Transfer Co. of Grand Rapids, charged with the violation of three Michigan Public Service Commission acts by the commission, was ordered to pay fines of $10 and costs of $4.50 on each of the three violations.

Mrs. June E. Heise, 41, charged with driving without an operator's license, was ordered to pay $5.00 fine and $4.30 costs. Summons was issued by the City Police.

Rev. Donn Doten Guest Speaker At PTA Meeting

The Rev. Donn Doten of the Central Methodist church in Traverse City was the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the PTA held Wednesday at the high school band room.

He selected as his topic "Sharing the fun of poetry and how to enjoy it more."

He also suggested ways to present literature to people, especially those who do not like it.

He went on to say that it is better to have a few good pieces of art, books, etc., than many pieces of poor quality; that one should explore the depth of good literature and poetry by repetition for more can be found this way; poems, especially, can be interpreted in many different ways, a fact he illustrated by reading a Carl Sandburg poem in different ways.

He added that poetry and literature are 'discovered,' not taught; that reading aloud helps everyone appreciate literature more; that there should be more listening time' in the school program and that one must search for literature or poetry to suit the individual taste. This is true, especially, in children where one must reach him through his interests.

He concluded by saying that drama was fun to read with use of actions or properties.

The Rev. Mr. Doten illustrated his talk with works by Sandburg, Eizabth Coatsworth, Vachel Lindsay, Ward, and others.

At the brief business meeting, it was announced that the program study group would meet at the high school at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday to discuss high school curriculum; that the PTA regional conference would be held at Traverse City and that the local chapter would pay the registration fee so that interested persons could attend; that the PTA Fair would be held Feb. 20 and that everyone will be needed to help; that the organization now has 238 members and that Mrs. Richards' fifth grade won the banner and the $10.00 award for the highest percentage PTA membership.

Ruth Ann Smith Honored at Shower

Ruth Ann Smith, whose marriage to Gary Stiff of Bellaire will be an event of Jan. 22 was guest of honor at a bridal shower given Monday evening at the Barnard Grange hall by Mrs. Sam Campbell, Mrs. Howard Campbell and Mrs. Orville Hilton.

Forty-three guests enjoyed games, a skit, "Marriage Surgery" presented by Mrs. Clarence Murray, Mrs. Cass Russell and Mrs. Campbell Sr., and refreshments served at a table decorated with a bride doll under a canopy of blue and white streamers and wedding bells.

She was presented with a variety of lovely gifts.

See New Trend In Furniture At Winter Mart

The trend in furniture design leans toward Danish modern and colonial at the Grand Rapids and Chicago winter furniture markets, reports Ralph Hess Jr., who, accompanied by Joe Zhart and Jerry Whitley returned last week from a buying trip to the two winter furniture markets.

Over-all picture on price trends average about with last year, according to Mr. Hess. There has been a small lowering of prices in some line while there is a small increase in others.

Keeping pace with the trends, Hess Furniture will be displaying a completely new line of the Danish modern and enlarge its showing of colonial designs. Other new stocks will include notty pine furnishings designed particularly for casual furnishings.

Plans are underway to enlarge the drapery department in the local store, Mr. Hess said, along with a larger lamp shade department.

With the enlargement of the drapery department the store will be able to display one of the largest offering of draperies in northern Michigan. The new showing will include cottage, cafe and living room curtains along with a wide choice of ready-made draperies.

Mrs. Maynard Corlett Former Resident Dies in Florida

News of the death of a former resident, Mrs. Maynard Corlett, 98 in Nampa, Ida., Wednesday, Jan. 6, has been received by her daughter, Mrs. D. H. Wood, and her brother, Bert Beaudoin, both of this city.

Mrs. Corlett was well known in Charlevoix, having lived with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Wood, for 25 years beginning in the 1920s. Later she returned here for extended visits. In recent years she had lived in Nampa with her daughter, Miss Margaret Corlett.

Mrs. Corlett, the former Nellie Beaudoin, was born on Beaver Island Dec. 10, 1861, Following her marriage to Mr. Corlett she lived in Cheboygan. Mr. Corlette who sailed the Great Lakes and who was captain of the old Greys' Reef lightship for 18 years preceded her in death as did three of her eight children.

She was a member of the Episcopal church.

Despite her advanced age and limited activity she enjoyed a family gathering on the occasion of her ninety-eighth birthday anniversary last month.

Surviving are two sons, Maynard C. Corlett of Boise, Ida., and Dan Corlett of Cheboygan; three daughter, Mrs. L. F. Myers and Miss Margaret orlett of Nampa, Ida., and Mrs. Wood of this city and one brother, Mr. Beaudoin, also of Charlevoix.

Funeral services and burial were in Nampa Monday.

Mrs. Roscoe Smith Died Tuesday at Age of 96 Years

Mrs. Roscoe Smith, 96, who has lived at 411 Prospect ave. since moving here from Detroit in 1950, died Tuesday at the Charlevoix hospital where she had been a patient for 2½ weeks.

Funeral services will be held at the Winchester Funeral Home at 2 p.m. Thursday with the George L. Majors officiating. Burial will be in Brookside cemetery.

Born in Turbotville, Pa., June 30, 1863, the former Alice Phillips was married to Mr. Smith at Fremont, Ohio, in 1902. They lived in Bellevue, Ohio, where he was a postal clerk until he retired. They made their home in Detroit for 10 years before moving to Charlevoix in 1950.

She was a member of the Evangelicical Reformed church in Bellevue, Ohio.

She is survived by her husband and one son, Norman Menges, also of Charlevoix.

If advice is all you want, you can get it at no cost and no hidden tax.

In 1869, this stagecoach ran between Kalamazoo and Grand Rapids. The journey was rough, dusty and tiring, but it was the best means of transportation available. In 1885, another historical event came to pass: the founding of Hastings Mutual Insurance Co., then known as Michigan Mutual Windstorm Ins. Co. Unlike the stagecoach, Hastings Mutual endures and continues to serve the best interests of Michigan farmers.

by LES JOHNSON, Manager

"WILL YOU ASK YOUR MOTHER to call me when she comes in?" said the voice to six-year-old Johnny, who had answered the phone. "My number is Capitol 2-1853."

"All right," said Johnny. "I'll get a pencil and write it down."

There was a long, long pause.

"Are you there, Johnny?" the caller finally asked.

"Yes," came Johnny's troubled voice. "But I'm sorry . . . I don't know how to make a capital two."

REMEMBER HOW GOOD it felt when you were in school and got to see a movie during class time? It was almost like going to a "show." Youngsters who are in school today will be getting that feeling more often, thanks to educational TV. But instead of seeing a western or their favorite mystery, the kids may be watching a play by Shakespeare or seeing how an atom behaves. Educational TV, which uses telephone facilities to transmit the programs into the schools, has proven to be a valuable teaching aid.

ALEXANDER GRAHAM BELL MADE IT in 1950. The Hall of Fame, that is—a tribute to our nation's immortals. Because time and memory are fleeting, it might be interesting for you to see how familiar you are with these Americans who are also in the Hall of Fame. See if you can match their names with their professions:

1. Horace Mann	A. author
2. Sidney Lanier	B. statesman
3. William T. G. Morton	C. educator
4. Patrick Henry	D. dentist
5. Thomas Paine	E. poet

Here are the answers. If you got four out of five of them, consider yourself an expert in United States history.

1—C, 2—E, 3—D, 4—B, 5—A.

PARTING SHOT: Opportunities always look better going than coming.

March of Dimes Fund Drive to Open Wednesday

The annual March of Dimes fund campaign in this community will be launched with a buffet supper at the Weathervane Inn Wednesday, Jan. 20, according to Mrs. Louis Hooper local chairman of the fund drive.

Serving of the buffet supper will begin at 5:30 p.m. under the chairmanship of Mrs. Don Brown at the Weathervane Inn. The facilities of the Inn and the services of the dining room staff have been donated by Paul Olsen who manages the Inn as his contribution toward the drive.

Tickets may be purchased at the office of the Charlevoix Courier or at the Charlevoix Cleaners according to Arnold Wadas, ticket chairman.

The Johnny K trio will also donate its services for dancing following the buffet supper.

In announcing plans for the supper, Mrs. Hooper also named Mrs. Carl Johnson chairman of the Mothers' March scheduled for Jan. 27. and Mrs. William Lusk chairman of a Coffee Day. The date for this will be announced later.

Jeremiah Bedell, Antrim Resident Dies in Flint

Jeremiah G. Bedell, 91, father of Mrs. Clarence B. Meggison, died Tuesday, Jan. 6, at Flint where he had lived for the past 40 years.

Funeral services were held Thursday at the Matthew-Learned Funeral Home in Bellaire with the Rev. Gerald Jacobs officiating. Burial was in the Lakeview cemetery.

A native of New York state, Mr. Bedell came to Antrim county as a child. He had lived in Antrim county for nearly 50 years before moving to Flint. He was a farmer and carpenter. Until 10 years ago, Mr. Bedell spent the summers with the Meggisons here.

Besides his daughter, Mrs. Meggison, he is survived by his wife, Julia, of Flint; three sons Gerald of Bellaire and Lester and Robert of Flint; two other daughters, Mrs. Neil Hurry of Cass City and Mrs. Howard Kemp of Flint; 13 grandchildren and 27 great-grandchildren.

In Bellaire for the services were Mr. and Mrs. Meggison their son, Donald B. Meggison, daughter, Mrs. James and Miss Ada Greene.

Funeral Services Held Tuesday for Chas. A. Duerr Sr.

Charles A. Duerr Sr., 80, a resident of this community since 1955 and father of Charles A. Duerr Jr., died early Sunday at his home at 308 Prospect ave.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at the Winchester Funeral home here with the Rev. Harold E. Kohn officiating. Burial was in Brookside cemetery.

Born in Weyauwega, Wis., May 17, 1879, Mr. Duerr was a graduate of the Benton Harbor high school and in 1899 was graduated from the University of Michigan College of Pharmacy. He was associated with Hazeltine & Perkins Drug Co. in Grand Rapids for 45 years before retiring in 1952. In 1954 he and Mrs. Duerr, the former Olga K. Gray, observed their golden wedding anniversary. In 1955 they moved here to make their home.

Besides his wife and son, he is survived by four grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. Dennis E. Murphy and two brothers, John Duerr and Clemens Duerr, all of Benton Harbor.

Little Rayders Dump Gaylord Blue Devils

Charlevoix's little Rayders staged a last half rally Tuesday night to rack up their fifth victory of the season after trailing the Gaylord Reserves 12 to 7 at the quarter and 19 to 16 at half-time in the meeting between the two strong outfits.

Charlevoix outscored Gaylord 14 to eight in the third period to go ahead 30 to 27 before winning by a five point margin.

Masons Win From IOOF Monday Night

The second night of cribbage play put more tables into action than had been used in several years. Action ran high as the Masons won Monday's second round from the Oddfellows by 51 points cutting the IOOF lead to 233. High Mason was Cap Fisher with 963, John Wege held 959 for the Oddfellows.

Next Monday's battle will be played at the Masonic Temple.

Band Parents to Sponsor Annual Dinner Feb. 4

The annual dinner sponsored by the Charlevoix Band Parents Association will be held at the high school cafeteria Thursday, Feb. 4, Versal Seymour, president of the sponsoring organization, has announced.

Originally scheduled for Jan. 21, the date has been changed to avoid conflict with the March of Dimes buffet supper to be held next Wednesday.

Mrs. Robert Withers will again serve as general chairman of the dinner. All indications are that the event will be as successful as in previous years when more than 500 people have been served. The same popular prices will prevail. Tickets may be purchased from any member of the Senior or Reserve bands or from any of the 104 band parents.

Tentative plans call for the kick-off of the candy sale at the dinner. The sale this year will again feature the World's Famous Chocolate which proved so successful in 1958.

MINUTES OF SCHOOL BOARD MEETING

December 7, 1959

Present: Smith, Boss, Lieberman, Martin, Bennett, Supt.
Absent: Freedman.

The meeting was called to order at 8:20 p.m.

Minutes of the meeting of November 16 were read and approved.

Moved by Smith, supported by Martin, that bills in the amount of $2,876.93 be approved and ordered paid. Motion carried: 4-0.

A report was made on school finances, including the General Fund, Activities Accounts, and the Hot Lunch.

The Board approved and recommended that Mr. Bennett, Superintendent, accept the appointment to the Legislative Committee of the Michigan Association of School Administrators.

The use of the gymnasium by the Coast Guard and the Charlevoix Independents was not changed from the 1958-1959 program.

The members of the Board expressed satisfaction with and permission for the Winter Ball as planned by the Senior Class, to be supported by the Charlevoix Goblin Fathers.

Mr. Colon Wares appeared before the Board and explained the reason for the purchase of Johnson controls for the heating system of the new high school, including a training program for maintenance of said controls. The Board concurred unanimously with Mr. Ware's decision.

Bids of the various companies for bleachers in the new gymnasium were considered and Gordon Cornwell, architect, was asked to contact the three low bidders and ask them to extend the time as stated in the bid — to permit members of the Board to visit several installations before a final decision is made.

Mr. Bjorklund, general contractor, appeared before the Board and gave a detailed report of the contruction up to date, with an explanation as to the various delays and his plans for continued construction until winter forces its close. Members of the Board urged the most possible work to be completed this Fall, that the completion date may be met if at all possible.

The problem connected with the substitution of cement tile for vitreous tile, as required by specifications, was discussed by the Board, Mr. Cornwell and Mr. Wares. The requirements of the State Plumbing Code were discussed and emphasis placed on following specifications in every case, except where a "change order" has been approved by the Board.

Mr. Bennett read a statement from the State Fire Marshal regarding the placing of Christmas trees in schools — prohibiting them except in the gymnasium, assembly rooms and kindergarten.

Moved by Martin, supported by Boss, that bills in the amount of $22,529.65, payable from the Building and Site Fund, be approved and ordered paid. Carried: 4-0.

The Board, with the architects, selected lighting fixtures for the new building.

The meeting adjourned at 11:15 p.m

ALBERT H. SMITH, Secretary

MINUTES OF SCHOOL BOARD MEETING

December 21, 1959

Present: Smith, Martin, Boss, Lieberman, Bennett, Supt.
Absent: Freedman.

The meeting was called to order at 8:40 p.m.

Reading of the minutes of the previous meeting was dispensed with until the next regular meeting.

It was moved by Martin and supported by Boss, that bills in the amount of $1,310.09 be approved and ordered paid. Motion carried: 4-0.

Moved by Smith and supported by Martin that $21,803.65 be drawn on the Building & Site Fund, to be deposited in the Debt Retirement Fund for payment of capitalized interest on the new Bond Issue. Carried: 4-0.

Moved by Martin, supported by Boss, that the City Bank of Detroit be sent the amount of $21,753.90 as interest payment on the new Bond Issue, plus $49.75 paying agent's fee. Motion carried: 4-0.

Since the bleacher contract, for the new gymnasium, will be one of the first, a definite decision was made that as many of the Board members as possible — along with Mr. Bennett — go to Harrison, Clare, Traverse City, and Harbor Springs to visit bleacher installations by the leading companies in that field, and a tentative date was set for January 7.

It was recommended to Mr. Bennett that a new fuel pump be purchased from Johnston Brothers, Inc., as a ready replacement for the failing one in the heating plant.

A written survey of the present testing program in the high school was presented to each member of the Board in order that a complete understanding will result as the complete survey is made.

The Senior Class Winter Ball was discussed and its supervision as planned was approved.

The progress on the new high school building was discussed and noted as being slower than had been hoped and plans were considered for its being speeded up.

Frank Oleksy, as business manager of the Craft's Union, appeared before the Board and discussed various problems connected with the labor on the new high school.

The question of a clerk-of-the-works was placed on the agenda for January 4.

Details were completed for the Bus Drivers' School for the County, to be held January 4, 5 and 6 — the final meeting to be at Charlevox, beginning with a dinner at 6:30.

The meeting adjourned at 9:30 p.m.

Rayders Continue Streak, Dump Harbor Rams, 64-45

The Charlevoix Rayders racked up their fourth loop win of the season Friday when they dumped the Harbor Springs Rams 64 to 45 in a game which saw the local five lead all the way.

Though they trailed, the Rams played a good first half trailing by three points, 17 to 14 at the quarter and 34 tu 26 at halftime. However, in the third period, the Rayders caught fire and dumped in 24 points to eight for the visitors to put the game on ice. The entire Charlevoix squad saw action.

Starting for the Rayders were Bud Balch, Jim Ladd, Joe Beaudoin, Charles Coleman and Dave Schuchard. Stan Smith and Bruee Pease joined the action in the first period; Dick VanRaaphorst, Sam Supernaw, Jim Dennis and Ralph Brock joined the line-up in the second quarter and Terry DeYoung, Tom Martin, Don Nowland and Perry Smith in the final period.

Beaudoin scored five points, Schuchard four. Ladd and Stan Smith three each and Balch two to give the Rayders a three-point quarter advantage after the Rams had tallied a total of six field goals and two free throws to remain in the running.

In the second quarter Schuchard scored seven, Beaudoin and VanRaaphorst two field goals each, and Ladd and Supernaw single points to put the Rayders ahead 34 to 26. Harbor Springs scored five field goals and two free throws for 12 points in the period.

The third period was definitely the Rayders as they outscored the visitors 24 to 8 to assure themselves of the victory. Schuchard had eight points including three field goals, Coleman and VanRaaphorst six each, Ladd and Beaudoin two points each.

The Rams scoring was confined to four field goals.

In the final quarter the Rayders were outscored 11 to 6 as Coach Don Carey emptied the bench. Coleman had four points and VanRaaphorst a field goal before leaving the game. The Rams scored four field goals and three free throws.

Schuchard with 19 and the Rams' Gary Stutsman with the same number were top scorers for the game. VanRaaphorst had 12, Beaudoin 11 and Coleman 10.

First Coyote in Area

A coyote, the first ever taken in this immediate area, is pictured here with the hunters who tracked and shot it along Lake Michigan north of here Saturday.

Charles Bergman (left) actually shot the beast after the three fox hounds he and his brother, Eugene, (right) were using to track fox, jumped the animal's trail north of the barns at Birchwood Ranch. The animal traveled west for some distance before circling and heading directly east.

Fearful that the hounds would follow the coyote until they became exhausted and lost, Charlie followed the hounds until he came to his car and then, following the baying of the hounds from the highway, intercepted the coyote and the dogs near Susan Creek. He finally shot the coyote near the picnic turnout on US 31 eight miles north of nere.

He said Conservation officials at Boyne City where he had to take the animal to apply for a bounty said it was the largest female coyote they had ever seen. It weighed 35 pounds.

The Bergmann brothers who are ardent fox hunters said it was the first one they had ever seen while hunting in the area though it is known that the animals have been seen in the Cross Village-Wilderness Park area in Emmet county and on Beaver Island.

Little Rayders Dump Harbor

Charlevoix's Little Rayders romped over the visiting Harbor Springs quintet 57 to 28 Friday night with 23 players seeing action in the meeting.

The local quintet composed of Barry. Pierce, John Pearl, George Majors. Henry Wagner and Ink Martin rolled up a 16 to 4 first quarter lead before going ahead 30 to 10 at halftime and 52 to 17 as the game went into the final period.

Danny Pearl, Tony Duerr, Jack Stewart and Corky Curtis joined the line-up in the second period. In the final period Coach Terry Rice emptied the bench with Denny Wojan, Jim Rohm, Bruce Bartlett, Darrell Somerville, Joe Smith, Jim Ferguson, John Tuomela, Dwight Boss, Marty Shannon, Stewart VerWys, Herb Cummings, Bruce Murray, Melvin Holburn and Bill Dohm seeing limited action.

In the first period Charlevoix had eight field goals including four by Wagner and two each by Pearl and Martin as they went ahead 16 to 4. The Rams had one field goal and two free throws.

The Rayders continued their scoring attack in the second period adding 14 points on five field goals and four gifts shots. The Ram Reserves scored six points from the free throw line.

Martin hit for four field goals, Pearl for seven points, Majors for five and Wagner for two as the local quintet sunk 22 points to seven for the visitors who had two field goals and three charity shots.

In the final period the Rams managed 11 points as the Rayder line-up kept changing as Coach Rice emptied the bench.

John Pearl with 17 points for the victors, all scored in the first three periods, paced the game. He was followed with Wagner and Martin with 12 points each; Majors with eight; Curtis, Cummings and Murray with two each and Pierce and Somerville with one each.

Pifer had 12 and Ranney 9 for the Rams.

Charlevoix had 25 field goals; seven of 17 free throws and 20 personal fouls. Habror Springs scored 7 field goals and 14 of 28 free throw attempts and collected 13 personal fouls.

Bowling News

BY MEG

Freedman No. 1 started the first half with a bang. They shook up Steve's Bar for four points. Ball Point rolled well over his average with a 517. Pat Curtis blew a fuse and rolled 54 pins over his average with a 401 series. Cal Peters was 71 pins under his average. For Steve's — Ken 478, Meg 465, Monk 445, Bob 413 and O'Rile 394. Nice bowling fellows, that the way we started the first round.

Charlevoix defeated the Rems 64 to 45 to remain on top in loop standings.

Last Week With Class C

The Charlevoix Rayders continued to lead the Northern Michigan Class C league this week after dumping Harbor Springs 64 to 45 as their record stood at four wins in loop play.

Mancelona dumped Gaylord 58 to 47 and Grayling rolled over East Jordan 46 to 32 to tie for second place in loop standings and Boyne City upset Pellston 48 to 30 to move into a tie for third

Mencelone 58; Gaylord 47

The outcome of this meeting was never in doubt as Mancelona took an early 15 to 5 quarter lead; maintained a 35 to 20 advantage at halftime and led by 11 points, 44 to 33 going into the final period. Walt Klein, the Ironmen's scoring guard, paced the game with 22 points on six field goals and 10 of 18 free throw attempts.

Grayling 46; East Jordan 32

A high scoring second half when East Jordan was outscored 21 to 12 spelled the difference between these two teams as the Vikings went into an 18 to 10 lead which the Jordanites trimmed to five points, 25 to 20 at halftime before Grayling went ahead 31 to 23 at the three quarter mark. Frank Gross with 15 and Jack Hull with 11 were top scorers for the victors.

Boyne City 48; Pellston 30

A determined Rambler squad had to come from behind Friday night to knock off the defending champions in a game which saw the Hornets ahead 12 to 9 at the quarter before the Ramblers came back to tie the score 21-all at halftime. In the third period the Ramblers took an early lead and outscored their hosts 13 to 3

Cub Scout Pack Plans Event for 50th Anniversary

Charlevoix's Cub Scout Pack No. 111 plans a reunion of all persons who have participated in the Boy Scout movement to observe the golden anniversary of Boy Scouting in America. The program will be staged Jan. 26 at 7:30 p.m., in the high school gymnasium, Mrs. Carl Johnson, den mother reports.

Special entertainment skits are being prepared for the program by the eight dens that make up the pack. The program will also include the presentation of awards to Cub Scouts, games for Cubs and their fathers and refreshments served by the Den mothers.

Cub Scout Master James Whitley will serve as master of ceremonies for the program. Awards will be presented by Uno Suomela and Walter Russell will have charge of the games.

Atomic Electric Plant Project Is Dicken Club Topic

The members of the Dickens Study club and their guests, numbering more than 60, heard Ray Richardson of Traverse City and Harold Fredberg of Cheboygan, representing the Consumers Power Co., tell about the proposed new atomic power plant the company will build at Big Rock Point.

The company representatives outlined briefly the building plans, told of the safety measures the company would take and showed slides of the proposed structure.

Following the theme of lighting, tables were decorated with old-fashioned lamps and lanterns for the potluck supper which preceded the program.

Shovels Walks; Attempts Holdup

City Police, assisted by State Police from the Petoskey post, Wednesday continued their search for a youth who pushed his way into the home of Mrs. Maude Marshall at 238 E. Carpenter ave. and demanded money after shoveling the walk.

Mrs. Marshall told Chief of Police Joseph L. Smith that the youth, carrying his own shovel, came to her door about mid-afternoon and asked to shovel her walk. Later she asked him to make a trip to the grocery store for her. A short time later, without going to the store, he returned to the house, pushed his way in, grabbed her and demanded the money she had in the house. She told Mr. Smith she gave him a small amount she had on hand, not any more than two or three dollars in change, and asked him to leave. He then ordered her into the bedroom and told her to remain there for 10 minutes. He then left the house. Frightened by his threats she remained in the bedroom for some time before calling the police at 4:20 p.m.

Retired Coast Guard Plunges into Channel; Body, Car Recovered

Clarence Wallace Sikorski, 55, of Interlochen, retired U. S. Coastguardsman, met violent death early Sunday when his car left Bridge St. south of the highway bridge and plunged into Pine river.

Death was due to drowning an autopsy report by Dr. Robert T. Lossman, Traverse City pathologist, revealed.

The body of the former serviceman, who had been in charge of the Beaver Island Lifeboat Station prior to his retirement in 1956, was recovered from the threatening waters of Pine river shortly after noon Sunday following a four-hour battle with the elements to remove his car from 20 ft. of water approximately 40 ft. east of the highway bridge where it had been discovered at 7:10 a.m. Sunday.

Bridge tender Ted Bergmann who was relieving the night tender, Elmer Gibson, noticed what looked like car tracks leading through the snow from Bridge st. to the water's edge. They informed Night Patrolman Glenn Pemberton who investigated and located the car in the water about 25 ft. from the south bank of the river. Patrolman Pemberton then alerted the City Police, the U. S. Coast Guard and the Sheriff's Department. The latter, in turn, notified the State Police of the Petoskey Post. These units combined their efforts with the assistance of Meggison's Wrecker Service and Municipal light truck to bring the car, a 1952 Buick, from the bottom of the river.

Michigan State Police skin diver, Trooper Robert Barr, working from the 36 ft. U. S. Coast Guard Lifeboat, Walter Goff Bn2 in charge, was the first to reach the sunken car and reported the body of a man floating inside it. Later Barr was joined by Charles Laubrich of the Petoskey City Police, a former Navy frogman, and Trooper Kenneth Bare of the Gaylord State Police Post in attaching cables to the car so it could be towed from the water. During the course of attaching the lines, the license plate number was reported by the skindivers. A review of files at the Petoskey State Police Post revealed the license had been issued to Clarence W. Sikorski of Interlochen.

Battling not only air temperature of 28 degrees and water temperatures of 33 degrees, but a vicious current which made their work hazardous and which changed direction late in the morning, the skindivers succeeded in attaching cables to the car which was then pulled to the north bank of the channel and towed from the water about 12:10 p.m. The body of the victim was re-

Car License Sales Slow in Area

Sales of 1960 vehicle license tabs are running far behind those of a year ago according to Mrs. George A. LaBlance, branch manager of the Charlevoix office of the Michigan Department of State.

Car owners are urged to purchase their 1960 tabs as soon as possible in order to prevent a last minute congestion at the local office next month.

Council Moves to Crack Down on Slow Accounts

The City Council at its regular meeting OK'd a crack down on delinquent utility accounts.

A report to the council revealed that there were approximately 90 delinquent accounts totaling about $4,000. Delinquent accounts are defined as those 45 or more days in arrears.

All delinquent patrons have been notified of the status of their account, according to Mayor E. James Hiller. Light and water service to these patrons will be suspended next Monday if the accounts are not settled.

The electrical distribution system, the lighting of the east-west runway at the local airport, the problem of parking and snow removal were also discussed but no definite action was taken on any of the issues.

Approval was given bills amounting to $27,235.54 which include accounts receivable in the water and sewage department purchased by the electric fund; payment of $3,500 borrowed from the electric fund to underwrite a payment to the harbor improvement fund and a payment of $4,182 for fuel oil.

The Age of The Shoddy

"This was the era, domestically, when everything was half done; the era, in foreign affairs, when nothing was done right because nobody seemed to care enough to exercise the foresight and take the pains to see that it was done right. This was the time when the job on the car was always half finished, the suit came back from the cleaners half dirty, the yardwork was overpriced and underdone, the bright new gadget broke down a week after you got it home, the prices climbed higher and higher as the quality got less and less, and the old fashioned rule of a fair bargain for a fair price was indeed old-fashioned, for it never applied to anything. The great Age of the Shoddy came upon America after the war, and Everybody Wants His became the guiding principle for far too many."

Thus Allen Drury describes the postwar era, in his remarkable novel "Advise and Consent" — a work in which he uses the vehicle of fiction to present an extraordinarily revealing picture of Washington's political, diplomatic and social worlds.

The accuracy of his indictment is undeniable. Yet, in the immediate postwar years, it was possible to find seemingly valid excuses. The relaxation of war tensions resulted, naturally enough, in emotional and financial excesses. An attitude of "live for today and never mind tomorrow" became general. On the purely material side, the lifting of wartime restrictions on industrial production created an eager and apparently insatiable market for almost anything, no matter how poor the quality or exorbitant the price.

Had this sorry situation spent itself in a reasonable time there would have been small cause for worry. But who can honestly deny that the dark picture Mr. Drury paints is still — in the fundamentals, if not all the details — the picture that obtains in this country?.

The problem, of course, is a moral problem. The Protestant Episcopal Bishop of Michigan, the Rt. Reverend Richard Emrich, speaks for churchmen of all the denominations when he says: "Everywhere I travel I hear arguments, but I never hear a moral argument with someone saying, 'this is wrong, or unjust, or dishonest, and I will have nothing to do with it. I think we are floundering as a people."

And there lies the tragedy. For the basic strength of any nation is its moral strength. All the weapons, all the productive capacity, all the money on earth, cannot save a people from ultimate destruction if their moral fiber decays, their national character rots, and they sink into an abyss of material cyncism, indifference, selfishness, avarice, greed.

A short time ago the television scandals, centering around rigged quiz shows, captured the national headlines and were publicized the world around. The Saturday Evening Post has devoted a full-page editorial to the matter in which it makes a big and often overlooked point. It offers no excuses for the deceit — "those who have been damned by the revelations deserved to be damned." But, the Post also says ". . . we believe that the importance of their guilt has been wildly exaggerated, the significance of their guilt almost wholly overlooked . . . What is important is that we recognize the television scandals for what they are — a symptom of the declining standards of moral behavior in the United States, that twinge in the national belly that warns of deep-seated malignancy in the body politic." And those declining standards, it goes on, can be found in some form and in some degree virtually everywhere — in schools, professions, the labor unions, business and the government.

So much for the indictments. There is a bright side. It is found in the fact that more and more people, in public and private discussion, are talking about the problem, thinking about it, worrying about it. An estute English observer of the American scene observed that the television mess may prove to be of enormous benefit — by awakening the American people to the extent and character of moral decay, and removing the blinders from their eyes. The American people have been awakened to many kinds of dangers in the past, and have met them with wrath, with courage and with understanding.

LANSING OBSERVER

By FRANK G. MORRIS

Santa comes to lucky politicians only in the even-numbered years when there is a state election, and then only to half of those who had hung their stockings on a ballot box.

In the holiday seasons of the in-between years — like the festivities of last month—an astonishing thing happens to the professionals of both parties.

They yield to the eternal spirit of brotherhood, although probably feeling a little silly about it.

There are exceptions, of course. Like Guy Nunn, the UAW broadcaster, who devoted his Christmas Eve TV program to a denunciation of merchants for allowing people to "waste" their money on Christmas gifts.

Nunn said the money spent to keep alive the Christmas spirit of giving should have been sent overseas to be added to the billions that the taxpayers of the United States are spending annually to help the needy of other lands.

But there was different thinking from that of Nunn's one night last week in a Detroit bar when Democrat and Republican politicians were together talking like humans and wishing each other the very worst in the election next November.

Goodwill and fellowship may have been engendered by compassion. For Republicans at the table were confident that the bells of the New Year's Day 12 months hence will herald a return to power of the GOP, and Democrats were just as sure that Santa's return next year will bring them control of the legislature.

So they were arm-in-arm under the mistletoe until a Republican asked a question propounded first by the dean of the Lansing press corps:

"After 11 years in office, what legacies is Gov. Williams leaving to Michigan that will be reasons for pride in years to come?"

The juke box flipped to a stop. New Year jubiliation gave way to unaccustomed stillness. Even the bartender became thoughtful.

Finally, a successful Detroit Democratic politician who has been a part of the UAW, shouted an answer.

"The Mackinac Bridge," he cried. "It will endure for centuries as the achievement of Soapy Williams."

And that is true. Although former U. S. Senator Prentiss M. Brown contributed a part of his life to fulfilling the dream of a bridge, no one can take from Williams the credit for pushing the legislation that made it possible. So far, the wonderful bridge has cost the taxpayers only $250,000 a year, which is diverted from highway funds.

"Granted," said the Republican. "Gov. Williams built the bridge. But what else did he build for Michigan in his 11 years?"

There followed noisy argument about nebulous things. Democrats claimed the Governor had brought state government closer to the people; had instilled public consciousness of affairs in Lansing; had, by his presence, force successive Republican legislatures to adopt more liberal programs.

This kind of boasting is poppycock. Interest in government, and better understanding, is increasing throughout the nation. It results from the superior communications of the era — better newspapers and better reporting; a radio in every home, and televisions where reception is possible.

Finally, a Republican at the table said:

"Gov. Williams will be remembered for the wildest spending programs in the history of all the states. Fortunately for Michigan, he was held in check by Republican legislatures."

The Republican politician made a bad guess when he said that Williams will be remembered for his attempts to spend the people's money faster than taxes could be raised.

When the legislature finally ended the long tax battle before Christmas, new taxes to yield at least $65 million a year had been enacted. The lawmakers, because the Republican-controlled Senate struggled to the bitter end for a balanced budget, fixed the budget at $400 million.

This was an increase of $20 million over last year.

The new taxes boost state general fund revenue to $421 million, leaving a balance of $21 million to be applied to the deficit.

Yet the people forget that last January 27, Williams went before a joint session of the House and Senate and demanded a spending program of $600 million.

The Governor at that time sought to increase state expenditures by almost 65 per cent by asking new taxes to raise $140 million and bond issues to finance the rest.

Except for his first legislative session of 1949, when Williams said no new taxes should be enacted, this fantastic trick has been an annual event.

When he did not get the income tax he had sought in 1950 and 1951, Gov. Williams stood before the legislature in 1952 and predicted that state sovereignty would ultimately be surrendered to the Federal Government, which was at that time headed by President Truman.

Williams sneered at the Republican legislature in 1950 when the budget was held to $285 million, and he ridiculed the annual raises.

Well, general fund appropriations for the present year have reached $400 million at last and state taxes have been raised to $421 million.

In the last decade, taxes have been increased 66 per cent.

The population increase, due mostly to immigration from southern states, has been 24 per cent.

If it is true that the people are more concerned today about conditions in Lansing, maybe they will ask why tax growth is almost triple the population growth —and why the heavy budget this year would have been 50 percent greater had Williams won his fight with the legislature.

Voice of Our Readers . . .

Editor,

It will soon be a year since we moved into the city of Charlevoix. At that time the snow was piled along city streets and country highways as high or higher than our cars. I found, except for a few hours after a new storm, that it was possible for me to use my car in traveling wherever I found it necessary to go. This year I have found no difficulty in using my car every day. The streets are always in the finest of driving conditions. Permit me, please, to use the columns of your paper in expressing my gratitude to the men of our Street Department for their timely and efficient work in keeping our streets in such fine driving condition.

Sincerely,
C. A. Stoppels

Editor of Courier,

I would like the people of Charlevoix to know that the city, county and state law enforcement officers should be commended for the courteous and efficient way they investigated and apprehended the person who recently intruded my home.

There is satisfaction in knowing these men are on the job to protect individuals and property.

Mrs. Maude Marshall

Higman-Henley Vows Exchanged At Tucson, Ariz.

Announcement of the marriage of Miss Bonita Higman to Cecil E. Henley at Tucson, Ariz., on Dec. 30 has been made by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred A. Gill of this city, brother-in-law and sister of the bride.

The bride is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Higman. Mr. Henley is the son of Mrs. Robert Henley of Benson, Ariz., and the late Mr. Henley.

The Rev. M. A. Chaffin officiated at the double ring service at the Church of Christ in Tucson Dec. 30.

For her wedding the bride chose a deep turquoise suit with matching flower hat and accessories. Her hand corsage was of white camellias.

Mrs. J. D. Lambert of Fort Huachusa, Ariz., her only attendant, wore a lavender jersey dress and matching accessories and carried pink camellias.

A small informal reception followed at the home of Mrs. Gertrude Kramer in Tucson.

Following a wedding trip to Phoenix, Ariz., the couple is presently in Larescenta, Calif., enroute to Mr. Henley's new position.

The bride is a graduate of the Charlevoix high school. The bridegroom is a graduate of Tulane University. Until their marriage both were with the Hughes Aircraft Corp. in Tucson.

Plans Made for County Senior Government Day

Plans for the second annual Charlevoix county senior government day were made at a meeting of high school seniors, faculty advisors and educators held Monday at the county building here.

David Thomas of Hillsdale College, co-ordinator of the program, met with the group of county planners to select the topics to be discussed and the resource persons to be invited to participate in the special day scheduled for Feb. 15 at East Jordan.

Sectional meetings relating to the following topics will be featured as part of the program: Law enforcement and courts, Taxation and legislation, Education, Nominations and elections, Recreation and government problems, Health and welfare and Roads and highways.

Certain schools will be responsible for obtaining resource persons for various subjects. The Charlevoix high school seniors have been asked to obtain necessary personnel for the sectional discussions of education and nominations and elections.

Sandra Zipp, Charlevoix high school senior, will give a five-minute address on any aspect of government she might choose at the opening session of the conference which is expected to attract more than 220 seniors from throughout the county and approximately 40 resource persons from city, county and state levels.

Participating in the project are senior students from Boyne City, Boyne Falls, St. James, East Jordan and Charlevoix and their faculty advisors working with Charles A. Robinson, county superintendent of schools.

Representing the local high school at the planning meeting were Jack Rader, Sandra Zipp, Ronald Grunch and Ann Martin, accompanied by H. E. Bingham, high school principal.

Never get mad with an individual who doesn't know as much as you do.

Vicky Racignol Rates Highest As Homemaker

Vicky Racignol, Charlevoix high school senior, has been named the 1960 Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow in the local school, it was announced this week.

She received the highest score in a 50-minute written examination on homemaking knowledge and attitudes by graduating senior girls. She will receive an award pin representing the slogan "Home is where the heart is." Her examination paper will be submitted for competition with other nigh school winners to name the state Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow.

The test, which was prepared and judged by Science Research Associate of Chicago, was taken by a record number of 379,018 girls in 12,597 schools, an increase of 29,668 and 337 schools over last year.

Each state winner will receive a $1,500 scholarship and an educational trip April 23-29 with her school advisor. The tour which will include New York City and historic Williamsburg will culminate with the American Table banquet in Washington where the national winner will be announced. The runner-up in each state will receive a $500 scholarship; the school of each state winner will receive a set of Encyclopedia Britannica.

The scholarship of the All-American homemaker of Tomorrow will be increased to $5,000. The next three winners will receive $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000 respectively.

Miss Racignol is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Racignol.

Mrs. Ikens Hosts Past Noble Grands

The Past Noble Grand Club met Thursday at the home of Mrs. Floyd Ikens for a co-operative dinner followed by a business meeting and installation of officers.

Mrs. Ikens was installed as president; Mrs. William Ager, vice president; Mrs. Fred Gill, secretary; Mrs. Grace Geneit, treasurer; Mrs. Luther Hannah, chaplain; Mrs. Ray Seymour, press correspondent; Mrs. Glenn Rose and Mrs. Earl Blood, installing officers for the year. Mrs. Blood and Mrs. Hannah were in charge of the installation.

Mrs. Ikens then named the following sick committees; north side, Mrs. Geneit; valley, Mrs. Rose and south side, Mrs. Robert Mitchell and Mrs. W. E. Goss.

Mrs. Mitchell, the retiring president, opened the meeting and before turning over the gavel to her successor thanked the members for their fine cooperation throughout the year. Mrs. Blood was in charge of devotions. Mrs Hannah led the group in prayer.

The mystery package, furnished by Mrs. Ikens, was won by Mrs. Hannah. Mrs. Ager, Mrs. Geneit, Mrs. Blood, Mrs. Hannah and Mrs. Ikens won prizes for games played. Other members who were present were Mrs. Rasmus Hendrickson and Mrs. George Cook.

Lancers Nip Bellaire 40-38 In Squeaker

The Ellsworth Lancers knocked off the league leading, previously undefeated Bellaire Eagles in a thriller Friday night 38-40.

Ellsworth, beaten by Bellaire the previous weekend in conference tournament play when they lost the services of their high scoring and rebounding man, Bert Elzinga, came back strong Friday night. The Ellsworth defense completely held down Bellaire's two scoring aces, Tom Ash and Bill Apfel to 8 to 1 points respectfully.

Rebounding by second string Henry Koens and forwards Jerry Koster and Mick Fielstra, along with top defense by Bob Carpenter and Ed Drenth kept Ellsworth in the running for conference title.

After trailing 16-12 in the first quarter, Ellsworth came back to tie the ball game 25 all. In the third quarter both teams scored 10 points to remain tied. Then in the final quarter, Mick Veenstra gave Ellsworth the last two points to clinch the victory.

High point man for Ellsworth was Mick Veenstra with 15 points and Brent Cook was high point man for Bellaire with 18 points.

Both Ellsworth and Bellaire have a 3-1 record in Conference play.

Ellsworth next game will be with Alba here January 22 at 7:30. Then on the 26th they will play Elk Rapids there at 7:00 and they meet Central Lake at Central Lake 7:30 January 29.

The Junior High and Girls will play Central Lake January 27 at 7:00 in the local gym.

SUNDEW REPORTS

The Sundew remained in port this past week as temperatures remained high enough to allow the lake to stay free of ice.

Preventive maintenance and drills prevailed as the different departments completed their jobs in preparation for the ice breaking season.

The Sundew was made ready for assistance Sunday morning when a car plunged into the water at the foot of the bridge here. A general recall was issued but all was taken caro of without the ship's assistance.

SUNDEW SCUTTLEBUTT . . .

Bob Gideon returned to the Sundew Monday after a two months absence. He had been at Detroit USPHS Hospital for surgical treatment. "Doc" Don Jagoditsh spent a couple of days at the Charlevoix hospital for inpatient treatment this past week. He is now back on the ship and feeling fine. John W. Massey EN2 departed Monday for change of duty to Group Chicago. John has been aboard the Sunday for three years. LTJG D. E. Poppen departed for Cleveland, Ohio, and his new assignment at the Ninth Coast Guard District Auxiliary. Ed Haley was relieved of the cast he has been wearing the past six weeks. He had a broken wrist. The cast was removed at the Charlevoix hospital. In a bid for its first win, the Sundew basketball team was topped by a fine Boyne Falls team 54 to 36 at the Charlevoix high school gym Monday night. Mr. Poppen led the team's scoring with 10 points.

One good thing about the advice editors pass out is that nobody has to take it.

Local Senior Cited For Achievement in Scholarship Exam

Sandra K. Zipp, Charlevoix high school senior, has been cited for outstanding performance on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test last spring, H. E. Bingham, high school principal, has announced.

She will receive a formal "Letter of Commendation" from the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

These letters are being awarded to 27,000 students from all over the United States in recognition of high performance in the qualifying test. While these students did not achieve the status of semi-finalists in the Merit program, they are so outstanding that they are being singled out for special attention. The letters are sent to provide tangible recognition of superior ability and in the earnest hope that they will continue their education thus benefiting not only themselves but their entire country.

The annual Merit Scholarship Corporation offers the largest system of privately financed scholarships in the U. S. and is open to all high schools in the U. S. and its possessions.

The program is now in its fifth year and is supported by grants from the Ford Foundation, Carnegie Corp and 100 sponsors including business and industrial organizations, foundations and other groups. Currently 3,000 of the country's most able students hold Merit Scholarships at 400 colleges and universities; $15 million have already been committed for these awards.

Darlene Greiner Married at Traverse

The marriage of Miss Darlene Greiner to Calvin Gray has been announced by her parents, Lud Greiner of Allendale and Mrs. J. O'Brien of Traverse City. The wedding was solemnized Friday evening at Grace Episcopal church, Traverse City.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Gray of Traverse City.

County Cherry Pie Champ

Courier Photo

Donna Berg, 15-year old Charlevoix high school sophomore who took top honors in the county cherry pie baking contest at East Jordan last week, looks with a smile at a sample of her art. At left is Jeanette Novak who also represented the Charlevoix school in the contest.

Donna, accompanied by Mrs. C. A. Odmark (rear), home making instructor, will go to Grand Rapids to compete with other county winners throughout the state. The winner of the state contest, Jan. 28-30, will compete in the national contest next month in Chicago.

Representatives Would Organize LKRT Chapter

Representatives of the Muskegon chapter of the Loyal Knights of the Round Table met Saturday evening with local persons interested in organizing a local chapter of the service group.

The Muskegon chapter aids the mentally retarded as its project. Efforts are being made to organize a local group with the same aims. The meeting was held at the Day Center sponsored by the Charlevoix Association to Aid Retarded Children.

Here for the special meeting were Mr. and Mrs. Kurt Hollander, William Barber, international presidents, and Mrs. Barber, George Pierce, president of the Muskegon chapter, Dean Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hanson and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Duvall, all of Muskegon.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvie Kies were named local representatives of the organization. Anyone wishing more informatioin regarding the service group may call them or Frank Oleksy.

Prentiss Brown Jr. Guest Speaker At Dem Dinner

Prentiss Brown Jr. was the guest speaker at a dinner meeting of the Northwestern Democratic Business and Professional Association held in East Jordan Saturday.

During his talk Mr. Brown outlined the course he thought the Democratic party should take in 1960. He called upon firm leadership in solving the problem of the aged, the over-crowding of mental hospitals and the unemployment caused by seasonal work in the area. He cited commercial fishing, once a $7 million business, as one of the businesses which could be rebuilt to afford full-time employment for many. Reforestation was also listed as another means of creating employment and a profitable industry for the state.

He concluded by saying that "We must go ahead. History is filled with stories of nations who have set back and rested on their oars, only to lose in power, prestige and productivity. The Democratic party has always been a creative party and has always strived to improve the lot of the individual. We must continue to do so."

Among members from Antrim, Cheboygan, Kalkaska and Charlevoix counties who attended the meeting were Mr. and Mrs. George A LaBlance and Maurice J. Foster.

Victor Douglas Has 74th Anniversary

Joining him in the celebration were 17 members of his family who enjoyed refreshments and a social hour.

Children from Day Center to Attend Circus

Six children who attend the Day Center operated by the Charlevoix Association to Aid Retarded Children will make the trip to Grand Rapids Monday to attend the Shrine Circus.

The group will be accompanied by five mothers and their teacher, Mrs. Robert Bergmann.

Plans for the trip were completed at the regular meeting of the association held Monday evening at the Day Center.

Plans were also discussed for a booth the group will have at the PTA fair next month. The group decided on a baked goods and handicraft booth.

Farmers' Union Elects Unit and Local Officers

The Charlevoix-Antrim county unit of the Michigan Farmers' Co-operative Union met Saturday at the Union hall near Norwood on Saturday to elect officers and make plans for the year.

John Spoelman of Central Lake was elected president; Hilbert Hardy of Boyne City, first vice president; Guy McPherson of Central Lake, second vice president and Mrs. Orville Harding of Charlevoix, secretary-treasurer.

On the preceding evening the Norwood local of the union met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lyons.

A social hour and refreshments followed.

The group announced plans for a card party for the benefit of the March of Dimes to be held at the Union hall at 8:30 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 30.

- Mr. and Mrs. Walker Miles left Friday on a two weeks vacation trip to southern Michigan, Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky.

BY MEG

Freedman No. I dropped out of first place by a ½ point by only taking the first game and a tie for total pins with Swanson Gravel. John Swanson led the way for Freedman's with a fat 499 series. Cal Peters followed with a 436 series. For Swanson's Gergie had a nice 211-204-606 series followed by Dave Clark's 493 series.

Airport Inn had a bad night, they dropped 3 to Freedman No. II. For Airport Al Anderson was high with a 526 series and then the Captain (Harold Muth) with a 524 series. The bottom man was Nick with a 410 series. Freedman No. II just rolled along (about 90 pins over average each game) and that's the story. High for the No. II team was Jack Niswander with a 461 series followed by Les with a 444 series.

Now here comes Steve's Bar again, they moved out of the cellar and are now tied for 7th place with 3 other teams. Steve's team started out real slow and lost the first game to Lake Construction by 143 pins, but rolled back to take the next 2 games and total pins. For Steve's Bob Miller had a 526 series followed by Meg with a 201-500 series. Lake's high man was Big John with a 471 followed by Hal with a 460 series.

Moonlight Gardens stayed in the 4 way tie for first place by taking only 2 points from Central Drugs, who by the way stayed in the top four also. Moonlight won the first two games by 121 pins but the "Pill Rollers" came back with the high team game of 893 to take their 2 points. For Moonlight, the anchor man (Doc) was high with a 562 series followed by L. V.'s 203-516 series. Lloyd Hedrick had a 205 2nd game but fell short with a 121 3rd game. Central Drugs high man was Long John Moore with a 470 series followed by Keith Miles with 453.

Neff Grocery made the jump to the 4-way tie for first place by rolling over Browe Electric for 4 points. Big started out for a 191 triplicate but fell short with a 161 third game. Big was high for Neff's with a 543 series followed by Bob Livingston's 493 series. Browe Electric was trying hard but always fell a few pins short each game. Bob Ouderkirk and Ted Browe tied for high with a 491 series apiece, and then came John with a 432 series.

* * *

United Farm also stayed in the 4-way race for the top by taking 2 points from Puff's. United Farm won the first game by 1 pin the 2nd by 17 pins, but Puff's blasted the 3rd game for one point and one point for total pins. For United Farms Ed Culbertson had a 483 series followed by Bill Potter's 473 series. Puff's high man was Ed Lemcke's with a 527 series followed by a short (Puff) with 498. Big Ron had a 105 second game and a 412 series.

You Name It---We've Got It!

Ever see a rocket riding the highway? Or a tankful of flour? Or a load of oxygen? . . . Most people— when they think of trucks — think only in terms of the van or pick-up models they see carrying miscellaneous freight. These are in the majority, it's true. But it takes literally dozens and dozens of different types of trucks — many very special and very costly— to serve America's broad and bustling economy . . . Trucks are designed to transport almost every kind of cargo you can imagine — and to do so safely and efficiently. That's why it's truly said that everything you eat, wear or use — and more — comes to you by truck!

Funeral Services Held Monday for Lou Comfort, 87

Lou Comfort, 87, retired U. S. Lighthouse Service superintendent of construction, died Friday at the Charlevoix hospital where he had been a patient for two weeks.

Funeral services were held Monday at the Winchester Funeral Home with the Rev. Harold E. Kohn officiating. Burial was in Brookside cemetery.

Born in Detroit Aug. 3, 1872, Mr. Comfort joined the U. S. Lighthouse service in 1897 and, as superintendent of construction for the service, came to Charlevoix shortly after the turn of the century to supervise the construction of the Coast Guard buoy depot. He was retired from the service in 1937 after 40 years and five months service during which he supervised all lighthouse service construction along Lake Michigan.

On Oct. 17, 1902, he was married to the former Meta Irwin. They made their home in Traverse City until 1909 when they returned here to live at 401 Dixon ave. He was a member of the First Congregational, the Masonic lodge and a former member of the Kiwanis Club, serving as chairman of the children's Hallowe'en party committee for many years. He was also an avid stamp collector and had one of the finest collections in the area:

Farm Bureau Membership at 90% of Quota

The Charlevoix County Farm Bureau is within 10 per cent of its 1960 membership goal, Dawson Way reported at the meeting of directors held Jan. 11 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Parsons of Norwood township. He urged those working on the roll call to put forth extra effort in the next few days in order to have Charlevoix county the first in the state to reach its goal. The county goal is 333 family members.

Edward K. Shanahan reported on the various efforts being made to revise the state constitution, and on several amendments which have been proposed. He indicated some of these are aimed at reaching further into the taxpayers pocket.

A letter from Mrs. Doris Reynolds of the Social Welfare department thanked the organization for its contribution of $400.65 toward the purchase of a Whirlpool therapy machine for use at Grandvue hospital. The $911 machine is now installed and serving the patients in the hospital.

Parent-Teachers To Sponsor Annual All-School Fair

The third annual all-school and community fair, sponsored by the Parent-Teachers association will be held Feb. 20 in the Charlevoix schools, Mrs. Paul Olson, chairman ,has announced.

Committees are now working on a program to offer a full evening of fun and entertainment for young and old. The fair is scheduled to open at five p.m. with a supper. There will be a variety of concessions and a kangaroo court along with other novelty attractions.

The committee in charge of the White Elephant sale has appealed for contributions such as books, comic books, jewelry and other suitable items. Persons wishing to contribute should call Mrs. Paul Olsen, LI 7-9316, or Mrs. Karl Schultz, LI 7-2249. There also is a need for items suitable to be given at the fish pond.

Mrs. D. E. Ingalls Life Resident Dies Suddenly

Mrs. Delbert E. Ingalls, 84, pioneer resident of this community, died late Wednesday at the Charlevoix hospital where she had been a patient for one day.

Funeral services were held Saturday at the Winchester Funeral Home with the Rev. L. L. Lewis officiating. Burial was in Brookside cemetery.

Born in Traverse City July 23, 1875, the former Rosa D. Austin came to this community as a child. In 1898 she was married to Mr. Ingalls. They lived on a farm in Marion township until moving to their present home at 321 Mason st. following his retirement. He preceded her in death in June 1955.

She was a member of the First Baptist church and its Carrie O'-Brien and a former member of the Gleaners.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Ethel Courier and Mrs. Laverne (Ida) Heise and a son, Glenn Ingalls, all of this city; three grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

moved from the car and, following a brief examination by Dr. Robert G. Martin, Charlevoix county coroner, was taken to the Winchester Funeral Home. Later in the day the body was taken to Traverse City for an autopsy ordered by Dr. Martin.

When the car was removed from the water it was found to have the windshield and both front door windows smashed out. The car had planed to the bottom and was heading toward the south bank of the channel when located.

It is believed by police officials that Sikorski's car was traveling north on Bridge st. at a high rate of speed when it left the right side of the roadway, jumped the north curb of the street which leads to the municipal dock, traveled 20 ft. through the air before continuing down the snow-covered slope and plunging into the water.

A watch in the victim's pocket had stopped at 3:51.

Mr. Sikorski had been in Charlevoix for several days. He was first seen on Wednesday when he looked up a former servicemate, W. O. Albert Bates, executive officer of the Coast Guard Group office. He also visited with other local Coastguardsmen he had known before retiring in 1956.

A native of the Grand Traverse area, Mr. Sikorski enlisted in the Coast Guard in 1928 at South Haven where he was sworn in by William Fisher, now retired and living here.

He is survived by his ex-wife; a daughter, Delores; two sons, Wallace J. and Clarence H. and his mother, Mrs. Amanda A. Barber of Interlochen.

The body was taken to Frankfort for services and burial.

Michigan Mirror

By ELMER E. WHITE

IF YOU WANT to be a millionaire come to Michigan.

Among favorable reports on the state coming to light recently is one that shows we have more millionaires than even the proud state of Texas.

An analysis of federal income tax returns by Dr. Roger L. Bowlby, economist with the Bureau of Business and Economic Research at Michigan State University, shows that Michigan, with only 4.5 per cent of the total taxpayers, has 6.2 percent of those declaring gross incomes in excess of a million dollars in 1957. Only four states, New York, Delaware, Pennsylvania and California can boast of more millionaires.

MICHIGAN taxpayers showed incomes totaling $14.2 billions in 1957, and paid $1.84 billions in federal personal income taxes. This tax was 5.4 per cent of the national total though Michigan's population only represent 4.5 per cent of the United States population.

These higher than average incomes and tax payments are not due entirely to Michigan's higher proportion of millionaires, but also because the average individual earns more in Michigan. The state has a much higher per cent of the taxpayers in the middle income brackets from $4,000 to $10,000 than the country as a whole: 52 per cent to 43 per cent.

PERSONAL INCOME figures for Michigan indicate that when the 1959 federal taxes are all paid Michigan will again be near the top, according to Dr. Paul A. Herbert, chief of the research division, Michigan Economic Development department. Michigan increased incomes by $9,600,000 in September over August, according to a report in Business Week magazine of Nov. 28, while all of the neighboring states showed a decline.

Michigan has the largest gain in the nation for that month and for the 12 months ending with this September. Only one state, California, showed a greater dollar increase in personal income.

THIS DATA on the state's prosperity was part of the favorable news which Michigan's Industrial Ambassadors, the citizen group created by the Michigan Economic Development Commission as a sales force to sell the state as a good location for business and industry, received at their December meeting in Detroit. At that "sales training" session, Dr Herbert cited figures from the Nov. 10 issue of Sales Management magazine showing that Michigan metropolitan areas and other major cities will be much larger and more prosperous in 1965 than they are today. Compared to cities throughout the United States, Michigan cities will generally grow faster and will be relatively more prosperous.

AMONG THE highlights cited by Dr. Herbert were: The people of Michigan's 13 largest cities are expected to show a growth of 135 to 173 per cent in net effective buying income in 1965 as compared with 1958. Growth of cities in the neighboring states in buying income during the same period will range from 106 to 141 per cent.

By 1965 all but one of the 13 metropolitan areas and potential metropolitan areas in Michigan will have improved their ranking as compared with all the Metropolitan areas of the country based on net purchasing power. On the other hand, only 4 of the 12 large cities listed for Illinois will improve their ranking; only 5 out of 14 of those in Indiana; only 1 out of 20 in Ohio; only 2 out of 14 in Wisconsin.

Kalamazoo, according to Sales Management's tabulation, will grow fastest of the 13 major Michigan cities listed: 117% in population and 173% in net effective buying income.

Other Michigan cities gaining in rank over 10 or more metropolitan areas in other states will be Bay City, Benton Harbor-St. Joseph, Muskegon, Jackson, Ann Arbor and Battle Creek. Not a single city in the other East North Central States will equal Kalamazoo's record. Rockford, Illinois comes closest to these Michigan cities by advancing over 8 cities.

THE INDEX OF growth between 1958 and 1965 in net effective buying income of the Michigan cities listed is shown as 173% Kalamazoo, 152% Ann Arbor, 150% Muskegon(Benton Harbor - St. Joseph, 149% Jackson, 147% Battle Creek, Bay City and Flint, 146% Detroit, 145% Lansing, 142% Saginaw, 141% Grand Rapids and 136% Port Huron.

Michigan as a whole will increase its net effective purchasing power by 146% by 1965, more than any other state in the U. S. except Nevada. Illinois will increase only 131%, Indiana 135%, Ohio 125% and Wisconsin 131%.

ESTIMATES OF THE United States bureau of the budget, indicate Michigan has grown, is growing, and will continue to grow in population at a rapid rate. Figures vary from a total of 9,400,000 to 11,000,000 consumers by 1970. This in itself is a large state market

When to this is added the growth in the number of consumers in the surrounding states, it makes the east-north-central states the greatest regional market in the United States. This region will have 21 per cent of the nation's entire population by 1970, over 4 million more than the second largest region, the middle-Atlantic states. It will have grown faster than any other region, a million more people than the Pacific region, the second largest growing area by 1970.

Because of its geographic location, the east-north-central-states (Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin and Michigan) are the most economically logical locations for an industry with one plant that also sells nationwide.

Adventures in Understanding

Notes from a northerner's diary

By Harold E. Kohn

A Report On Sirius

About 8:30 this evening a friend phoned to say there was a strange light in the southeast, hanging low in the heavens and changing rapidly — a bright light she said. That discription fit only one stellar body I could thing of. But with all the excitement concerning earth satellites sent up by Russia in the past several months, I wanted a look.

Marian and I stepped outside and, sure enough, there was bold, proud Sirius flashing diamonds and sapphires at earth's dazzled children. We bathed in its beauty briefly and then I phoned our friend and gave her the promised report on our findings.

She wanted to know if it was a star. Yes, it was Sirius, the Dog Star, brightest of all the stars in the heavens. Well, she had never noticed it before. How come? Perhaps, I suggested, it was because the sky is rarely so clear as tonight, and seldom do any of the stars seem so bright.

"But what made the star twinkle so rapidly?" Because its light passes through so much of the earth's atmosphere, which gives somewhat the same shimmering impression that heat does when rising from a hot pavement. The air rising from the sun-warmed surface of the earth distorts the light passing through it.

When I told her that Sirius is about twenty-seven times as brilliant as our sun and very hot, and if moved as near to the earth as our sun is it would boil away all our oceans, lakes, and rivers in a short time, and although Sirius is moving in our direction at the speed of four miles per second no noticable difference in its appearance will be detected by the naked eye for thousands of years — she replied, "How small it all makes me feel!"

"But," I answered, "How big it makes God seem.' She agreed.

The smallness of man and the bigness of God are vital parts of the same world-view. If Sirius and its celestial neighbors are at a distance that stuns our imagination, of a magnitude that stupefies our understanding, and if they represent a creative power that dwarfs our own, they not only mock man's smallness but they proclaim God's greatness. They remind us of man's weakness — and of God's might.

Amy Carmichael was a luminous saint who worked for so long and effectively among the untouchables of India that her name became a benediction to countless thousands. Much of her radiance and undiscouragable determination she traced to the moment she heard a layman simply pray, "We thank Thee, Lord, that Thou art able."

The stars evoke some such prayer from any thoughtful watcher of the skies — "I thank Thee, Lord, that Thou art able."

... this is Our Michigan

BY WILLARD BAIRD

If Michigan has nothing more than mere size, we would have plenty to brag about.

In land and water area combined we are the biggest state east of the Mississippi river and tenth largest in the nation.

The flag of Michigan proclaims dominion over 57,022 square miles of land area and nearly 40,000 square miles of water surface— a total of 96,791 square miles.

Our land area covers 36,494,000 acres — larges than England or Austria . . . twice the size of Ireland . . . nearly five times as big as Switzerland.

Michigan's upper peninsula — nearly one-third of the total area of the state — is as big as Connecticut, Delaware, Massachusetts and Rhode Island combined . . . and larger than either Belgium or Switzerland.

Until 1959, Michigan could claim the longest coastline of any state in the Union.

When Alaska entered the union, Michigan had to revise its claim. But we can still say we have the longest freshwater coastline 3,121 miles of any of the states and rank second in total length of water frontage.

Our broad expanse of Michigan territory embraces 40 percent of the water surface of four of the five Great Lakes — Erie, Huron, Michigan and Superior. In that respect, we are far ahead of our neighboring states, for second-ranking Wisconsin controls only 10 percent of the Great Lakes surface.

We have 11,037 inland lakes— ranking from small bodies of 10 acres of water surface(the smallest we count as a lake) to the 31.3 square mile Houghton Lake in Roscommon county.

Our streams and rivers traverse some 36,350 miles, a distance of almost one and a half time around the world.

Of all the states we are indeed entitled to the proud claim of Water Wonderland, the slogan we imprint on our Michigan license plates.

We are the seventh most populous state in the country . . . and the fastest growing state in the midwest . . . and, with our 23.4 percent gain since 1950, second only to California among the industrial states recording the greatest population growth this decade.

Early historical records credit a French explorer, Etienne Brule, with being the first white man known to have seen the inland empire of North America, including the vast territory which is now Michigan.

Brule's trip through upper Michigan waters in 1618, on an expedition searching for a new passage to the Pacific and the Orient, beat the Pilgrim landing at Plymouth Rock by two years.

Brule was only 19 when he discovered Lake Superior on his upper Great Lakes expedition while serving as a scout for Samuel de Champlain, then French governor of Canada at Quebec.

Continuing Brule's explorations of the Michigan territory, Jean Nicholet — commissioned by Champlain to renew the search for a new route to the Orient — passed through the Straits of Macinac in 1634.

Seven years later, French Jesuit missionaries Isaac Jogues and Charles Raymbault built their first mission at Sault Ste. Marie.

By 1668 two other Jesuits, Fathers Jacques Marquette and Claude Dablon, were able to establish a permanent French settlement at Sault Ste. Marie. Founded more than 100 years before the American Revolution, their mission — now grown to a community of 20,000 — became the nation's third oldest city.

Marquette, after opening his Sault Ste. Marie mission, founded another at St. Ignace in 1671. That was the same year that Francois St. Lusson in the name of King Louis XIV formally proclaimed French possession of the Sault territory and the Great Lakes area. The flag of France floated over northern Michigan outposts from that time until the arrival of the British 90 years later.

Bowlers Hit High Scores in Airport-Leon's Match Play

The Airport Inn bowling team, who anticipate a bowling alley in Charlevoix next season, defeated Leon's Tavern of East Jordan in a match game last Sunday held at the East Jrodan Recreation.

For the Airport squad, John Swanson led the way with his 187-211-233—621, Des Milligan 144-186-235—565, Hank Felix 201-174-172 — 547, Ken Cellner 175-237-162—574, Fritz Puffpaff 146-214-190—550. Team games were 853-1022-982 for a total of 2857.

One of the oddities of the match was that John Swanson won the honors for high total with his 621 but, was never high man in any single game.

The two teams have a rematch a week from Sunday at the Victory Lanes in Petoskey.

● Supt. R. G. Bennett, accompanied by Mrs. Bennett, was in Grand Rapids Thursday and Friday to attend the annual winter conference of the Michigan Association of School Administrators.

Final Games of First Half Friday; Second Round Will Open Tuesday

The next week will be an important one in the Northern Michigan Class C league as all eigh' teams wind up the first half of the 1959-60 schedule Friday and open the second half of the season Tuesday.

On Friday the league-leading Charlevoix Rayders will invade the territory of the defending champions, the Pellston Hornets; Mancelona will entertain Grayling; East Jordan will host Gaylord and Boyne City will play at Harbor Springs.

Pellston, with a record of two wins in five games and a make-up game with East Jordan yet to be played, will be fighting a last ditch stand when they take on the Rayders who have six consecutive wins to their credit. Unless the Hornets pull some new tricks out of the bag or the Rayders suffer a let-down they should extend their victory string to seven.

The Grayling Vikings will be fighting to retain their second place standing when they invade Mancelona this week. The Vikings were to play a make-up game with Boyne City Wednesday before taking on the rough Ironmen whose aim will be to topple the Vikings from second place. If the Ironmen can control the ball and the tempo of play they may be able to stop the Vikings whose only loss thus far has been to Charlevoix.

Gaylord, now holding down fifth place with two wins and four losses will be trying for a win over the Red Devils when they invade East Jordan Friday. The Red Devils, however, with a win over Boyne City to their credit should prove a wary adversary, capable of downing the Blue Devils it they tend to their ball - playing. The JJordanites, however, have played a 'hot and cold' type of ball all season and can't be counted on to come thru in the clutches tho,' on occasion, they have looked pretty good. This game will probably be a toss-up.

The Harbor Springs Rams are a young, inexperienced outfit who are learning fast as they have proven in recent games. Still searching for their first win of the season, they will be out to top the Ramblers who have defeated Gaylord and Pellston while falling before Charlevoix, Mancelona and East Jordan. The Ramblers should win but the Rams, these days, could pull an upset if given half a chance.

On Tuesday all teams will start to play return games as the home stretch of the season gets underway.

Charlevoix will take on Boyne City on the later's floor; Grayling will host Gaylord; Mancelona will play at East Jordan and Harbor Springs will host Pellston.

In the first time 'round, Charlevoix racked up a 67-37 win over the Ramblers. The point spread probably won't be as great, but chances are the Rayders will post another win over their old rivals.

Gaylord held the Vikings to a one-point victory in their first meeting but this time Grayling should win by a bigger margin on the basis of present records.

The Mancelona-East Jordan game is the only one that remains a toss-up. Mancelona has four wins in six games as compared with a record of two wins in six starts for the Jordanites. But the Red Devils are an explosive outfit that could surprise everyone, including the Ironmen, especially on their home floor.

Harbor Springs has come a long way since the season opened, but hardly far enough to knock off the Pellston Hornets though the latter has only a record of two wins in five starts.

Reserves Win, 51-37

Charlevoix's little Rayders continued along the victory trail Friday by dumping the visiting Mancelona Reserves 51 to 37 in a game in which the local quintet led all the way.

Charlevoix held a slim 8 to 6 advantage at the quarter before outscoring the Ironmen 17 to 8 for a 25 to 14 halftime lead. Both teams scored 9 points in the third period as the Rayders held a 34 to 23 lead going into the final period.

Starting for Charlevoix were Barry Pierce, John Pearl, George Majors, Henry Wagner and Ink Martin with Danny Pearl and Jack Stewart seeing action later in the first half and Tony Duerr, Jim Rohm, Corky Curtis, Dwight Boss, Herb Cummings and Bruce Murray joining the line-up later in the game.

Martin and Stewart shared scoring honors with 11 points each for the victors; Wagner had eight; Majors seven; John Pearl five before leaving the game late in the final period after spraining ankle; Pierce, four; Dan Pearl and Curtis, two and Cummings, one.

Garlick had 11 and Dickinson 10 for Mancelona.

Charlevoix scored 16 field goals, 19 of 34 free throws and had 16 personal fouls. Mancelona had 12 field goals, 13 of 25 free throws and 22 personal fouls.

Rayders Win Handily, Outscore Mancy 70-51

The Charlevoix Rayders racked up their sixth league win of the season by dumping Mancelona 70 to 51 Friday night as they first half of the 1959-60 court season nears its end.

In a game that looked as tho it would be a real battle Mancelona went ahead 15 to 14 as the quarter before Charlevoix outscored the visitors 32 to 22 at halftime. As the game progressed Charlevoix continued to hit for a 51 to 32 advantage going into the final period when the Rayders coasted to a 19-point victory as Coach Don Carey sent in re-enforcements.

Starting for the home team were Joe Beaudoin, Jim Ladd, Dick VanRaaphorst who paced the game with 25 points, Charles Coleman and Dave Schuchard. Sam Supernaw, Jim Dennis, Bruce Pease, Bud Balch and Stan Smith joined the fray in the final period.

Mancelona, led by Fred Moore with three field goals, dumped in seven buckets and a gift shot to take a one-point lead over the Rayders whose scoring was confined to five points by Van Raaphorst, four points by Schuchard, two each by Beaudoin and Ladd and a single by Coleman in the first period.

The Rayders scoring attack as well as their defense started to click in the second period as VanRaaphorst and Schuchard put in three field goals each with Ladd adding two and Beaudoin one for 18 points. Mancelona was limited to seven points including three field goals and a free throw.

As the game went into the second half VanRaaphorst and Beaudoin dumped in four field goals each with Schuchard adding one long shot and one free throw for 19 points. Mancelona hit for five field goals and 10 points as Charlevoix pulled away 51 to 32 going into the final period.

Mancelona took to the free throw line in the final quarter scoring nine singles and five field goals in an effort to remain in the running but Charlevoix matched them with three field goals by VanRaaphorst, five by Beaudoin, and two each by Coleman, Schuchard, Supernaw and Dennis.

VanRaaphorst with 25 points was followed by Beaudoin with 17 and Schuchard with 15.

Walt Klein had 15 and big Fred Moore 14 for Mancelona.

Last Week With Class C

Action in the Northern Michigan Class C league Friday night saw favored teams post victories over loop rivals as the first half of the current court season nears its close.

East Jordan nudged Boyne City 56 to 39 to headline the loop action. In other games Grayling stopped Pellston 68 to 60; Gaylord dumped Harbor Springs 66 to 47 and Charlevoix successfully defended its first place standing by defeating Mancelona 70 to 51.

East Jordan 56: Boyno City 39

Boyne City had been expected to offer the Jordanites plenty of opposition, when the two squads met but the Red Devils had everything pretty much their way as they romped into a 14 to 7 first quarter lead which was increased to 28 to 17 at halftime and 37 to 30 as the game went into the final period. East Jordan practically won the game on the free throw line after scoring only one more field goal than the Ramblers. Louis Kraemer with 24 points paced the game for the victors. Doug Grubbe had 12 for Boyne City.

Grayling 68: Pellston 60

This game proved to be a scoring duel between Frank Gross of Grayling and Barry Anderson of Pellston with the former winning as he dumped in 30 points for the Vikings. Anderson finished with 28 for the defending champions but his efforts were in vain as the Hornets trailed 21 to 15; 37 to 29 and 52 to 41 by quarters before going down to defeat.

Gaylord 66: Harbor Springs 47

The Harbor Springs Rams, looking for the first victory, made a valiant effort to defeat the Blue Devils as they held an 11 to 10 first period lead and held on for a 21-21 tie at halftime before trailing 47 to 28 as the game went into the final period after being outscored 26 to 7 in the third period. Ray Wolf paced the game with 22 points for the victors. Gary Stutsman had 14 for the Rams.

Ann Martin Named Echange Student to West Europe

Ann Martin, Charlevoix high school senior and daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert G. Martin, has been named to participate in the Teen-Age Understanding program sponsored by the Michigan Council of Churches.

Under the program, she will spend eight weeks in some European county this summer.

For Ann, the opportunity to participate in this program is the culmination of a dream which began when she was in the seventh grade and started saving for a trip to Europe "some day." Until she was notified this week that her application for participation in the student exchange program had been approved, she did not know that "some day" would come much sooner than she had believed.

In fact, her dream will be realized in June when she departs via plane from Detroit with other Michigan high school students graduates for the Netherlands from where each student will leave to join his or her 'family' in one of the western European countries. Most Michigan students have gone to Germany in the past and Ann thinks she might also join a family there. During the two months period she will live with a family, learn the language, ideals and customs of the country in which she will visit. She will be informed later in the spring where she will go and in May will be told the name of her 'family.' She will return home later in August prior to going to North Central College at has served as editor of the class Naperville, Ill., where she plans to study to become a missionary teacher.

Ann, who is 17 and who will be graduated in June, has a varied background which should prepare her well for her trip abroad. She has been named to the Honor Roll since it was established in the local school, is a member of the Charlevoix chapter of the National Honor Society, annual, the Rayder, been a member of the cast of the Senior play and student director of the Girls Glee Club. In addition she is active in youth programs at the First Methodist church.

Ann will become the second local student to participate in this exchange student program sponsored by the Michigan Council of Churches. Last summer, Carolyn Kohn, now a freshman student at the University of Michigan, spent the summer with a family in Germany.

Beef Breeders Hold Annual Meet at Gaylord

The 14th annual meeting of the Northern Michigan Beef Breeders Association was held at Gaylord Tuesday with 90 members and guests present.

William Gallop of Boyne Falls was re-elected as president of the associations whose membership is composed of beef breeders in the northern lower peninsula counties and from several upper peninsula counties.

Clarence Healey of East Jordan was named vice president. Ray McMullen of Gaylord is secretary-treasurer.

Ash Stewart of Boyne Falls was named a director and Mr. Healey was re-elected to succeed himself on, the nine-member board.

E. K. Shanahan of Birchwood Ranch is the only other director from Charlevoix county.

A report revealed that the association was in sound financial condition; that it was aggressively promoting beef breeding business in northern Michigan and that the results demonstrated that the annual sale at Gaylord was the outstanding feeder sale in the state.

The progress of the association is revealed in the fact that the sale of feeder stock has grown from 222 to 2,027 over a 14 year period. The membership has grown from 70 to 90 with most breeders increasing the size of the herds. The membership has changed through the years with only seven of the original members still active in the business.

Attending the sale from Charlevoix were Mr. Shanahan, James W. Gallagher, Mark Saunders and John Brock.

Kiwanians Attend Alpena Meeting

Members of the Charlevoix Kiwanis club attended the formal installation of officers of the Alpena club Tuesday evening Division Lieut. Gov. Ralph S. Hamilton was installing officer.

Attending from Charlevoix were Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Schied, Barney Engelhart and Curtis Burlin.

Soil District To Hold Annual Meeting

Clayton Healey, Chairman of the board, will be in charge of the business meeting. This will include the Annual Report, the Treasurer's Report, Election of two Directors, the Awarding of Certificates to Outstanding Cooperators and other items.

A nominating committee has met and has nominated three candidates for each position: For the Area North of Charlevoix, Peter Winnick, John Hamlin and Ed Shanahan have been nominated. For the Area around East Jordan and Ironton, Franklin Cellner, Hugh Graham and Versal Crawford. Additional nominations will be accepted from the floor.

The principal speaker for the evening will be Paul Barrett, Extension Specialist in Conservation and Land Use from Michigan State University. Mr. Barrett will present an illustrated lecture with the use of colored slides on the topic of. "Land Use in Charlevoix County." He is a very good and interesting speaker and everyone will enjoy hearing him.

Band Parents to Sponsor Annual Benefit Dinner

The annual Band Parents benefit dinner will be held at the high school cafeteria Thursday, Feb. 4. Mrs. Robert Withers, general chairman of the event, has announced.

The event, which was postponed from last week to avoid conflict with the March of Dimes benefit dinner, will also serve as a kick-off for the sale of the "World's Finest Chocolate", this year's candy promotion sponsored by the Band Parents Association.

Serving will begin at 5 p. m. and continue until all are served.

Assisting Mrs Withers with the dinner, an annual event which has become one of the largest events of its kind, will be Mr. Marie Blissett and Mrs. A. D. Cunningham supervisors of the school's hot lunch program; Chairman of special committees include: dining room, Mrs. Clifford L Riley; decorations, Mrs. Karl J Erber; coffee, Mrs. Bruce Bartlett; dessert, Mrs. William Supernaw; clean-up Versal Seymour. Assisting in the kitchen will be Mr. Supernaw, George LaBlance and Mr. Withers. Members of the high school hands will serve as waitresses and bus boys.

Tickets at the same popular prices may be purchased from the 130 young musicians in the junior and senior bands.

Proceeds from the dinner and the candy sale will be used to accomplish many goals of the organization: the purchase of additional uniforms and the replacement of 40 pairs of worn-out trousers, the Interlochen scholarship to the All-State band and expenses incurred by the band on festival trips and appearances.

Dr. G. B. Saltonstall Reappointed to Medical Post

Dr. Gilbert B. Saltonstall, prominent local physician, was re-appointed by the Michigan State Medical Society to serve on the board of directors uf the Michigan Association of the Professions. He will represent the proffession of medicine on the board.

Dr. Saltonstall is the immediate past president of the Michigan Medical Society.

Change Ski Class Hour at Avalanche

Saturday hours for Charlevoix school student skiing instructions have been advanced to 2 p. m. at Avalanche ski run, Boyne City, it was announced yesterday by Gregg Smith.

It was found that the former 1:30 p. m. hour was too early for many of the Charlevoix students to attend the classes. Starting the classes a half hour later may offer more interested students an opportunity to take advantage of the instructions.

Father and Son Dinner Is Feb. 15

The annual Father and Son banquet will be held at the dining room of the First Methodist church Monday, Feb. 15, it was announced this week.

The WSCS of the church will sponsor the event.

Draft Board Calls Five County Men For Induction

The names of the Charlevoix county draft registrants ordered to report for induction into the armed services to fill the county's February draft quota and for pre-induction physical examinations have been announced following a meeting of the draft board Monday night.

Reporting for induction Feb. 1 will be Harley P. Parks, Larry D. Ward and John W. LaDere, all of Boyne City and all volunteers, Elmer Larson Jr. of East Jordan and Paul A. Johnson of Charlevoix.

James f. Smith of harlevoix and Arnold L. Massey of Boyne Falls will report Feb. 15 for pre-induction physical examinations.

Scenic Trails Council Hits Peak For Scouting's 50th Anniversary

A new record was achieved in 1959 when 4,882 boys became members of the Scenic Trails Council, Boy Scouts of American, announced John M. Stevens of Elk Rapids, president of the Council.

Growing at the rate of 9.6 per cent over 1958, the total membership of the 18 county council represents about one out of every 4.5 boys available. In two years the total membership has grown from 3,949 boys in 1957 to the current number of 4,882.

Commenting upon the growth, Charles Kramsvogel of Traverse city, chairman of the organization and extension committee, announced that with the adoption of a new five-year long range plan by the end of 1964 the total membership may be in excess of 6,300 boys.

Since Scouting is essentially an outduor program, Camp Greilick enjoyed an increase of 23 per cent over 1958, with over 550 boys in attendance last summer. Thirty Explorers, hiking over the mountain trails at the Philmont Scout ranch in New Mexico, set the pace for the 55 Scout and Explorer contigent, who will join 53,200 others at the 5th national jamboree at Colorado Springs, Colo., next July. The quota of boys for the National Jamboree has been completely exhansted, announced Jack Penrose of Traverse City, chairman of the Council's camping committee.

In anticipation of increased enrollment in Scouting and of increased attendance at Camp Greilick, the camp development committee completed a large sturage building last summer with the outstanding cooperation of the Home Builders association. With the assistance of Jesse Besser and friends of Scouting in Alpena, a brand new shower building is in prospect for 1960, announced Richard Harwood of Traverse City, chairman uf camp development.

Scouting's record growth enabled the first edition of the Scout-O-Ramos to be quite successful. In celebrations of Scouting's Golden Anniversary, Scout-O-Ramas will again be conducted in the districts. The aims of these shows are four-fold: To interpret Scouting to the viewing public; to provide stimulating unit program opportunities; to enable Troops, Packs and Explorer units to earn some additional money for their unit treasuries; to provide a minimum amount of additiunal money with which the council can purchase capital equipment for Camp Greilick, and thus improve the program opportunities for those Scouts attending.

In reflecting upon the progress made by the council during the past two years, Mr. Stevens concluded by stating that the 50th Anniversary of Scouting will provide a golden opportunity, not only for the national organization but more particularly for the Scenic Trails Council of youth. ward in the service of yuuth.

Weekend Offers March of Dimes Special Events

Two special events, a teen-age dance, and a buffet supper will be held this weekend for the benefit of the March of Dimes fund campaign, Mrs. Louis Hooper, local fund chairman, has announced.

Judy Koteskey and Joe Beaudoin head up the student committee fur the Teen-age dance to be held at the K. P. hall over Williams News stand from 8:30 to midnight Saturday. Bill Cary, adult chairman, said there would be dancing to records and refreshments at the party which last year was one of the most popular events of the winter season.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Geneit are co-chairman of the buffet supper at the Airport Inn for the benefit of the new March of Dimes. Serving of the supper which will feature an assortment of home-cooked foods will begin at 11 p. m.

The Mother's March was [illegible] for Wednesday night.

The buffet supper at the Weathervane Inn last week netted $291.03 and the special Coffee Day Friday brought in a total of $37.62.

Reserves Take Pellston 42-30

Charlevoix's little Rayders roled over the Pellston Reserves 42 to 30 to post their sixth win of the current season.

In Friday's game the local five paced by Stan Martin with 18 and Henry Wagner with 14 points led their host 9 to 6 at the quarter; 24 to 12 at the half and 36 to 19 at the three-quarter mark. Gillett had 10 and VanAvery 7 for Pellston.

Other starters for Charlevoix were Barry Pierce who had three point. Dan Pearl. George Majors, and Jack Stewart with five and Corky Curtis with two points, Tony Du[illegible]r, Jim Rohm and Bruce Murray also saw action.

Include $330,000 In 1961 Budget for USCG Improvement

A request for $330,000 to be used for the construction of a new U. S. Coast Guard lifeboat station here is included in the federal budget for the fiscal year 1961, it was announced this week by Congressman Victor A. Knox.

A breakdown of the figure shows that it would be used thusly: site preparation, $16,000; dredging, $6,000; piling, $135,000; electronic equipment, $5,000, garage $35,000; drive and parking area, $8,000; utilities, $5,000; remodeling machinery room, $8,000; furniture, and equipment, $19,000; administration expense, $24,000.

The request for the funds was made by the Treasury Department in behalf of the U. S. Coast Guard.

The fact that the appropriation was included in the 1961 budget is no assurance that the project will get underway in the near future.

Skiing Reported Good at McSauba

Skiing at the Mt McSauba ski run is excellent, according to King Saunders, manager of the popular local park, who said that there is now a 12 to 14 inch solid base and 6 to 8 inches of powder snow on both the beginners and the [illegible] ski runs.

With cold nights and sunny but cold days the excellent skiing should continue for some time, he said.

Only minor adjustments need to be made on the new electric ski tow before it can be put into operation, Bill Feentman, president of the Charlevoix-Mt McSauba Recreation Corp., said Wednesday. It is hoped this can be made so the tow can be placed in operation for the weekend, he said.

Mrs. Joseph [illegible] is [illegible] at the park Wednesday and Saturday afternoons to give skiing lessons. She will be available at other times if needed.

Section Markers Obsolete

Uniform System Inaugurated

Courier Photo

By Fran Martin

Charlevoix county has taken the lead in the state in the use of a standard marker to desigate section and quarter corners of property and the registering of this pertinent information at the uffice of the Register of Deeds for use by future surveyors.

The establishment of the registry system and the uniform markers followed action taken by the Charlevoix county board of supervisurs in October, 1958. At that time T. R. Miller was named to head a committee composed of Clarence Rabach, Charles A. Robinsun, Rebert Barnett of East Jordan, Russell Curtis and Mary C. Feindt, county surveyor, to establish the registry system and a standard marker.

The first of these markers was placed last week at Durance's Corner in Charlevoix township where Mercer Blvd. crosses Mt. McSauba road.

The original govenment surveys and eurners established in Charlevoix county between 1840 and 1850 are still used as the basis of all surveys and property descriptions The majority of markers used at that time were wooden stakes and lines blazed on trees, which through the years, have disappeared.

There were ineterested landowners, however, who did make an effort to mark corners by use of other wooden stakes, pipes, old plow points, stones with crosses parts of binders and mowing machines, railroad irons and other types of markers. A few of the original seribing marks on witness trees, made more than 100 years ago, are still found There are some roads and fences which follow approximately the old lines through the woods.

The knowledge of the location of old corners, their history and present markers exist now only in the minds of old-timers and in the notes of private surveyors who have used them in more recent surveys, Mr. Miller explained. This was done only after all available information and evidene was sifted before estab-

One Sentenced, Four Arraigned In Circuit Court

Judge Charles L. Brown, presiding at a special session of circuit court here Friday, sentenced a Boyne City youth to Southern Michigan prison and arraigned four other persons.

Roy Cool, 19, of Boyne City, was sentenced to two to 15 years in Southern Michigan prison on a charge of breaking into the Hankey Lumber Co. at Boyne City last August.

Lawrence N. Shananaquet, 22, of Petoskey, who was charged with breaking into Jacob's restaurant in Boyne Falls the night of April 5 and taking approximately $180, changed his plea from not guilty to guilty. His case was referred to the probation officer for pre-sentence investigation. He was returned to jail under $2500 bond.

Betty Ann Seitmon, 18, of Harbor Springs, who was charged with the same break-in, pleaded guilty and her case referred for pre-sentence investigation. She was returned to jail under $2500 bond.

Randall L. Kies, 17, pleaded guilty to a charge of robbery unarmed and his case referred to the probation officer for pre-sentence investigation. Bond was reduced to $1,000 from $2,500 at the request of Prosecutor Harvey Varnum. He was returned to the jail.

Reserves Take Easy Win

Charlevoix Reserves rolled over the Boyne City J-V's 33 to 16 Tuesday night after leading their hosts 8 to 6; 15 to 9 and 23 to 13 by quarters.

Henry Wagner paced the local five with 12 points. Dunsmore had 7 for Boyne City.

Vote--Don't Just Talk

Commenting editorially the Ontario, Oregon Argus-Observer, said in part, "Louise Humphrey, Portland tax expert, hit the nail on the head in her speech before the Oregon Farm Bureau Federation when she blamed taxpayer apathy as one of the big reason for ever-increasing expenditures, some necessary, some unnecessary.

"Everyone gripes, but only a small handful care enough to try to do something. Major decisions involving large expenditures of money or just policy, are passed every day without a lift of an eyebrow or comment from the average citizen.

"Too often the comment is 'What can I do? How I feel doesn't make any difference.' How wrong is this attitude. Each and everyone of us has a weapon—our vote. If only we could be bothered to take time to mark a ballot when it is presented to us, we could do something. Too often, only a few take the time to vote—exposing us not to the rule by majority, but to the rule of minority.

Mrs. Humphrey told the Farm Bureau convention that expenditures should be challenged as to necessity, that elimination of some items would not necessarily "unlock jail doors and close school doors."

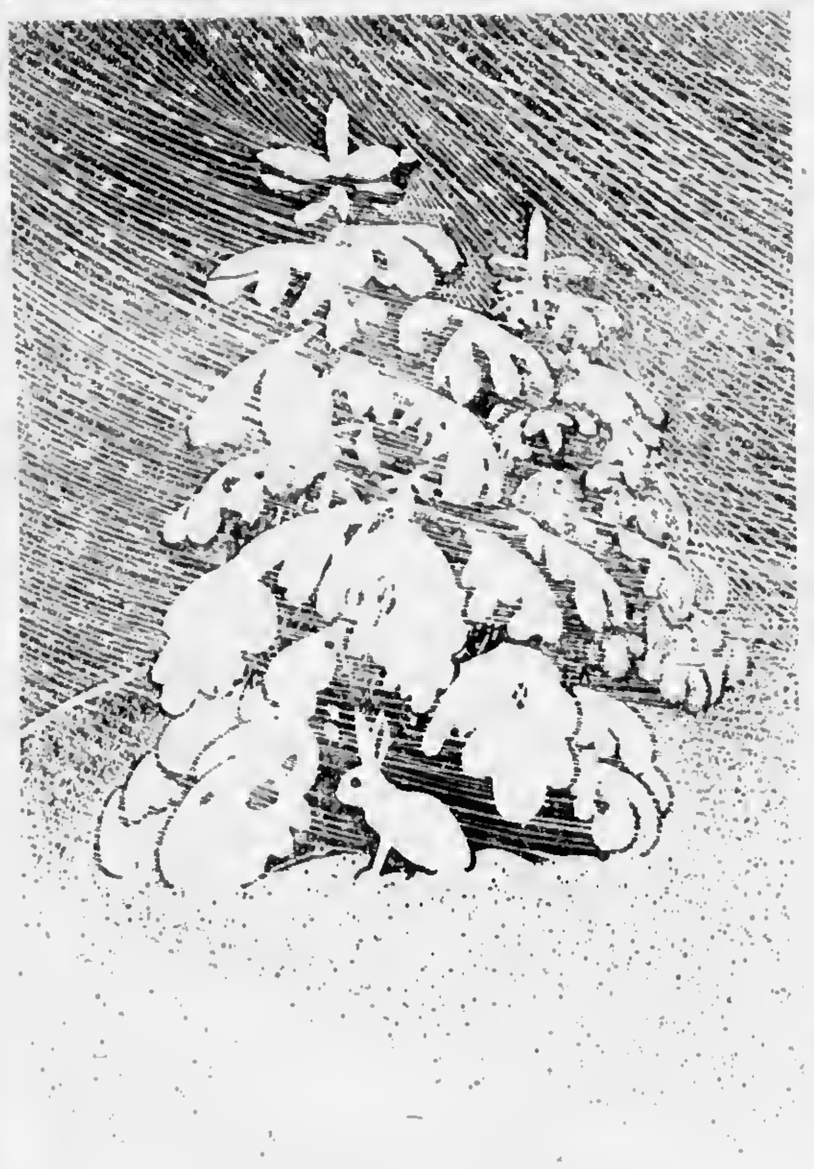
Nntes from a northerner's diary

By Harold E. Kohn



Obedience Is Power

As light wanes and a cold day hardens into colder night whirlpools of snowflakes, whipped by a northwesterly gale, swirl earthward in wild confusion. Driven by growling winds, snow piles in low mounds around the sloping skirts of balsam, hemlock and spruce where crouch the big-eyed hares, where nestle the gem-eyed mice. The frost-bitten foundations of our house are blanketed by billowing drifts gathering from the wide expanses of Lake Michigan.

Now a local radio announcer begins his report of the changes Nature makes in man's plans. Meetings called for this evening are being cancelled. The Cub Scouts will not meet with Mrs. R. tonight, "because of the storm." The Ladies' Auxiliary will postpone tonigh's meeting . . . The Men's Club . . . The West Side Association . .. and so it goes. Wind-chastened, cold-stiffened, snow-dazzled Northerners abandon all plans for the evening save those for keeping safe and warm.

Such weather as this is a corrective for our ego-centric tendencies. A blizzard may wipe out distances while resoring perspective: Man's boasted bigness and self-reliance is reduced to his real smallness and dependence. A man's ego shrinks in a storm, and he sees how dependent he is on the seasons, on the weather, hew desperately necessary it is that he mantain his internal body temperature of 98.6 degrees. It is good to be reminded that this is not a man-centered universe—that something bigger and more awesome is going on other than neat arrangemens for man's convenience. My wish for a bright and sunny winter's day will not change the direction of the wind nor diminish the force of the storm. And, thank God, my prayer that this blizzard will stop instantly because I want to go to town now will be unavailing. If my whims could change the weather God could cease being God. If He were honor-bound to answer all man's prayers concerning blizzards, floods, or temptation affirmatively and instantly, man would control the universe. God would be slave to man's wishes. Thank God that God remains God! And being God the answers must be His answers, not our answers thrust upon His lips. They must be His answers, in His time, backed by His wisdom and His concern for our needs. Not our flimsiest fancies, nor our comfort nor our conveniences are His concern—but our characters and eternal destiny. A hardship may build more soul and testing may strengthen more moral fiber than all the pleasantness an easy life can afford us. Storms have a rightful place in this kind of a world.

A hammering gale frees us from our ego-centric trap. We are shown how futile are all man's boasted technolical triumphs, all man's infintely varied inventions. Our ambitious attention of soundly trouncing Nature seem strangely dimmed by a snowstorm sweeping out of the North. Tonight we are doing what man always has had to do at last if he was to survive—adjust to Nature, which is our secularized way of saying "adjust to God". We are learning which way the wind blows, how much snow can be expected and how long the storm will last, and we shall prepare for the seige accordingly. In short we shall learn and obey. We are no longer the center of everything. A force bigger than we are, a power that was here before us and that will be here when we are all gone is expressing itself. We bend to it. We obey.

If we are to progress or merely exist in the world this is now it always will be done—through obedience. We shall learn Nature's way and obey. We shall discover the Higher Will and follow it. All man's boasts of "conquering Nature" are empty. Nature has never been conquered, nor even pushed back an inch, in its skirmishes with man. We but discover more about Nature and obey the "more" we have learned. All advances are made in this manner. When heart disease and cancer eventually, if ever, become extinct the triumph will not be affected by man gaining victory over Nature. Scientists will win because they have bowed humbly over sick bodies, over microscope slides and charts and records, and they have watched how disease works. They will learn the condition under which these diseases prosper and conditions which discourage or prevent them. Then, obeying Nature's clues, they will press forward in the war on disease. Nature will not be conquered, but some higher secret will be disclosed and some yet unknown law will be obeyed. In science obedience is power.

A snowstorm reminds us of our real place. We are in a world of greater force and a Higher Power. We are not Creator but creatures, not masters but learners and servants. The chief aim of the soul ... to learn the Higher Will and to do it.

Obedience is power.

Dr. Roy Edelfelt To Be Speaker At P. T. A. Meet

Dr. Roy Edelfelt of the Department of Administration and Educational Services at Michigan State University will be the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the P. T. A. to be held at high school music room at 8 p. m. Wednesday.

"The High School Program" will be the subject of Dr. Edelfelt's talk which will be followed by a discussion period.

Dr. Edelfelt participated in the school survey conducted by the P. T. A. and is familiar with the local school system and the community. His chief concern is the program for the high school which, he feels, should be as good as possible. It is his contention that a beautiful new school does not necessarily make a good program; that this is something that must be under study at all times because it is a changing thing.

All parents and friends of the school who are interested in the educational welfare of the children of the community are urged to attend this important meeting.

Credit Union Holds Annual Meeting

The third annual meeting of the Charlevoix Credit Union, a Catholic sponsored saving union was held at St. Mary's School Hall Wednesday, January 13, 1960.

The meeting was called to order by Dr. Gerold Gibbons, president. Business for the evening included a financial and statistical report showing the progress of the Credit Union during the first three years of operation.

Election of officers was held during the course of business, Dr. Gerald Gibbons was re-elected as president, as was Fr. E. F. Denay as vice president and Ralph S. Hamilton to the supervisory committee.

Joseph Burn was elected to the credit committee after filling a vacancy, all other officers retained their post for a term of three years.

After all business had been concluded the movie "Picture of Unity" was shown, followed by refreshments of coffee and donuts and the drawing for door prizes. Mrs. Denver Jackson, was the winner of the set of eight tumblers while Joe Brun and John Sladek Jr. both won nice hams.

Betrothed

Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey McDonald of East Jordan have announced the engagement of their daughter, Jean Margaret, to Glen Thomas Bearss, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bearss.

The date for the wedding has not been set.

Miss McDonald is a graduate of the East Jordan high school and is employed as a dental assistant. Mr. Bearss is a graduate of the Charlevoix high school and is employed at the Freedman Artcraft Engineering Corporation.

Mrs. Gebeau Hosts Past Matrons

The Past Matrons' club met Monday at the home of Mrs. Harry Gebeau with Mrs. Alfred Gill as co-hostess.

Mrs. Wayne Belding was received as a new member.

A social hour and refreshments following the business session.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Lyla Arvilla.

Little Flower Guild Elects

Mrs. Frank Bourgoin was elected president of the Little Flower Guild of St. Mary's church at the annual meeting and election of officers held Wednesday evening.

She was named to succeed Mrs. Robert Chastain.

Other new officers are: vice president, Mrs. Nicholas Hamilton; secretary, Mrs. Francis Left and treasurer, Mrs. Danford Gallagher.

Plans for the year were discussed briefly at the business meeting which was followed by a social hour and refreshments.

Girl Scout News

Girl Scout troop 4 met Monday with our president, Mary Gallagher, presiding. She asked the secretary to read the minutes of the last meeting and the treasurer, Donna Williams, to collect dues and present a financial report.

We talked about curtains for the house at our new camp site. Callie Gallagher brought the treat. We went home after our goodnight circle.

Don't Disdain the Common Cold!

You can't "laugh off' a cold! Even the most minor case of "sniffles" should be treated for what it is—a "break" in your resistance. A "break' that has the potential to become a serious respiratory infection. If your cold doesn't respond quickly to proven home remedies—or if it is accompanied by chills and fever—consult a physician and obtain his prescribed treatment without delay. Remember, a medically treated cold is only a minor inconvenience. A neglected cold is a serious ailment.

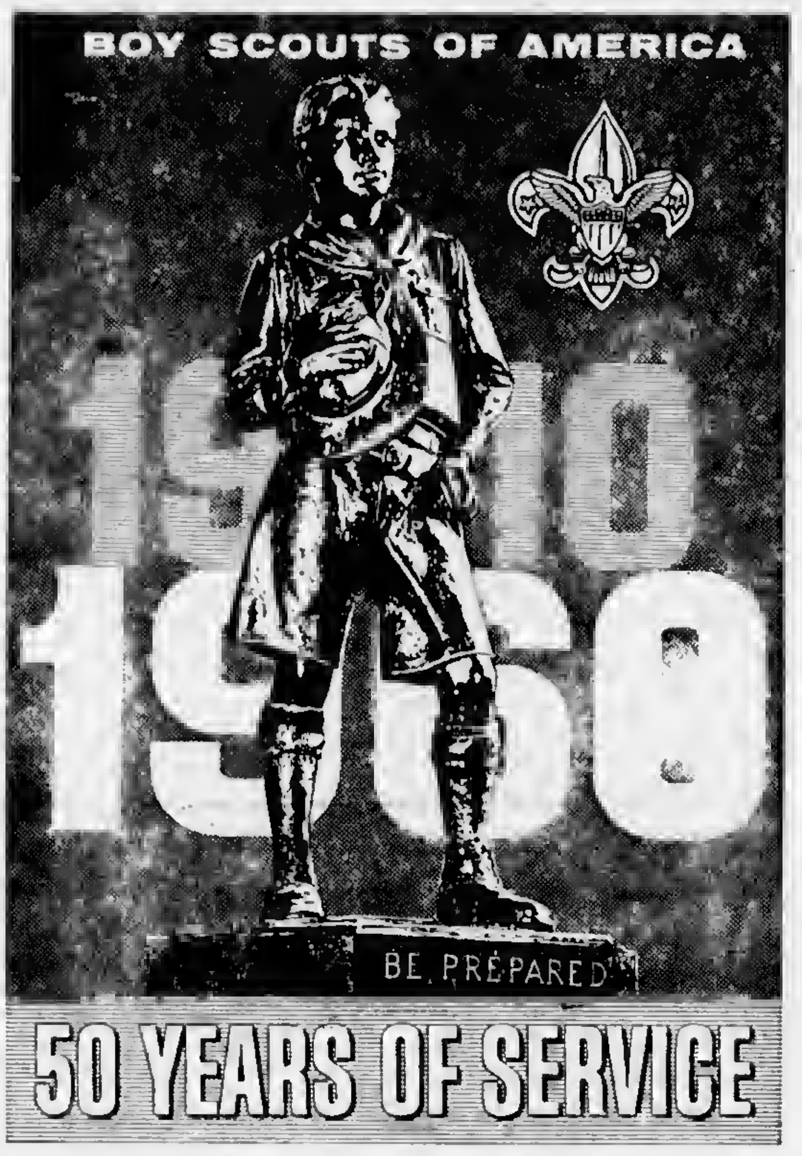
Boy Scouts Mark 50th Anniversary



Official Poster for Boy Scouts' 50 Year Celebration

More than 5,000,000 boys and leaders of the Boy Scouts of America will begin the observance of their 50th anniversary year during Boy Scout Week, February 7 to 13. The golden anniversary will be observed in every city and town and most villages in the United States and territories. The Scout alumni since 1910 exceeds 28,500,000 strong.

The theme of the anniversary is "For God and Country."

The high point of Scouting in 1960 will be the Fifth National Scout Jamboree when 53,200 Boy Scouts, Explorers and their leaders will camp at a 2,000-acre tent city on a ranch at Colorado Springs, Colorado next July 22 to 28.

Those remaining at home will conduct Cub Scout Jubilees, Boy Scout Jubilee Camporees and Explorer Jubilee Field Days the weekend the National Jamboree is in progress.

The National Good Turn for 1960 by the Boy Scouts of America will be their third non-partisan Get-Out-the-Vote campaign, conducted in cooperation with the Freedoms Foundation of Valley Forge.

Michigan Mirror

By ELMER E. WHITE

THE AXE is poised again over more than half of Michigan's school districts which offer incomplete education programs. Whether the blow is dealt depends on the Legislature.

About 1,500 of the state's 2,200 school districts cannot offer a full "K-12" — kindergarten thru 12th grade—program.

The K-12 bill that would have forced consolidation of these districts passed the House last year but died in the Senate. Another bill is expected to be tried — but not before there is legislation to clarify tax millage disputes that would develop out of forced consolidation.

BIGGER BILLS will be presented to taxpayers for education.

Even if there is no change in the state school aid formula—and there probably won't be—the bill for public schools will go up about $14 million. This much will be needed to pay out in full the amount that will be committed to schools under the present formula.

State assistance for school building construction has been proposed by Lynn M. Bartlett, superintendent of public instruction. He said state would distribute between $5 million and $25 million to local school districts on a per capita basis.

Bartlett says Michigan needs at least 9,000 new classrooms.

COMMUNITY Colleges appear to have an increasingly brighter future in Michigan. Bartlett sees a 10 per cent increase in enrollment next fall. Currently, there are 17,000 students enrolled in the state's 16 community colleges.

Although they had slices of state aid, community colleges have grown primarily through community effort. They have had little, if any, direction from Lansing. Bartlett says it now is about time for Michigan to have a Community College Development Commission to serve in an advisory capacity.

Bartlett says Michigan also should be giving serious consideration to the extension of free public education beyond the 12th grade. This would be a bold and controversial step.

THE DECADE ahead offers major challenges in education.

But urgency of school problems is sometimes hard to market among those who don't have was one of the first introduced in the 1960 Legislature. It was hardly noticed in the opening-day flurry at the Capitol, yet could develop into one of the major issues before lawmakers this year.

• • •

AN UNDERDOG complex has developed among townships officials in the inter-government struggles.

Parisi called for help from the Governor and Legislature "to assist us in gaining first class citizenship for the residents of our townships."

"We in the townships are ready to discuss or negotiate with other units of government, any time they are ready to treat us as co-equal citizens," Parisi said.

The townships appear ready for their struggle for survival in one of the nation's fastest growing states.

RED TAPE would be slashed by a legislative proposal designed, among other things, to reduce the cost of going to court.

A committee of lawyers, judges, educators and court officers had the legislation drafted after more than three years of study.

The bill, authored by Rep. Thomas Whinery (R-Grand Rapids), schonlage children — or have forgotten when they did.

The Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers and the Michigan Association of School Boards are trying to stimulate interest in school issues at a series of 13 regional conferences.

All taxpayers will find them worthwhile.

A STAB IN THE BACK. That's what township officials are trying to avoid these days.

They were told by their executive director, Joseph Parisi, to beware of "do-gooders and reformers" who want to streamline government "under the guise of efficiency, economy and so forth . . ."

The Michigan Townships Association adopted a series of resolutions aimed at preserving the status quo in the structure of local government.

COURTS, LIKE hospitals, are expensive places to be.

The Whinery bill would help cut the cost by providing for a single form of civil action. This would help eiminate the need for several different court suits arising from the same cause.

Unnecessary paperwork would be eliminated, procedures for starting court action would be simplified, and the need for actual court appearances would be reduced.

It appears the scales of justice need oiling.

lishing a corner accordingly with standard procedure set by the Federal Land Office.

These old corners were estab- a matter of public record. Remain public property, Mr. Miller continued. A few counties in the state have a registry system whereby the location and marking of section corners are made a matter of public record. recognizing the value of a public record and the preservation of these old corners when found or re-established by registered surveyors prompted the board of supervisors to adopt the resolution which resulted in the registry system and the uniform marker which carriers suecific information regarding the township, range and section, Mr. Miller said.

Any registered surveyor may obtain from Mrs. Feindt, the Register of Deeds, a corner county surveyor, or the office of marker designed especially for Charlevoix county and a certification blank to be filled out after the marker is placed. Any land owner having a survey made involving section or quarter markers may ask to have the markers registered. This system applies only to section and quarter corners, If any land owner has one he would like on record, he is asked to consult a registered surveyor.

County Soil Maps Near Completion

All of the land in Charlevoix County will soon be covered by a [illegible] soil type map. The Soil Conservation Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture [illegible] [illegible] work of [illegible] [illegible] map of Charlevoix [illegible] Michigan State University [illegible] Agricultural Experimental [illegible] cooperating agency [illegible] project.

[illegible] Stanley Alfred [illegible] Larson, of the Soil Conservation Service started work last spring in mapping on the progressive soil survey. Prior to 1959 only Soil Conservation District cooperators' land was mapped.

Over one-third of the county had been mapped by the close of the mapping season in the fall of 1959. All of the land west of a line running north and south through East Jordan, from the county line on the south to Lake Charlevoix on the north, has been mapped. The rest of the county has only scattered SCD cooperators land mapped. This area will be completed in the next two years.

A soil type map is prepared by making detailed studies of the soil. The soil is examined by making borings with an auger, digging a pit with a shovel and the inspection of new road cuts. These studies are to determine the texture of the soil by estimating the relative percentage of sand, silt and clay present. The color of the different sections of a verticle profile, which are called soil horizons, are observed to determine the natural drainage and the degree of leaching that has taken place. How the soil particles are held together, which is called soil structure, is also noted. Boundaries of soil types are delineated on an aerial photograph. The symbol placed within a soil boundary showed the kind of soil found in that area, the percentage of slope or the number of feet rise or fall of the land surface in a hundred feet of distance and the degree of erosion.

Some of the uses that can be made of [illegible] map are: Farm planning to reduce soil erosion; [illegible] plans for reforestation, conservation of water and watershed problems, and [illegible] use [illegible] zoning and [illegible] [illegible] by rural zoning [illegible] township supervisors.

STATE OF MICHIGAN
In the Probate Court for the County of Charlevoix

In the Matter of the Petition of Consumers Power Company, a corporation, for the Condemnation of Certain Interests in Lands in Charlevoix County, Michigan, for the Purpose of Transmitting, Distributing, Selling and Supplying Electric Energy for Public Use No................

ORDER SETTING DATE FOR HEARING AND ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE

At a session of said Court held in the Probate Office in the City of Charlevoix, in said County, on the 19th day of January, 1960.

Present: HONORABLE WILLIAM T. DOWNS, Judge of Probate.

It appearing to the Court that Consumers Power Company, a public utility generating, producing, transmitting and supplying electric energy to the public generally in various parts of the State of Michigan did, on the 19th day of January, 1960, file in said Court a petition for the condemnation of certain lands and interests therein for public utility purposes, which lands and interests therein are hereinafter described, and praying among other things, that the Court by order fix a date for the hearing of said petition, and requiring the parties named in said petition as being interested in the parcels described in said petition, and all other persons interested in said parcels of land or any part thereof, to appear and answer such petition, and show cause, if any they have, against the same, and

It further appearing to the Court that said petition prays that the Court, upon the hearing of such petition, appoint three disinterested freeholders as commissioners to determine the necessity of the proposed public use, and the necessity of acquiring and using the parcels of land, or interests therein described in said petition, for the purposes named, and the just compensation to be paid therefor to each of the owners thereof, or to those otherwise interested therein, as and for his, her, their, or its just compensation for the interests in lands sought to be taken by this proceeding, and

It further appearing to the Court that the names of the persons mentioned in said petition as being interested in said proceedings as owners or otherwise of the several parcels of land therein described, and the descriptions of the parcels sought to be acquired are as set forth in Schedule A which is attached hereto and made a part hereof, and

It further appearing that the interest sought to be acquired with respect to each parcel described in Schedule A is as follows:

The easement and right to erect, lay and maintain one line of poles, wires, cables, conduits and other fixtures and appurtenances for the purpose of transmitting and distributing electricity and/or conducting a communication business on, over, under and across the parcels of land described in Schedule A, including all public highways upon or adjacent to said parcels of land; the route to be taken by said line of poles, wires, cables and conduits across, over and under said land being more specifically described with reference to each described parcel.

With full right and authority to Consumers Power Company, its successors, licensees, lessees or assigns, and its and their agents and employees, to enter at all times upon said premises for the purpose of constructing, repairing, removing, replacing, improving, enlarging and maintaining such cables, conduits and poles and other supports, with all necessary braces, guys and anchors and stringing thereon and supporting and suspending therefrom lines of wires, cables or other conductors for the transmission of electrical energy and/or communication, and also the right, at any time, to trim, remove, destroy or otherwise control all trees and brush on a strip of land 90 feet in width being 45 feet on each side of (and measured at right angles to) the center line of said electric transmission line, also the right to remove all trees greater than 45 feet in height standing or growing on a strip of land 140 feet in width being 70 feet on each side of (and measured at right angles to) the center line of said transmission line. Said easement shall be subject to the condition that no buildings or other structures will be placed under such wires and/or over such cables without the written consent of said Consumers Power Company, and the condition that nonuse or a limited use of this easement by Consumers Power Company shall not prevent Consumers Power Company from later making use of the easement to the full extent herein authorized.

It further appearing to the Court from the petition filed herein, and from proof of affidavit on file herein, that certain of the persons and parties named in said Schedule A reside out of the County of Charlevoix and are absent therefrom.

It is therefore ordered that the 10th day of February, 1960, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon (EST) at the Probate Office of Charlevoix County, County Building, in the City of Charlevoix, Michigan, and is hereby fixed as the time and place for the hearing on the said petition, and that the persons or parties named in said Schedule A, and all other persons interested in said parcels of land, or any part thereof, shall appear and answer such petition, and show cause, if any they have, against the same.

It is further ordered that a copy of this order shall be served at least ten days before the day of hearing upon such of the parties named in said Schedule A as reside in and can be found in Charlevoix County, and upon parties in possession of the described premises, if other than the owner or owners thereof, and which service shall be made as in such case made and provided.

It is further ordered that notice of this hearing be given by publication of this order in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper published and circulated in Charlevoix County, one in each week for two successive weeks immediately preceding the said day of hearing, and that a copy of such order be mailed to each of the parties who reside out of said County, and each of the parties who have residences in but are absent from said County, at their last known post office address, in so far as is known, by registered mail, prepaid, with return receipt demanded, at least fifteen days prior to said date of hearing.

Moonlight rolled over Swanson's Gravel Tuesday night for four points to take the number one spot in the second half. Everyone bowled over his average for Moonlight. Geneit had high game and high series with a 205 and 530 series, followed by Ance with a 129 and 512 series. For Swanson's, Ferguson bowled his average with a 521 series, followed by Swanson with 454.

Neff's and Steve's rolled to a 2-2 split. Neff's took the first game by 119 pins which proved to be enough for total pins. Steve's took the last two games. For Neffs, Bergman had a 212 and 505 series. Livingston followed with a 211 game and 505 series. It was a bad night for Steve's. Meggison was high with 205 and 523. Miller had a 495 series. Cellner, who rolled a 659 series in Petoskey last week, got off to a bad start and dropped to a 119 for his first game.

United Farm stayed in a tie for second place by a 2-2 split with Freedman's No. 2. Boss led United Farm with a 471 series. Dreumel followed with a 505. Parsel led Freedman's with a 505 series and Neswander had a 503

Central Drug took it on the chin by three points when Airport rolled a high team game and a high team series for the year. Al Bergman hit a 235 game and 505 series for Central. Ochs followed with a 455 series. For Airport, Anderson got a 204 and 209 for a 595 series. Milligan had a 537 series. Airport's skipper was low man on his team with a 506-series.

Freedman's No. 1 took a 1-3 loss to Puff's after a re-check of the tally sheets. John had a 203 and 574 series for Freedman's and Jesse rolled a 445 series. Puff's Big Ron scored a 200 game and 506 series.

Browe Electric came out of the cellar by topping Lake Construction by four points. Sladek had the high game of his career with a 222 for Browe. His series was 156. Moore also rolled his highest series. Bill Evers rolled 110 above his average for Construction. He was high with 482, followed by George with 462.

Satchelfoot Bouncing Back

Michigan's snowshoe hare, a victim of population "ups" and "downs," is bouncing back from his cyclic low of recent years. Conservation Department field men report northern Michigan's snowshoe population is abovo last winter when hunters killed 313,000 hares. This was the highest kill figure since the winter of 1954-55. Now that many hunters have swung their attention his way, the satchel-footed hare will take full advantage of his winter-white coat to evade these pursuers. His seasonal camouflaga also helps the snowshoe to hide from many swampland enemies.

Although the problems involved may differ, man doesn't stand alone with his "ups" and "downs."

Take the snowshoe hare, for instance. This satchel-footed animal is a victim of the so-called "game cycle' in which his numbers dip and rise quite regularly through a period covering roughly 10 years.

This "roller coaster-like" fluctuation in the snowshoe's population is nothing new nor is it isolated to Michigan. These cycles have existed for hundreds of years as classically told by trapping records of the Hudson's Bay Company.

There are several schools of thought concerning the cause of cycles but no one has yet come up with the answer or answers, as the case may be. For every theory, there is evidence contradicting it.

Nevertheless, students of cycles are generally agreed, that whatever the original cause, it operates on the animals through its effect on diseases, nutrition or the reproductive system of the animals.

Biologists at the Conservation Department's Cusino wildlife experiment station are currently making nutritional and reproductive studies on snowshoes. They are convinced that hunting pressure is not the cause of cycles; the animals experience periods of abundance and scarcity even where they aren't hunted.

While it appears that man can do little to control cycles at the moment, this year's hunting picture is encouraging.

The snowshoe is bouncing back from his cyclic low of recent years. Conservation Department field men and this fall's deer hunters reported that northern Michigan's snowshoe population is above last winter when 313,000 hares were killed. This was the highest kill figure since the winter of 1954-55.

As further encouragement, hunters bagged 500,000 snowshoes in both 1939 and 1949 when the animals were at the peak of their cycles. If this pattern holds true, hunters may find the 1959-60 winter to be another peak season.

Special Train Would Tell 'Michigan Story'

LANSING—Sen. John Stahlin's dream of a special railroad train touring the Mid-west and the East to tell the "Michigan Story" was speeding on a main line this week.

Industries and business enterprises throughout the state responded with unexpected enthusiasm after the plan was made public by the Senator, who is a manufacturer of electrical components in Belding.

Stahlin is a Republican. But he keep the venture free of all politics. He is being joined by Democrats, including Gov. Williams.

"Michigan was given a black eye during the long struggle over new taxes," Senator Stahlin said. "We have fought our way out of that turmoil. Our problem today is to get to the nation with the truth that Michigan is not suffering from fatal decline.

"Industrialists and business men are offering to help.

"But I would like to hear from the people of the state—the workers in our factories, the farmers and the white-collar workers."

Stahlin asked that the people give their opinions on the plan by writing him at the State Senate.

"The cost of about $150.00 would be underwritten by industry which I believe are disturbed by the bad publicity received by Michigan," Stahlin said. They want to publicize the true picture telling of Michigan's supremacy and and advantages in many fields."

The train would have several special cars to carry displays and exhibits of the products of our principle manufacturers and and utilities and would graphically tell the "Michigan Story". This train would requir the cooperation and support of the Michigan manufacturers, representatives and sales officials in the various cities where stops would be made.

The train would be under the sponsorship of the Michigan Railroad association.

Tentative itinerary calls for a visit to approximately 18 of the largest cities where special luncheon and dinner parties would be staged aboard the train with the cities principle figures as guests. Presidents and top officials of the various important Michigan corporations would spend several days each on the train and tell the "Michigan Story" at the luncheons or dinners.

In addition to the special exhibit cars, there would be a twin unit diner, plus lounge car and pullman to accommodate the personnel making the trip. It is anticipated that the train would be composed of approximately 13 cars and would be painted in appropriate colors and lettered in order to attract attention and tell our story.

Plans Progress for Annual P.T.A. Fair

Various committees, working together, promise that the third annual PTA Fair will be the most successful one so far. Because of the entousiasm and favorable reception the Fair received last year, everyone is hopeful that the 1960 evect will surpass the others.

A variety of entertainment has been planned for children and adults on the evening of Feb. 20th, beginning at 5 p.m. with a supper in the cafeteria.

All grades will participate in the Fair. The Kindergarten will have a Penny Pitch. One First Grade class will sponsor Bomb's Away. Another First Grade class will feature Ring-The-Thing and Nail Pounding. A third First Grade class will handle the Fish Pond. All three Second Grade classes will have Grab Bags. The Third Grade will feature a Roulette Wheel. The Fourth Grade will sell Old Books, etc. The Fifth Grade will hold a Kangaroo Court. The Sixth Grade will show Movies. The Seventh Grade will sell pop corn. The Eighth Grade will handle the tickets. The Ninth Grade will sell Balloons. The Tenth Grade will have a White Elephant Sale. The 11th Grade will be in charge of the Hat Check counter and the 12th Grade will assist in the kitchen.

Mrs. Robert Hamilton will be in charge of the booth committee. Mr. Robert Hamilton will be head of the Clean-up. The food planning committee is headed by Eleanor Schultz, Mrs. Thomas Weidman, Mrs. John Geer and Mrs. Elmer Ostrem.

Wayne Belding will contribute his talent again this year by drawing portraits and cartoon impressions.

The JayCees will sponsor a Throw-the-Sponge Booth.

The Kiwanis Club will sponsor a Food Booth.

The Country Store will sponsor a booth, headed by Mrs. Robert Straw.

The Retarded Children will have a booth, and the Pep Club will sponsor a dance in the school gym, following the affair. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Neff and Mr. and Mrs Kenyon will be chaperones.

Proceeds of the fair will be placed in a special PTA sinking fund which will be used to purchase new equipment for the new school as well as to defray current expenses of the PTA.

Mrs. Paul Olson and Mrs. Karl Schultz are co-chairmen of the Fair and have worked diligently to insure its success. Mrs. William Hatigan is head of publicity. Mrs. Bunny Goss is in charge of the PTA activities.

Funeral Services Held Saturday for W. J. Fessenden

William J. Fessenden, 49, former druggist and veteran of World War II, died Thursday at the Charlevoix hospital where he had been a patient for four days. He had been in failing health for the past seven years.

Funeral services were held Saturday at the Winchester Funeral Home with the Rev. Harold E. Kohn officiating. Burial was in Brookside cemetery.

Born in Petoskey Aug. 26, 1910, Mr. Fessenden lived in Central Lake until coming here in 1921. He was graduated from the Charlevoix high school in 1927. Following his graduation from the Ferris Institute School of Pharmacy, he was associated with his father in the F. J. Fessenden & Son drug store here until June 1942. He served in the U. S. Navy during World War II. From the time of his discharge until he was forced into retirement in 1954 by ill health, he was with the Charlevoix county Bureau of Social Aid. He was a member of the First Congregational church.

He is survived by his wife, the former Eileen O'Brien, whom he married in 1934; a son, Thomas J., a graduate student at Massachusetts Institute of Technology at Cambridge, Mass.; a daughter, Kathleen, a student at St. Scholastica College in Duluth, Minn., and a sister, Mrs. Charles Hahn of Muskegon.

To Serve Annual Fish Fry Supper At Church of God

Plans for a fish fry to be held at the Community Church of God Fellowship Hall Wednesday were announced this week.

Serving will begin at 5 p.m. and continue until 7 according to the Rev. George L. Majors, pastor of the church who is also general chairman of the event.

Committee chairmen who are assisting with the event are: tickets, Clarence Murray; kitchen, Mrs. Bruce Bartlett and Mrs. Thomas Maxwell; dining room, Mrs. Crayton Kerr; decoration, Betty Kerr; hostess, Mrs. Ingma Pontious; dessert and coffee, Mrs. Murray and clean-up, William Kerr.

Name County Men For Pre-induction

Charlevoix county will send four draft registrants for pre-induction physical examinations in March, Mrs. Mary Bourgoin, clerk of the board has announced.

There will be no draft call next month.

Five county draft registrants left Monday to fill the February draft quota. They were Paul A. Johnson of Charlevoix, Elmer Larson Jr. of East Jordan, Harley P. Parks, Larry D. Ward and John W. LaDere, all of Boyne City. The latter three are volunteers.

James I. Smith of Charlevoix and Arnold L. Massey of Boyne Falls will report Feb. 15 for preinduction physical examinations.

Soil Conservation Districts Elects Two Directors

Two directors were elected to the board at the eleventh annual meeting of the Charlevoix Soil Conservation district held last week at East Jordan. Peter Winnick who had previously been a director was elected to represent the area north of Charlevoix. Franklin Cellner, serving his first term on the board represents the district between Ironton and East Jordan.

Following the business meeting, Miss Els Lust, an exchange student from the Netherlands who is attending the East Jordan high school, gave an informative talk about her native land. Paul Barrett of Michigan State University concluded the program with an illustrated lecture on conservation and land.

Clayton Healey of East Jordan, chairman of the board, presided at the business meeting.

Kiwanians Plan Participation in Varied Programs

Robert Vratanina, registrar at North Central Michigan College in Petoskey and head of the college's guidance and counseling service, was the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Kiwanis club held Monday at the high school cafeteria.

He spoke on the subject of guidance and counseling in the field of education.

At the business meeting plans for the second annual Maple Syrup Festival were discussed; Glenn Kenney was inducted as a member of the service club; a report was made on the success of the annual Shrine Circus trip, the cost of which was partially underwritten by the club; the Klondike Derby to be held at Petoskey Sunday with which local Kiwanians will assist and the "Voice of Freedom" project in which the local club will participate this year as a club and inter-club project.

Monday's meeting featured a pancake supper prepared by the members.

Plan to Organize Citizens for Mich. Group in County

Plans have been made to organize a Citizens for Michigan in Charlevoix county next Monday evening, according to S. G. Arbuckle, Charlevoix county chairman.

The organizational meeting is to be held next Monday at 8 p.m. in the Dilworth hotel, Boyne City. George Schraut and other members of the organization are scheduled to speak and explain the program. Following organization of the county unit it is planned to organize local chapters in Boyne City, Charlevoix and East Jordan.

Mr. Arbuckle extends an invitation to all persons interested in Michigan's government to attend this meeting.

Shriners Treat Local Youngsters To Day at Circus

Last Thursday was Circus Day for 84 Charlevoix youngsters who made the trip to Grand Rapids to attend the Shrine Circus at the Civic Auditorium.

Making the trip were 76 members of the seventh grade, of the Charlevoix public school, six children of the Day Center operated by the Charlevoix Association to Aid Retarded Children and two crippled children.

Accompanying the youngsters were the seventh grade teachers, Leonard Burns and Terry Rice, seventh grade mothers, Mrs. Clarence Smith, Mrs. Clifford Riley and Mrs. Wayne Belding, Mrs. C. M. Bice who also served as nurse for the entire circus train and local Shriners, John Rathburn, Glenn Pemberton and A. C. Mort.

Charlevoix's delegation, numbering 101, was the largest on the circus train which carried 580 students from Traverse City to Grand Rapids for the one-day outing.

The Charlevoix students left here via school bus at 4:45 a.m. Thursday for Traverse City where thy boarded a special train. They were met at the station in Grand Rapids by buses, transported to the auditorium for a matinee performance of the circus and then returned to Traverse City and home, arriving here at 11 p.m.

Buffet Supper Nets $97.00 for March of Dimes

The March of Dimes buffet supper at the Airport Inn Saturday night netted a total of $97.00 according to Dan Geneit who with Mrs. Geneit and Mr. and Mrs. Perry Smith headed the committee for the event.

Mr. Geneit said special thanks should be given Maxbauer's Creamery, Edwards' Food Mart, Kroger Co., Essenberg's Grocery, the managers of the Airport Inn for the use of their facilities as well as their generous donation and all those who furnished food for the party.

The buffet was one of the fund-raising events for the new March of Dimes.

Charles E. Payne Dies Suddenly

Charles E. Payne, 76, a former Fenton resident who has lived here for the past two years, died early Tuesday at the home of George Shananaquet with whom he lived in recent months.

Funeral services will be held at the Craft Funeral Home in Fenton at 2 p.m. Friday. Burial will be in Oakwood cemetery.

Born at Port Leyden, N. Y., May 30, 1883, Mr. Payne came to Genessee county as a child. He served in the U. S. Army for a short time during 1916. Later he was employed as a railroad fireman and in railroad shops. In recent years he was employed as a gardener.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Irene Leabu of Wayne; a step-daughter, Mrs. Nina Phile of Fenton and a sister, Mrs. Howard Carlton of Detroit.

Hartford Editor New President of Michigan Press

New president of the Michigan Press Association is Jack C. Sinclair, publisher of the Hartford Day Spring. He was elected at the 92nd annual meeting of MPA Jan. 30 at Kellogg Center in East Lansing.

Other officers named are Dale Stafford, Greenville News, president-elect; James Tagg, Alma Record, first vice president; Vidian Roe, Fremont Times Indicator, treasurer. Elmer E. White was renamed executive secretary.

E. C. Hayhow, publisher of the Hillsdale News, is immediate past president.

Elected to the Board of Directors were John Batdorff, Traverse City Record Eagle; John P. Parks, Highland Parker; Walter J. Rummel, Sebewaing Blade.

The meeting, which was attended by more than 600 representatives of the newspaper industry, was climaxed by the 19th All Michigan Dinner. This banquet, co-sponsored by the Michigan Department of Agriculture, consists entirely of food produced in Michigan. Entree was pork loin, especially selected to illustrate the "new look in pork." The meat, leaner trimmer and tastier than pork in the past, is already available to the public from several Michigan packers.

Beaver Islanders Give $126.50 to March of Dimes

The residents of Beaver Island contributed generously to the new March of Dimes campaign to set a new record in per capita giving, according to Charles A. Robinson, Charlevoix county fund chairman.

The island drive, spearheaded by Vernon LaFreniere as fund chairman, report a total of $126.50 including 6.50 given by the students of the Beaver Island Community school.

The total represents more than 60 cents each for the approximately 200 island residents.

In 1959 Charlevoix county's per capita giving was .3261 cents. The average for the 30 northern counties of the lower peninsula and the upper peninsula was .2612, Mr. Robinson said.

Donna Berg Rates With Finalists in State Contest

Charlevoix's Donna Berg who represented Charlevoix county in the 20th annual Michigan Cherry Pie Bakng contest held in Grand Rapids last week, was one of the eight finalists among the 65 entries.

Betty Brokoff of Gladwin county was the winner and will represent Michigan in the national contest to be held in Chicago this month.

Donna was accompanied on the trip by Mrs. C. A. Odmark, homemaking teacher at the Charlevoix high school.

While in Grand Rapids they stayed at the Pantlind hotel.

The event is sponsored annually by the Michigan Canners and Freezers Association, Michigan Cherry Producers Association and the Michigan Cherry Commission in cooperation with the Michigan Consolidated Gas Co.

Donna is a sophomore in the local school and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Berg.

To Serve Band Dinner Tonight

Tickets for the annual band benefit dinner to be given at the high school cafeteria tonight (Thursday) may be purchased at the door according to Mrs. Robert Withers, general chairman of the event.

Serving will begin at 5 p.m. and continue until all are served.

A delicious dinner, featuring baked ham, mashed potatoes and all the trimmins, has been prepared by a committee headed by Mrs. Withers.

Former Hooker Garage Is Sold

The sale of the former M. B. Hooker & Son garage located at the corner of Antrim and State streets to Mr. and Mrs. Leo Berg has been announced by Frank Bird.

Mr. Bird had owned the cement block building since August 1957. It had been leased to various individuals as storage space.

Mrs. Berg said Wednesday that they have no immediate plans for the property and would continue to lease space for storage.

The 90 & 160 ft. cement block building has a total of 28,800 sq. ft. of floor space. In addition to the 90 x 150 ft. main floor it has a basement and a second floor over part of the building.

Council Names Commission for Primary Election

The Charlevoix city council, at its regular meeting Monday night, appointed the election commission and election inspectors for the forthcoming primary election and gave its approval to a proposed addition to Essenberg's store.

Norman D. Ance, J. Lawrence Feindt and Hugh Mayne were approved as election commissioners for the Feb. 15 primary and April 6 general elections.

Edna Miller, Billie Smith, Vivian Trimble, Helen Meggison, Lyda Johnson, Henrietta Gill, Grace Geneit and June Heise were named election inspectors for the primary election. Two additional inspectors are to be appointed by the commissioners.

A proposal by Andrew Essenberg jr. to add space to 1959 SDD and SDM license establishment on West Garfield ave. was approved. A certified copy of the resolution is to be forwarded to the Michigan Liquor Control Commission.

Bills totaling $13,338.96 were approved and ordered paid. The amount includes $1,348.76 for the remodeling project at the municipal diesel plant and a $2,153.25 payment to Cities Service for fuel oil.

Development Council Urges Construction of Jordan Valley Hatchery

The pronosed federal fish hatchery in the Jordan River Valley was unanimously endorsed Monday at a meeting of the Northern Michigan Development Council held in Mancelona. A resolution was adopted urging early construction of the hatchery.

Studies of the Jordan Valley site have been made during the last year by the federal Fish and Wildlife service. It is considered one of the best sites in the Mid-West, providing an adequate water supply of ideal year-around temperature. The next best site is said to be located in Northern Wisconsin.

The property involved is a 320 acre tract in the Pigeon River State Park in the area of Four and Five Tile creeks on the upper Jordan river. It is understood construction of the hatchery hinges on the state turning this tract of land over to the federal Fish and Wildlife service.

The proposed Jordan Valley hatchery could produce 30 per cent more trout than any other hatchery in the Mid-West, in the opinion of officials of the Great Lakes Fish commission. It is estimated 2.5 million trout could be provided annually with another 5.5 million being produced in the rest of the United States.

State Conservation Department officials and representatives of the Great Lakes Fish Commission told the Northern Michigan Development Council group that lake trout fishing in the area would be realized 40 years sooner if the hatchery is constructed. It was said the Great Lakes could be stocked with lake trout in 10 years.

Further hearings are expected on the proposal and it's believed the attitude of the Michigan United Conservation Council will have considerable bearing on the state's action. There has been some opposition to the project but as yet this appears to be coming froma few individuals and ing from a few individuals and group.

Band Parents to Sponsor Candy Sale Benefit

"Be a Band Booster" will be the invitation issued tonight (Thursday) as the Band Parents launch their annual sale of the "World's finest chocolate."

More than 2,000 bars of the delicious candy, wrapped especially for the Charlevoix high school band, have arrived and will be offered for sale at the annual Band Benefit dinner. The candy is the same as that sold two years ago which proved to be so popular with the residents of the community.

Funds realized from the project will be added to the funds in the association treasury to underwrite the cost of a uniform replacement order . . . six complete new uniforms and 40 pairs of trousers, the latter to replace those which have been in use for the past 14 years.

Other projects financed by the association include the Interlochen scholarship awarded annually to a band member, hotel expenses while on band trips; purchase of medals and plaques if the band earns them at state festivals.

Band members will canvass the community during the coming week selling the "world's finest candy." The entire band membership of 130 will participate in the project under the supervision of a committee headed by George LaBlance and C. A. Odmark, band director.

Mrs. J. B. Reinhart Dies in Detroit

Mrs. John B. Reinhart, 8[illegible], resident of this community for many years, died Saturday at a Traverse City hospital where she had been a patient since September. She had been in failing health for the past year.

Funeral services were held Monday at the Winchester Funeral Home with the Rev. George L. Majors officiating. Burial was in Brookside cemetery.

Born in Cleveand, Ohio, Sept. 4, 1878, the former Louisa Barrett, was employed as a forewoman in a Detroit cheese factory from 1907 until 1920. The following year, 1921, she was married to Mr. Reinhart who preceded her in death in 1948. They had lived in Charlevoix since the late 1930's.

Surviving are a step-daughter, Mrs. Vera Penn and a step-son, Wilbur Reinhart, both of Detroit.

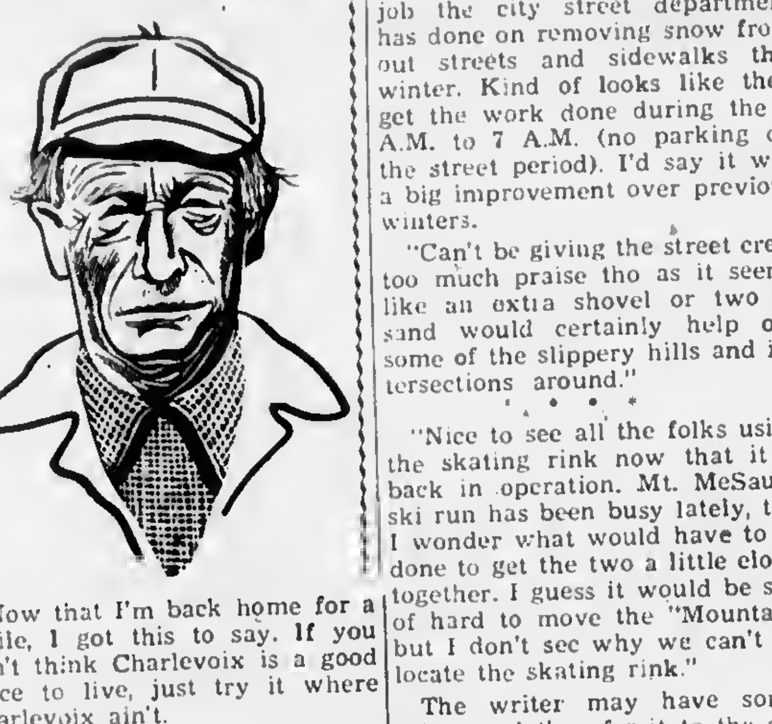
Uncle Charlie... Voix

Chidstan' Chuckles



Now that I'm back home for a while, I got this to say. If you don't think Charlevoix is a good place to live, just try it where Charlevoix ain't.

A couple of kids in my neighborhood can't get down to earth after seeing the Shrine Circus in Grand Rapids last week. Riding on a train was even an experience for them and some of the other youngsters, too. It sort of reminds me of the excitement I had when we went to the county fair in a horse and buggy.

The mail has brought some interesting comments and a few posies. Here they are:

"Sure has been a mighty fine job the city street department has done on removing snow from out streets and sidewalks this winter. Kind of looks like they get the work done during the 3 A.M. to 7 A.M. (no parking on the street period). I'd say it was a big improvement over previous winters.

"Can't be giving the street crew too much praise tho as it seems like an extra shovel or two of sand would certainly help out some of the slippery hills and intersections around."

"Nice to see all the folks using the skating rink now that it is back in operation. Mt. McSauba ski run has been busy lately, too. I wonder what would have to be done to get the two a little closer together. I guess it would be sort of hard to move the "Mountain" but I don't see why we can't relocate the skating rink."

The writer may have something, so let's refer it to the city recreation department.

* * *

"What ever happened to the electric power survey that the local business and industrial leaders requested be made?"

You got me, mister. I'll join you in watching the council proceedings to see if anything is happening.

* * *

"The CHS basketball season is enjoying a fairly successful season . . . seems as tho they have won about ten in a row without defeat while the downstate newspaper polls continue to completely ignor them. Oh well, I guess it isn't possible to have a championship football team and championship basketball team both in the same season. Of course our team might be able to remedy that situation in the forthcoming state tourney."

My comment is, I hope you're right.

It's rubbing my fur the wrong way when I read about all the colleges that are objecting to students taking a loyalty oath when they get loans from the federal government under the national defense education act. A student loyal to Uncle Sam should be proud to stand up and be counted. If he isn't loyal it doesn't make sense to educate him to cut our throats.

* * *

I couldn't believe my eyes when I read that a public official had asked for a salary cut. But a drain commissioner named Tom Chapman did just that. He said there wasn't enough work to warrant a $2,000 annual salary and said he would settle for $100 a month. He got it.

* * *

There's a lot of todo about "Con-con" but as I see it they've added so many amendments to substitute for statutes that we have got a mess on our hands.

Scouting Makes Record for Golden Anniversary

The year 1959 marked the end of another active year of local scouting activities. In reviewing the past year with Scoutmaster Lewis Edwards, he reports local Scout Troop 11 has the highest scout registration in many years, with 26 active Boy Scouts consisting of three patrols. In addition to the Boy Scout Troops there are several Cub Dens and the Sea Scout contingent.

During the past year, Troop 11 has had many individual patrol hiking programs in and around Charlevoix while participating in many outside scouting events.

For the first time in many years, a group of twelve local scouts spent a week at Camp Greilick near Traverse City. Highlights during the year were Camporees at Gaylord and the Hardwood Forest in the Boyne Falls area. Troop 11 won top honors during the event, taking a trophy for the best all around campers participating. The award was based on troop discipline, organization, participation camping and cleanup.

Six boys attended Den Chief training at Wilderness State Park. The purpose of this training is to equip young Scouts with the knowledge to assist Cub Scout Den Mothers in their work.

Local Scouts have taken part in several community affairs. They have performed the service of raising the flag at each home football game and have taken part in local parades. According to Mr. Edwards, local scouting interest has been increasing over the past few years. The current staff consists of Mr. Edwards as Scout Master, Dale Meredith as assistant Scoutmaster, Robert Bergmann as committee chairman and Robert Miller as assistant chairman. This committee has six members but has room for more adult personnel if anyone would be interested in scout work.

The Sea Scouts or Explorer Scouts are headed by Robert Somerville, retired Coast Guard Chief Petty Officer. The Cub Scouts are under the supervision of James Whitley with the cooperation of the Den Mothers and their Den Chiefs. In celebration of the Golden Anniversary of the Boy Scouts the local troop will take part in the Klondike Derby being held in Petoskey next Sunday. This program covers basic scouting skills of safety, first aid, wild life identifications, physical fitness and other skill tests.

A monument built in East Park depicting the 50th Anniversary of scouting was made by local scouts under the supervision of local leaders.

Troop 11 meets each Monday evening at 7:30 at the City Hall. All young boys between the ages of 11 and 13 are invited to attend. Boys between the ages of 8 and 10 are invited to attend Cub Scout meetings and for adult boys ages 14 to 18, the Sea Scouts offers adventure and good training.

The Charlevoix Scouts are sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Charlevoix with Howell Parsel as the sponsor's representative.

- Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bird, accompanied by the latter's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Hott of Central Lake, plan to leave Friday on a trip through the west. They will visit briefly in southern Michigan with their sons and daughters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bird of Wayne, Mr. and Mrs. Devere Bird of Adrian and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Bird of Ann Arbor, before leaving for the west where they will visit Mrs. Bird's brother, John Gunsolus, in Phoenix, her sister, Mrs. David Trescott in San Francisco and Mr. Bird's brother, Robert Bird, in Los Angeles. They plan to return home about April 1.
- Clarence Rabach and Ivan Phillips were in Lansing last week to attend the annual winter meeting of the Michigan Association of Supervisors.
- A. G. Lyzynga and Eldred McLain of the Auditor General's office were here last week auditing all county books for 1959.
- Mr. and Mrs. Norman Cook, students at Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo, spent the weekend with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cook. Nancy Juilleret, also a student at Western, spent the midyear recess with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Juilleret.

You Don't Need 40 Oxen Today

When cortisone was first developed, 40 oxen were required to supply the raw material to make enough of the drug to treat one arthritis victim for just one day. No wonder very few people could benefit. But today, the oxen have been replaced by fantastically complex equipment. It is possible now to make cortisone available — at a moment's notice — to all who need it. That's why we say . . .

Ruth Ann Smith Vows Spoken at Norwood Church

In a quiet ceremony solemnized at the Norwood Methodist church Jan. 22, Ruth Ann Smith became the bride of Gary R. Stiff.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs Albert G. Smith of Charlevoix and Mr. and Mrs. George Stiff of Bellaire.

The Rev. Charles R. Dunbar officiated at the double ring service in the presence of their immediate families. Mrs. Dunbar was the organist.

For her wedding the bride selected a light grey suit, a white hat, matching accessories and a corsage of white mums.

Marilyn Richardson, as her only attendant, wore a navy suit, navy and white accessories and a white mum corsage.

Robert Crandall of Bellaire assisted the bridegroom as best man.

A small reception followed at the home of the bride's parents.

After a wedding trip through southern Michigan the couple will reside in Bellaire.

Ruby Gremel to Wed John Nordrum

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gremel of Sebewaing have announced the engagement of their daughter, Ruby, to John Nordrum.

The prospective bridegroom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. John Nordrum, former local residents now living in Alpena.

An early summer wedding is planned.

Both are graduates of Sebewaing high school. The bride-elect is a graduate of Central Michigan University and in 1958 received her master's degree from the University of Illinois. She is now a member of the faculty at Southern Illinois University in Carbondale.

Mr. Nordrum is a graduate of the U. S. Merchant Marine Academy and was commissioned an ensign in the U. S. Navy in 1957. He served aboard the USS Great Sitkin and the S. S. Flying Clipper. He ~~is now~~ a graduate student at Michigan State University.

Girl Scout News

The happy 1960 Girl Scout will know the safety rules for handling an ax or hatchet and be able to chop enough wood to keep a small, hot fire going for 30 minutes, according to Mrs. Orlin Cunningham, chairman of the Outdoor Skills committee for the Charlevoix Girl Scout Council.

In order that any Girl Scout of any Intermediate or Senior troop may accomplish this, Mrs. Cunningham has issued this directive to the Scouts:

If you are a member in good standing in your troop and are interested in learning to chop wood you may do the following:

1. Study pages 68-69-70, 75-76, 273,339 and 340 in your handbook.

2. See your leader for a Woodchopping permit slip which also includes a Parent's permit slip.

When you have completed your study of the handbook and had the necessary slips signed, you will be given an appointment to go to the new camp site and practice under the supervision of an adult, stay for supper and learn other camp skills.

You are asked to work fast for no more than four girls will be allowed this practice in one evening.

The following help is needed from interested parents and other community adults: help with a group of four girls from 4 to 7 p.m. with indoor or outdoor camp preparation activities any night Monday through Wednesday and cooking for from four to eight people on these same nights.

There is need for four used but sturdy card tables for use as camp craft tables. Anyone having such a table may call one of the numbers listed below:

Mrs. James Gallagher, LI 7-2588 or Mrs. Cunningham, LI 7-2809 if you want to assist or if you have card tables.

Girl Scout troop 15 met at the Girl Scout room Thursday. Jane Norton called the roll.

The group was then divided into four sections with each section acting out a skit. Kay VanZant brought the treat. We played a game.

Celebrate Golden Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown will observe their fiftieth wedding anniversary with an open house Feb. 13 at their Banks township farm home, from 2 p.m. on thru the afternoon and evening.

Mr. Brown and the former Lura Garwood were married Feb. 12, 1910 in Huntington county, Ind. Twelve years later, in September, they purchased a farm two miles north and one mile east of Atwood. There they have continued to reside and carry on a general farming operation for the past 38 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown have four children, Ernest, a Banks township farmer; Mrs. Allan (Helen May) Potter whose husband also operated a farm in Banks township; Russell of Roseville, and Charles (Ike) of Detroit.

Mrs. Brown's health prompted the move to Northern Michigan and the beneficial results, no doubt, were a vital reason for remaining. When asked if he was satisfied with the move, Mr. Brown facetiously replied, "We never could get enough money ahead to return to Indiana." He added however, they had always been comfortable and had plenty to eat. Anyone whoever enjoyed their hospitality will attest to the table Mrs. Brown sets.

Most farmers in the community will doff their hats to Mr. Brown as an outstanding corn husker. He probably is better known throughout the community as a tough pitcher to face in softball. Until three years ago he was a dependable member of the Atwood "Old Man's Team," which was a member of an area league.

Baseball has always been one of his favorite sports. He started playing the game at the age of 15 with independent teams and last summer at the age of 71 years he pitched a 10-inning game. That is an age record for any player to shoot at. He came to the rescue of the Ellsworth team when it was short a pitcher in a league game with Bellaire. At the end of fine innings his team had a 10 point lead, which should have given him the game according to the rules, he said. The ground manager, however, ruled the game should go the full seven innings.

Bellaire tied up the game in the seventh and it was not until the tenth inning that Bellaire broke the tie to win. He said the long game didn't bother him much and added he accounted for his share of the runs, too.

NO CHARGE THERE

"Since you have broken your engagement to Tom because your feelings toward him aren't the same, are you going to return his ring?"

"No; my feelings toward the ring are still the same as ever!"

Betrothed

The engagement of Susan Elaine Simmons to Bruce Bergmann has been announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard W. Kraemer of Boyne City.

The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. (Ted) Bergmann of this city.

Miss Simmons is a senior at the Boyne City high school. Mr. Bergmann is a graduate of the Charlevoix high school and a veteran of three years in the U. S. Navy.

Plans are being made for a June Wedding.

Mrs. Capelin Is Honored at Shower

Mrs. Gordon Capelin was guest of honor at a pink and blue shower given Wednesday evening given by Mrs. Arthur Falting and Mrs. Joseph Powell.

Sixteen guests gathered at the Powell home for a social evening and refreshments. Prizes for games were won by Mrs. Mary Smith, Mrs. Bessie Colman and Nancy Drost.

A decorated bassinet held the many lovely gifts which were presented to Mrs. Capelin at the close of the evening.

Charlevoix-Calif. Picnic Date Set

Plans for the annual Charlevoix-California picnic for former residents now living in the west have been announced.

The tenth annual event will be held at Brand Lodge in Brand Park located at Mountain st. and Grandview ave. in the city of Glendale, Calif. Sunday, Feb. 28.

All former residents or local residents who are visiting in the west are invited to bring a basket lunch and attend the picnic which is scheduled to begin at noon. Hot coffee, cream and sugar will be provided.

Central Lake Downs Ellsworth, 54-42

Ellsworth — The Central Lake Trojans downed the Ellsworth Lancers 54 to 42 Friday evening at Central Lake.

The game was closely fought and at the end of the first period the score was Central Lake 11 to Ellsworth 9.

Central Lake moved ahead in the second period and kept the lead throughout the game. The half time score was Central Lake 32 and Ellsworth 21. At the close of the third period it was Central Lake 42 and Ellsworth 33.

Ellsworth lost their center, Henry Koens and guard, Ed Drenth, both on fouls in the 3rd quarter.

High point men for Central Lake was L. Dawson and W. Oliver both with 14 points. High man for Ellsworth was H. Koens with 10.

The Ellsworth reserves had a good game and won 69 to 34.

The Rapid City Jr. Hi and girls will be at Ellsworth Wednesday, February 10, and Ellsworth Jr. Hi and Varsity will play in Rapid City at 7:30 Friday evening, February 12.

Grayling to Host Area Teachers At Winter Meet

The winter meeting for Area L, Department of Classroom Teachers will be held at Grayling Saturday.

An informative program following the theme of "Time to Teach" will be presented at the one-day conference. Mrs. Elsie Geeting, state president, has selected "Time to Teach" as the theme of her talk. Alfred Amundsen, MEA field representative, will bring members up to date on recent developments and the new NEA film, "Right Angle," telling the story of a newspaper reporter's re-discovery of the public schools' unique and vital role in democracy, will be shown.

Mrs. Helen Richards, of the Charlevoix elementary school faculty and director of Area L, will report on the Mid-year Leadership Conference held recently at St. Mary's Camp which she attended.

All classroom teachers of Area L are invited to attend the meeting which is scheduled to open at 9:45 a.m. and continue until 3 a.m. with a luncheon at noon. Luncheon reservations may be mailed to Evelyn Klein at Grayling.

North State Educators to Hold Workshop

STANDISH — The Northern Michigan Association of County Boards of Education will hold its annual workshop Feb. 10 in Gaylord, Alfred Campbell, Arenac county superintendent of schools, announced.

Campbell said the program includes a dinner meeting at Schlang's restaurant and the afternoon meeting and workshop.

Dr. I. C. Sweet, president of the Arenac county board of education and health director for the tri-counties of Arenac, Gladwin and Clare, is program chairman of the annual workshop.

Attending the school board gathering will be state legislators Raymond Wurzel, of North Street, chairman of the house committee on education; Walter Nakkula, of Gladwin; George Gillespie, of Gaines; and George Montgomery, of Detroit.

The Northern Michigan association of County Boards of Education is made up of school board members from the 53 northernmost Michigan counties.

Boyne City Edges Northmen 62-57

Boyne City dumped Petoskey 62 to 57 and Grayling lost to Traverse City St. Francis 80 to 65 in non-loop games played Tuesday night.

Petoskey trailed the Ramblers all the way as Mike Kane with 23 points paced the game for the victors. Ed Colwell had 17 points for Petoskey.

At Traverse City Grayling held the St. Francis squad to an 18-18 first period tie before the Gladiators edged them 37 to 33 at halftime and 60 to 50 going into the final period. The Vikings were handicapped by the loss of three regulars, Jack Hull, Gary Springs and Roger Hatfield via the foul route during the last four minutes of play. Frank Gross was top scorer with 24 points. Jack Gallagher and Jim LaLonde had 17 each for the victors.

COULD THIS BE YOU?

Are you looking for an opportunity to operate your own business; be your own boss; be home every night; have no merchandise to buy; no inventory to carry; could perhaps operate from your own home; be associated with an old reliable company as its representative in your community; a company that will furnish you with all the necessary supplies, help and guidance?

Let us show you how other men are making far above average yearly incomes. If you are over 35 years of age, honest, reliable and willing to work, then we urge you to invest in a 4c stamp today. Write us a short note about yourself and address it to:

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our son and grandson, Eddie, who passed away five years ago yesterday, Feb. 3, 1955.

Your memory is a keepsake
With which we will never part,
Though God has you in his keeping
We still have you in our hearts.

Mr. and Mrs. John Fratrick and family, Mr. and Mrs. Will Ager.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear Father and son Carl Towsley who passed away four years ago Feb. 2, 1956.

Many a lonely heartache
Often a silent tear,
Always a beautiful memory
Of one we loved so dear.

SUNDEW REPORTS

The Sundew began its first week of 'Charlie' status Monday. This means all should not have to leave the dock for at least two more weeks while it is being overhauled.

Ice reports continued to remain good but there are signs that we will have some ice breaking to do before long.

SUNDEW SCUTTLEBUTT . . .

Dick Lebievre and Dick Kratz have returned from TAD at Groton, Conn., where they attended Aids to Navigation school. Bob Vavro has departed for Groton for 16 weeks of yoeman school. LCDR H. D. Muth, skipper of the ship, John Coppens, Jerry Wyant and Ed Mirch were called to Rogers City this week to give information concerning the Bradley case (The Sundew participated in the search for survivors following the sinking of the Stm. Carl D. Bradley off Boulder Reef and Gull island during a violent storm on Lake Michigan Nov 18, 1958). The ship's basketball team engaged in an independent game at the Charlevoix gym Monday night. In a close game the team lost by a three-point margin. Jerry Wyant and Dick Marble led our scorers again in what was considered the best-played game by our team members.

Notes from a northerner's diary

By Harold E. Kohn

Reserves

Our wild northern neighbors, plagued by frosty winds and shimmering cold, must now seek out resources laid up in better days. Now the red squirrel bounds over the bright blue-white silences of our woods hunting secret caches of nuts and dried mushrooms, long since safely hidden in hollow trees and stumps and logs. (A red squirrel has been known to store as much as a bushel and a half of hickory nuts in a hole in a tree. Pine cones are piled in middens containing up to ten bushels.) Now the red squirrel feasts upon mushrooms that were gathered during the summer and dried on tree branches and under bark and then hoarded in some old and very dry stump against the needs of winter. (As many as fifty-nine mushrooms representing thirteen different species have been discovered in a single squirrel-owned storehouse.)

Chicadees, which spend their lives and energies at an amazing rate, must seek the sunshine of last summer now stored in seeds and insects. These little birds use up vast quantities of energy, their hearts beating 400 times per minute when asleep and nearly double that when active and excited, and their temperatures being maintained at nearly ten degrees higher than man's. A brief whirring of chickadee wings draws heavily on the bird's small whisps of energy, and supplies must be constantly replenished before they are exhausted. So now in our white-lathered woods our black-capped friends scorn the threat of freezing, and chime their joyous music as they feed upon the warmth of last summer preserved in moth eggs, bark beetles, the seeds of pines and hemlocks and the buds of birches. These elfin neighbors of ours are doing what all active wild creatures must do in winter: they appropriate accumulated resources and convert them into strength for severe and critical days.

We moderns need to learn this lesson from nature: we are dependent upon accumulated reserves of strength. If life's inhospitable weather is not to exhaust us and if cold spells are not to freeze the breath within us and ice our blood we must seek and use resources of power that will see us through bleak, frost-nipped days.

We make extravagant demands upon ourselves, placing a huge premium upon the energetic person, the highly active church, the busy community organizations. Prodigal in our spending of ourselves, we are like winter-caught squirrels that have already squandered their caches of nuts and mushrooms. We are spiritual spendthrifts that so lavishly pay out our resources on trivia that nothing is saved for the big occasions when they come, or for critical days. Our fault is like that of the opposition lawyer Abraham Lincon once described to the jury: "The moment he begins to talk all his mental operations cease, and he is not responsible. He is, in fact, much like a little steamboat that I saw on the Sangamon River when I was engaged in boating there. This little steamer had a five-foot boiler and a seven foot stop whistle, and every time it whistled the engine stopped." Isn't this one of the chief problems of our times — our whistles are bigger than our boilers? Our expenditures are more than our income. We talk more than we listen or read. Our noisy business greatly exceeds our pondering of the meaning of all the fuss.

Several generations ago a Scottish medical man made an observation about Americans that is still valid. Dr. Clouson, called a "mad-doctor" in those days in Scotland (the equivalent of a modern psychiatrist), visited America and passed this judgement upon us: "You Americans wear too much expression on your faces. You are living like an army with all its reserves engaged in action. The duller countenances of the British population betoken a better scheme of life. They suggest stores of reserved nervous force to fall back upon, if any occasion should arise that required it. This inexcitability, this presence at all times of power not used, I regard as the great safeguard of the British people. The other thing in you gives me a sense of insecurity, and you ought somehow to tone yourselves down. You really do carry too much expression. You take too intensely the trivial moments of life."

Not all of this judgement is just, but there is truth in it. We do tend toward being emotional and verbal spendthrifts, laying aside no reserves for the great moments. We behave as if the winning of a game were "a matter of life and death," and when the matters of life and death come we treat them as if they were but a game. We lavishly call everyone "friend," and save no distinctive word for that person who is so near and dear that he "improves happiness, and abates misery by doubling our joy and dividing our grief" as Addison once said of a friend. Our salesladies call prospective customers whom they have never seen before "honey" and "darling." When such terms of endearment are used on strangers what is left for loved ones? We are a high-production, efficiency-worshipping society intending to get the "last drop" of energy from our workers and thoughts from our thinkers, forgetful of the grandeur of an America that was once a place of vast reserves, and missing the magnificence of men like Robert Louis Stevenson of whom Chesterton said "he died with a thousand stories in his heart."

But what can the "ordinary" person do to lay up reserves for critical days, and to store resources for the moments of action that count most? We must place first on our priority list of values prayer, meditation and all the experiences that store strength. In prayer that fixes attention on the greatness and goodness of God, on His constant availability, on His ready forgiveness we have reserves for our more difficult hours. Begin the day with prayer and with the upward look end the day, and will many a moment between beginning and end with speaking and listening to the Great Companion.

Look back to those experiences that have already warmed your wintry hours with glowing memory. Recall what has braced you in temptation, what has empowered you in testing, what has calmed you in frustration, or sustained you in disappointment or grief. Remember? Now seek more of those experiences that you may draw on similar reserves when life's prankish winds whip at you, and chill and caustic hours come and the sting and smart bite at the hide whil seeking for the soul. What happens to you then depends upon your stored reserves.

Legal Notice

STATE OF MICHIGAN
In the Probate Court for the County of Charlevoix

In the Matter of the Petition of Consumers Power Company, a corporation, for the Condemnation of Certain Interests in Lands in Charlevoix County, Michigan, for the Purpose of Transmitting, Distributing, Selling and Supplying Electric Energy for Public Use No....................

ORDER SETTING DATE FOR HEARING AND ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE

At a session of said Court held in the Probate Office in the City of Charlevoix, in said County, on the 19th day of January, 1960.

Present: HONORABLE WILLIAM T. DOWNS, Judge of Probate.

It appearing to the Court that Consumers Power Company, a public utility generating, producing, transmitting and supplying electric energy to the public generally in various parts of the State of Michigan did, on the 19th day of January, 1960, file in said Court a petition for the condemnation of certain lands and interests therein for public utility purposes, which lands and interests therein are hereinafter described, and praying among other things, that the Court by order fix a date for the hearing of said petition, and requiring the parties named in said petition as being interested in the parcels described in said petition, and all other persons interested in said parcels of land or any part thereof, to appear and answer such petition, and show cause, if any they have, against the same, and

It further appearing to the Court that said petition prays that the Court, upon the hearing of such petition, appoint three disinterested freeholders as commissioners to determine the necessity of the proposed public use, and the necessity of acquiring and using the parcels of land, or interests therein described in said petition, for the purposes named, and the just compensation to be paid therefor to each of the owners thereof, or to those otherwise interested therein, as and for his, her, their, or its just compensation for the interests in lands sought to be taken by this proceeding, and

It further appearing to the Court that the names of the persons mentioned in said petition as being interested in said proceedings as owners or otherwise of the several parcels of land therein described, and the descriptions of the parcels sought to be acquired are as set forth in Schedule A which is attached hereto and made a part hereof, and

It further appearing that the interest sought to be acquired with respect to each parcel described in Schedule A is as follows:

The easement and right to erect, lay and maintain one line of poles, wires, cables, conduits and other fixtures and appurtenances for the purpose of transmitting and distributing electricity and/or conducting a communication business on, over, under and across the parcels of land described in Schedule A, including all public highways upon or adjacent to said parcels of land; the route to be taken by said line of poles, wires, cables and conduits across, over and under said land being more specifically described with reference to each described parcel.

With full right and authority to Consumers Power Company, its successors, licensees, lessees or assigns, and its and their agents and employees, to enter at all times upon said premises for the purpose of constructing, repairing, removing, replacing, improving, enlarging and maintaining such cables, conduits and poles and other supports, with all necessary braces, guys and anchors and stringing thereon and supporting and suspending therefrom lines of wires, cables or other conductors for the transmission of electrical energy and/or communication, and also the right, at any time, to trim, remove, destroy or otherwise control all trees and brush on a strip of land 90 feet in width being 45 feet on each side of (and measured at right angles to) the center line of said electric transmission line, also the right to remove all trees greater than 45 feet in height standing or growing on a strip of land 140 feet in width being 70 feet on each side of (and measured at right angles to) the center line of said transmission line. Said easement shall be subject to the condition that no buildings or other structures will be placed under such wires and/or over such cables without the written consent of said Consumers Power Company, and the condition that nonuse or a limited use of this easement by Consumers Power Company shall not prevent Consumers Power Company from later making use of the easement to the full extent herein authorized.

It further appearing to the Court from the petition filed herein, and from proof of affidavit on file herein, that certain of the persons and parties named in said Schedule A reside out of the County of Charlevoix and are absent therefrom.

It is therefore ordered that the 10th day of February, 1960, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon (EST) at the Probate Office of Charlevoix County, County Building, in the City of Charlevoix, Michigan, and is hereby fixed as the time and place for the hearing on the said petition, and that the persons or parties named in said Schedule A, and all other persons interested in said parcels of land, or any part thereof, shall appear and answer such petition, and show cause, if any they have, against the same.

It is further ordered that a copy of this order shall be served at least ten days before the day of hearing upon such of the parties named in said Schedule A as reside in and can be found in Charlevoix County, and upon parties in possession of the described premises, if other than the owner or owners thereof, and which service shall be made as in such case made and provided.

It is further ordered that notice of this hearing be given by publication of this order in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper published and circulated in Charlevoix County, one in each week for two successive weeks immediately preceding the said day of hearing, and that a copy of such order be mailed to each of the parties who reside out of said County, and each of the parties who have residences in but are absent from said County, at their last known post office address, in so far as is known, by registered mail, prepaid, with return receipt demanded, at least fifteen days prior to said date of hearing.

Rayders to Meet East Jordan Here Friday Eve

This week will be an action-packed one for all eight teams of the Northern Michigan Class C league as they take to the hardwoods Friday and again on Tuesday to fulfill schedule obligations.

On Friday Charlevoix will host East Jordan, Mancelona will play at Boyne City, Gaylord will invade Pellston and Harbor Springs will entertain Grayling.

On Tuesday Charlevoix will travel to Harbor Springs, Mancelona will invade Gaylord, Eas Jordan will entertain Grayling and Boyne City will host Pellston.

The Rayders, trying for their tenth victory will take on the East Jordan Red Devils, the team that has given them their closest game this season. In ther first meeting Charlevoix squeaked by with a one point victory. Though East Jordan has succeeded in posting only three wins this season, they have come close several times and can be expected to be playing their best brand of ball when they clash with their arch rivals this week. One thing is for certain . . . Charlevoix will have to play heads-up ball all the way if they hope to keep their record clean.

Mancelona will be out to strengthen their hold on second place when they invade Boyne City this week. They had no trouble with the Ramblers the first time around and shouldn't encounter too much opposition in the return meeting.

Gaylord, with four straight wins to their credit, will be out to topple Pellston for the second time when they meet on Hornet territory Friday. Unless the defending champions show more than they have in recent games, Gaylord will tighten their hold on third place.

The victory-hungry Harbor Springs Rams will host Grayling this week in a game which is expected to either make or break the Vikings. Earlier in the season this outfit was expected to be a real threat. However, in recent games they have shown none of the fighting spirit or finess that stamped them as a strong contender for the title. The Rams, on the other hand, have become stronger with each game and the last two times out gave their opponent real scares. This might well be their week to make their first trip into the win column.

A full mid-week schedule is on tap for all eight teams.

Charlevoix will be traveling to Harbor Springs to take on the Rams who played one of their best games of the season when they met the Rayders here. Since every team will be pointing for Charlevoix from now on, the Rayders will have to plan their strategy with care and control the game all the way to keep their record clean.

Mancelona, right behind the Rayders in second place, will have their work cut out for them when they travel to Gaylord to take on the high-flying Blue Devis. In their first meeting, the Ironmen won handily but things may be different this time as Gaylord battles to hold its third place position.

Grayling defeated the East Jordan Red Devils but the Jordanites may prove to be a tougher adversary on their home floor. In view of the Vikings attitude in recent games, the Red Devils should win this one without too much trouble.

Boyne City dumped the Hornets in an earlier game but chances are that Pellston will avenge their loss when they meet the Ramblers next week.

Rayders Rack Grayling, 63-27

The Charlevoix Rayders extended their victory string to nine Friday by dumping the Grayling Vikings 63 to 27.

The Vikings, who showed promise of being one of the strong contenders for the title earlier in the season, never seemed to find their stride as they trailed the Rayders 15 to 3 at the quarter, 30 to 7 at the half and 43 to 13 at the three-quarter mark. Despite the Vikings lack of spirit in the early part of the game, fans kept thinking that they would come back in the second half. However, they never did display the spirit that had kept them in the running until recent weeks though they did score 14 points in the final period when Charlevoix's line-up was changing rapidly as Coach Don Carey emptied the bench.

In the opening period Joe Beaudoin who with Jim Ladd started in the forward slots, paced the scoring with three field goals. Dave Schuchard had two and his running mate at the guard position, Charles Coleman, one. Ladd accounted for three points for the period. Dick VanRaaphorst was the fifth member of the starting five. Grayling's scoring was limited to three points as they missed countless shots.

Schuchard scored nine points, Beaudoin four and VanRaaphorst two as the half ended 30 to 7 after the Vikings had scored only four points in the quarter.

Coleman scored two field goals and Beaudoin, VanRaaphorst and Schuchard three each with Sam Supernaw adding a single for 13 points in the third period. Grayling scored six on three field goals.

In the final quarter Charlevoix scored 20 points including four by Terry DeYoung, three each by Beaudoin and Schuchard, two each by Coleman, Supernaw, Jim Dennis, Ralph Brock and Perry Smith.

Grayling had their best period, scoring 14 points on four field goals and six free throws.

Frank Gross had 8 and Jack Hull 7 for Grayling who lost Roger Hatfield on fouls early in the final period.

Last Week With Class C

The Charlevoix Rayders with a perfect record of nine wins continued to pace the action in the Northern Michigan Class C league as they trampled Grayling 63 to 27 Friday night.

Mancelona held on to its second place standings with a 46 to 44 win over Pellston; Gaylord moved into a third place tie with Grayling after trimming Boyne City 63 to 42 and East Jordan won over Harbor Springs 53 to 43.

Mancelona 46; Pallston 44

The Mancelona Ironmen had a scare Friday night as they trailed the visiting Pellston Hornets 11 to 8 at the quarter and 23 to 21 at halftime before managing a six-point 33 to 27 lead going into the final period. At one time the Ironmen held a nine-point lead but blew all but two points as time ran out. Walt Klein with 18 and Fred Moore with 14 paced the victors. Barry Anderson had 18 for Pellston.

Burt Stanley, Pellston guard, suffered a fractured nose in a mad scramble for the ball early in the second half. The injury is expected to sideline him for the next few weeks.

Gaylord 63: Boyne City 42

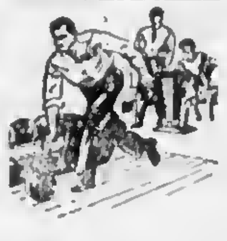
The Gaylord Blue Devils racked up their fourth straight win Friday night to move into a tie with Grayling for third place. The victory also avenged an earlier loss to Boyne City who trailed throughout the game 16 to 5; 36 to 15 and 49 to 29 by quarters. Bob Noirot with 23 points led the Gaylord scoring attack. Mike Kane with 12 points was top scorer for the Ramblers.

East Jordan 53; Harbor Springs 43

The Harbor Springs Rams got off to a fast 13 to 11 first quarter lead and increased their advantage to 30 to 23 before a bad third period which gave the visiting Jordanites a 45 to 33 third quarter lead. Gary Stutsman led the scoring with 17 points for the Rams. Louis Kraemer had 15 for the Red Devils.

Bowling News

BY MEG



Before I get into the night's bowling, I must correct an error in last week's column. I listed Airport Inn with the high game, when Central Drugs rolled a 972 game. Boys, I'm sorry. The 972 still remains top team game for the year. (So Far)

Now for tonight's action. Moonlight "just" won 4 points from Freedman No. 2, they took the last game by 8 pins. (Darn it) They didn't have anyone going strong but still came out on top. Lloyd Hedrick and Grover shared top series with 501, followed by LV's 494 series. For Freedman No. 2 Don Trowbridge was high with a 449 series followed by Jack Niswander 424 series. The Old Sidewinder had a 102 second game.

Neff's stayed in second by taking 4 points from United Farm. Neff's had a hard time getting 5 bowlers but they sure got the right combination. (Best of luck to Bernie Ward Jr. who is having an operation on his knee shortly). For Neff's, Bob Livingston came to life and rolled two nice games of 207-202 and a 576 series. Howard Struthers had a 502 series. For United Farm, Dave Van Dreumel was high with a 461 series, followed by unlucky Ken, with a 405 series.

Freedman No. 1 pulled up into No. 3 spot with a 4 point win over Central Drugs. John Swanson was high for Freedman No. 1 with a 513 series followed by "Ball Point" with 476. Central Drugs long power was Herb with a 453 series folowed by Al Bergmann's 403. Frank Ochs had a 107 second game.

Here comes Steve's, they also took 4 points, but still didn't gain on the First Place Moonlight, who took 4. Bob Miller had himself a nice 212-552 series for Steve's followed by Ken Cel's 536 series. Swanson's made it 8 in a row in the losing column. Stub had a 91 first game, Ed had a 96 second game. It all helped Steve's win 4 points. Fergie was high for Swanson with a 519 series followed by Ron's 454 series.

Airport Inn had one man going real strong, but also had a couple men dragging anchor. The off set was too much so they split with Lake Construction. Al Anderson had 209-215—614 series, who also rolled a 675 series last Sunday in a match game between Leon's Tavern of East Jordan and Airport Inn's traveling team. Al bowled for Leon's team who made the score all even between the teams. A roll off is to be played at a neutral alley next month. Back to the league again. Hank followed Al with a 512 series. The two anchors who were dragging was Des and the Skipper. Nick had a 200 second game. For Lake Construction Hal was high with a 492 series, Geo. came next with a 447. Al Smith had a 82 second game.

Browe Electric took advantage of Poor Puff's team and rolled to a 4 point win. Bob Ouderkirk was high for Browe's with a 452 series followed by Max Moore who had a 190-447 series. Poor Puff's vacation was too much he led his team with a 127-156-200—483 series. His partner in crime followed with a 472 series.

Reserves Avenge Loss

Charlevoix's little Rayders, sparked by a desire to dump the only team to defeat them this season, rolled over the Grayling Reserves 53 to 36 here Friday night.

In their first meeting the young Vikings downed the local quintet 49 to 48.

The local quintet composed of Barry Pierce and Danny Pearl, forwards, George Majors, center and Stan Martin and Henry Wagner, guards, jumped into a 13 to 8 first period lead and increased it to 32 to 14 at halftime before taking over 45 to 18 at the three-quarter mark.

Martin scored five; Danny Pearl who is coming into his own since his twin, John, has been sidelined with an ankle injury, had four; Pierce two and Majors and Wagner, one each for 13 points. Grayling had three field goals and two free throws for 8 points.

Martin hit for seven points, Pearl for three field goals, Jack Stewart for two and Majors for one as the Rayders outscored Grayling 19 to 6 for a 32 to 14 halftime lead.

Charlevoix continued to control the game as they led 45 to 18 at the three-quarter mark with Corky Curtis, Tony Duerr, Jim Rohm, Bruce Bartlett, Herb Cummings and Bruce Bartlett joining the line-up as the game progressed.

'Gus' Fochtman Presented 25-Year Chevrolet Award

Angus L. Fochtman, veleran automobile dealer here and head of the Charlevoix Oil Co., was presented a silver plaque Thursday evening by Chevrolet Motors division of General Motors Corp., in recognition of his 25 years continuous service as a Chevrolet dealer.

The presentation was made by E. E. Buckler, zone manager, at the bi-monthly meeting of all dealers in the Flint zone held at Clare. Mr. Fochtman and the late Albert Cook started the business in 1931 and acquired the Chevrolet agency in 1934. Since taking on the dealership the firm has sold nearly 500 new cars and trucks.

The firm had a harrowing experience about the second year of their dealership. As told by Mr. Fochtman, advertising was oul and plans made for a big showing of new models and a specified date. The day arrived and brought with it the usual flood of visitors but no cars had arrived. The following day they received a batch of pictures of the new cars and finally a week later the cars arrived. He doesn't recall getting any orders from the pictures.

In addition to the Chevrolet dealership, the firm operates a service department and is local distributor for Cities Service Petroleum products. Assisting Mr. Fochtman in the management of the business are his two sons, Richard who joined the firm in 1948 and William wo became active in 1954.

Scouts Sculpture Anniversary Cake in Snow

Start Power Line Right-of-Way to Big Rock Point

Courier Photo

Swamping crews went to work last week clearing a power line right of way from the site of the atomic electric plant to be constructed at Big Rock Point by Consumers Power Co. It is understood the lines to be constructed over this right of way will connect with other Consumer lines serving Northwest Michigan.

Report Annual Band Benefit Dinner a Success

The most successful Band Benefit dinner in a long history of such successful events was held at the high school cafeteria under te sponsorship of the Charlevoix Band Parents Association headed by Versal Seymour, president.

Mrs. Robert Withers, general chairman of the event, reported a total of 262 dinners served in less than two hours by work committees composed of band parents. Band members served as waitresses and bus boys.

A final figure on the results of the dinner will be announced as soon as it is available.

Mr. Seymour, association president has issued a "Thank you and well done" to all those who combined their efforts to make this the most successful event sponsored by the group. Special thanks, he said, is due those who joined in helping though they had no youngsters in the band.

Severe Storm Threatening Road Blocks

A four-inch snowfall within a two-hour period Wednesday morning resulted in school students who are transported by school bus being sent home at noon Wednesday.

The heavy snowfall which started at 9:45 a.m. whipped by gusty northeast winds up to 25 miles an hour threatened by 11 a.m. to block highways, especially county and township roads. As a result John J. Martin, superintendent of the Charlevoix county road commission, advised school officials to send the bus students home at noon.

Name Speaker For Father and Son Banquet

The Rev. Robert J. Yonkman will be the guest speaker at the annual Father and Son banquet to be held at the dining room of the First Methodist church at 6:30 p.m. Monday under the sponsorship of the WSCS.

He has chosen as his subject "That's My Pop."

Only a limited number of tickets are still available for this popular winter event according to Mrs. Hal M. Hill, who with Mrs. Richard Edwards, is in charge of tickets.

March of Dimes Campaign Needs $300 to Hit Goal

The 1960 new March of Dimes fund campaign neared the $1,300 mark this week according to Mrs. Louis Hooper, fund chairman, who said that a total of $1,294.38 had been contributed to date.

This figure, however, is far below the $1,624.06 raised in 1959.

The new figure includes $578.23 contributed in the Mothers' March; $137.39 in the elementary school dime cards and $36.26 through the Teen Age dance Saturday night.

The Mothers March in the Marion Center-Phelps road district, conducted under the direction of Mrs. William Himebaugh, netted $54.60. This is the first time such a march was staged outside the city.

Other special events and the funds they have netted follow: Norwood, $36.50 including a $10.00 contribution by the Methodist WSCS and $26.50 raised at a card party; Hayes district, $25.00 raised at a card party; Barnard Grange, $15.00; Women's Missionary Society of the Church of God, $10.00 and the Shakespeare Study club, $5.00.

Mrs. Hooper would like to thank the following who combined their efforts to make the recent buffet supper at the Weathervane Inn a success: Johnny K trio, Frank's Flowers, bakery, Edwards' Food, Neff's, Staley Grocery, Kroger Co., Maxbauer Creamery, Essenberg Grocery and the staff at the Weathervane who donated their services for the party.

Mrs. Hooper said that contributions would continue to be accepted. They may be made to an area chairman, to her or at the Charlevoix County State Bank.

Three Patrols Place Second In Derby Rating

Three patrols of Charlevoix Boy Scout troop 11 won red or second place ribbons in the annual Northern District Klondike Derby held at Petoskey Sunday.

Charlevoix's three patrols composed of 23 Scouts were among the 238 Scouts from 35 patrols representing 12 northern district communities who gathered at Petoskey for the annual event.

The local patrols and their leaders were: Owl, Terry Stewart leader; Flaming Arrow, Skip, leader and Snake, Tom Hawley, leader. The boys were accompanied by Scoutmaster Louis Edwards, Assistant Scoutmaster Dale Meredith and Neighborhood Commissioner Leonard Burns.

Each patrol solved problems in first aid, fire building, pioneering, wildlife and tree identification and direction finding at stations set up at the Petoskey Winter Sports Park.

Charlevoix Kiwanians who manned the First Aid station were Dr. R. G. Martin, Glenn Snider, Jack Grubaugh and Howard Parsel who is also institutional representative.

Only seven or first place ribbons were awarded at the Derby which was the first major event staged during the fiftieth anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America.

On Monday morning 10 local Scouts joined Petoskey Scouts at a breakfast at Holiday House celebrating the fiftieth birthday anniversary of Scouting. The local Scouts were accompanied by Mr. Edwards, Mr. Meredith, Robert O. Bergmann, local Boy Scout committee chairman and Mayor E. James Hiller who was presented with a copy of the new Boy Scout handbook by Tom Peters, a member of Charlevoix's newest Scout troop at St. Mary's school.

Milk Prices To Be Upped Here Monday

Retail milk prices will jump one cent per quart beginning Feb. 15 in the northern Michigan area, according to a release from Raymond E. Fiebing, secretary of the Northern Michigan Milk Dealers association. The increase will affect the Charlevoix area on the one cent increase basis.

There is a variation of prices throughout the northern Michigan market and the Charlevoix price rates with the lowest, reports John Boss, manager of the Maxbauer Creamery. He adds that an increase in price was negotiated with producers in this area last July and the increase has been absorbed by the dealers since that time.

Producers and dealers in Michigan operate under a federal milk marketing order which, according to Mr. Boss ,establishes a price lower than the price which is negotiated between dealers and producers who are affiliated with the Michigan Milk Producers association.

Band Members To Enter District Music Festival

More than 30 members of the Charlevoix Senior and Reserve bands will participate in the annual District Solo and Ensemble Festival to be held at Gaylord Saturday under the sponsorship of District II of the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association C. A. Odmark, local music director, has announced.

Charlevoix will have 13 different entries in the festival including three clarinet duets, two flute duets and one clarinet trio from the junior high division and a clarinet quartet, an oboe duet, flute-clarinet duet, French horn quartet, woodwind quartet and a brass sextet from the senior high division.

Four sections will be held concurrently at the Gaylord high school beginning at 8:15 a.m. and continuing until 6 p.m. with groups from schools throughout northern Michigan participating.

Judges will be Richard Correll of Portland, Howard Hornung of Ludington, Merwyn Mitchell and Don Mohler of Grand Rapids.

Three Placed on Probation in Circuit Court

Judge Charles L. Brown, presiding at a special session of circuit court here Friday, placed three persons on probation.

Two of the three, Lawrence N. Shananaquet, 22, of Petoskey, and Betty Ann Seamon, 18, of Harbor Springs, had pleaded guilty earlier to the same charge, breaking and entering Jacobs' restaurant in Boyne Falls the night of April 5 and taking approximately $180. Both were placed on three years probation. In addition, Shananaquet was ordered to pay a fine of $10 and costs of $200 and Miss Seamon a fine of $10 and $75.00 costs. Both were released.

Charles Kenneth Ford, 18, of Boyne City, charged with larceny from an automobile, was placed on two years probation and ordered to pay a fine of $10.00 and costs of $100. He also was released.

Mrs. F. Ripley, 72, Life Resident Dies Suddenly

Mrs. Florence Ripley, 72, lifelong resident of this community, died unexpectedly at her home at 105 W. Upright ave. early Thursday.

Funeral services were held at the Winchester Funeral Home Saturday with the Rev. L. L. Lewis officiating. Burial was in Brookside cemetery.

Born in Charlevoix Aug. 10, 1887, the former Florence Gebeau was married to Roy Ripley Dec. 7, 1906. Mr. Ripley preceded her in death in June 1936.

She was a member of the Baptist church.

She is survived by a daughter, Miss Valera Ripley of Detroit and a brother, Harry Gebeau of Charlevoix.

Adult Education Classes Open to More Students

There is still time to participate in adult education classes offered by the Charlevoix public school, Max Novak, who is in charge of the program, has announced.

A few more registrations are needed for an adult class in welding. Anyone interested in this is asked to register at once so the class can be started.

A class in Girls Physical Education is meeting regularly from 8 to 9:30 p.m. every Monday. Anyone wishing to register for this class which is currently under the direction of Mrs. Thomas Wieland is asked to do so as soon as possible. Mrs. Robert Goss will take over direction of the class later.

Candidates Staging Contests for Offices In 2nd- 3rd Wards

Contests in Charlevoix5s second and third wards are expected to bring out a record vote in the city's annual Primary election Monday.

Polls at the city hall will be open from 7 a.m. until 8 p.m. Monday so the city's more than 1600 registered voters may cast their ballots for Mayor, Clerk and Treasurer and for Aldermen and Supervisors in the city's three wards.

The two contests involve candidates for the office of aldermen in the second and third wards.

In the second ward incumbent Ray L. Kipke, high school math teacher who will be seeking the nomination for a fifth time, will be opposed by Kenneth A. Staley, second ward grocery store operator and a newcomer to the political scene and Frank M. Oleksy, local contractor and currently president of the Top-of-Michigan Labor Council.

In the third ward two aspirants will be seeking the nomination for the post of alderman being vacated by Harry Gebeau who is seeking election as third ward supervisor to succeed Jess Smith who is not a candidate for re-election. The candidates are Jack Grubaugh, cost accountant at Freedman Artcraft Corp., who is seeking public office for the first time and John Wolf, a retired Detroit building inspector and a perennial candidate for public office.

A third newcomer to the political scene is E. D. Hawley, cashier at the Charlevoix County State Bank, who is unopposed for the nomination for first ward alderman to succeed Lee Moerland who is not a candidate for re-election because he is moving out of the ward in the near future.

Mr. Gebeau who is seeking the post of third ward supervisor has represented his ward on the city council for eight years.

Incumbents who are unopposed for the nomination are E. James Hiller who is seeking election to his fifth term as mayor, Hugh Mayne, who is seeking his sixteenth term as city clerk and Nelle A. Hammond her twentieth term as city treasurer.

In the wards Ivan Phillips and Ted R. Miller, first and second ward supervisors, respectively, will be seeking the nomination to these posts for the sixth year.

Deadline for voting by absent voter's ballot is 2 p.m. Saturday, Clifford G. Riley, deputy clerk said Wednesday.

City Represented By Lenore Erber In Queen Contest

Charlevoix was represented in the Michigan Winter Sports Queen by lovely blonde Lenore Erber, Paul Kohler, secretary-manager of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce has announced.

Lenore showed up well in the field of 17 candidates for the title won by Fran Olson of Petoskey who represented Harbor Highlands in the contest.

Lenore, who was named Sno Queen last November, is an active participant in winter sports as well as in such summer sports as tennis, horseback riding, water skiing and swimming. She also plays saxophone in the high school band, is a majorette, plays in the city band and is a member of the National Honor Society, Pep club, ski club, and the girls glee club and choir.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Erber.

Lenore participated in the skiing events and attended a dinner given for Queen candidates before attending the Winter Sports Ball with Rex Davis as her escort.

Postpone Monday Band Rehearsal

The Charlevoix city band rehearsal scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Monday has been cancelled according to the director, C. A. Odmark.

The annual Father and Son banquet and the Northern Michigan Community Concert at Petoskey necessitated the cancelation.

County State Bank Invites Public to Valentine Party

"Come to our Valentine party Saturday." That is the invitation of the Charlevoix County State Bank to its many patrons and friends.

This is the second annual Valentine party staged by the bank as an expression of appreciation to customers and friends who throughout the year have placed their confidence in our personnel and service, Robert Bridge, president of the institution, said.

Appropriate Valentine refreshments will be served to visitors during banking hours Saturday. Mr. Bridge extends an invitation to all to be guests of the bank at the Valentine party.

If We Have a Surplus Apply It to Federal Debt

A business borrows money and pays it back with interest.

The government, some theorist believe, can borrow money and pay interest but never retire the principal.

This is just about as stupid as believing that anyone can go on borrowing for the rest of his life; after all, the government is a mass of people.

In his message to Congress President Eisenhower mentioned that there would be approximately a $4 billion surplus in the budget he submitted.

No sooner had he mentioned this, than every "do-gooder," spender and phony politician rushed to the forefront and started yelling for the need of this and that.

When Ike commented on the Congress which was elected by an overwhelming vote of the people two years ago, calling them a bunch of "spenders" he hit the nail squarely on the head.

They are all chomping at the bit waiting to get a crack at this possible surplus.

Just for their information, there are a lot of us who are not "soft soaped" by their promises of a gravy train; we want to see any urplus applied to our federal debt, even if we have to continue carrying this big tax load on our backs.

We do not want to be paying $9 billion a year in interest in a market which dictates that the government will have to pay even higher rates if it borrows more money. — Otsego County Herald-Times.

Adventures in Understanding

Notes from a northerner's diary

By Harold E. Kohn

Challenge and Response

One of the many good things about winter is that snow and sleet and cold winds hurl a challenge that calls to the spirit of adventure within us. And we must answer. City workers must somehow get to their offices and factories, although drifted driveways and icy sidewalks conspire to keep them at home. Farmers must feed their livestock, milk their cows and gather eggs no matter how wild the storm. Now the sedentary man must wield a snow shovel, and now the man of ease must fight forward against a stiff, sleet-filled wind if he is to reach his destination. It's exciting. In a civilization that appeals too often to our softness King Winter howls a summons to a test of strength and ingenuity, his biting cold, swirling snowdrifts and treacherous ice pitted against man's muscle, machinery, courage and perseverance. The timeless elements challenge man's ageless need for adventure, and man responds and joyously boasts of his little victories.

With all our modern talk about our need for recognition, for love, and for security we have too often forgotten man's innate craving for some hardship and adventure. We have lauded human rights, the right to free speech and expression the right to worship God in our own way, the right to freedom from economic want, the right to be free of tyranical aggression. Have we forgotten the right to be troubled, the right to fight against hardship? Have we neglected the right to adventure? I feel we have.

We have tried to rob religion of problems, mystery, of questionings and dispute. Religion has been pictured as synonymous with contentment and tensionless tranquility, and as a consequence much modern teaching and preaching has appealed to our worst rather than our best, our timidity rather than our courage, our weakness rather than our strength. Sometimes in the old days people were unnecessarily cruel to themselves and to their loved ones in the name of religion. In some pious groups it was the custom to take infants to church for baptism on the Sunday after their birth regardless of risk to the baby's health. The venture was often hazardous in fair weather, but especialy perilous on blustery winter days when it was necessary to ride long distances by sled to have the baptism performed in an unheated church. A certain Judge Sewall wrote on a January day in 1694, "A very extraordinary storm by reason of the falling and driving of the snow. Few women could get to Meeting. A child name Alexander was baptized in the afternoon." But little Alexander died a week later.

Many church people believed it sinful to place a stove in the church, and preachers of colonial days could be seen in their pulpits wearing heavy overcoats, ear muffs and mufflers over their heads and gesturing with mittened hands. Such fanatical stoicism wins our disdain but not our allegiance, and rightly so. But I wonder if this old-fashioned rigorousness is not preferable to our treatment of religion as a pleasant convenience. The modern church is a good place to be baptized, if the weather is just right. It provides a proper atmosphere for weddings and a solemnity appropriate for funerals. The church gives us an occasional shot of reassurance to help us past a crisis. But if the church appeals only to our comfort and the shallowest side of our nature, isn't it only our wish for comfort and the shallowest in human nature that will respond? If religion is to get our deepest response will it not need to offer a challenge from out of the depths?

The Master had a queer, almost eccentric way of inviting disciples to His cause. Far from promising them freedom from tension, success in winning friends, a sure-fire cure for an inferiority complex, and other kinds of emotional comfort that beckoned to their self-interest and softness, Jesus guaranteed they would have trouble! "If any many will come after me, let him deny himself and take up his cross and follow me." "Blessed are you when men revile you and persecute you and utter all kinds of evil against you falsely on my account." Yet Jesus' invitations to trouble gathered a band of intrepid souls who were to revolutionize the world!

When Napoleon was a young artillery officer at the siege of Toulon he established a battery in an exposed position so dangerous that it was argued he could never find men to man the battery. But Napoleon did. He raised a sign reading, "The battery of men without fear," and there were always more volunteers than the gun position could use. Christianity, too, has received the heartiest response when it has called out to man's deepest allegiance and when it has demanded extravagant expenditures of courage and life.

Too often American educational institutions offer little challenge, and it is small wonder they receive so little response from the young. A high school diploma or a college degree may be little more than a certificate of attendance showing that one has been physically present at classes and has done a minimal amount of work, rather than indicating the mind has been stretched, its inner standards have been raised, and an appetite has been whetted for knowing and understanding and acting upon one's best knowledge.

Walter Lippman has said of modern education: "It is filled with the elective, the eclectic, the specialized, the accidental and incidental improvisations and spontaneous curiosities of teachers and students. There is no common faith, no common body of principle, no common body of knowledge, no common moral and intellectual discipline . . . We have established a system of education in which we insist that while everyone must be educated, yet there is nothing in particular that an educated man must know." One graduate put the problem in even more graphic terms: "College gave us spokes but no hub. We came away with knowledge but no purpose, and therein is our dilemma." But putting spokes in hubs is hard work, and we will not get the young by degrading education, assuring prospects that schooling is a pleasant diversion to occupy their time until they are old enough for a career, a marriage and a family. We need to appeal to their sense of adventure, presenting learning as a rough and tumble game that requires obedience to training rules, tough discipline daily practice, absorbing hard knocks and bruises, losing a skirmish gracefully, winning without boasting. What coach ever signed up a football team by promising candidates they would need to observe no rules, they need participate in no skirmishes, they would be excused from tackling and being tackled?

The light, playful, undemanding touch in education is largely a failure. It lacks the excitement that accompanies rigor. It tires the student with the disheartening fatigue of boredom. Even the very young are exhausted by the tedium of mediocre demands that elicit mediocre response. A city youngster voiced his disgust at one unchallenging educational institution. After having been exposed to pre-nursery school and nursery school he had attended "real school" for the first time. Discouraged and fretful he came home and complained to his parents, "I'm tired of being teached to play. I want to be teached to learn." Children and adults alike, the best in us requires a summons to an intelectual climb, or a mental fight, or a risk of failure before we can enjoy learning. Mr. C. R. Graham of the Louisville Public Library was informed by his assistant that certain books were never read. The subject matter was too difficult. Graham ordered these "impossible" books collected and placed together in an attractive display. Above them was hung a sign which read: "WARNING! THESE BOOKS ARE DIFFICULT TO READ AND REQUIRE ADVANCED KNOWLEDGE." Immediately Louisville readers took out every book in the display.

Whether today's call for greatness comes from the churches or the schools, from the heads of government, or from the plain and incessant demands of world need found everywhere, this much is clear: we must be alerted to difficulties; we need to be told of rough roads and steep climbs, of risks to our security. There is something within us that never gets expressed if we are not confronted with hardships. There is something in man that craves a challenge.

Antrim County Republicans Plan Lincoln Dinner

The first Lincoln Day dinner in more than a decade will be held at the Bellaire community hall tonight, according to Leora Bailey, chairman of the event sponsored by the Antrim county Republican committee.

Speakers on the program will include Congressman Victor A. Knox, Jack Hoopfer of Elk Rapids, and Lawrence Lindermar, Republican state chairman, who will deliver the keynote address. Guests are expected from Charlevoix, Kalkaska, Otsego, Crawford, Grand Traverse and Antrim counties.

About This Question

"We came back from a weekend trip to find the heater out, plumbing pipes frozen and burst, and water frozen on rugs, floors and cailings. The damage is considerable. Does a Homeowners Policy cover such damage, while a Residence Fire policy does not?"

this is a story about a bill collector

This is the story of a bill collector—Well, not a real live flesh and blood bill collector but a bill collector commonly referred to as an automobile—something most Americans own one or two of. These seemingly innocent automobiles have a method of collecting bills in such a way that their owners are not aware of their costly operation. Bills are collected in small amounts over a long period of time — a little gas here, a little oil there — now and then a wash job or some minor repair. However — once a year these smooth collectors get caught literally with their fenders down. There is one bill that whacks their owners right between the eyes and this is when he finds out how expensive his little bill collector is. We refer to insurance — Yes, once a year that big bill must be faced.

Now — we are not on the side of your bill collector but we do know how to cut that high insurance cost down — that is if you're a safe driver. The Riverside Insurance Company of America has just released a new low-cost insurance plan for safe drivers — a plan that will save you up to 25% over your present policy. Let us help you with this once-a-year big bill — we're sure it will fit your budget — Call or see us today.

Conservation Dept. Offering Young Trees

Landowners desiring young trees for such reforestation purposes as erosion control, farm windbreaks and forest plantings may start their plans for the spring planting season by requesting official stock price lists from the Conservation Department.

Approximately 10,700,000 tree seedlings and transplants were placed on sale by the Department this week. Offered are 7,000,000 red pine seedlings, 2,000,000 white pine seedlings, 1,140,000 white spruce transplants, 400,000 jack pine seedlings and 200,000 red pine transplants.

Stock prices are based on approximate costs of production and packing. They vary according to species and ages. All orders must be submitted on regular order blanks through the Department's forestry division, Lansing 26. Blanks may be obtained from this division.

To avoid errors in ordering and aid processing of requests, the Department explains a few terms of sale.

Blanket orders from agencies or organizations that intend to redistribute the stock to a number of landowners are not accepted. Each landowner must submit an individual order for his requirements. No orders are taken for less than 500 trees and not less than 100 of any class will be sold.

Stock purchased from the Department may not be resold with roots attached or used for ornamental plantings. Landowners are permitted to cut and sell up to 40 percent of the stock for Christmas trees. However, their stands must not be reduced by Christmas tree harvesting to less than 600 trees per acre.

Unless directed otherwise, the Department ships trees from nurseries nearest to buyers where stock is available. Ordinarily, stock is shipped from April 20 to May 30. However, these dates may be altered somewhat by weather conditions.

Impala Sport Sedan

STEP OUT IN IT

Get the quiet proof of Chevrolet's superior performance on the road—No other car in the low-priced three can match the borne-on-the-wind sensation you get from a ride in the 1960 Chevrolet. But that's not surprising when you consider to what lengths Chevy has gone to provide for your comfort at no extra cost to you. As you drive, count the ways Chevrolet has been thoughtful:

Supple Full Coil suspension—Coil springs at all four wheels melt bumps as no other suspension can. Taking the punch out of rough roads is their only function—they don't have to anchor the rear axle.

Butyl rubber body mounts—Thicker, newly designed body mounts further insulate you from the road.

Body by Fisher—Only Chevy in its field offers the polish and craftsmanship of Body by Fisher.

Foam cushioned seats—Chevy offers foam cushioned seats in both front and rear in all series but one.

Safety-Girder frame—X-built and not merely X-braced, the Safety-Girder frame affords greater rigidity to minimize twisting and squeaks.

Hydraulic valve lifters—Oil hushed hydraulic valve lifters reduce engine noise to a whisper.

Cushioned steering shaft—A universal joint and cushioned coupling keep those annoying road tremors from the steering wheel.

Precision balanced wheels and tires—Here again Chevy has shown concern for your comfort by eliminating vibration in this vital area—tire life is longer, too.

Easy steering ratio—Chevy's high ratio Ball Race steering takes the work out of steering for you.

Superior weight distribution—Chevy rides better, handles better and stops better because the car's weight is more equally divided between the front and rear wheels.

Wide choice of power teams—Choose from 24 different power combinations to satisfy the itchiest driving foot—more than any other car.

Be My Valentine

"Valentine, Valentine, Will you be my Valentine?"

This question has been written again and again during the last few days as youngsters like the second graders pictured above put the finishing touches on the Valentines they will exchange at their Valentine parties tomorrow.

Genial Postman's Vacation Tour Sells Charlevoix

When Walker Miles, Charlevoix's congenial postman and his wife went on a vacation recently, he became an unofficial member of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce, according to Paul Kohler, secretary-manager of this organization.

During the two weeks vacation trip that took the couple to Grand Haven, Lansing and Adrian in Michigan, Dayton, Eaton and Germantown, Ohio, and Evansville and Richmond, Ind., Mr. Miles, a dyed-in-the-wool Charlevoixan, showed 200 colored slides and some 500 colored picturs to relatives and friends in these communities while singing the praises of the community's beauty, so easily captured in colored slides and pictures.

As a result of his pictures and his 'sales talk' on Charlevoix, some 20 families are planning to spend their vacation here this summer.

P. T. A. Told Opinions Differ on High School Courses Offered

Dr Roy Edelfelt of the College of Education at Michigan State University spoke on the subject of "High School Curriculum" at the regular meeting of the PTA held Wednesday.

In his interesting talk, Dr. Edelfelt said that there was a great difference of opinion of what a high school program should be. At this point he added that 63 per cent of the students who start high school in Michigan graduate.

Just as people differ in their ideas regarding the program, so they differ in what the program should accomplish, he said. Among other things most people agree that it should lay the ground work for a happy and successful life, prepare a person to earn a living, to be a good citizen, to prepare for a happy family life and to be able to contribute to society.

Dr. Edeltelt said that he felt that instead of high schools concentrating on subjects, they should concentrate more on skills. He followed this with goals which he felt might better prepare the student for a better life.

He advised the people of the community to evaluate their school, ask basic questions regarding it and see if its goals are being reached.

He mentioned the Antioch system where students study for three months and then work for three months during a five year period. He suggested that the majority of students in this system of combining theory with reality might benefit by it.

On the subject of guidance, he said he felt the informal kind between parents and child was the best and that the school should hold similar ones with the child, parent and teacher participating. Guidance programs should be adaptable. He added that a child should be taught to recognize his strong and weak points. Testing, he added, was a help but was not infallable.

He discussed scheduling which he felt was too cut and dried and did not take into consideration what the person was trying to do. He said that learning is individualistic.

He discussed briefly the rate of development, touched briefly on the use of community resources and the chief components of a high school faculty: a balance in ages, interests and common goals.

He said the ideal set up would be to lighten the teacher's load, have fewer teaching hours so the teacher could spend more time on better teaching and have time for inservice training and travel.

He suggested that a new salary scale be adopted whereby instead of raising the starting salaries, the increase be made in the top salary bracket.

Refreshments were served by the third grade room mothers.

Around Town

If any of you readers happened to see the strange combination of a pick-up truck with a large tank in the back puling a trailer connected with a pump line and pump, let us put you at ease. This odd unit is owned by Mr. Clarence Smith, the tank & pump are designed to pump waste or crank case oil from upright containers—what's the use? The oil collected from local garages is used to dedust roads leading to various summer cottages along Lake Charlevoix.

* * *

One of our young businessmen is sporting a beauty of a tan after spending ten relaxing days in San Juan, Puerto Rico, as the guest of the General Electric Corp. It's none other than Fritz Puflpaff. Puff was accompanied by his charming wife, Ann, who is equally tanned.

We have picked up a few comments about the forthcoming election of Councilmen. All contestants seem to be out after the votes in their wards. We will probably have our first real contest in several elections.

Signs of spring are about even though the ground hog did see his shadow on Feb. 2. That didn't deter the Sea Scouts starting erection of the boiling house on Bridge st. in preparation for the maple syrup season. Plans are being made to tap more city trees this year, reports Edward K. Shanahan, chairman of the Kiwanis committee sponsoring the project.

Iceboating enthusiasts aren't getting the break thus far this winter. Snow covered the ice soon after Lake Charlevoix was frozen over so the owners of the three boats on the lake are biding their time. Waiting for good ice are Elmer Gibson with his sleek single passenger boat; Don Campbell who just completed a new two-place job: Robert Neff, Floyd Brown, Robert Kenyon, Gordon Freedman and Jack Rader who have rejuvenated a big four-passenger boat that first sailed the lake about 1912. Pat Hawley will have his new boat ready by the time good ice returns.

Iceboating offers plenty of thrills with good ice and a stiff breeze. It's another winter sport that holds possibilities.

State Police Report December Arrests

State Police officers made 18,707 arrests in December, including 1,432 for criminal offenses and 17,275 for traffic violations. In addition, 391 juvenile traffic offenders, 322 other juvenile offenders and two wayward minors were apprehended.

Troopers made 13,566 property and 4,843 liquor inspections.

Department vehicles traveled 1,810,232 miles, 645,610 to investigate criminal and other complaints, and 1,164,622 on traffic patrol.

Of 9,353 sets of fingerprints received at the identification bureau at East Lansing headquarters, 6,350 were criminal and 3,001 noncriminal. The bureau identified 50 wanted persons through fingerprints.

There were 1,369 sets of fingerprints of applicants to carry concealed weapons, and 151 of the individuals were identified with criminal records.

Ask Groups to Sponsor Parties At State Hospital

The Traverse City State Hospital Community Relations Department is again seeking groups throughout the 39 county area served by the institution to provide monthly birthday parties in the wards. Many wards do not have any parties, whatsoever. Those wards which do have them greatly enjoy this special event.

The Traverse City State Hospital invites church groups, lodges, civic groups, and so forth to have a part in this extremely important and worthwhile program. Any such group interested in taking part is invited to write to the Community Relations Department, Traverse City State Hospital and specific information will be mailed, explaining the program.

Scouting in Charlevoix At Peak on Anniversary

On the 50th anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America, Scouting in Charlevoix appears at its highest peak. The local organization boasts three troops totaling 63 members and eight Cub Scout dens totalling 62 members.

Troop 11, the Sea Scouts and the Cub Scouts are sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Charlevoix with Howie Parsel as institution representative. Troop 11 is directed by Scoutmaster Louis Edwards with Robert Bergmann assistant Scoutmaster. Troop 10, sponsored by the Catholic school and in the process of organization is headed by Scoutmaster Calvin Peters. Robert Sommerville is skipper of the Sea Scout Organization.

Neighborhood commissioner serving as liason officer between the local crganizations and the Scenic Trails Council, is Leonard Burns.

Scouting in Charlevoix, dates back to 1916 as near as anyone can recall. At that time a Baptist minister took the reins for about 2 years — scouting then dropped. It wasn't until 1919 or 20 that it became active when Rev. Van Kirk, a Congregatinal minister wh was returning from Army service activated scouting again.

From this time on until the forties it seems John Nordrum and Rev. Parker were the active Scoutmasters.

There have been many men who gave their time to scouting such as Pat Hawley, Mike Hamlin, Rev. Howell, Pete Burns, and others. Unfortunately, there has never been a scouting history recorded so no acfual facts are availabe.

62 Boys Active in Cub Scout Groups

Eight Charlevoix mothers are lending their talents to the promotion of Cub Scouting this year, along with Cub Scout Master Jim Whitley, Assistant Master Maurice Foster, Secretary Walter Russell and Uno Suomela who has charge of awards, and Carl Johnson in charge of publicity.

Den Mothers are Mrs. Barbara Skeel, Mrs. Harold Huth, Mrs. Stewart Coleman, Mrs. Jerold Murdick. Mrs. Carl Johnson, Mrs. Alfred Bergmann, Mrs. Russell Lewis and Mrs. John Curtis.

There are 62 active Cub Scouts in Charlevoix on this 50th anniversary of the organization. They are divided into small groups, called Dens, and meet regularly with their respective Den Mothers who instruct them in the crafts and duties of Scouting.

Most of the Cub Scouts were on hand for the three group pictures. Some, unfortunately were unable to keep the appointments.

Attention Voters

Thanking the voters who circulated and signed my petition for Councilman in the 3d Ward. It is up to you voters in order to be nominated. Speak to your friends and neighbors and see that they get to the City Hall to vote. If you have transportation facilities that would be a great help.A Councilman should spend some time to get acquainted with City affairs and not only attend meetings and vote Yes on what ever comes along.

Budget must be reduced to a minimum.

Cut City Expenses.

Cut Real Estate insurance on City Property where not needed. Why should the City Hall be insured for $120,000.00 and the furniture for $25,000.00.

Stop loopholes where the City is spending taxpayers money and does not receive any in return.

No need for a City assessor. This duty could be taken over by the City Manager and by doing so will save the City $800.00.

How can people live with small incomes and pay all the high taxes? The Verdict Is Yours.

Sundew Reports

As of 8 a.m. Monday, the Sundew completed two weeks of Charlie status. During this period, all departments have been concentrating on fresh paint jobs and overhauling machinery. The work is almost completed and the long hours put in are showing up all over as the ship is in top shape.

SUNDEW SCUTTLEBUTT . . .

Daniel N. Harris EN3 reported aboard for temporary winter active duty. During last spring and summer he was stationed at the Lansing Shoals light station. Harvey N. Cole EN2 reported aboard from the Charlevoix Lifeboat station where he has been stationed for the past two years. Richard L. Montgomery SA reported aboard from overseas duty at Saipan. He was stationed on a Loran station for one year at Saipan located in the Mariana Islands. Congratulations are in order to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hart on the birth of their new daughter Feb. 3. Richard L. Selissen SN reported aboard the Sundew Saturday. He was discharged from the Coast Guard in August and has just re-enlisted at Green Bay, Wis. He had served aboard the Sundew prior to his discharge in August. Welcome back, Dick. Our basketball team played two more games this week. On Monday a team made up of college students outscored our boys in a close game. On Thursday a rematch was held and again we failed to outscore our opponents.

RAMBLER WINS COMPACT CAR ECONOMY TEST!

PURE OIL Economy Trial 1960
PURE

HERE ARE THE OFFICIAL PURE OIL ECONOMY TRIAL RESULTS

RAMBLER AMERICAN 51.281 Miles Per Gallon

FALCON	44.614 MPG	—Rambler gave 14.9% more mileage
VALIANT	41.801 MPG	—Rambler gave 22.7% more mileage
CORVAIR	39.882 MPG	—Rambler gave 28.6% more mileage
LARK	32.965 MPG	—Rambler gave 55.6% more mileage

Rambler American tops nearest competitor by 6.67 miles per gallon in Pure Oil Economy Trials at Daytona

Once again Rambler proves it is America's Economy King! Under official NASCAR supervision, the Rambler American won over all other U.S. economy cars to sweep the Compact Car Class in the Pure Oil Economy Trials held at the Daytona International Speedway Public Proving Grounds, February 1-3.

But gasoline mileage is only one measure of Rambler economy. Rambler owners save, too, on lowest prices, lowest upkeep, and highest resale value.

Discover Rambler's all-around economy yourself. See your Rambler dealer today.

IMPORTANT—All cars in the Pure Oil Economy Trials were driven by expert drivers and operated under ideal conditions. The winning Rambler American Custom was equipped with optional overdrive which is not available on most other cars in the Compact Car Class and averaged better than 25 miles per hour. No car owner should expect to approach in every day driving the mileage achieved in this test by Rambler or any of the other cars. However, the results prove again the superior economy that Rambler owners enjoy.

Charlevoix Wins Over Old Rival; Avenging One-Point Win, 51-34

The Charlevoix Rayders, playing without regular forward Joe Beaudoin, collided head-on with the one team that had managed earlier to hold them to a one-point victory, the East Jordan Red Devils, and came through with a 51 to 34 victory to keep their perfect record intact.

However, for the first five minutes and 40 seconds, it looked as though the game would be declared a stalemate as both teams threw up strong defenses. There was only 2:20 minutes remaining in the period before Louis Kraemer found the basket to score the first two points of the game. Sam Supernaw countered with one for Charlevoix and the offensive action officially got underway.

Starting for the Rayders were Bruce Pease who started in place of Beaudoin who has an injured right foot suffered when a 50 pound weight fell on it, Jim Ladd, Dick VanRaaphorst, Dave Schuchard and Charles Coleman. Supernaw saw action in the first quarter ,Jim Dennis in the second, Bud Balch in the third and Ralph Brock, Stan Smith, Don Nowland, Terry DeYoung and Tom Martin joined the line-up in the final period.

Later in the opening period Coleman and Schuchard scored field goals and East Jordan scored a field goal and two free throws as the period ended in a 6 to 6 tie.

The Rayders outscored the visitors 9 to 5 in the second period on three baskets by Schuchard, one by VanRaaphorst and a free throw by Ladd for a 15 to 11 halftime lead. East Jordan's five points were scored on a field goal and three single shots.

When the Rayders returned to the floor for the second half they pumped in 19 points including four free throws by Supernaw, two field goals by Coleman, one by Schuchard and free throws by Pease and Ladd. The Jordanites who had threatened, to avenge their earlier one-point loss to the Rayders scored a total of seven points on two field goals and three charity shots.

With the line-up changing as Coach Don Carey emptied the bench, Supernaw scored one field goal and four free throws, Schuchard added two field goals and two gifts shots, Ladd four points on a field goal and two free tosses an VanRaaphorst, Coleman and Martin one field goal each for a total of 22 points and a 51 to 34 victory. The Red Devils had their best period, scoring 16 points on three field goals and 10 free throws.

Schuchard paced the game with 16 points followed by Supernaw with 12. Louis Kraemer had 11 for East Jordan.

D. VanRaaphorst Gets Recognition On All-American

Dick VanRaaphorst, senior end on Charlevoix's conference and state championship football team last fall, had still another honor accorded him last week when he received honorable mention in the high school All-American selections.

It marked the first time such an honor had been awarded a local athlete.

Dick earlier was named to the northern Michigan Class C All-Conference and the Petoskey News Review All-Opponent teams in addition to receiving all-state honors in grid polls.

The high school All-American selections are made annually on a nation-wide basis by the Wigwam Wisemen of America who receive ballots from the press, sports writers and coaches in various areas throughout the country.

Dick, who is planning to attend college though at this time has not decided which one, was the only player from the immediate area to receive honorable mention on the high school All-American team.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William VanRaaphorst.

Reserves Chalk Another Victory

Charlevoix's little Rayders posted their ninth victory against a league rival Friday night when they dumped East Jordan 52 to 22.

The local quintet rolled up an 18 to 8 first period lead over the visiting Jordanites who showed little opposition to the Rayders who romped into a 27 to 14 lead at halftime before going ahead 41 to 18 as the game went into its final period.

Barry Pierce, Danny Pearl, George Majors, Stan Martin and Henry Wagner started for the Rayders.

In the first two periods Majors carried the scoring load, accounting for seven in the first and four points in the second quarter while Wagner had four in the first and two in the second, Martin four in the first and three in the second. Pearl scored one field goal and Pierce a free throw in the first period to give the Rayders a 27 to 14 halftime advantage. The Jordanites had scored five field goals and four charity shots for the two periods. Jack Stewart joined the line-up in the first. Tony Duerr and Corky Curtis in the second quarter.

Jim Rohm entered the action in the third period as Wagner scored four field goals, Martin two and Majors one for 14 points while the visitors were held to two double-pointers.

As Denny Wojan, Joe Smith, Jim Ferguson, Dwight Boss, Stewart VerWys, Herb Cummings, Bruce Murray and Mel Holburn made their way into the line-up the Rayders continued to score with Murray adding two hook shots, Pearl, Curtis and Rohm one field goal each and Cummings one free throw. East Jordan had only two field goals.

Wagner paced the scoring with 14 for the victors followed by Majors with 13, Martin 11, Pearl and Murray four each, Curtis and Rohm with two each and Pierce and Cummings, one each. Gee had seven for the Jordanites.

For the second week the Charlevoix Rayders, with a record of 11 conference and one non-loop victories to their credit, have been listed 20th in the Class C weekly Associated Press poll.

An upper peninsula team, Rudyard, with a record of 16 straight wins is first in the ratings.

Last Week With Class C

Boyne City pulled a minor upset Friday night when the Ramblers defeated Mancelona 56 to 43 to headline the action in the Northern Michigan Class C conference.

In other games Pellston snapped Gaylord's four-game winning streak by dumping the Blue Devils 56 to 48; Grayling won their first game in four times out by trouncing Harbor Springs 72 to 57 and Charlevoix continued its march along the victory trail by defeating East Jordan 51 to 34.

Boyne City 56; Mancelona 43

Though Mancelona remained in second place after Friday's game, their hopes of sharing in the title were virtually shattered as they lost to the Boyne City Ramblers who paced the game 18 to 16; 33 to 27 and 41 to 34 by quarters.

Jack Dixon and Mike Kane shared scoring honors for the victors with 16 points each. Walt Klein had 14 for Mancelona.

Pellston 56; Gaylord 48

Gaylord handed the defending champions their first loss of the season and on Friday it looked as though the Blue Devils would make it two in a row over Pellston as they led 15 to 12 at the quarter. The Hornets, however, had other ideas as they went ahead 26 to 21 at halftime and 38 to 32 going into the final period before posting their fourth win of the season.

Curt Fonger, a newcomer to the top scorer ranks, dumped in 20 points for the victors. Terry Cremeans had nine for Gaylord.

Grayling 72; Harbor Springs 57

Grayling's Frank Gross dumped in 37 points to set a new scoring record for the season as his team led Harbor Springs 19 to 9; 35 to 17 and 58 to 37 by quarters. Frank Lauer scored 17 for the Rams.

The Charlevoix Independents rolled up a 76 to 41 victory over Holiday House in the Petoskey Independent league Tuesday night.

The local five held a 37 to 22 halftime lead before taking the game. Norm Helms with 26 points and Mike Black with 21 topped the scoring for the victors. Dick Beals and Ralph Dominic had 13 each for Holiday House.

Rayder Beat Harbor, 70-46

The Charlevoix Rayders clinched a share of the 1960 Northern Michigan Class C title Tuesday night after dumping Harbor Springs 70 to 46.

The Rams, intent on upsetting the title-bound Rayders, gave the visitors a bad first half as they led Charlevoix 12 to 11 at the quarter and held the score to a 24-24 at the halftime before the Rayders found their stride to go ahead 50 to 32 at the three quarter mark.

Joe Beaudoin returned to the line-up in the second period, marking his first appearance since suffering a foot injury in a shop accident.

Dave Schuchard was top scorer for the game with 22 points, Beaudoin followed with 12 and Jim Ladd with 10. George Pamp had 11 and Gary Stutzman 10 for the Rams.

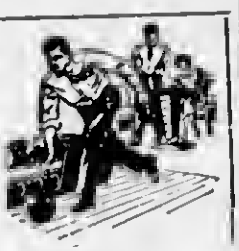
Bowling News



BY MEG

Let's bowl in Charlevoix next year. We can do that by getting a bowling alley. The people are ready to build. "Let's Give Them A Place." The only thing in the way is the zoning ordinance in the Township of Charlevoix. Let's change it by voting YES on the ballot, Feb. 23rd in CHARLEVOIX TOWNSHIP.

Moonlight Gardens stayed in a tie for first place tonight by only taking "1" (one) point from Neffs Grocery. The only one going for Moonlight was Gruver who had a 522 series, followed by Sarg with a 493. My sunshine, LV was almost dragging anchor with a 447 but Doc took the prize with a 446 series. For Neffs, Howard Struthers had a 523 series followed by Big with a 213, 513 series.

Freedman No. I stayed in a tie for 2nd place by taking 3 points from Airport Inn. John Swanson had a 213-212-177 — 004 series followed by Cal Peters with a 420 series. Ball Point had a 97 first game, 344 series which didn't help Freedman's too much. Pat Curtis rolled a triplicate of 123 for 3 games. For Airport Al Anderson had a 511 series, Hank a 506 Nick 464, Des 435 and the Skipper a 417 series. Nobody could help it. They just couldn't do it. "Momma told me there would be nights like this."

Steve's Bar rolls along, they took four from United Farms. They are tied for 2nd place with Freedman No. I. For Steve's Ken "Cel" led the parade with a 556 series followed by "Agerbaum" with a 220-540 series. Meg had a 501 series. For United Farm, Ed had a 463 series followed by Bill with a 443 series. This makes it 8 in a row for United Farms, in the losing column, that is.

Browe Electric had a man with a 137 average, bowl a 233-177-177 587 series but still split with Central Drugs tonight. Bill Cooper must have flipped his lid. Nice bowling, Bill, too bad you didn't have some help. Bob Onderkirk followed with a 483 series. Ted Browe was dragging anchor with a 391 series. For Central, Keith Miles, had a 520 series followed by Al Bergmann with 472 series. The two teams were only 12 pins apart for total pins.

Puff's took advantage of the "Cellar Dwellers" (Lake Construction) tonight and took 4 points. Ed Lemeke led the way with a 235-565 series, followed by Ron's 201-561 series. Puff had a 515 series. For Lake's Hal had a 501 series followed by Dick with a 469 series. Bill couldn't find the range and finished with a 316 series.

Freedman No. 2 took the "Stone Rollers" in tow for 3 points. Bob Coakley had a 502 series for the No. II team followed by Harry with a 499 series. Swanson's missed "Ole Fergie" tonight, but still put up a fight. Stub was high with a 477 series followed by Ron with a 456 series.

Seniors Plan Government Day

More than 200 seniors from the five high schools in Charlevoix county will gather at East Jordan Monday for the second annual Senior Government Day, according to Charles A. Robinson, Charlevoix county superintendent of schools and coordinator for the planning committee composed of students and faculty advisors from the participating schools.

In announcing the plans, Mr. Robinson said the purpose of the project was to interest the young citizens of tomorrow in local government. "Too few people give the proper attention to their local government and its operation. By acquainting these leaders of tomorrow with their government at this time, we hope these young people will be better citizens thus proving the axiom that 'The best leaders are informed leaders.' "

The all-day program will open in the East Jordan high school auditorium at 9:30 a.m. Larry Gee, president of the Senior class at host school, will welcome the senior students from St. James, Boyne Falls, Boyne City, East Jordan and Charlevoix high schools, their faculty advisors and the more than 30 resource persons who will assemble for the conference.

Following the invocation by the Rev. Charles Dunbar of East Jordan and the presentation of colors an dthe Pledge of Allegiance, Sandra Zipp of Charlevoix will present the keynote address.

Officials ot the Local Government Institute and other guests will be introduced and will speak briefly at this time.

A discussion period will follow until 11:50 a.m. when the meeting will be adjourned for lunch. Resource persons, panel chairmen and recorders will have lunch in the homemaking room to work out the details of the afternoon group meetings. Other students will have lunch in the high school cafeteria.

Seven groups will meet in various classroom from 12:50 to 2:15 p.m. when they will return to the auditorium where recorders will present group reports. David J. Thomas of the Division of Extended Services at Hillsdale College, under whose guidance and counseling the program has been planned, will summarize the results of the conference.

The seven topics to be discussed in groups and chairmen, recorders and resource personnel follow:

Public Roads and Highways: Leroy Ecker, chairman and Elaine Seelye, recorder, both of Boyne City; panel members, John J. Martin, superintendent of the county road commission, Ralph S. Hamilton, deputy clerk of the commission, Samuel E. Rogers, road commissioner, Ralph Brooks of the commission maintenance department and Ben Seifert, road commission surveyor.

Law Enforcement and Courts: Leroy Sumner, chairman, and Marijo Parrott, recorder, both of Boyne City; panel members, Glenn E. Rose, sheriff, Harvey C. Varnum, prosecuting attorney, William T. Downs, judge of probate, Charles L. Brown, circuit court judge and a member of the Michigan State Police from the Petoskey post.

Nominations and Elections: Ronald Grunch, chairman, and Donald Heise, recorder, both of Charlevoix; panel members, F. R. Bulow, county clerk, Mrs. Forrest L. Thacker, former East Jordan city clerk, E. K. Shanahan, chairman of the county Republican committee, Archie Murphy, former chairman county Democratic committee and George LaBlance, area field coordinator for the Democratic State Central Committee.

Education: Jack Rader, chairman and Vicki Miller, recorder, both of Charlevoix; panel members, Max Damoth, Superintendent of Schools at East Jordan, Charles A. Robinson, county superintendent of schools, W. G. Boswell, secretary of the East Jordan board of education and Douglas Henderson, teacher in the East Jordan elementary school.

Health and Welfare: Mary Renkie, chairman, and Barbara Upton, recorder, both of Boyne Falls; panel members, Dr. A. F. Litzenberger, director of District Health Department No. 3, Mrs. Marian Rice RN, county nurse, Mrs. John Reynolds, director of the County Department of Social Welfare and George Hutchinson, director of the county Bureau of Social Aid.

Taxation and Legislation: Bruce Brintnall, chairman and Judy Annear, recorder, both of East Jordan; Miss Lillis M. Flanders, county treasurer, Lawrence Feindt, Charlevoix city assessor, Lawrence Addis, township clerk and Fred Vogel, East Jordan city treasurer.

Recreation and Juvenile Problems: Robert Sherman, chairman, and Sue Boswell, recorder, both of East Jordan; panel members, Gayle B. Saxton, East Jordan Recreational director, Dean Davenport, former Northwestern Michigan director of recreation, Bret Riley, county agent for the probate court, Joseph Hammond, East Jordan Chief of Police and a member of the Michigan State Police from the Petoskey Post.

Each participating high school with the exception of St. James supplied a student chairman and recorder and obtained resource personnel for one or more of the group discussions.

The East Jordan elementary school will be dismissed at noon to provide facilities for the conference.

MINUTES OF SCHOOL BOARD MEETING

January 18, 1960

Present: Smith, Lieberman, Martin, Bennett, Supt.
Absent: Boss and Freedman.

The meeting was called to order at 8:10 p.m.

Minutes of the meeting of January 4 were read and approved.

Moved by Martin, supported by Smith, that bills in the amount of $1,560.97 payable from General Fund be approved and ordered paid. Carried: 3-0.

Moved by Martin, supported by Smith, that bills in the amount of $16,411.37 payable from Building & Site Fund be approved and ordered paid. Motion carried: 3-0.

John Bell, of the McFadden Company, demonstrated the Universal bleachers.

A letter of resignation from Hal Forbrig, on the new school job, was read. On motion of Martin, supported by Smith, the resignation was accepted. Carried: 3-0.

Compulsory registration and the changing of school elections' date to the second Monday in June if it becomes State-wide, were discussed with no action taken.

Arrangements were made for presentation of bus drivers' certificates and awards to bus drivers who had attended the school of instruction held by authority of Central Michigan University and the State Department of Public Instruction.

Teacher applications for a 2nd grade position, beginning the second semester, were considered but no selection made.

Moved by Martin, supported by Smith, that Mr. Bennett be authorized to engage Mr. William Ratigan for two additional hours per day for a class in a special field of education, a need for which has been indicated. Carried: 3-0.

Since State Aid and tax money may not arrive in time to meet current bills, payrolls and notes due this month, it was moved by Smith and supported by Martin that Mr. Bennett be authorized to make proper application for approval of a loan for operational purposes. Carried: 3-0.

Plans were made to meet the requirements of the National Defense Act for equipment and instructional materials for science, guidance and languages. Mr. Bennett advised that the first application under this Act must be in by March 14, 1960.

Further action for the moving of the school garage, the City garage, and the American Legion building was discussed at length.

Mr. Bingham, high school principal, appeared and presented the results of the testing program in the 11th and 12th grades. Much satisfaction was expressed with the program. The intent was expressed to carry further to more pupils the merit scholarship and other tests, and to include a more satisfactory amount for guidance in the coming budget.

Authorization was given for the re-investment of Building & Site Funds in U. S. Treasury Notes.

The meeting adjourned at 11:10 p.m. to re-convene on February 8th.

Staley and Grubaugh Win Nominations in Only Primary Contests

In a primary election which brought out only a fourth of the city's voters Monday, two newcomers to the political scene won the nominations as second and third ward aldermen.

Kenneth A. Staley polled a total of 134 votes to win the nomination for the aldermanic post in the second ward over incumbent Ray L. Kipke, who is completing his fourth term on the council, he had 79 votes and Frank M. Oleksy who had 40.

In the third ward, Jack Grubaugh posted a total of 102 votes over his opponent, John Wolf, who received 52.

This election in which they won the nomination, which is tantamount to election, marked the first appearance of both Staley, who operates Staley's Grocery on Antrim st. and Grubaugh who is a cost accountant at Freedman Artcraft.

Elsewhere in the city E. D. 'Pat' Hawley, cashier at the Charlevoix County State Bank, with 54 votes, was unopposed for the post of first ward alderman to succeed Lee Moerland who is not a candidate for re-election.

Harry Gabean with 126 votes won the nomination without opposition for the post of third ward supervisor being vacated by Jess Smith who is not seeking re-election.

Other offices and the votes tallied for each follow: mayor, E. [illegible], 208, 52 and 201 for a total of 384; Hal M. Hill, Don Brown and John Wolf, one vote each.

Clerk, Hugh Mayne, 53, 211. Treasurer: Nelle A. Hammond, 52, 220 and 139 for a total of 411 votes, Mrs. Charles Hamlin, one vote.

First ward supervisor: Ivan Phillips, 47; DeWitt Peters and Gordon Freedman, one each.

Second ward supervisor: Theodore R. Miller, 193 votes.

First ward Justice of the Peace: John Connolly 3, King Saunders 2, Robert Morse and Drew Young, 1 each; Constable: Joseph Howard and Richard Fnchtman, 2 each; Rex Davis, Leonard Burns, Richard Edwards, Arnold Wadas, Laverne Heise and Ivan Phillips, 1 each.

Third ward: Justice of the Peace: John Connolly, 10; H. E. Paddock, 2; Robert Hamilton, Don Carey, C. P. Heise, James Flynn, Dean Davenport and Edwin Bogart, one each.

The above were all write in votes.

The names of those nominated in Monday's election will appear on the ballot in the general election April 4.

Rayders Edge Northmen in Tight Game

The Charlevoix Rayders defeated the Petoskey Northmen 57 to 56 Tuesday night in a game which saw the lead change countless times and the game tied several times.

The visiting Northmen edged into a 12 to 11 first quarter lead before Charlevoix tied the score 29-all at halftime after seeing an eight-point lead melt away.

As the second half got underway the Rayders battled to a 39-31 lead which the stubborn Northmen trimmed to 43-38 as the third period ended.

In the final period the lead changed twice before a field goal by Joe Beaudoin put the Rayders ahead 51 to 50 with 2:27 minutes remaining. He pumped in three more which were matched by three Petoskey but the one-point margin held as the final whistle blew.

Beaudoin paced the game with 22 points followed by Jim Ladd with 14, Dave Schuchard with 12, Charles Coleman with 5, and Dick VanBlaphorst with 4. Bruce Pease and Stan Smith also saw action.

Ed Colwell had 19 points and John 12 for Petoskey.

Charlevoix had a total of 21 field goals, 15 of 23 free throws and collected 16 personal fouls. Petoskey had 19 field goals, 18 of 27 successful free throw attempts and 17 personal fouls.

Malpass Named to Hospital Board

Bruce Malpass of East Jordan has been named to the board of directors of the Charlevoix hospital according to Fred W. Willis, chairman of the board.

He has been named to fill the unexpired term of his late father, Theodore E. Malpass, who was serving a second term on the board at the time of his death last August.

The young Mr. Malpass' term will expire in August 1961.

The board of directors is composed of representatives of the various communities the hospital serves. Other members are: Hans DeYoung of Ellsworth, H. A. Craig, Max Novak, Floyd Brown, Mrs. E. K. Shanahan, Charles Bleha, Mrs. Kit Carson, Gordon L. Freedman and Mr. Willis.

Recreation Corp. To Hold Annual Meet Wednesday

The annual meeting of the Charlevoix-Mt. McSauba Recreation Corp. will be held at the City hall at 8:15 p.m. Wednesday William Fochtman, president of the organization has announced.

Purpose of the meeting will be to elect three directors, transact other business and to complete plans for a smorgasbord to be given late in March for the benefit of the Mt. McSauba ski club.

Directors whose terms of office expire at this time are Robert G. Lieberman, Lee Moerland and Don Porsel. An election of officers will follow the election of directors.

Robert Neff and William Supernaw will head the committee for the smorgasbord.

Rev. Yonkman Tells Fathers to Spend Time with Sons

Take time to spend with your children, the Rev. Robert Yonkman admonished fathers at the annual father and son banquet held Monday evening at the First Methodist church.

In a short, straight from the shoulder talk the speaker said the training of youth starts in the home. Parents mold ideas their children require. He lauded churches, schools and youth organizations in the work they do but warned they were not a substitute for home training.

His topic was "That's My Pop." The inflections a child using in making that exclamation reflects either a good or indifferent mutual relationship between father and son.

A toast to the son was given by E. D. Hawley and the response to the father was offered by his son, Tom. Dean Davenport was Toastmaster and Don Bogart led the group singing with Mrs. Leonard Burns the accompanist. The Rev. Fred McNiel gave the benediction.

The dinner was served by the Women's Society of Christian Service.

New Ski Tow at McSauba

Necessity, 'tis often said, is the mother of invention.

This old axiom might well explain how the new electrically-operated ski tow at Mt. McSauba (pictured above) came into being.

It all started last fall when directors of the Charlevoix-Mt. McSauba Recreation Corp. which operates the ski slope, decided that if the park was to grow as a winter attraction, the gasoline-operated tow would have to be replaced with an electric tow, according to Bill Fnchtman, president of the organization.

A survey of the situation was made, the needs outlined and a search started for the tow. However, after many requests for a tow that was needed it was found that there just wasn't one available that would meet the specifications . . . not because they were so demanding but just because most tows in use at ski resorts in the area were 'makeshift' tows that had been pieced together from materials on hand. Not that tows couldn't be purchased if one had the money, but they were designed for installations far more elaborate than Charlevoix'.

After a tour of the resorts in the area, gathering data, asking questions, and making a note of specifications demanded by the state, Mr. Foehtman and Jess Penn of Great Lakes Fabrication, "a genius with things mechanical" according to those who know his talents, went about designing a tow from the information they had gathered.

It had to be compact, easy to operate and maintain, have all the safety devices known and not too expensive to build . . . quite an order and one that might discourage most people.

However, after some extensive planning and drawing, Mr. Penn came up with the tow pictured above which those who have seen it in operation believe to be the answer to the needs of the average small operation.

The tow has a 15 hp motor which will pull the skier the length of 850 ft. in 35 seconds, has every safety factor available and thus far has proven its practibility. The frame is of four-inch steel tubing and is easy to install.

Those who have seen it in operation are 'sold' on it. Mr. Penn is so pleased with the product that he is planning to offer it for sale to other ski resorts in the midwest.

It is interesting to note that this tow which operates so efficiently in Michigan's snow was designed and built by a former Texan who had never really lived in the north until coming here in May 1951. But he's sold on the 'snow' country though he admits he's not much of a skier himself . . . hasn't time, he adds. That's understandable for he is kept plenty busy at his small plant on West Lincoln where he does light manufacturing and production welding.

Local Students Rate Firsts In Solo Ensemble

The Charlevoix high school ensemble groups participating in the annual Solo Ensemble festival at Gaylord Saturday did an outstanding job according to their director, C. A. Odmark, who has announced that of the 12 groups entered eight received top ratings and four received II ratings.

The I rating denotes the best conceivable performance in the classification and a II rating denotes a fine performance in many respects but with minor flaws which would keep the participant from receiving a I rating, Mr. Odmark explained.

In the Senior high division, the following groups received I ratings: an oboe duet (Marilou VerWys and Richard Odmark); a cornet duet (Evelyn Peters and Gary Chew); a clarinet quartet (Lynette Mayne, Betty Stoel, Sharon Abfalter and Sharon Cunningham); a woodwind quintet (Sandra Tuomela, Richard Odmark, Marilyn Novak, Robert Odmark and Judy Kotesky) and a brass

Mancelona and Gaylord Play Non-Conference

In two non-league games played Tuesday night Gaylord downed Class B Cheboygan 52 to 47 and Mancelona was downed by Kalkaska 61 to 78.

Cheboygan led the Blue Devils briefly before Gaylord took over 21 to 19 at halftime and 36 to 28 going into the final period.

Del Jewell posted 15 points for the Chiefs. Bob Burnison had 13 for the victors.

At Kalkaska Mancelona never led throughout the game though they did cut the Kalkaska lead to one point late in the game. Roger Vipond with 24 points was top scorer for the game. Fred Moore had 22 for Mancelona.

P. T. A. to Stage Annual All-School Fair Saturday Eve

Pink lemonade and popcorn, a midway with scads of booths and sideshows, in other words, all the ingredients that promise fun will be found at the third annual PTA Fair to be held at the Charlevoix public school Saturday.

Beginning at 5 p.m. with a choice of Italian spaghetti or creamed chicken supper, the fair will then swing into high gear in the high scool gymnasium, where just about any kind of booth or game that anyone would like to patronize, will be found.

Designed for the entertainment of the entire family, an invitation is expended to everyone in the community to come to the fair. You'll hate yourself if you miss it.

Local Cub Scouts To Stage Annual Blue-Gold Dinner

The golden anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America will be celebrated by the Cub Scouts of Pack 111 at the annual Blue and Gold dinner to be held at St. Mary's school hall at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday.

At that time the more than 60 Cub Scouts, their Den Mothers and assistants, Den Chiefs and members of the Pack committee will be joined by the members of their sponsoring organization, the Charlevoix Kiwanis club and their wives, in celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of Scouting.

Charlevoix at the present time boasts eight dens with room in the dens for boys who have reached their eighth birthday and wish to join the Cub Scouts.

"Scouts in Action" will be the theme of the program and will feature slides and a commentary on the trip to Philmont, N. M., taken last summer by six local Sea Scouts who will participate in the program and slides taken in recent years by George Hutchinson, former member of the pack committee, showing Cubs in action.

Forces Organized to Swing Referendum in Township Election

Opposing forces are organizing to swing the zoning referendum to be voted on at a special election in Charlevoix township next Tuesday. Both sides are making the location of a proposed bowling alley in the community the issue despite the fact the township zoning board had made a study of the amendments to the zoning ordinance before the bowling alley entered the picture.

Before the effective date of the amendments, voters opposed to the changes on the grounds that they would open the way for the construction of a bowling alley Airport bar in Charlevoix town- a petition asking for a referendum. Friends of bowling then started a counter action with the result that the real issue has been overshadowed by the question of whether or not a bowling alley is to be constructed.

It is understood Thomas Venema of Petoskey is interested in building the alley adjoining the Airport bar in Charlevoix otwnship. Materialization of his plans will no doubt hinge on the outcome of the Tuesday election.

The proposed changes in the zoning ordinance were recommended by the zoning committee composed of Floyd Brown, John Fratrick, John Schroeder and Uno Suomela. They were approved by the township board following a public hearing Dec. 11 and went to become effective 30 days later.

Adoption of the changes in the ordinance eliminated provision that would have prohibited construction of a building such as the proposed bowling alley. As yet there has not been a request for a permit to build an alley and it is understood plans will not be drawn up until such time as there is assurance of no further obstructive action.

Following approval of the township board, rumors spread that Henry Stephan intended to circulate a petition asking for a

To Observe 60th Anniversary

Courier Photo

Mr. and Mrs. William F. Smith, pioneer residents of this community, will observe their sixtieth wedding anniversary Saturday.

A family gathering at the couple's home at 106 Petoskey ave. Saturday will mark the memorable occasion for one of the community's oldest couples.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith were married Jan. 20, 1900, at St. Francis Xavier church in Petoskey because there was no resident priest at the local church at that time. They made the trip to Petoskey via horse and cutter for the Nuptial Mass. They have always lived here since then.

Mr. Smith, who was born at Two Rivers, Wis., April 1, 1874, was a Great Lakes sailor who had started his career as a cabin boy. He continued to sail for some time following their marriage at the turn of the century before leaving the lakes to establish a draying business which he continued to operate until the early 1920's. At that time he became manager of the Ayres Boal farm in Hayes township, a position he held until 1930 when he and Mrs. Smith retired to their present home.

Mrs. Smith, the former Catherine Haggerty, was born in Berea, Ohio, Aug. 5, 1874, and came to Hayes township at the age of nine years.

Though Mr. Smith no longer sails, he has always had a love for the water and until confined at home in recent years could often be seen walking along the beach on Lake Michigan. Mrs. Smith is among the few remaining early settlers of Charlevoix when it was only a small community on the shores of Lake Michigan and Hayes township, where her parents settled, a land of virgin timber which later was cut by the early lumber tycoons.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith are members of St. Mary's church. In their younger days both were ardent workers in the church, having played major roles in the growth of St. Mary's parish which first became a mission in the early 1890's when the church was constructed. Prior to that time mission priests would visit the parish a few times a year, celebrating the Mass in the homes of parishioners.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith have one son, John, of Petoskey and four daughters, Mrs. H. F. Bingham, Mrs. Hugh Mayne and Miss Mary of Charlevoix and Mrs. Fitch Tooley of Boyne City. They also have nine grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Adam Stokes, Former Resident Dies at Alpena

Mrs. Adam Stokes, 71, former local resident, died Thursday at Alpena where she had been living with her son, Louis W. Wallace.

Funeral services were held Monday at the Winchester Funeral Home here with the Rev. Lloyd G. Brasure, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Petoskey, officiating. Burial was in Brookside cemetery.

Born in Detroit July 26, 1838, the former Amelia Malvitz came to Charlevoix following her marriage to the late W. H. Wallace and continued to live here until the early 1930's. Since then she has lived in southern Michigan and Toledo, Ohio, except for about a year in 1955-56.

She was a member of the Order of the Eastern Star and the Presbyterian church in Detroit.

Surviving are her husband, Adam Stokes, of Detroit whom she married after leaving Charlevoix, one son, Louis W. Wallace of Alpena, several grandchildren and great-grandchildren; two brothers and three sisters.

Do You Belong to Governing Class?

That is a good question asked by the Farm Journal in a recent editorial. Thanks to Capt. Hubert Paddock for sending it to the Courier. Ours is a government supposedly run by the people, but it appears to be well out of hand because too many of us are being hypnotized by government handouts. We overlook the fact that what the government gives is first taken from us. After administrative costs, plus professional chiselling on such a socialistic policy, we get little in return for what we pay to the cause.

Following is what Farm Journal has to say:

To believe that we all govern ourselves here in the USA is to believe 90% nonsense. We could do it, but we do not. Two out of five do not bother even to vote. Those two are governed by the majority of those who do vote. Of those who vote, only a small fraction do any work to help their parties and candidates to win. Still fewer take part in putting up candidates for the primaries. Voting at primaries is usually light. A small fraction of people ever write or talk to their legislators. And how often do you hear informed conversation about public questions — which is what makes up public opinion.

The few who are informed and active govern the country.

Daily urgencies and trivia excuse most of us from thinking or doing much about:

Governmental spending which over-taxes our earnings;

Inflation, which steals our savings;

Monopoly, with which labor leadership is gripping the country more firmly than big business ever did;

Communism, which is a serious and world-wide threat against our futures;

Excessive government, which gradually steals our liberties and grabs our earnings.

Voice of Our Readers . . .

Editor of the Charlevoix Courier:

A few words about the Amendments to the Charlevoix Township Zoning Ordinance that will be voted on at a Special Election Feb. 23, 1950.

Nobody has asked to have it amended (deleted . . .), so why amend it, we get enough of that by people who request it.

Now if nobody asked to have it amended why is Thomas Vanesian of Petoskey paying for the Special Election.

Mr. Vanesian is the gentleman who will build and operate the proposed bowling alley. He does not intend to build it near by or adjacent to but attach it to the Airport bar with a door leading from the bowling alley into the bar room. They used to amend the zoning ordinance amendment one at a time. Now they run them off in batches of 4. I would like to know whats wrong with the voters of Charlevoix Township voting on them amendments. That is there legal rights. The trouble is we have a one man township. The supervisor has even taken over the function of the zoning board. He wants a zoning administrator in name only. (deleted) . .

Let's not have a slum ever in our Township. Nobody is opposed to a bowling alley and we need one in Charlevoix, but lets build it by itself. I advised the supervisor to get some legal advise on these amendments because they were not processed according to the Township Zoning Act. No. 184. (deleted) . . .

So vote No on all Four Amendments.

Yours Truly,
Henry Stephan

Editor of the Courier:

Four amendments to zoning ordinances have been passed by the Charlevoix Township Board with a majority vote of 4 to 1. Because the laws allow that changes or amendments be subject to a referendum vote upon presentation of a petition by 15% of the registered voters of the Township, the question now resolves itself upon the forthcoming special election on 23 February.

It is felt that the proposed changes [illegible] the way for erection of a bowling alley [illegible] would not be considered [illegible] the side issues of [illegible] special election.

The Charlevoix Township Board, by voting their approval, indicated their belief that the amendments will prove beneficial to the Township. Any change in antiquated laws or ordinances are usually a step towards improvement and betterment in a community. Objections or harassment, put forth by a faction or individual, for the singular purpose of preventing passage of one part of the new proposals, can conceivably cloud the prime purpose of that amendment.

It is requested that those who vote in the forthcoming election, look upon the side issues as only a part of the original intentions of the Board in submitting their recommended amendments to the zoning ordinances.

We would appreciate the opportunity of having our views on the Charlevoix township referendum made known to the public.

Very truly yours,

From the Editor's Desk

The stuff that accumulates on this desk has me swamped. What is of interest to readers is equally puzzling.

Here is one from the Michigan Department of State that wants us to urge vehicle owner to get their license plates because there is certain to be a last minute rush. George LaBance who operates the branch office here says so too. Guess we had better get ours now.

Veterans administration is urging all veterans to get wise to the new pension law which takes effect July 1, 1960. They have announced a meeting to be held Feb. 28 at the Emmet county fair grounds at 2 p.m. Good opportunity for veterans to find out where they stand on the pension problem.

Here is one from Michigan Bell Telephone Co. An editorial in their monthly magazine states, "Our Customers Now Pay Direct Tax of 13% on Their Telephone Service." They point out that the state classifies the telephone as a luxury along with tobacco, liquors, etc. The state tax is 3 percent and the federal excise tax is 10 per cent. The latter tax is supposed to terminate June 30 of this year. The federal government, however, may decide it needs this revenue and renew the tax for a definite period or permanently.

Michigan Milk Producers' association is letting the world know it is supporting a new "Unfair Trade Practices" bill. It may have advantages but we lose a little more freedom when we turn responsibility over to government. The sponsors maintain "cut throat competition" doesn't benefit anyone. Competition usually takes care of the "cut-throats" but it might be well to remember free enterprise made the U. S. A. despite the cut-throats.

The governor in a Feb. 7 "press release" makes an issue of the U. of M. professor who resigned because of inadequate building facilities. Now the governor proposes a $4,330,000 facility to appease the professor.

It's my guess if the professor were offered a million plus salary he would do a pretty good jab getting by.

Back in 1918 Michigan Agricultural College, (now Michigan State University) was referred to as the "Cow College." Student education then seemed paramount to size and physical assets.

Now a new student needs a map to find his way around and a means of transportation to get him there. We wonder if the place isn't getting so big that the student is a mighty small frog in a big pond. The governor now proposes $21,500,000 more to make the place bigger.

THREE THOUSAND YEARS ago the Olympic Games consisted of just one event—a foot race. To know the winner, all you had to do was stand at the finish line. This month, people all over the world will want to know the winners of the Winter Olympics, which begin this week at Squaw Valley, California. Because of this, the village of Squaw Valley (population 30) has about 1200 telephones . . . until the games are over. If they kept the phones after everyone left, that would average out to forty phones for every man, woman and child in the town.

"ON MY HONOR, I will do my best to do my duty to God and my country." That's the Boy Scout Oath, and over the last fifty years thousands of boys have grown up to become better men because of it. This month, as the Boy Scouts of America celebrate their Golden Jubilee, we at the telephone company salute them. Many of the men and women of Michigan Bell are active scout leaders, and I'm sure that scouting is just as much fun for all of them as it is to the boys themselves! Happy Anniversary, Scouters!

SHHHHHHHSH-H-H-H . . . Approaching the outskirts of a small town, a motorist stopped to use an outdoor telephone booth. He was startled to read this sign on the door: "Please don't use this phone booth until the eggs are hatched!"

When he peered into the booth, our friend saw two tiny eggs sitting inside a ready-made hummingbird's nest—the coin return slot. With an understanding grin, he returned to his car and drove on to the next telephone booth.

Pomona Grange Hold First Meet In New Quarters

Charlevoix county Pomona Grange No. 40 will hold its first official meeting Saturday in its permanent headquarters, the Deer Lake Grange hall, reports Mrs. Helen Argentsinger, secretary.

Following the disbandment of the Deer Lake Grange, the hall was offered to the Charlevoix County Pomona Grange and was accepted at a recent meeting. A clean-up bee has put the hall in readiness for this first official meeting.

The entertainment hour, following the business meeting, will be featured by a discussion of various legislative matters, Lecturer Mrs. George reports. Other features of the program will include a cherry pie contest with the ladies furnishing the pies and the men as judges. There will be a prize for the winning, too.

Farm Bureau

IN THE NEWS

Charlevoix County Farm Bureau Board of Directors met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Reidel on February 8, 1960.

Meeting was called to order by President Edward K. Shanahan at 8:30 p.m.

Roll call found the following Directors present: Lot Notestine, William Gaunt, Clint Blanchard, Ed Snanahan, August Bulmann, Delbert Ingalls, Charles Mascho, Stanley Houghton, Robert Reidel, William Parsons, Thomas Wieland and Ardith Wieland. Also Fred Wilis, County Secretary and Royal Call, Farm Bureau District Representative.

Bills amounting to $239.26 were presented and ordered paid.

The following applications for membership were approved: Clarence Himebauch, Peter Winnick, Frank Jaskerski, Fran Saganek and Robert Barkley.

Roll Call Chairman, Dawson Way, reported that Charlevoix County was the fifth county in the state to make goal this year, this being the first time since 1953. The Board was well pleased with the excellent job done by Dawson and his helpers.

County Secretary Fred Willis reported that March 1st to 15th was Blue Cross re-solicitation time. It is very important for all County Farm Bureau members who wish to make changes in their present contract, also members wishing to make Blue Cross application for their protection, and subscribers should at this time report children in their families who are 19 years old, to their Blue Cross Secretaries.

January was the first time that all fifteen County Farm Bureau groups have had their Monthly reports in on time.

Ardith Wieland presented a splendid program planned for this year by the Women's Committee, something new and interesting for each month.

Charles Burkett will be the new Farm Bureau District Representative for this area.

MSU Alumni Plan Annual Winter Banquet

Antrim - Kalkaska alumni of Michigan State University have scheduled their annual winter banquet for Feb. 25 at the Kalkaska high school, Edward Crippon, president of the club has announced. Time wil be 7 p.m.

Key speaker for the program will be Dr. Dick Chapin, librarian at MSU. His topic will be, "Two-bit Culture." Also featured on the program will be a color movie of a Michigan State University football game.

An invitation is extended to MSU alumni, parents of students and friends of MSU. Reservations may be made by contacting Beatrice Lewis, Kalkaska, Mich.

Vegetable Men To Meet Today

A meeting of vegetable growers, particularly those supplying canning factories in the area, will be held today (Feb. 18) at the Ellsworth community hall, according to Ed Rebmann, county agricultural agent. The meeting is called for 1:30 p.m.

Stan Ries, extension specialist in horticulture at Michigan State University, will conduct the meeting which is open to all persons interested in the growing of vegetables.

County Students At Ferris Named On Dean's List

Three students from this area have been named to the Dean's honor list at Ferris Institute in a news release this week.

Named from Charlevoix county were: John Haggard of Charlevoix, and Beverly Braham and Diane Whiteford of East Jordan, and Milton A. Bulmann of East Jordan. There were 434 named to the honor list for academic excellence during the fall quarter. They maintained a B average while carrying a full academic load.

Guild Notes...

At a recent meeting of the Women's Guild of the Charlevoix hospital, members have heard heads of various departments explain the workings of these divisions of the local hospital in an effort to better acquaint Guild members with the operation of the hospital.

At last week's meeting Miss Anne Baumgartner, superintendent of the hospital, gave an interesting and informative talk on the obstetrical department of the hospital.

The Guild has had a special interest in this department, having purchased a delivery room light, labor room clock, an isolette for the nursery among other pieces of equipment.

The Guild devotes its efforts to raising funds to purchase equipment for the hospital, operate the library cart, makes tray favors for special holidays and other services designed for the convenience of the patients.

Guild members will hear about the x-ray department at the March 8 meeting.

Girl Scout troop 15 whose leader is Mrs. Gerald Lakies has made two picture scrap books for the pediatrics department.

Brownie Scout troop 18 whose leaders are Mrs. Robert Gill and Mrs. Darrell Dinwiddie made the tray favors for patients for Lincoln's birthday . . . clever log cabins made of pretzel sticks.

The Scouts make favors and other things for the hospital as a community service project.

One of the many services offered by the Guild is its Gift and Memorial projects whereby anyone, whether a member of the Guild or not, may make a contribution in honor of someone's birthday or other anniversary or in memory of someone. Mrs. E. D Hawley, who is in charge of this special service, then sends an appropriate card. During the past six weeks a total of $108.50 has been contributed in gifts and memorials, bringing the total to $310 for the Guild's fiscal year.

Betrothed

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Bergmann announce the engagement of their daughter Leis Anne to Paul A. Michelin of Cheboygan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Michelin.

The bride-elect is a 1958 graduate of Charlevoix high school. She attended Michigan College of Mining and Technology at Houghton and is now enrolled at North Central Michigan College at Petoskey. She is a member of the Student Council and will graduate in June of this year.

The prospective bridegroom is a 1956 graduate of Cheboygan Catholic high school and is a senior at Michigan College of Mining and Technology at Houghton. He is majoring in civil engineering, and is a member of American Society of Civil Engineers and Newman Club.

An early summer wedding is being planned.

Girl Scout News

The happy 1960 Charevoix Girl Scout camper will need to know the 30 acres of property in Marion township which make up the new Girl Scout camp ground and how to find her way through the woods. She must also know how to find tinder and kindling for fire building in all kinds of weather.

Any member of any intermediate or senior Girl Scout troop may, after studying the following handbook references, be able to obtain a permit from her leader to go to the camp site to learn the above mentioned skills. The Handbook references follow: Out-of-doors, Pages 66-67; Law No. 3, pg. 94 and Conservation pledge, pg. 261.

In outlining the above information, Mrs. O. V. Cunningham, chairman of the Outdoor Skills committee of the Charlevoix Girl Scout Council, said that there are facilites' to help only four girls each night Monday, through Tursday for this week's skills and an additional four each of these nights to learn wood-chopping (See notice in Feb. 4 issue).

Girls participating in the Outdoor Skills program are advised to dress for the wet woods and bring a compass, if possible.

Appointments for taking part in this training program may be made by callng Mrs. James W. Gallagher at LI 7-2588.

The council is also issuing a call for two qt. or larger plastic bags and for four used but sturdy card tables for use at the camp.

Greet Friends at Valentine Party

Courier Photo

The staff of the Charlevoix County State Bank was delighted with the public acceptance of the second annual Valentine party given Saturday as an expression of appreciation to the patrons and friends of the bank. More than 200 guests were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Robert Bridge and Mrs. E. D. Hawley.

After the party members of the staff and the hostesses pause for a picture around the refreshment table. Left to right are: Mrs. Robert Miles, Mrs. Hawley, Mrs. Hugh Mayne, Robert E. Bridge, Mrs. Joseph Smith, Mrs. Donald Brown, Mrs. Igma Pontious, Mrs. Bridge, E. D. Hawley, Mrs. Ada Golden and J. Maurice Foster.

I See By The Courier . . .

- William Ochs of Livonia and a guest, Robert Mack of Dearborn, spent the weekend here with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harley Ochs while skiing in the area.

- A-1c Ivan Cummings of Selfridge field and his bride, the former Lorraine Walli, who were married at Royal Oak Saturday visited here Sunday and again Monday evening following a trip to Mackinaw City to see the Mackinac bridge. While here they visited his uncles and aunts, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Murray, Mr. and Mrs. James Martin and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Cummings.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Gregory left earlier this month on a vacation trip to Phoenix, Ariz. Their daughters, Sandra of Charlevoix and Clarine of Ludington, are scheduled to enplane Thursday for Phoenix to join their parents for a week's visit before returning home via car with them.

- Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Feindt had as their weekend guests the latter's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Metdler and two children of Hart.

- Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Essenberg left Monday on a six weeks vacation trip which will take them to Nassau, B. I., for three weeks and for another weeks in Florida where they plan to tour the state. In their absence their daughter, Maureen, is staying with relatives in Ellsworth.

- D'Ann Geneit of Mt. Pleasant spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Geneit.

- Mr. and Mrs. Kit Carson, Ken Wojan and Scott Supernaw students at Michigan State, spent the weekend with their respective families here.

Campus Comments

Miss Dorothy Kaye Ward was named to the honor roll for the fall term by Cleary College where she is taking a course in business training, a communication from the college reports.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Ward and a graduate of the Charlevoix high school in the class of 1959.

Around Town

We found two of our local businessmen off the job last Wednesday taking a busmen's holiday. Frank Novotny Jr. and Ed Mann of Novotny Plumbing and Heating attended a one day heating school in Petoskey. The course was sponsored by the Williams Oil-O-Matic Heating Company of Columbus Oh. and gave our local dealer the latest sales and service data on the Williams oil furnace.

Club Sponsors Two Benefits for Loch Rio Home

Two benefit parties were given recently by members of the Dickens Study club to raise funds for Loch Rio, formerly known as Girls Town, located at Belleville and sponsored by the Michigan State Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. Clark Coulter and Mrs. P. D. Campbell entertained seven tables of guests at a luncheon and card party at the Coulter home. Mrs. Ralph Hess Sr., Mrs. T. R. Miller and Miss Eleanor Brow were awarded the door prizes and Mrs. Robert Gill the angel cake which was auctioned.

Mrs. Robert J. Yonkman, assisted by Mrs. David Fowler and Mrs. Max Hosmer, entertained four tables at an evening party at the Yonkman home where table prizes were awarded to Mrs. Carl F. Kohler, Mrs. Robert Foss, Mrs. Andrew Essenberg Jr. and Mrs. Hosmer.

Refreshments were served following the games.

Loch Rio which benefited from the parties is a home operated for girls who have problems which cannot be met in their own homes. It is open to girls from 12 through 18 years who stay at the home, attend the public school in Belleville and local churches. A director, house mother and her husband live at the home which can care for a maximum of eight girls at this time. A state welfare workers assists not only the girls but their families in finding a solution to their problems so the girls may return to their own homes in time.

The idea of the home was conceived in 1951 and the home officiated dedicated May 12, 1958. It is supported by funds contributed by clubs throughout the state. It is hoped that eventually a number of similar homes may be established throughout the state.

Miss Julie Smith Named Exchange Student to Europe

Julie Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth W. Smith, owners and directors of Camp Charlevoix, has been named to participate in the Youth for Understanding program sponsored by the Michigan Council of Churches.

Under the program she will spend two months with a family in some western European country. She will depart via plane from Detroit late in June with other students participating in the program. They will land in Amsterdam and from there each student will go to meet the family with whom he or she will spend the summer. Students will be informed in May the exact country in which they will live; Later they are given the name of the family.

Students will make the return flight late in August in time to begin the fall team in high school or college.

Julie, who is well known in Charlevoix is presently a junior student at Grosse Pointe high school where she takes an active part in school activities. She is 16 and an accomplished pianist.

Lady — I left my pass at home, but I'm one of the officers' wives.

WHY FEWER BABIES DIE TODAY

Fifty years ago, one out of every 10 babies died during its first year of life. Today, infant mortality during that first year has declined to only one out of 40 babies. Much of the credit for this huge drop belongs to the potent drugs that help defenseless infants to fight the diseases that once meant certain death. That's why we say . . .

referendum. Asked by the Courier at that time if he intended to ask for a referendum, he said he did not plan to. Before the 30-day limit [illegible], however, the referendum petitions were presented to the board [illegible] an election.

The question of enacting the zoning [illegible] has now become [illegible] in the township [illegible]. As a result many voters [illegible] to overlook the [illegible] of the zoning [illegible] amendments.

[illegible] opposition, it appears [illegible] Henry Stephon, a member of the township board. He [illegible] administrator of the zoning ordinance until relieved of that post by a four to one vote at the Feb. [illegible] meeting of the township board.

Marshalling forces to counteract the opposition are more than 100 men and women of the area who now participate weekly in league bowling in other towns along with residents who believe a bowling alley will be an asset to the community.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank the many friends who remembered us with beautiful cards and gifts on our fiftieth wedding anniversary. Also the Eastport Baptist Church for their beautiful flowers.

Bowling News

BY MEG

Moonlight rolled along tonight to stay in first place. They took 4 points from United Farm. For Moonlight, the Bowling Dentist had a 526 series followed by Ed Hanson's 514 series. Ed had a 207 second game, he also was 70 pins over average. For United Farms Dave and Red had top honors with a 446 series. Bill was low with a 429 series.

Freedman No. I moved out of the tie tonight by taking Lake Construction for 4 points and also second place. John Swanson rolled 234-192-257—683 series to take top honors for the season. Cal Peters followed with a 485 series. Pat was dragging anchor with a 85 first game 294 series. For Lakers George Bergmann had a 450 series followed by Dick Elrigg's 443 series.

Neff Grocery lost 3 points tonight even though Big Bergmann rolled a 648 series. Big had 213-180-255 games, but it only lasted about 2½ hours and then John Swanson showed his power. I thought Big's score would stand awhile but it didn't. Nice bowling, Big, even though you have to take 2nd place. Big didn't have too much help, Clayton followed with a 460 series. The Boss Gordon had a 419. Bernie, who bowled for the first time, after his trip to the hospital had a 415.

Steve's Bar struggled along for the first two games but woke up in the third to split with Freedman No. II. For Steve's Ken Cel had a 514 series followed by Meg with a 504. Bob Miller dragged anchor with a 414 series. Freedman No. II couldn't get anyone going so Hance Peirsol's 487 series was high followed by Bob's 427 series.

Browe Electric took Airport Inn for 4 points tonight. Sonny Williams rolled a 530 series followed by the Boss Ted, with a 501 series. Bob Ouderkirk had a 214 3rd game but also had a 112-114 first two. For Airport, the "Lost Soul" Des finally came through with a 538 series followed by the Skipper with a 497 series. Nick dragged anchor with a 111 third game 376 series.

Puff broke into the winning column tonight by taking Central Drugs for 3 points. Puff had a 203-563 series followed by Ron's 478 series. Dick had a 107 first game. Central Drugs had one man going strong but wasn't enough. Al Bergmann had a 502 series followed by Keith with a 447 series. Joe Liston rolled for the first time tonight and showed up the other 2 anchors.

Next Tuesday is a Special Election Day for the voters in Charlevoix township. Let's hope the people get out and make it a Special day.

Government Day Brings 200 Seniors

More than 200 senior students from Charlevoix county's five high schools participated in the second annual Senior Government Day at East Jordan Monday.

The event was conducted by students from the participating high schools under the leadership of David J. Thomas of the Division of Extended Services at Hillsdale College and D. Hale Brake, president of the Michigan Institute of Local Government. Charles A. Robinson, Charlevoix county superintendent of schools, was the coordinator.

More than 40 local, county and state officials served as resource personnel.

Justice Court News

Justice John Connolly reports the following cases which appeared in his court recently.

Verle McCann, 25, of St. James, charged with breaking and entering in the day time, waived examination and was bound over to the March term of circuit court. Bond was set at $250 by Justice Connolly. He was released after furnishing bond. He is charged with breaking into a cottage on Beaver Island by forcing a door and taking one full and one partially full bottles of whiskey. Several others are being questioned in the case which is being handled by Deputy Karl Kuehler of the Sheriff's department.

Sandra Gibbard, 18, of East Jordan, charged with not having her car under control and driving without an operator's license, was ordered to pay $5.00 fine and $4.30 costs on the first charge and the same fine and costs on the second charge of driving without an operator's license. She was enroute to the sheriff's office here to apply for a driver's license at the time of the accident.

Her father, Clifford L. Gibbard, 41, of East Jordan was charged with allowing an unlicensed person to operate a motor vehicle owned by him. He was ordered to pay a $10 fine and $4.30 costs. Summonses were issued by the city police.

John W. Ryder Jr. 33, charged with operating a motor vehicle on a public highway while operator's license was revoked or suspended, was ordered to pay $25.00 fine and $4.90 costs and sentenced to two days in the county jail. Summons was issued by the Sheriff's department.

Charles O. Lent, 21, charged with making an improper turn which resulted in a property damage accident, was ordered to pay a $5.00 fine and $4.30 costs. Summons was issued by the City Police.

Wayne Roesink, 46, and George C. Schultz, 18, both charged with having defective equipment on cars they were operating, were each ordered to pay fines of $5.00. The first summons was issued by the City Police and the second by the State Police.

Local Students Rate First In Ensemble

sextet (Gary Chew, Evelyn Peters, Kathy Boss, Jack Stewart, Georgia LaBlance and Bruce Kroll).

Receiving a II rating in the senior high division was the flute-cornet duet (Ruth Ann Riley and Lynette Mayne).

In the Junior high classification the following groups earned I ratings: clarinet duet (John Ochs and James Stewart); clarinet duet (Sharon Louiselle and Marilyn Lesher); a clarinet trio (Judy Walker, Barbara Sugden and Donna Korth).

Junior high entries receiving II ratings were: flute duet (Carlyn Bice and Linda Nowland), a flute duet (Shirley Stoel and Diane Carlett) and a clarinet duet (Ruth Schofield and Elaine Martin).

Mr. Olmark, in commenting on the entries, said that all turned in fine performances which showed the result of long, careful preparation.

Mrs. Leonard Bartis and Marilyn VerWys served as accompanists for several groups.

The next major event in which the music department will participate will be the District II Band Festival to be held at Petoskey Saturday, Feb. 27. Both the Senior and Reserve bands will play in this event in order to qualify for competition on a state level. The district festival will be held in the high school auditorium at the Petoskey high school and is open to the public. The appearance schedule will appear next week.

Charlevoix High Architect Awarded National Honors

Gordon Cornwell, Traverse City architect, has been honored by the annual convention of the American Association of School Administrators for architectural excellence of the new $2 million school at Traverse City. An exhibit of this campus-type school will be shown at the convention this week in Atlantic City, N. J.

The new Traverse City school, selected as national representative of the best in the school architecture, was based on imaginative planning, excellence in design, adequacy of facilities and the economical construction cost of $12.7 a square foot.

Mr. Cornwell also is the architect who designed the new high school to be constructed here. The new Charlevoix school, designed on a smaller scale, is of the campus-type and similar in general to the school which has brought Mr. Cornwell national recognition.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to thank the staff members of the Charlevoix hospital, Dr. Grate and Dr. Saltonstall for the excellent care given me during my recent stay at the hospital. I also would like to acknowledge with gratitude the plant sent by the Sunday School and the cards and other thoughtful gifts sent by friends that helped brighten the days during my convalescence.

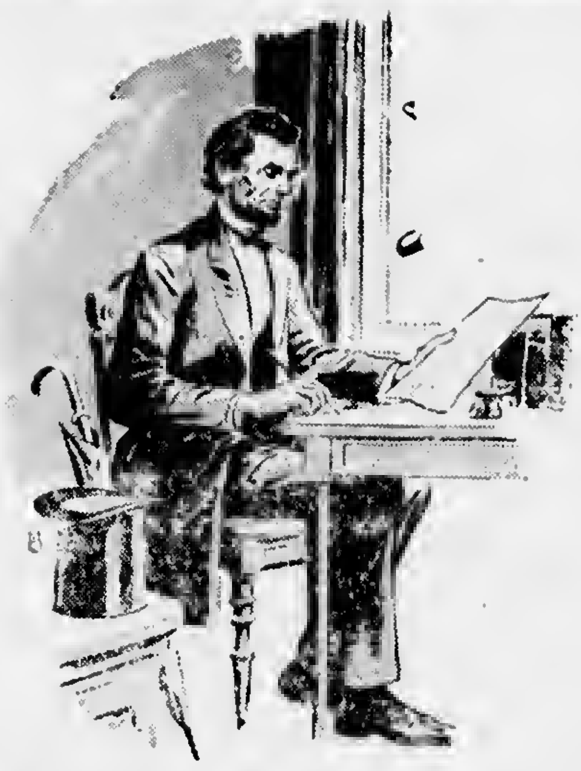
A Touch of Greatness

Inspiration from great lives

By Harold E. Kohn



A Willingness To Be Unpopular

Our American success standards involve almost immediate and continuous public approval, and our modern heroes are those who rank highest in the popularity polls. Since this is so it would pay us, especially in an election year when national leadership will be chosen, to recall that the men whose lives have most influenced American history and who now are held in sacred memory and highest regard were not wholeheartedly approved or loved by their contemporaries. While they had a natural liking for public approval, they craved something else far more — personal integrity and an unsullied conscience. They concentrated on preparing for their great tasks and presenting their case in the most effective manner possible. Seeking to serve the common good of man they appealed to the aspirations and hopes of their people. When they made mistakes they amended them if possible (and often their enemies performed for them an unintended service in pointing out errors). But when their decisions proved unpopular and were harshly criticized, our most esteemed leaders of the past did not sulk. Nor did they strike back or live in a constant dither fearing for their reputations. Rather, they pressed on toward their goals.

As the years pass the world's esteem for Abraham Lincoln has grown steadily until Lincoln has become the most universally loved American of all time. But we easily forget that during his administration as President of the United States he was the object of constant attack. President Lincoln could read, almost any day he cared to take the trouble, scoffing criticisms of his appearance and his grammar, malicious attacks upon his character, or shockingly intemperate and hateful denunciations of his conduct in office. Less than a year before Lincoln was assassinated, shortly after his renomination as candidate for re-election and Andrew Johnson's nomination as vice-presidentia candidate, the New York World published this evaluation of Lincoln and his political partner:

"The age of statesmen is gone, the age of rail-splitters and tailors, of buffoons, boors and fanatics, has succeeded . . . In a crisis of the most appalling magnitude, the country is asked to consider the claims of two ignorant, boorish, third-rate backwoods lawyers, for the highest stations in the government . . . God save the Republic!"

Some of Lincoln's ambitious, jealous and greedy cabinet members, seeking the Presidency for themselves, sought to undermine his influence, and gossipped about him shamelessly.

Those of his countrymen who favored the immediate abolition of slavery were impatient and critical because Lincoln would not hurry the emancipation of the Negroes as rapidly as they wished (An abolitionist leader once labeled him "The slave-hound of Illinois"). Those opposing emancipation hated Lincoln because it appeared he would free the slaves when he felt the time was ripe.

When circulars detrimental to the President were distributed throughout the country many copies fell into the hands of Lincoln's friends and were brought to the White House. Nicolay, the President's secretary, revealed that Lincoln was wholly without curiosity concerning these attacks made upon him. He knew where the hate-filled circulars were piled, but refused to look at them.

In November 1863, Abraham Lincoln spoke at the service dedicating the battlefield at Gettysburg, Pennsylvania as a national cemetery. The compact, simple, sun-clear, two-minute speech has become one of the treasures of the English language, and although it was written without literary intent the Gettysburg address has become recognized the world over as deserving to be included with the great literature of all time. Yet Lincoln's words were mercilessly criticized in the newspapers of his day. The Chicago Times said of Lincoln's Gettysburg address —

"The cheek of every American must tingle with shame as he reads the silly, flat, and dish-watery utterances of the man who has to be pointed out to intelligent foreigners as the President of the United States."

An American correspondent of the London Times declared that "the ceremony was rendered ludicrous by some of the sullies of that poor President Lincoln . . . Anything more dull and commonplace it would not be easy to produce."

Abraham Lincoln once explained his attitude toward the criticism heaped upon him as follows:

"If I were to read, much less answer, all the attacks made on me this shop might as well be closed for any other business. I do the very best I know how — the very best I can; and I mean to keep doing so until the end. If the end brings me out all right, what is said against me won't amount to anything. If the end brings me out wrong, ten angels swearing I was right would make no difference." At one time Lincoln declared, "I desire to so conduct the affairs of this administration that, when I come to lay down the reins of power, if I have lost every other friend on earth, I shall at least have one friend left — the one down inside of me."

Lincoln cared what people thought of him because he loved people, and he longed for a friendly response, but he cared without being anxious. As Ralph Waldo Emerson once said, "The solar system has no anxiety about its reputation." Neither had Lincoln.

Abraham Lincoln shared to great degree the criticism that his hero, George Washington, had borne to a lesser extent. While many of Washington's contemporaries recognized his greatness, there were others who treated him with ill-concealed contempt. They peddled untrue stories about his personal habits. On the day after Washington retired from the Presidency one of the leading newspapers in the new country said that if "ever there was a period for rejoicing, this is the moment. Every heart ought to beat high with exhaltation that the name of Washington from this day ceases to give currency to political iniquity and to legalize corruption." Joy was expressed that "the man Washington is this day reduced to a level with his fellow citizens and is no longer possessed with power to multiply evils upon the United States."

If Washington and Lincoln had been given a clear and simple choice between being popular everywhere or being angrily and bitterly denounced by some, doubtlessly they would have chosen universal approval. But life offers no such choices to the useful person. Universal and uninterrupted approval is impossible for the serviceable person to achieve. And to count for good and for God in the world a person must want to be useful more than he wants to be popular. He may prefer to be liked but be willing to be disliked, if necessary, while he works on toward his high purposes. If he is fruit-bearing he must expect stones and sticks will be thrown at him. And there are few better tests of a person's character than the way he accepts criticism.

Abraham Lincoln amazed his critics by thanking them when he felt their criticism was just and constructive; by asking them for specific recommendations of where he could improve himself or his work, and by ignoring their censure where it was born of ill will.

An ultra-sensitive thin-skinned America that appears to be engaged in a popularity contest with Soviet Russia, and is easily hurt by criticism in the foreign press could well learn a lesson from Lincon on the value of choosing the right over approval. So could our politicians (it might make statesmen of them!), and so could every citizen among us.

If we will do nothing until we can do it so perfectly that no one can find fault with it, we will do nothing at all. And to do nothing is the greatest of all human faults.

Court Rules First Hunter Gets Game

The hunter who draws first blood is entitled to get the game, according to a recent supreme court ruling in Wisconsin.

That question has been a subject for argument in Michigan for some time. Often a hunter does not make a clean kill and the second hunter in a distant location completes the job and claims the reward. How the Michigan supreme court would rule on the situation is not known but such situations frequently do happen in Michigan, especially during the deer hunting season.

Results of the Wisconsin case were recently reported in the National Rifleman.

Sundew Reports

The Sundew got underway Saturday morning for ice breaking duties on Round Lake and points just beyond the south pier head light in Lake Michigan.

Each time the ship became beset in ice, the hook was used to swing 17,000 pounds of sinker weight from port to starboard. The rocking motion caused by this operation was sufficient to free the ship each time she became lodged in the ice.

Upon reaching open water, the Sundew returned in the path she had cut to escort the Jackie II and the Hazel W. to open water On returning from escorting these tugs, the Jackie C., Eddie Ann and the LaBlance were towed into open water. On completion of ice breaking duties, the Sundew returned to its moorings.

SUNDEW SCUTTLEBUTT . . .

Garaben (Arab) Arlaslanian is back in the Charlevoix hospital for tests. We all hope his stay there will be a brief one. Frank Stolpe was admitted to the hospital for treatment of a broken ankle sustained while skiing. Warren 'Doc' Toussaint, former writer of this report and ship's corpsman, is currently stationed aboard the USCG Kukui (WAK 186). The ship is a cargo vessel and has just left its base at Honolulu for a seven months cruise. The ship will return to its base in September. 'Doc' was transferred in December from the Sundew to Hawaii.

Rayders Win Title

Charlevoix's Rayders started off a new decade Friday night by wrapping up their first Northern Michigan Class C championship since 1955 and their first under Coach Don Carey.

The honor became theirs after they had posted a decisive 72 to 42 victory over the visiting Gaylord Blue Devils. The victory was their twelfth in loop play and their thirteenth of the season. The latter includes a 47 to 40 win over Petoskey on Jan. 2.

With the title and their record at stake, the Rayders forged into a 24 to 5 first period lead over the Blue Devils who battled back 17 to 13 in the second quarter to cut Charlevoix's advantage to 37 tu 22 at halftime.

The Rayders scored 13 points as the game went into the second half fur a 50 to 31 lead going into the final half where they dumped in 22 points to 11 for the visitors to roll to a 30-point victory.

Bruce Pease, Jim Ladd, Joe Beaudoin, Charles Coleman, and Dave Schuchard started for Charlevoix. Dick VanRaaphorst went into the fray with less than three minutes of the first period gone; Stan Smith and Jim Dennis saw action in the second quarter; Bud Balch and Sam Supernaw in the third and Terry DeYoung, Tom Martin, Don Nowland and Ralph Brock as Coach Carey emptied the bench.

Schuchard, who ended the game with 28 points, scored 10 of the total in the first period, Beaudoin had five, Coleman and VanRaaphorst four each and Ladd one for a 24 to 5 lead after Gaylord's scoring attack was limited to two field goals and a gift shot.

Gaylord took the offensive in the second period outscoring the Rayders 17 to 13 on six field foals and five gift shots. Pease collected five of the Rayders' total from the free throw line, Schuchard added two field goals and Coleman and Dennis one field goal apiece for 13 points.

Schuchard started to hit from outside as the second half got underway, sinking four quick ones while Ladd contributed three points and Beaudoin two as the Rayders continued to pace the game at the three-quarter mark. Gaylord had scored only three field goals and three free throws as they trailed 50 to 31 as the period ended.

Schuchard and Coleman each hit fur three field goals, Pease had two, Brock a two-pointer and two free throws and Beaudoin a single jump shot for a total of 22 points and a victory by a decisive margin as the visitors were held to 11 points including three field goals and five free throws.

Bob Burnison scored 17 points for the Blue Devils.

Last Week With Class C

The Charlevoix Rayders rolled over the Gaylord Blue Devils by a score of 72 to 42 Friday night to wrap the 1959-60 Northern Michigan Class C Conference title, their first since 1955.

It also marked the Rayders' first conference championship under Coach Don Carey.

In other games Mancelona remained in second place with a 75 to 46 win over Harbor Springs. Grayling practically nailed down possession of third place with a 48 to 40 victory over Boyne City and Pellston moved into fourth place with a 57 to 53 win over East Jordan.

Following Friday's games, Boyne City and Gaylord were tied for fifth place, East Jordan in sixth and Harbor Springs in the loop cellar.

Mancelona 75 Harbor Springs 46

The Mancelona Ironmen with a record of nine wins and three losses assured themselves of at least a share of second place Friday night by rolling over the Harbor Springs Rams who trailed 15 to 12; 34 to 25 and 55 to 32 by quarters. Fred Moore with 21 and Walt Klein with 13 points led the victor's scoring attack. George Pamp had 15 for the Rams.

Grayling 48 Boyne City 40

Grayling, paced by Frank Gross and Gary Springs with 15 points each, had no trouble with the visiting Boyne City Ramblers as they led 19 to 10; 25 to 18 and 36 to 30 by quarters. Mike Kane was top scorer fur the game with 16 points. In winning, the Vikings have assured themselves of a share of third place.

Pellston 57 East Jordan 53

The Pellston Hornets found themselves battling right down to the wire for their victory over the visiting Jordanites who came within two points of the Hornets in the final minute. Two free throws by Barry Anderson in the last ten seconds of play put the game on ice for the Pellston outfit who are temporarily in fourth place by virtue of the win. Barry Anderson with 24 points and Curt Fonger with 16 accounted for the major share of the Hornets' total points. Louis Kraemer who left the game via the fout route with 2½ minutes remaining had 21 points for the Red Devils.

Teams For Position In Final Standings As Season Runs Out

Charlevoix will travel to Mancelona to take on the second place Ironmen; third place Grayling will play at Pellston where the Hornets will be trying to defend their fourth place standing; fifth place Boyne City will play at East Jordan and Gaylord, tied with the Ramblers for fifth place, will journey to Harbor Springs.

With only two games remaining to be played, each of the eight teams in the loop will be trying hard for victories in order to secure or better present standings.

The Charlevoix Rayders who wrapped up the league title Friday night will be protecting its perfect record at Mancelona this week where the Ironmen would like the distinction of spoiling the local quintet's record. When the Ironmen played here they lost by aa score of 70 to 51. Since then, however, they have shaped up into a well-balanced outfit that has won all its second round games to date. Center Fred Moore and guard Walt Klein have ably handled the team's scoring duties with Larry Bengtson and Bill Weiser adding their share on occasion, giving the team a good balance. The Ironmen have been a pretty consistent team with a great deal of desire and a fair share of drive, two ingredients that make them dangerous at all times. With a chance to clip the league-leading Rayders thrown in, they could conceivably tumble the Charlevoix outfit from their lofty perch. To do this, however, they will have to reckon with a group of players who have attained this position only through hard work plus a strong competitive spirit and desire to win. All these things combined will make for a good game with the Rayders favored because of their record.

Grayling will be protecting its 7 win-5 loss record when they go against the Pellston Hornets who must win at least two more games in order to retain its present position in the final standings. The 1959 champs fell victim to the Vikings by a 68 to 60 score earlier. This time, however, things could be different for the Hornets have racked up some impressive victories and in addition will have the advantage of playing on their home floor. This game can be expected to be a close one with the visiting Vikings have a slight edge because of their record.

Boyne City and East Jordan are known to be arch rivas thus any game between the two squads is always a real battle from the opening whistle to the final horn. This week's game is expected to follow the usual pattern with the Ramblers trying to avenge an earlier 56 to 39 loss to the Jordanites. Though they have only four wins with a make-up game with Pellston yet to be played, the Red Devils are a pretty fair outfit that has lost some close ones including a 63-62 loss to the Charevoix. The Ramblers, however, have shaped up well with the beginning of the second round and will be tough to beat. It would not be surprising if they avenged their earlier loss.

Gaylord, stinging from a 72 to 42 loss tu Charlevoix, will be out to take all comers. The Harbor Springs Rams, who haven't a win to their credit, can hardly be expected to come back at this late date.

Plans Underway For B C D District Tournament

Initial plans for the annual district basketball tournament at Petoskey in which the Charlevoix Rayders will participate have been announced by T. A. Treloar of Petoskey, genial tnurnament manager, who will be handling tournament arrangements for the thirty-fifth consecutive year.

For the first time in several years, Class B teams will make their appearance in the Petoskey tournament along with Class C and D teams.

Participating in Class B will be Alpena Catholic Central, Cheboygan, Petoskey and Rogers City. Alpena Catholic Central is the defending district champion.

Class C will find Bnyne City, Charlevoix, Harbor Springs and Pellston vieing for the title now held by Charlevoix, the 1959 district champions.

In Class D Bnyne Falls, Central Lake, Ellsworth and Petoskey St. Francis will be competing for the title now held by Central Lake.

DRAWING MARCH 1ST

Drawings for the tournament which will get underway Tuesday March 1, and continue thru March 5, will be held at the Petoskey high school at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday. At that time officials from participating schools will meet with Mr. Treloar for the drawings.

The schedule for the tournament follows: Tuesday, Mar 1, 2 Class D games; Wednesday, Mar. 3, 2 Class C games; Thursday, Mar 3, 2 Class B games; Friday, Mar. 4, Class finals and Saturday, Mar. 5, Class D and B finals.

The Class B District finalist will advance to the Class B regional tourney at Mt. Pleasant; the Class C district champions to the regional tournament at Petoskey; and the Class D district finalist to the regional meet at Traverse City.

OFFICIALS AT GAMES

Officials for the forthcoming district meet and the dates each will officiate follow: Traverse City officials: John Budzinski and Richard Johnson, Mar. 1 and 3; Warren Sodergren, Mar. 1 and 2; Harris Schrotenboer, Mar. 1 and 5 and Leonard Tafelsky, Mar. 3 and 5; Alpena, officials: Leon Hinkley and Tom McDonnell, Mar 2 and 4; Ellsworth official, Arthur Drenth, Mar. 2 and 5 and Alanson official, Thomas Fairbairn, Mar. 3 and 5.

Dick VanRaaphorst attempts to get off a behind the backboard shot in the recent Charlevoix-Harbor Springs game. Bruce Pease and Jim Ladd position themselves for the rebound. It has been this positioning under the basket that has paid-off for the Rayders all season. This game was played in the new Harbor Springs gymnasium. Charlevoix won this game 70-46. (Photo by Bruce Kroll)

Reserves Win 11th

Charlevoix's Reserves posted their eleventh win of the current season Friday as they trimmed the Gaylord Reserves 46 to 24.

The young Charlevoix outfit edged into a slim 9 to 7 first quarter lead before finding the range to go ahead 19 to 15 halftime. In the last half the local quintet outscored the visitors 12 to 4 and 15 to 5 for a 22-point victory.

Dann Pearl, Barry Pierce, George Majors, Henry Wagner and Stan Martin started for hte Rayders. Johnny Pearl, back in the line-up after recovering from an ankle injury, Jack Stewart and Corky Curtis joined the action in the second period; Tony Duerr, Jim Rohm, Bruce Murray, Herb Cummings and Dwight Boss saw action in the final period.

Martin with five and Wagner with four points accounted for the Rayders first period scoring as Gaylord stayed in the game with two field goals and three gift shots.

Wagner had five, Pierce, J Pearl and Stewart two each for 16 points and a 19 to 15 halftime lead after the visitors had scored two field goals and four free throws.

Six field goals including four by Martin and one each by D. Pearl and Wagner gave Charlevoix 12 points as they went ahead 31 to 19 going into the final period. Gaylord had two free throws and a field goal.

Is your coverage up-to-date?

If there's one "coverage" that should never be out of date, it's your insurance coverage. Property values have been going up for years. As a result, your house is probably worth more today than when you bought it. If you had not increased your insurance to cover this added value – and your house were destroyed–you could take a hig loss. Make sure you're fully protected. White-Potter Vows Exhanged at Bay Shore Presbyterian Church

On Saturday, February 13, the Bay Shore Presbyterian Church was the scene of the marriage of Quinella Marie White and Franklin Potter. The Reverend Lloyd Brasure performed the double ring ceremony. The new Mrs. Potter is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Quinton White of Route 3, Charlevoix. Franklin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Potter and is employed at the East Jordan Foundry.

The brides' sister, Irene, of Pasadena, Calif., attended as bridesmaid. The grooms' best man was his cousin, Dave Potter, of Charlevoix. The ushers were Quinton White Jr., brother of the bride, and Marvin Herres of Elsworth.

The bride was attired in a waltz length blue chiffon gown. She wore a hat of white taffeta and fur and a corsage of white and red carnations. Irene wore an orchid chiffon gown and matching hat. Her corsage was of white and pink carnations. The bride's mother wore a navy blue dress with matching accessories and a corsage of white carnations. The grooms' mother wore a navy print dress and a corsage of yellow roses. The altar was banked with white gladiolas and yellow mums and a candelabra in back.

Approximately one hundred guests attended the wedding and reception which was held in the church basement immediately after the ceremony. Miss Glnda White attended the guest book for her sister. Mrs. Fred Stolt presided over the cake. Mrs. Donald Hawkins presided over the coffee and ice cream. They were assisted by the members of the Womens' Presbyterian Guild, Mrs. Richard Zipp, Mrs. Cifford Yahr, Mrs. Burt Hawkins and Miss Elaine Yahr.

Out of town guests came from Utica, Madison Heights, Grand Rapids, Rockford, Lansing, Traverse City, Williamsburg, Harbor Springs and Boyne City.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Potter will make their home on the Atwood Rd. on Route one, Charlevoix.

Cold Temperatures Minor Problem for Winter Canoeists

A canoe trip down the Jordan river in midwinter is getting to be an annual outing for a group of local residents who made the trip Sunday.

Putting their canoes, four in all, in the water at Grays Crossing off M-66 the nine paddled down the river, stopping off at noon to cook their dinner over an outdoor fire before continuing to Rogers' bridge outside East Jordan, a distance of approximately 11 miles, where ice on the river forced them to halt their trip.

Enjoying the outing were Lee Moerland, Dick Fochtman, Jack Mol and George Hutchinson made the first trip last year and this year were joned by Dr. R. G. Martin, Charles Bleha, Arnold Wadas, Phil Lawrence and Russell Lewis.

Youth Fractures Ankle Skiing

Tom Maxwell, 12 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Maxwell Sr. and a seventh grade student, is confined to his home in Hayes township with a fractured ankle suffered in a skiing accident Saturday evening.

He was participating in tobogganing and skiing party with other young people of the Church of God at the time of the accident.

He will return to classes shortly, according to his mother.

Garden Club Told History of Japanese 'Bonsai Gardens'

Mrs. Ralph S. Hamilton gave an interesting and informative lesson on the "Bonsai Gardens," the Japanese gardens of dwarf trees at the Monday meeting of the Garden Club. She displayed the miniature trees and gave the history of the ornamental trees which are gaining popularity in this country.

The hostess, Mrs. P. D. Campbell, and Mrs. Hamilton carried out the oriental theme, in their dress, greeting members in authentic Japanese kimonos. The refreshments featured oriental fortune cookies and tea.

The next meeting of the club will be at the home of Mrs. Arthur Ranger at 2 p.m. Tuesday. Mrs. Harley Ochs will bring a bit of the forthcoming season to the meeting in her lesson "North with the Spring."

The contributor wrote: "The enclosed are original and have never been published."

The editor (returning them) replied: "I can quite believe it."

OUR APOLOGY

VOLUME 65 NUMBER 10 * Ten Pages CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1960 10c Per Copy In County $3.00 Per Year

Take Steps to Annex City-Owned Property

The Charlevoix city council, at a meeting postponed until Thursday because of the primary election, authorized the drafting of the initial documents for the annexation to the city of city-owned property located in Charlevoix township.

One parcel is located south of the city which includes the western section of the airport and the other on the northside where the municipal golf course is located.

Following the completion of the necessary descriptions and resolutions by the city attorney, Norman D. Ance, and the publication of these by the council, the issue will be presented to the Charlevoix county board of supervisors, possibly at the April meeting.

Part of the property involved in the proposed annexation is the original 18-hole golf course owned by the Chicago Club until it was acquired by the city a number of years ago. The course is now nine holes. The remaining property includes 492 ft. of highway frontage which extends north of US-31 into two 'L'-shaped parcels that form a 'U'.

In other action, the council canvassed the votes of the Feb. 15 primary election.

The Cities Service bid for diesel fuel oil for use at the municipal light plant during the year Jan. 20, 1960, through Jan. 19, 1961, was accepted. The bid calls for the purchase of fuel oil on a fluctuating scale, depending on the amount used.

Approval was given a new food permit for the Weathervane Inn allowing the serving of breakfasts as well as other meals in connection with their liquor license. A copy of the resolution was forwarded to the Michigan Liquor Control Commission.

A check for $242.83 was accepted by the council as full settlement of a utilities account at the Weathervane Inn dating back to Nov. 5, 1957. The account was incurred by a former operator.

Bills amounting to $20,945.27 were approved and ordered paid. The figure includes a $5,975 water bond payment and $1,776.01 payment for a new pick-up truck for the street department.

Chester D. Kent Dies at VA Hospital

Chester D. Kent, 64, veteran of World War I and a brother of Mrs. Robert Howe, died Monday at the VA hospital in Saginaw where he had been a patient for six weeks. He had been in failing health for several years.

Funeral services will be held at the Winchester Funeral Home here at 10:30 a.m. Thursday with the Rev. T. B. Thodeson officiating. Burial will be in Brookside cemetery.

Born at Chelsea Oct. 8, 1895, Mr. Kent had come to this community as a child and had spent most of his life here. He was a veteran of World War I.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Rny Rose of Buchanan; a son, William of California; two grandchildren and a sister, Mrs. Robert Howe. Another son died in infancy.

Set Examinations For Census Takers In Charlevoix Co.

Sixteen persons will be selected to take the 1960 census in Charlevoix county following examinations to be given at 9 a.m. Mar. 2 at the Charlevoix county courthouse, according to Edward K. Shanahan who is receiving applications in this locality.

Persons applying for the jobs as enumerators must be citizens of the United States, have a high school education or equivalent, be at least 18 years old, pass an enumerator Selection aid test demonstrating his ability to understand written instruction and read maps.

Enumerators must be of high moral character and integrity, be in good physical condition, write neatly and legibly and have a car for use if living in a rural area.

Applications are not acceptable from persons receiving a pension as a former federal government employee; those presently or recently associated with law enforcement or tax assessing or collection agencies; office holders in a political organization; or a close relative to any other census employees in the same locality or office.

Veterans who meet all requirements will be given preference over non-veterans.

Persons in the Boyne City area who are interested may make application through Mrs. Arthur K. Rouse. Mrs. Jay Hite and Mike Barnett are accepting applications in the East Jordan area.

The census will be conducted during the first two weeks in April. Enumerators may earn up to $145, depending on the district assigned to them and their efficiency.

May Close Bridge To Navigation in Major Disasters

The bridge over Pine river can be closed to navigation by proper civil authorities during a major disaster or defense emergency, according to a regulation amendment approved Jan. 20 by the Secretary of the Army.

The new regulation applies to 62 bridges in Michigan and 10 in Ohio.

Frank B. Walker, Native of Area Dies in Arkansas

Frank B. Walker, 61, a native of this community who has resided in the Chicago area since 1917, died Monday at Helena, Ark., while visiting his son, Frederick. He has been in failing health for several months.

Funeral services were held at the Winchester Funeral Home here at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday with the Rev. Fred W. McNeil and the Rev. Willard Shomin of Petoskey officiating. Graveside services will be held at the Greensky Hill cemetery at 2 p.m. Thursday.

Born in Charlevoix May 26, 1898, Mr. Walker attended the Charlevoix public schools and in 1917 left here to make his home in Chicago. He served as an orderly and in other capacities at an Evanston, Ill., hospital until he retired because of ill health. He had been visiting in Helena, Ark., since the holidays.

He is survived by his wife, the former Viola Bowman whom he married in Chicago; a daughter, Delia, of Chicago, a son, Frederick, of Helena, Ark.; his mother, Mrs. Theresa Walker of Charlevoix; three brothers, William of Muskegon, John of Chicago and Jerry of Charlevoix and three sisters, Mrs. Veronica Mitchell and Mrs. Clara Walker of Charlevoix and Mrs. Joseph Compo of East Jordan.

World Famous Band to Present 'Vienna on Parade'

The new edition of "Vienna On Parade," which scored a crashing success in a coast-to-coast tour of nearly 100 sold-out engagements in 1958, will be seen in Petoskey on Wednesday, March 2nd, under the auspices of the Northern Michigan Community Concerts Association.

Topping the roster for the return engagement to America is one of the World's most famous bands, the 200 year-old-plus Deutschmeister, which will again be conducted by the ebullient Captain Julius Herrmann, known in Germany as "the Furtwaengler of the brass," and elsewhere in Europe as "the Maurice Chevalier of the baton." Also returning for the second American tour is the handsome leading man: tenor Erwin von Gross, who is known throughout Germany, Austria and Switzerland as "Mr. Operetta."

The other soloists — and the program itself — are new. Leading lady is the Viennese operetta diva, young and beautiful Christine von Widmann. New also to America are the Viennese Belles, eight ladies whose eye catching costumes match their vocal allure. Also new to America is a string ensemble under the distinguished direction of the composer, conductor and pianist Rudolf Bibl.

The "Vienna on Parade" company numbers 65 in all and will bring to northern Michigan the lovely flavor of Vienna, the music capital of the world.

This is the last of the 1959-60 series of Concerts and admission will be by membership in the northern Michigan Community Concerts Association.

Two School Bands To Participate in Petoskey Festival

Charlevoix high school will be represented by two bands, the Senior and the Reserve bands, at the annual district festival to be held at Petoskey Saturday under the sponsorship of District II of the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association. C. A. Odmark, director of the local music department, will direct both bands.

Judges at the qualifying festival which will attract 12 bands from 11 communities will be Harold Geerdes, director of bands at Calvin College in Grand Rapids; Byron Autrey of Michigan State University, Edgar Ross of Central Michigan University and Robert Fink of Western Michigan University.

The Charlevoix Reserve band of 54-pieces will be the first of the two local bands to appear on the schedule. The Reserve band composed of eighth grade and freshman students will perform at 10:05 a.m. in the Petoskey high school auditorium.

The 75-piece Charlevoix Senior band will appear at 3:15 p.m. in the same auditorium.

Each band will play three numbers, a warm-up march, a number required for the particular class the band is playing in and a selected number.

The Reserve band will play "Military Escort" by Bennett as its warm-up march; "Russian Chorale and Overture" by Isaac as its required number and "Mountain Echoes," an overture by Frangkiser, as its selected number. This band is the only one entered in the Junior high school Class C section.

The Senior band will play "A Santa Cecelia" by Raedelli for its warm-up march; "Normandy Overture" by Akers as the Class C required selection and "American Folk Rhapsody" by Grundman as its selected number.

After playing the three numbers in concert for three judges, each band will then go to a sight-reading room where they will play two numbers for the sight-reading judge.

Only those bands which receive a 1 rating in the district festival

Monday Is Deadline For Auto Licenses

Monday is the deadline for purchasing 1960 license tags for motor vehicles, George A. LaBlance, of the branch office of the Secretary of State office here said.

The sale of tags is lagging far behind last year Mr. LaBlance said in urging motorists to purchase their tags prior to the deadline Monday when all cars operating without new tags will be ticketed by police officials.

The branch office located at 402 Park ave. will be open all day Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Monday for the convenience of motorists.

Independents Lose Tournament Game

The Charlevoix Independents were eliminated from the Petoskey Recreation League tournament at Lincoln gym in Petoskey Tuesday night when they were downed by Holiday-Parker 55 to 53.

In a second game Fochtman's defeated the Elks 63 to 61.

The finals will be played at 8 p.m. Friday when the winner of the Holiday-Parker - Fochtman game meets the winner of the Boyne City-Harbor Springs game. These games were to be played Wednesday night.

Missionary Group Works on Projects

In an all day meeting Thursday at Fellowship hall, members of the Missionary Society of the Community Church of God completed a number of projects including rolling bandages for Africa, made receiving blankets for the Indian reservation at Scottsbluff, Nebr., made bibs for Grandvue Medical Center.

Following a sack lunch there was a short business meeting and the remainder of the day was devoted to the study of the book "Africa Disturbed." The next meeting will be March 3 at 2 p.m.

'Alaska Afield' To Be Presented

America's last frontier will be brought to Charlevoix Tuesday, March 15 in a living-color drama of Alaska under the sponsorship of the Charlevoix Rod & Gun club. "Alaska Afield," another of the famous Wally Taber Safari-Saga series, will be shown and narrated at 8 p.m. in the high school gymnasium, Harold Lang, president of the club has announced.

This wholesome, whole-family entertaining and educational program will be presented and narrated by Cecil Rhode, an experienced Alaskan guide who has resided on the Kenai Peninsula for 25 years. He is also the man who took the pictures which were four years in the making. Rhode is Taber's latest associate.

William A. Evers, Former Resident Of Hayes Succumbs

William Amandus Evers, 80, pioneer resident of Hayes township, died Wednesday at a Traverse City hospital. He had been in failing health for several years.

Funeral services were held Saturday at the Winchester funeral home with the Rev. Fred W. McNeil officiating. Burial was in Brookside cemetery.

Born in Essen, Germany, Oct. 9, 1879, Mr. Evers came to Hayes township with his parents at the age of seven years. He operated a farm in Hayes township until retiring a few years ago. He was active in community affairs, having served on both the township board and on the Burgess school board for many years. He was a member of the Farm Bureau and a former member of the IOOF.

He is survived by his wife, the former Hazel Mills, whom he married in Charlevoix May 15, 1915; a daughter, Mrs. James W. Gallagher of Charlevoix; a son, M/Sgt. Stanley A. Evers, stationed in Alaska with the U. S. Air Force and five grandchildren. Another son, Leonard W. Evers, was killed in action while serving with the U. S. Navy during World War II.

40-Voice Choir To Appear Here

The Charlevoix Ministerial Association will sponsor an appearance of the 40-voice Anderson College choir here as part of its pre-Easter observance, according to the Rev. George L. Majors, president of the Association.

The choir will appear here Wednesday, April 13, at the Charlevoix high school auditorium.

The choir is from Anderson College in Anderson, Ind., the Church of God - sponsored school.

St. Patrick's Day Dinner Date Set

Plans for the annual St. Patrick's dinner sponsored by St. Mary's parish were announced this week by Mrs. Emerald LaBlance, president of St. Mary's Rosary Altar Society.

The dinner will be held at St. Mary's school hall Sunday, March 13. Serving will begin at 1 p.m. and will continue until all are served.

James Williams will be in charge of the kitchen; the Little Flower Guild headed by Mrs. Frank Bourgoin will be in charge of decorations and serving; Mrs. Frank Oleksy will take care of advertising and Mrs. George A. LaBlance, tickets.

Rayders at Last Make Top Ten

The Charlevoix Rayders who recently captured the Northern Michigan Class C title and are currently boasting a record of 15 straight victories, finally made their way into the UPI basketball poll.

The Rayders were in ninth place this week as they were named to the top 10 for the first time this season.

They were rated as fourteenth in the AP weekly poll.

Rudyard continues to head both the UPI and the AP polls.

Zoning Amendments Win Decisively in Township Election

Four amendments to the zoning ordinance of Charlevoix township were given decisive approval by the voters of the township at a special election held Tuesday.

The changes in the existing ordinance brought about by the approval of the amendments opens the way for the construction of a bowling alley in the township.

Tuesday's election which has been a red hot issue in the township brought out 104 voters.

The proposals and the margin by which they were approved follow: Proposal No. 1, which relates to the size of the premises in the commercial district, was approved 84 to 7; Proposal No. 2, which establishes the distance a building must be set back from the highway, was approved 81 to 21; Proposal No. 3, which permits buildings to be abutted and sets the size of side yards, was approved 81 to 23 and Proposal No. 4, which clarifies the definition of the word 'owner' as used in the ordinance, was approved, 77 to 26.

Immediately following the counting of the ballots by the election inspectors, Mrs. Arnold Copeland, Mrs. Ronad Swanson and Mrs. Keith Wagner, the board of canvassers met to canvass the vote. This board is composed by the township supervisor, Clarence F. Rabach, the clerk, Mrs. Clayton A. Smith and the treasurer, Mrs. Ted Bergmann.

Approval of the zoning amendments does not necessarily completely clear the way for the construction of a bowling alley in the community. Plans for an alley have not been drawn up nor an application for a building permit requested, according to Tom Venema of Petoskey who is serving as the agent and building contractor for the project if and when the red tape is unwound. The owners and operators of the proposed alley will be Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Fiedorek of Kalamazoo who expect to live in the former J. C. Marshall home recently purchased by Mr. Venema.

Plans for either a six or an eight alley structure will be started immediately, Mr. Venema says. The larger size is contingent on the aquisition of an additional 30-foot frontage from the Liston restaurant property. Mr. Venema is trying to negotiate the purchase of this parcel. If he can not get the additional frontage he will draw up plans for a six alley building and request a building permit at the earliest possible date.

The proposed site adjacent to the Airport Bar has a 56 foot frontage and is 350 feet deep.

If no further delays are encountered, Mr. Venema believes he can have the structure completed and the alleys installed by the first of July to provide summer bowling for summer visitors to Charlevoix.

Group to Sponsor Saturday Movie At Retarded Center

The Charlevoix Association to Aid Retarded Children will sponsor the showing of a two-hour cartoon movie at the Day Center located at the corner of Petoskey ave. and Burns st. beginning at 2 p.m. Saturday.

The children of the community are invited to attend the showing for which a small charge will be made. Pop and popcorn will be offered for sale at intermission.

A new schedule has been placed in operation at the Day Center now attended by six children.

The program features all phases of homemaking at the Center which is now open from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. On Wednesday the students prepare and serve a full course dinner with each child having a turn at the various procedures.

Offers Aid with Intangible Tax

Persons wishing assistance in the preparation of their intangible tax return may contact Dare Harrington of East Jordan for appointments.

Intangible personal property subject to the state tax includes all mortgages, land contracts, bank accounts, cash, postal savings, stocks, bonds and similar types of property, according to Mr. Harrington, local representative of the Michigan Department of Revenue.

Final date for filing is March 31, Mr. Harrington said.

Rites Held Here for Mrs. Frank Schuler, Former Resident

Mrs. Frank Schuler, 74, sister of William C. Bellinger and a former local resident, died Sunday at her home in Muskegon where she had lived for more than 45 years.

Funeral services were held Wednesday at the Basil Young Funeral Home in Muskegon. The body was returned here for burial in Brookside cemetery.

Born here Oct. 22, 1885, the former Clara Bellinger had spent her entire married life in Muskegon.

She is survived by her husband, one daughter, Mrs. Clarabelle Black of Muskegon, one step-son, a step-daughter; one grandson; a brother, William C Bellinger of this city and a sister, Mrs. Ellsworth Dutton of West Branch.

The Editor
Charlevoix Courier
Charlevoix, Michigan
Dear Sir:

As a [illegible] and tax payer in the City of Charlevoix, I wish to express my appreciation to the [illegible] men who will be shortly [illegible] the City Council.

Lee Moerland, who must forfeit his membership on the Council since he is moving to a different ward; Ray Kipke, who lost in the recent primary election; and Harry Gebson, who is retiring after several years of service.

These gentlemen in their own way have tirelessly worked for the betterment of Charlevoix and to the best interests of all whom they served.

Too few people realize that the job of Alderman is a thankless one. It is time consuming, many times nerve racking, and if done right, requires a certain degree of modesty, dignity and reserve.

Many an outsider can tell a Councilman how much better he can do this job, but would soon learn if he were a Councilman that there is much more to it than some personal gripe and that an Alderman must always carefully weigh and decide what is best over all for the community.

I would guess that one small measure of gratitude to these retiring Councilmen would be for the citizens of Charlevoix to [illegible] aid and support the newly [illegible] Councilmen [illegible] the re[illegible] members.

Sincerely yours,
Gordon L. Freelman

Around Town

Several of our local merchants are busy doing a bit of sprucing up — Hess Furniture has given the store a bright coat of paint on the inside and added new pegboard panels to the main entrance side of the store.

A welcome sight at Meggison's Auto Service is a fresh application of light green and white paint giving the shop that (don't we look purdy look.)

The Town House has a first (I think) in town and that is a Grand Player Piano. To put this music box in Larry has done a bit of booth removing, floor reinforcing and will end up with a nautical setting.

Local Churches Plan Series of Sing-spirations

The first of three Sing-spirations sponsored by the Charlevoix Ministerial Association will be held at the Community Church of God Sunday evening.

The special service which will feature the singing of favorite hymns will be held from 9 to 9:45 p.m. following the regular Sunday evening service.

The Rev. George L. Majors, pastor of the host church as well as president of the sponsoring organization, has issued an invitation to the public to attend the sing-spiration and enjoy the singing together of hymns.

A second Sing-spiration will be held at the Barnard Reformed church March 27 and the third at the First Methodist church on April 24.

Rebekahs Hold Visitation Night At East Jordan

Seventeen members of the Charlevoix Rebekah lodge No. 293 were in East Jordan Wednesday night for one of District 18's visitation night. During the evening the local group attended a regular meeting of the Jasmine Rebekah lodge.

Those making the trip were Mrs. Jerold Murdick, Mrs. Luther Hannah, Mrs. William Ager, Mrs. Harry Powers, Mrs. Edward Lakies, Ms. Earl Blood, Mrs. Eugene Lewis, Mrs. Lloyd Ikens, Mrs. Joseph Moore, Miss Frances Durance, Mrs. Edward Swanson, Mrs. Guy Stutzman, Mrs. Eldred Ostrum, Mrs. Fred Gill, Mrs. Grace Geneit, Mrs. Sims Baker and Mrs. Raymond Seymour.

Charlevoix in Uniform

Kenneth M. Case has enlisted in the U. S. Navy for a four-year hitch, Jack Hovarth, CCM. USN recruiting officer at Petoskey has announced.

Kenneth, a 1959 graduate of the Charlevoix high school and the son of Mrs. Dorothy Case, will undergo nine weeks of Recruit training at the U. S. Naval Training Station at Great Lakes, Ill. Upon completion of 'boot' training, he will attend an electronics school where he will train for a technical job with the Navy.

Girl Scout News

Brownie Scout troop 7 met.

We drew names for the treat next week.

We elected officers. They are secretary, Jeanette Sutton; treasurer, Laura Lee Hutchinson and scribe, Peggy Mousseau.

Pam Behse brought the treat. We also played a game and made plans for our project for next week. After a goodnight circle, we sang "When Day Is Done" and went home.

Peggy Mousseau, scribe.

When a physician prescribes medication he takes into consideration many of his patient's individualities such as age, weight, blood pressure and health history. It stands to reason, therefore, that prescriptions for the same medicine can vary in strength and dosage for different persons. It is foolish and can be harmful to "try" a prescription that was prepared for someone else. When you feel below par, see your doctor and obtain the "personalized" treatment that will quickly restore you to good health.

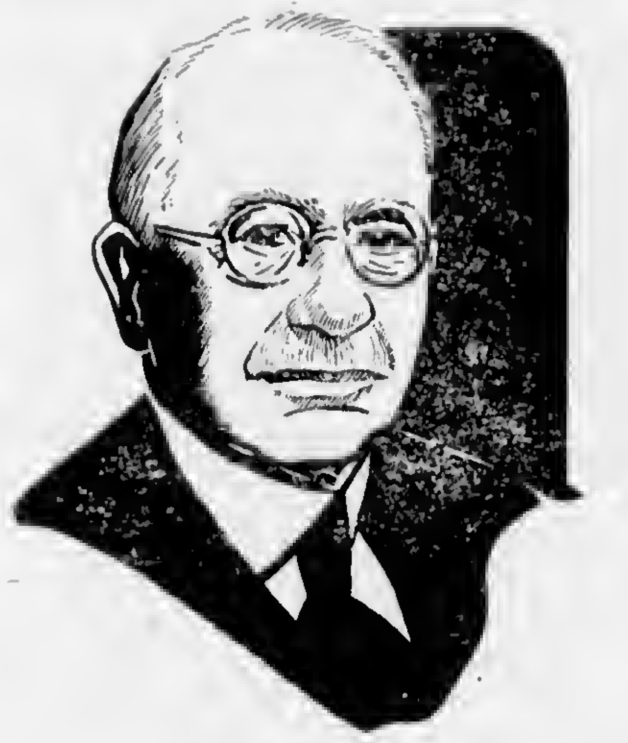
A Touch of Greatness

Inspiration from great lives

By Harold E. Kohn



RUFUS JONES

Faces Beyond The Statistics

The power of imagination has been given a bad time by street-corner sages and park-bench philosophers. "He imagines things!" is a criticism that supposedly indicates the subject is on the verge of lunacy. The person who makes a hobby of worrying or complaining is scoffed at and we declare, "His trouble is all in his imagination." We have all known people whose imaginations brood over their neighbors hatching out the vilest suspicions of what wicked deeds they are performing in secret, and what evil motives prompt even their most innocent acts. Day dreaming and building of "air castles" seem like inconsequential, wasteful trifling to a world that idolizes efficiency, and we can hardly ridicule a person more cynically than to say of him, "He's a dreamer!"

But some of the best things that ever happen occur because someone's life is dominated by a vivid imagination. When it is controlled with reference to some worthy theme imagination produces poetry, drama and novels, music, painting and scupture, or it synthesizes a collection of facts into a scientific theory like Newton's hypothesis of gravitation, or it makes for invention like Edison's incandescent light bulb.

The good life, too, depends upon the noble uses of a vivid imagination, for goodness in social conduct involves a person's imagining he is in another's place. Without the capacity to sense another's fears and temptations, depravations, disappointments and griefs as our own there could be no real sympathy in the world, for the very word "sympathy" literally means "to suffer with." Wherever sympathetic assistance is being rendered, wherever a great and unselfish service is being done, behind it all can be found someone's imagination, wholesomely engaged in feeling another's trouble as if it were his own.

One of the most powerful forces for good in the present century has been the American Friends Service Committee, an organization founded by Quakers to show their love and loyalty for their country and for offering their services to the world in every kind of philanthropic and charitable endeavor. Established in 1917 the organization has engaged the lives of unnumbered selfless people in relieving suffering around the globe. The Chairman and moving spirit of the Committee during its formative years was Rufus Jones, a professor of philosophy, the world's best-known historian of mysticism, a writer, lecturer and religious statesman. He was a personal friend of Herbert Hoover, and when at the close of the first World War, the future President called for relief for starving German children, Rufus Jones organized help to the extent of twelve million dollars and for a period furnished a minimum of one meal each day to 1,200,000 German children.

The concern Rufus Jones felt for the world's needs was without religious, racial or class boundaries. In December 1938 Dr. Jones, then seventy-five years of age, sailed for Germany with two Quaker associates. The purpose of his voyage was to appeal to the German Gestapo to allow the American Friends to give some relief to the persecuted and suffering Jews of Germany. Emigration of the Jews from Nazi Germany seemed imperative if any at all were to avoid destruction, and no provision was being made for the escape of these harassed and oppressed people. Finally a few days before Christmas and after much maneuvering Dr. Jones and his two friends were escorted into Gestapo Headquarters for a conference with deputies of Reinhard Heydrich, feared throughout Central Europe as "the Hangman." There Rufus Jones presented a statement of the purpose that brought him and his friends to Germany — to relieve human anguish. To assure the suspicious Nazis of the good intent of their American visitors he told how during the closing days of the First World War the American Friends Service Committee had directed the feeding of starving German children, and how they had brought coal into Vienna for the fires in the hospitals. He added, "We have simply, quietly, and in a friendly spirit endeavored to make life possible for those who are suffering. We do not ask who is to blame for the trouble that may exist or what has produced the sad situation. Our task is to support and save life and to suffer with those who are suffering." The result of this conference was that Quakers were allowed into Germany to oversee the expenditure of Quaker relief funds; Quakers were permitted to give aid to non-synagogue Jews who were not getting assistance from other organizations; Quakers were allowed to assist with the emigration of individual Jews from Germany. [illegible] danger meant likely [illegible] Jones and his friends had daringly faced forces of evil and offered them a way of love!

What was the secret of the effectiveness of this modern American saint? What made him spend so lavishly of his strength for countless thousands of other faiths and races he would never see? In large part the secret was this: he had a vivid and dedicated imagination. He never saw statistics concerning starving children overseas without seeing, too, hunger-pinched faces, hunger-bloated bellies, and toothpick-like arms and legs. As his biographer, Elizabeth Vining, said about him, "Rufus Jones saw always the human faces beyond the deadly statistics of need and he had the gift of making them vivid both to the workers and to the public to whom he appealed for support." That's it — seeing faces beyond statistics and then doing something about their need!

Would it not make a difference in our behavior if our imaginations were sharpened until we all saw faces beyond statistics?

Would we not do better in our treatment of the "backward" peoples of the world if we could imagine they are as sensitive as ourselves? Would we ruthlessly exploit them if we could feel their resentment as if it were our own? The millions of underprivileged of the underdeveloped areas, in Asia, Africa and Latin America are more than census statistics. They are people who think and wish and pray about an improved lot in life, about better agriculture, industry, education and health. Do we have the imagination to wish their wishes, dream their dreams and work for their welfare as if they were our own?

Would we not drive more carefully if, instead of knowing that nearly forty-thousand people a year are killed in traffic "accidents" — and hundreds of thousands injured — we saw faces and bodies behind the statistics? Faces that stare up vacantly from blood-smeared pavements; faces with mouths that scream in pain; and stoney faces masked with mixed unbelief and grief— these are the faces behind the cold, unfeeling statistics.

But I need not go on. You can continue this thought and bring it to your own conclusion — in thoughtful, loving deeds. Whenever you see statistics on human need, look for the faces and sense the feelings behind them. Then do all you can to serve those needs.

Supposing everyone did, how soon the world would change!

But even if a few will "imagine things" in this fashion we will move a little farther in the direction of making a world brotherhood of our earthly neighborhood.

Safety Is No Accident

With Michigan continuing to rank high on the list in traffic deaths, it is time each of us who drives a motor vehicle takes a solemn oath to do something about it . . . Like the professional truck driver who makes his livelihood piloting a truck or truck-trailer over our streets and highways, we need to know the rules of safe driving and practice them. Safety is no accident — it's planned that way . . . Obey all traffic laws, be courteous, drive "defensively" (trying to anticipate the other fellow's move), be sure your vehicle is in good mechanical condition. There are other sound rules, but these are four of the most important and if you'll practice them conscientiously you'll help to save a life — and it may be yours!

IT HAPPENED ON ....
BEAVER ISLAND

By MARION MARTIN

On the evening of February 15 a group of folks from town pleasantly surprised Mr. and Mrs. Robert Patterson at their country home and brought with them the makings of a pancake, ham and egg supper. After dining, dishwashing, some visiting, singing and story telling the group left. A good time was reported by Doctor Luton, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon LaFreniere, Mr. and Mrs. Bert McDonough, Mr. and Mrs. Lolyd McDonough, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nackerman, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Gallagher, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence McDonough, Mr. and Mrs. Archie LaFreniere, Mr. and Mrs. Rogers Carlysle. Also present were E. Belfy and E. McCann from Charlevoix.

Earl Boyle has returned home and is feeling much better.

Recent visitors from Charlevoix were Erwin Belfy and Edwin McCann.

A surprise party for Mrs. Dorothy MacGregor on her birthday February 18th was held in the afternoon at the Shamrock Bar. Those who attended were Musette LaFreniere, Eva McDonough, Jo Carlysle, Mary McDonough, Vera Wojan, Skip McDonough, Joy Greene, Grace Nackerman, Lillian Gallagher and Loyola Malloy.

Another new citizen has arrived on Beaver Island. This time a baby girl, Bernadette Eva, born to Mr. and Mrs. Russell Greene (Joy McDonough) on February 21st and weighing 9 lbs.

Word has been received of the death of John W. McDonough of Round Lake, Ill. Mr. McDonough died February 15. Burial was from Little Flower Parish. He is survived by his wife and three sons. The McDonoughs have been summer resdents on Beaver Island for the past several years and maintain a summer home here.

English Teacher Receives Letter From Ex. Student

S. E. Coleman, Charlevoix high school English teacher, has received a letter from Charlevoix's first exchange student, petite Ruby Saunders of Belfast, the Irish colleen, who returned to her homeland last summer after attending the local high school for one school year.

Mr. Coleman has consented to share the letter with the Courier readers who earlier enjoyed accounts of Ruby and her experiences while here. She now writes of her experiences since returning home:

I'm at the Belfast College of Art now and finding it very difficult, all work and no praise! I am also taking an advanced RSA this year. This is an English literature and language course and among the books we have to get through are "The Time Machine" by Wells and "Man and Superman" by B. Shaw. I think that the latter is one of the best plays I have ever read although it seems to be more of a collection of ideas than a united play. What do you think?

I suppose Charlevoix will be all covered with snow now—nice soft snow. All we have, unfortunately, is nice warm rain. We haven't even had our annual two weeks of slush yet, but I'm still hoping. It seems a pity to have taken all that trouble of learning to ski, including all those fallings on the face, and then having it all wasted. But maybe I'll get to Switzerland or Norway in the next year or two.

I've been making speeches pretty regularly since I arrived home — last Wednesday I made one to the Rotary Club. It's really surprising what kind of an attitude they have here of Americans. Many of my friends believe that they are always trying to impress on other people how big and important they are, America is; they must have got the idea from American tourists. But honestly, I don't think it's true at all, do you? If there is any boasting done, it's only done in pride of their country. Is not that right? So many people have that belief in this boasting of Americans, that I am beginning to wonder is it true or not, my self. Maybe I was a bit gullible. But I really don't think so. After all, I lived there for a year . . . most of my friends have never even been there. The worst of it is, they condemn me for 'going Yankee' if I argue too much about this. What should I do? . . . sit and listen or give my honest opinion though they think I'm a sort of a traitor. Isn't it stupid?

I only wish that there were a few more teachers over here that had the gift of making a class interesting yet instructive.

It's a bit late for saying it, but Happy New Year!'

Rayders Rack Mancelona For Number 15, 57-41

The Charlevoix Rayders continued their victory march Friday night as they racked up a 57 to 41 win over the second place Mancelona Ironmen.

The win was the Rayders 13th in league play and their 15th for the season.

Playing at Mancelona the Rayders edged into a 15 to 13 first quarter lead which was increased to 30 to 22 at halftime. Charlevoix continued to outscore the Ironmen 12 to 5 and 15 to 14 in the last two periods for the decisive victory.

Joe Beaudoin, Jim Ladd, Dick VanRaaphorst, Charle. Coleman and Dave Schuchard were named to the starting lineup. Bruce Pease and Ralph Brock joined the action in the first period; Stan Smith, Ron Balch and Jim Dennis entered the lineup in the second quarter and Terry DeYoung, Tom Martin and Don Nowland in the final period when Coach Don Carey emptied the bench.

Schuchard scored two field goals and two gift shots for six points, VanRaaphorst added a field goal and charity shot, Ladd had three gift shots and Brock a field goal to account for 15 points in the first period. Mancelona with five field goals and three free throws scored 13 points to stay in the running.

Charlevoix duplicated its first period action to take a 30 to 22 first half lead after Schuchard had scored five, Beaudoin and Ladd four points each and VanRaaphorst two points. The Ironmen had nine points on two field goals and five throws.

The Ironmen who ended the game with 24 personal fouls collected 14 of them in the first half. Charlevoix had nine plus one technical team foul.

Charlevoix outscored their hosts 12 to 5 in the third quarter to take a 42 to 27 lead after Beaudoin had scored five, Schuchard three and Coleman and Smith one field goal each. Mancelona's scoring was confined to two field goals and a free throw.

The majority of the Rayders got into the act in the final period. However, scoring was limited to buckets by VanRaaphorst, who had three and Beaudoin and Schuchard who had two each. Martin came through with one free throw. Mancelona posted their best scoring period in the final quarter pumping in seven field goals.

Three Rayders hit double figures in the scoring department. Schuchard paced the game with 18, Beaudoin had 14 and VanRaaphorst 11.

Walt Klein who left the game after collecting five fouls midway through the third period had 10 for the Ironmen.

Last Week With Class C

While Charevoix was successfully defending its perfect record of 15 straight victories including two over Class B Petoskey at Mancelona Friday night, the Pellston Hornets knocked off Grayling by a score of 72 to 57 to move into a third place tie with the Vikings; East Jordan clipped Boyne City 54 to 41 to move into a fifth place tie with the Ramblers and Gaylord dumped Harbor Springs 58 to 31 to take over fourth place in Northern Michigan Class C standings.

Pellston 72 Grayling 57

Playing at Pellston, the Vikings rompeo into a 20 to 16 quarter lead only to see the Hornets take over 43 to 33 at halftime before coasting to a 40 to 42 advantage going into the final period.

Barry Anderson paced the play with 25 points for the victors. Roger Hatfield had 19 for the Vikings who were handicapped by the loss of Jack Hull who was sidelined by the flu.

East Jordan 54 Boyna City 41

Tt East Jordan the erratic Red Devils racked up their second win of the season over the Ramblers with little difficulty. Paced by Louis Kraemer who had a total of 16 points for the game, the Jordanites led the visitors 10 to 4; 26 to 17 and 36 to 23 by quarters before taking the game by a 13-point margin. Jack Dixon had 12 points for the Ramblers.

Gaylord 58 Harbor Springs 31

Ten Blue Devils got into the scoring column in the game with Harbor Springs which Gaylord won handily after leading their hosts 16 to 11; 30 to 18 and 48 to 25 by quarters.

Reserves Win

Charlevoix's little Rayders pulled another close one out of the bin Friday night when they edged the Mancelona Reserves 41 to 40 in a game that was a toe to toe battle all the way.

Mancelona jumped into a 13 to 10 first period lead which the young Rayders erased at halftime after outscoring their hosts 12 to 5 to take a 22 to 18 lead.

Charlevoix protected its four point lead going into the second half by keeping pace with their hosts as both teams scored nine points each. The final period followed the same pattern as both teams scored 13 points.

Dan Pearl, Barry Pierce, George Majors, Henry Wagner and Stan Martin started for Charlevoix with John Pearl and Jack Stewart getting the nod early in the game.

Six of the Rayders' 10 points in the first period were from the free throw line. Martin scored three of them and then added a field goal, Majors scored two plus the only other field goal while Wagner added one. Mancelona had five field goals and three free throws for a 13 to 10 first period lead.

Martin scored three field goals and Majors and Wagner one each and John Pearl contributed two free throws to wipe out the first period deficit and to take a four-point lead which they successfully defended throughout the last half. Mancelona lost the lead when they scored only two field goals and a free throw in the second period.

Going into the second half, both teams scored three field goals and three charity shots for nine points in the third period. Martin scored four points on a field goal and two free throws, Wagner and John Pearl came through with field goals and Pierce a single shot to account for the scoring.

In the final period Charlevoix scored six from the floor and one from the free throw line, Pearl and Wagner had two each, Pierce one and Stewart a field goal and the single free throw. Mancelona, with a chance to tie the score from the free throw line, connected on five of eight attempts and scored four field goals but lacked the punch to go ahead.

Martin with 15 points paced the game for the victors. Wagner followed with nine, John Pearl eight, Majors six, Pierce and Stewart with three points each.

Garlich had 12 and Dickinson 11 for the Ironmen.

Charlevoix had 14 field goals to 12 for Mancelona. The two buckets made the difference in the game. The Rayders hit on 12 of 21 free throw attempts and had 18 personal fouls. Mancelona hit on 12 of 25 attempts and had 15 personal fouls.

Bowling News

BY MEG

A special day. The township of Charlevoix voted almost 4 to 1 in favor of the zoning changes. Now with a little time and effort we will bowl in Charlevoix next year.

It wasn't a special night for Steve's Bar. Moonlight rolled over them for 4 points. Steve's bowled the best they have in weeks, but couldn't stand the pace. For Moonlight, Grover led with a 212-559 series followed by the bowling Dentist with a 540 series. Ed Hansen rolled 81 pins over average with a 531 series. For Steve's Ole Rile had a 200-546 series followed by Meg with a 521. Ken had a 209-514 series followed by Ted with 508. Monk had a 110-429 series. Moonlight bowled high series tonight for the season with a 2695.

Freedman No. I called on the extra man tonight and came out with a 2-2 split with Browe Electric. Capt. John played basketball in the Petoskey tourney so Bob Pearl took over. Bob went over his average with a 481 to lead his team followed by Cal with a 212-414 series. Pat couldn't find the range and came up with a 311 series. For Browe's Ted had a 498 followed by Bob Ouderkirk with a 483 series. John Sladek was dragging anchor with 124-121-129 —374 series.

Neff Grocery stayed in the running by taking only one point from Freedman No. II. For Neff's, Big Bergmann had high series with a 484 followed by Gordon with a 483 series. Clayton was the big weight with a 372 series. For the No. 2 squad, "Drawbridge" bowled 87 pins over average with a 486 series followed by Les with a 438 series. Bob Coakley was low with a 399 — 40 pins under average. Harry had a 113 2nd game.

Puff's moved into a tie for No. 4 spot by taking Airport for 3 points. Puff broke loose and rolled 223-199-212 — 634 series followed by Ron Wojan with a 214 — 508 series. For Airport, Al's 205-173-207 — 585 series led the parade. Hank followed with a 514 series. Nick (it hurts to set this) dragged anchor with a 109-143-112 — 364 series.

The ununited, United tonight and took 4 points from Swanson Gravel. Ed Culbertson had a 573 series followed by Red with a 509 series. For Swanson, who by the way I owe an apology to for not finishing out their scores last week (They took Neff's for 3 points) just took it on the ehin. Fergie had high with a 492 series followed by Stub with a 465 series.

Lake Construction started their move by taking 3 points from Central Drugs. Big John had a 205-589 series, George Bergmann followed with a 418 series. Hal had a 399 series. For the Pill Rollers Keith Miles had a 511 series followed by Uncle Joe Liston with a 498 series. The Boss had a good night with the following scores — 81-121-119 — 321 series. He is just about ready to purcase a new anchor (I think).

Dope Sheet

The Charlevoix Rayders will take to the hardwoods Friday to meet the Pellston Hornets in the only game barring their way to a perfect season.

The Rayders, who earlier captured their first Northern Michigan Class C title since the 1955 season, will be defending their record of 15 straight wins including two non-loop victories over Petoskey when they take on the Hornets who are currently tied with Grayling for third place in loop standings.

In other games East Jordan will travel to Gaylord, Grayling will host Mancelona and Boyne City will entertain Harbor Springs.

In their first meeting, the Charlevoix outfit rolled over Pellston by a score of 47 to 36. This week, however, the pressure will be on as the Hornets 'go for broke' in an effort to topple the high-flying Rayders from the ranks of the undefeated. Charlevoix will have the advantage of playing on home territory which is always good for extra points. They may need them as the visitors try every trick in the book to accomplish what no other team has succeeded in doing this season. Chances are this will be another close one for the Hornets, despite their record, are always a threat, especially with so much at stake.

LANSING OBSERVER

By FRANK G. MORRIS

All over Michigan, the critics of Michigan's Constitution have organized to rip the historic document asunder. They have joined in a chorus which, if I hear correctly, goes something like this:

"Oh! Blow on the trumpets
"And beat on the drums;
"Smash on the drums, crash on the drums.
"For today is the day the garbage man comes
"To carry the garbage away"

But is the Constitution really a pile of odorous garbage? Every voter must pause and probe for an answer before going to the polls next November to pass on the apportionment proposition to be submitted as the first step toward a Constitutional Convention.

As pointed out previously in this column, the Constitution of 1908 was a noble document when it was adopted by the people. The flaws that have developed in the last half century were subsequently written into the document by 63 amendments.

In these five decades of Michigan's industrial growth, the people rejected 56 amendments, or almost as many as they approved. So they did not act blindly, as critics now content, when they made the changes now labeled "patchwork."

Perhaps a lot of good would come out of a Constitutional Convention. Everyone recognizes defects. The trouble is that sections regarded as flaws by one group are guarded by others as necessary guarantees of justice and equity.

So there is deception in the present well-planned campaign to convince the people that Michigan's ills will vanish practically overnight once a new Constitution is adopted.

The document can not be rewritten to prevent higher taxation to meet the constantly-mounting cost of government, particularly the cost of operating the school system.

It can not be rewritten to bring back from Ohio and Indiana the automobile plants, and feeder industries, which have fled from Michigan.

It can not be rewritten to cure the anti-business attitude of the state government under Democratic control.

So what are the aims of the leaders in this drive for a Constitutional Convention?

Ask any of them, and the answer always is a vague comment that the document was designed for a "horse-and-buggy era" inasmuch as the original framework was written in 1908.

A favorite criticism is that the Constitution earmarks funds, thus tying the hands of the legislature. The critics fail to mention that these earmarked funds are the highway moneys, restricted for roads; the revenue from two-thirds of the three-cent sales tax, earmarked for schools, and the revenue from a half cent of the sales tax, restricted for townships and cities.

Do the people want these restrictions removed and full control of these funds given to the legislature?

Another criticism is that the Civil Service amendment gives the Civil Service Commission the power to raise the pay of state employees when the cost of living warrants increases.

Do the people, recalling the "ripper" bills of the past, want the Civil Service guarantee rewritten?

Democrats want the legislature reapportioned to give control of both branches to Wayne, Oakland and Macomb Counties.

Would this change, designed by the UAW, be good for Michigan?

But the principal goal of the UAW is to eradicate the clause requiring that all taxation must be uniform. The union has been ranting about that section since the late Gov. Frank Murphy proposed a one-house legislature and a new Constitution in 1937.

So there are arguments on both sides of this controversy, which will be a major issue of the 1960 election.

The people have judged carefully when asked in the past to tinker with their Constitution.

They will weigh both sides intelligently once again.

Band Given Top Rating At Festival

The Charlevoix high school band directed by C. A. Odmark was one of three bands to receive the coveted "I" rating in the annual District Qualifying Festival held at Petoskey Saturday under the sponsorship of District II of the Michigan High School Band and Orchestra Festival.

Petoskey high school band in Class B and the Boyne City high school band in Class C, the class in which the local band was entered, were the only other bands to qualify for participation in the State Festival to be held at Mt Pleasant April 30.

The Charlevoix Reserve band, the only Junior High group in the festival, received a "II" rating as did Sault Ste. Marie in Class A; Rogers City in Class B; Harbor Springs in Class C and Alanson and Mackinaw City in Class D.

Third division ratings were given to East Jordan in Class C and Indian River in Class D while a fourth division rating was awarded to Onaway in Class C.

In commenting on the performances of his bands in Saturday's festival, Mr. Odmark said that the Senior band gave one of the finest performances of any band he had ever entered in festival participation and added that he was well pleased with the response received. The Reserve band composed of eighth and ninth grade students also played very well but due to lack of experience were given a II rating as the result of technical deficiencies he said. Both bands received praise from the judges for their ability, spirit and 'band sound.'

The top rating awarded the Senior band is the thirteenth won by local bands in 14 years of participation in district festivals.

Comments by the judges, while mostly technical in nature, included the following: Edgar Ross of Central Michigan University: "This band has many fine performers. Congratulations to all of you;" Harold Geerdes of Calvin College: "Strong points are many—a fine overall sound, good musical playing with fine control and style;" Robert Fink of Western Michigan University: "Your introduction (playing in tune) is the best heard today but you can still improve. Keep listening;" Byron Autrey of Michigan State University: "With a little better blend and balance, this band will sound very good."

Installs Plant To Supply Ready Mixed Cement

Northland Septic Tank service has expanded its operations to include a Redi-mix concrete service. Joe Liston, proprietor of the business has announced.

The equipment for blending the various concrete mixes will be set up at the Lilak and Moores gravel pit near Ellsworth, considered a central location for serving Charlevoix and Antrim counties. The equipment at the pit will include storage bins and scales for cement, sand and the assorted gravel sizes used in various formulas plus two tandem trucks for efficient transportation of the Redi-Mix concrete to the point of delivery.

Mr. Liston expects to have the equipment installed and ready for operation by the middle of the month.

All materials used in the ready-mixed concrete are weighed according to the specified formula and all sand and gravel will be screened and washer, Mr. Liston said.

Although Mr. Liston is a resident of Charlevoix, he operates the Northern Septic Tank Service in Boyne City. This office also will be the headquarters for the Redi-Mix concrete service.

Council Drafting Resolution for Annexation

The proposed annexation of property owned by the city which lies within adjoining Charlevoix township was the chief topic of discussion at the regular meeting of the Charlevoix City Council Monday night.

The property under discussion is the easternmost nine holes of the former Chicago club golf course and a section of the municipal airport. Resolutions are now being drawn up for publication before the issue will be presented to the Charlevoix county board of supervisors. The property is not inhabited.

Other issues discussed were proposed work on the docks and property for the re-location of the street department garage and the softball field.

Bills amounting to $14,506.63 were approved and ordered paid. The figure includes a $3,000 refund to the Charlevoix hospital on utility fees paid by the Charlevoix hospital.

Fake Calls to Coast Guard Bring Warning

A warning was issued this week by Chief D. L. Reynolds, officer in charge of the Charlevoix lifeboat station, that there is a severe penalty for calling this Coast Guard installation and then refusing to answer when the telephone call is acknowledged.

In issuing the warning Chief Reynolds said that such calls are not only annoying but they hold up a business line which might be needed to report an emergency call. Such an action is a federal offense and carries with it as much as a $5,000 fine and/or five years in prison.

Chief Reynolds went on to say that the Charlevoix Lifeboat Station is here to answer distress calls and to serve the public but such actions on the part of a small minority is hampering this work and could be serious if an emergency call was delayed by some thoughtless person whose call was holding up the line.

First Pre-Easter Union Service To Be Wednesday

Plans for a series of Pre-Easter Union services to be held every Wednesday noon beginning March 9 and continuing through April 13 under the sponsorship of the Charlevoix Ministerial Association have been announced by the Rev. George L. Majors, president of the association.

The theme of the series will be "The Path to Preparation" tracing the path of Christ trough the major events which led to His trial and crucifixion.

The series will be only 20 minutes in length and has been planned so that working people and school students may attend the services in a central location, the First Congregational church.

The first service to be held Wednesday, March 9, will have as its theme "Annointing at Bethany." The Rev. Mr. Majors will deliver the brief message and the Rev. James P. Sherman will be the leaders. There will be appropriate hymns, a prayer and Scripture reading.

Though the services are held at the Congregational church, they are planned as union services for worshippers of all denominations. Everyone is invited to attend the pre-Easter services.

Land Surveyors Meet at Flint

The nineteenth annual meeting of the Michigan Society of Registered Land Surveyors was held at Flint last Thursday through Saturday.

In Flint for the four-day meeting were Mrs. Lawrence Feindt, of the Charlevoix Abstract and Engineering Co. who is also Charlevoix county surveyor and T. R. Miller.

Mrs. Feindt was accompanied by her son, Larry.

Eveline Twp. Holds Hearing On Zoning Plan

A proposed zoning ordinance for Eveline township was discussed at a public meeting held Thursday afternoon at the Advance Chamber of Commerce building.

Approximately 40 residents of the township which lies on both sides of the South Arm of Lake Charlevoix gathered to hear the original draft of the proposed ordinance presented by the zoning board named by William Sanderson, township supervisor. A discussion of several points followed and suggestions made to amend the ordinance to meet Eveline township's specific needs.

The zoning board met again Friday to continue drafting the ordinance, incorporating into it many of the recommendations made at the public meeting.

When the initial work of drafting the ordinance is completed, it will first be presented to the zoning commission or board of the Charlevoix county board of supervisors for its approval before being taken to the Eveline township board for its approval.

Following these preliminaries as provided in Act 184 of 1943, the zoning ordinance will then be published in the weekly newspapers serving residents of the township.

After this has been done, any property owner in the township will be granted a hearing by the board by submitting a written request to meet with the board.

Or, should the property owners in the township wish to have it brought to a vote of the residents of the township, they may do so by submitting a petition signed by 10 percent of the qualified electors of the township.

The zoning ordinance will then be put to the vote of the people of the township at the next regular election upon filing such a petition or at a special election.

The temporary zoning board appointed to draft the ordinance is composed of George B. Ely, Mrs. Carl Anderson, Clarence Healey, Howard Parsel and Ralph Price.

Plan Teen-Twirl Dance Saturday

A Teen-Twirl dance for the young people of the community will be held at the Mentally Retarded Center at the corner of Petoskey ave. and Burns st. Saturday evening.

The dance will begin at 9 p.m. and continue until midnight. High school students and their guests are invited to attend the dance and enjoy refreshments which will be served later in the evening.

Proceeds from the event, sponsored by the Charlevoix Association to Aid Retarded Children, will be used to purchase kitchen equipment for the Day Center.

The showing of movies which proved so successful last week when more than 200 youngsters attended the show will be held again this Saturday with two one-hour shows, the first beginning at 2 p.m. and a second at 3 p.m. Pop and popcorn will again be sold. Last week's movies netted $30.30.

Tourist Guest Home Operators Liable for Tax

Tourist guest homes are now required by law to collect and remit to the state a four percent use tax on room rentals, according to Paul Kohler, secretary-manager of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce. He was advised of this ruling Feb. 5 by the West Michigan Tourist and Resort association which only recently was notified of the new statute.

Under the law, anyone who rents rooms or resort accomodations for a period of one month or less must remit the four percent use tax. If the rental exceeds one month no use tax is required.

The new tax was passed in the closing session of the 1959 legislature. It was included in a tax passage which apparently was given little publicity. Many operators of tourist homes are not aware of this tax and should be aware of the fact that they are liable for the remittance.

Ask Increase in Telephone Rates

Michigan Bell Telephone Co. has filed new rate schedule which if approved by the Public Service commission, will increase residents rates 10 cents a month, C. L. Johnson, manager of this division, has announced.

Most classes of business services will increase 15 cents a month while private branch exchanges would go up 25 cents a month.

Other increases here would apply to miscellaneous items such as service connections, automatic answering and recording equipment and PBX night answering service involving special equipment.

Grade School To Hold Open House Wed. Eve

The Charlevoix Elementary school will hold an 'open house' next Wednesday, according to Glenn B. Snider, elementary school principal.

The regular meeting of the PTA will follow in the high school band room.

Parents of pupils of the kindergarten through the sixth grades are invited to visit the classroom between 7 and 8 p.m., view the work done by their children, consult with the teachers and then attend the PTA meeting.

A report of the recent PTA fair will be made and other business discussed at the business meeting to be held in the band room immediately following the visitation period

Parents are urged to attend both the open house and the PTA meeting.

A committee from the PTA will serve as a reception committee. Room mothers will serve refreshments in the high school cafeteria following the business meeting.

Heavy Schedule Confronts March Term of Court

The annual March term of Circuit Court will open here Monday with Judge Charles L. Brown presiding.

The calendar, a busy one, includes four criminal cases; 16 law cases; four chancery cases and six divorce cases.

Criminal cases on the calendar include: Frances Ellen Andrews, 17, of Harbor Springs, larceny; Randall L. Kies, 17, of Charlevoix, larceny; Verle McCann, 25, and Nelston Napont, 23, both of St. James, breaking and entering in the daytime.

Mrs. Clara Denemy Dies Suddenly At West Branch

Mrs. Clara Denemy, 45, resident of this community for 28 years before going to Houghton Lake last year to make her home, died unexpectedly at Tolfree hospital at West Branch where she had been a patient for four days.

Funeral services will be held at St. Mary's church here at 9 a.m. Thursday with the Rev. E. Francis Denay officiating. Burial will be in Brookside cemetery. The body was at the Winchester Funeral Home where the Rosary was recited Wednesday evening.

Born at Baraga, Sept. 13, 1914, the former Clara Bernice Loonsfoot was married to Isaac Denemy and came here from the Upper Peninsula community in 1932. Mr. Denemy was killed in action during World War II while serving with the U. S. Army Air Force in England. She was a cook and at one time operated the Sugar Bowl here and more recently the Wigwam on US 31 South.

She was a member of St. Mary's church, a charter member of the Lady of the Lake Altar Society at Baraga and the VFW Auxiliary.

She is survived by two sons, William, stationed at Houghton Lake with the Michigan State Police, and John of Petoskey; five grandchildren: three sisters, Mrs. Sula Kyllonen of Oak Park, Mich. Mrs. William Adams of Detroit and Mrs. Lawrence Skippergosh of Charlevoix and three brothers, Leonard Loonsfoot of St. Johns, Hubert of Chicago and James of Pontiac.

Charlevoix Rayders To Meet Pellston in District Finals

The Charlevoix Rayders will meet the Pellston Hornets in the District Class C finals at Petoskey at 7:30 p.m. Friday.

Charlevoix advanced to the finals after dumping Harbor Springs 58 to 44 in a hard fought game Tuesday night while Pellston won its berth in the play-off game by defeating Boyne City 53 to 47 in an equally tough nightcap game.

Charlevoix will be faced with the difficult task of playing a team the Rayders defeated twice during the regular season, the first time by a 47 to 36 score and last week by a 53 to 34 margin.

Tickets for the Class C district finals which will pit Charlevoix against Pellston at 7:30 p.m. Friday will go on sale at the Charlevoix school business office on Grant st. at 8:30 a.m. Thursday.

The Rayders, the defending district champions, will be defending not only this title but a string of 17 straight wins when they go against the Hornets who finished the regular season with a 7-7 record

In Tuesday's game, Charlevoix found themselves battling an inspired Harbor Springs quintet who led 23 to 22 at halftime after holding the Rayders to a 13 to 13 first quarter tie. As the second half got underway Charlevoix outscored the Rams by one point, 14 to 13 to knot the third period score 36-all before taking command of the game in the final period to win by a 14-point margin.

Charlevoix's regulars, Joe Beaudoin, Jim Ladd, Dick VanRaaphorst, Charles Coleman and Dave Schuchard started the game with Sam Supernaw joining the line-up in the first period, Bruce Pease in the second quarter, Stan Smith in the third, Stan Martin, Ralph Brock, Ron Balch, Jim Dennis and Tom Martin in the final quarter.

Both teams scored five buckets and three free throws in the first period which ended in a 13-13 tie.

In the second period, the Rayders scored only one field goal as Joe Beaudoin kept the Rayder hopes alive by hitting on six of six free throw attempts and scoring the lone basket. Pease added one from the free throw line for nine points as the Rams broke through the Rayder defense to score four field goals. They also had two gift shots.

Charlevoix added 14 points in the third period including six by Coleman, four by Schuchard, two by VanRaaphorst and one each by Beaudoin and Ladd. Harbor Springs came through with four field goals and five free throws to hold the third period score to 36 all.

Paced by Dave Schuchard with four quick buckets, the Rayders outscored the Rams 22 to 8 in the final period to pull the game out of the fire and advance to the district finals. Beaudoin and Coleman added five points each and VanRaaphorst and Stan Martin two each to account for the scoring. The Rams scored two field goals and four free throws.

Charlevoix outscored the Rams 20 to 15 in the field goal department while hitting on 18 of 29 free throw attempts and drawing 13 personal fouls. Harbor Springs collected on 14 of 20 attempts and had 20 personal fouls. Frannie Lauer and Tom Graham went to the bench with five fouls late in the game.

Schuchard had a total of 18 points for the game. He was followed closely by Coleman with 17 and Beaudoin with 16. VanRaaphorst had six, Martin two and Ladd and Pease one each.

George Pamp had 14 and Gary Stutzman 11 for the Rams.

Pellston 53 Boyne City 47

The Pellston-Boyne City meeting was an equally exciting game with the Hornets winning in the final period.

The score was tied 11-all at the quarter with Boyne City going ahead 26 to 25 at halftime and holding a slim 39-38 lead going into the final period.

Midway in the last quarter, the Hornets broke the game wide open after Barry Anderson

McSauba Ski Club Making Plans For Smorgasbord

Plans for the annual smorgasbord for the benefit of the Mt. McSauba ski club will be completed at a meeting to be held at the Weathervane lodge lobby at 8 p.m. tonight (Thursday).

Robert Neff, general chairman of the event, has asked all persons who assisted in anyway during the 1957 and '58 events to attend this important planning meeting and to assist with this year's smorgasbord. Funds derived from the dinner to be held at St. Mary's school hall on Sunday, March 27, will be used to underwrite the cost of the new electric tow.

"The club is sorely in need of assistance at this time and since it is a community project I am hopeful that the people of the comunity will respond in the fine manner they have in the past to this call, Mr. Neff said in urging all interested people to turn out for tonight's meeting.

Initial plans for the smorgasbord were made at the annual meeting of the Charlevoix-Mt. McSauba Recreation Corp. held Wednesday night.

Three new directors were named for three year terms. They are Charles Meier, Robert Pearl and Ralph Gillam. New officers will be elected at a later meeting.

The financial status of the corporation, plans for the coming year and the forthcoming smorgasbord were among the issues discussed at the business session.

MEMO...

From the Editor's Desk

It's only 10 months until Christmas, says the calendar. From Boyne City comes word there will be a big Fourth of July celebration starting July 1 and Kalkaska has announced its annual National trout festival for the last weekend in April. With a little co-operation from the perch, we should beat them all with the spring perch run.

Seems a little early to be thinking about summer softball games. Player and promoters, however, take a different view and realize there is much planning and pre-season preparation in order to have league play underway by the middle of June.

The report of last year's softball activities is impressive with respect to the number of participating players and the spectator interest. There were 333 players participating in the 24 teams that made up the six leagues last year. Games were scheduled five evenings a week, Monday through Friday, attracting an average evening attendance of just under 200.

Where will the games be played this summer? That is the question bothering those who follow the game. It is understood a number of sites are being considered. Construction of a new diamond must start from scratch. Players and fans alike are anxious to have a site selected at an early date in order to get field construction and fences underway.

It's wonderful to feel cared for

Read it again, Grandpa. And Grandpa does . . . again and again. The same funny-sounding words and the same fascinating pictures. Yet each time, a little girl's feeling of confidence and an old man's sense of importance come alive. What would you say this confidence is worth? How much would you pay for the feeling of importance? Oddly enough, some people never care . . . until it's too late. Others, like a small child with her favorite book and her faithful Grandpa, know. Confidence in Blue Cross and Blue Shield and the importance of being a subscriber have been the valued possessions of millions, from birth through retirement. They even check their wallets . . . again and again . . . to make sure the Blue Cross-Blue Shield card is there. Is yours?

Mr. and Mrs. Kirby Honored on 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Harker W. Kirby, pioneer residents of this community, were honored at a surprise party honoring their golden wedding anniversary Sunday evening.

Monday, Feb. 22, was the couple's anniversary but they had decided earlier to have no formal observance of the occasion. So, on Sunday evening, they attended the evening worship service at the First Baptist church as they did every Sunday evening, confident that no one knew of the forthcoming anniversary. As the service drew to a close, the Rev. L. L. Lewis, pastor of the church, read a special announcement which turned out to be the original invitation to the wedding of Mary Elizabeth Tysver and Harker W. Kirby on February 22, 1910.

'The surprised couple was then ushered to the church dining room where they were greeted by the assembled congregation, all of whom had participated in the 'surprise.'

Refreshments included a tiered golden wedding cake flanked by arrangements of yellow mums. Mrs. Floyd Ikens, a girlhood friend of Mrs. Kirby's, cut the cake. A telephone call to Mrs. Walter Smith from the Kirby's daughter-in-law, Mrs Harker T. Kirby of Detroit telling her of the anniversary resulted in the party Sunday evening. On Monday many friends called on the couple at their home at 408 Upright ave.

Mr. Kirby, retired pharmacist, was born in Canada and came to Charlevoix at the age of two years. He was graduated from the Charlevoix high school in 1990 and attended the Ferris Institute School of Pharmacy. He returned here and served as a pharmacist at the old Ivy Drug store which later became the Central Drug Store.

Mrs, Kirby, the former Mary Tysver, was born in Milwaukee, Wis., and came to this community as a child of four years. She was graduated from the Charlevoix high school in 1901 and attended the County Normal School located here and the Michigan State Normal College in Ypsilanti, now known as Eastern Michigan University. She taught in schools in the area and at the local elementary school for four years prior to her marriage.

Immediately following their marriage, they lived at Marion for a short time before returning here. Later they lived in Flint, Beverly Farms and Gloucester, Mass., and Wyandotte. Mr. Kirby retired six years ago and the couple returned here to make their home.

Both have been active members of the First Baptist church. Mrs. Kirby is currently president of the WCTU and the Missionary Society of the church.

The couple has one son, Winfield of Royal Oak; five grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. Another son, Harker T. Kirby died in 1958.

Kroger Co. Offers 105 Scholarships

Scholarships for high school graduates who plan to continue their education in agriculture or home economics are again being offered through the $26,250 Kroger scholarship program, Jack Bone, vice president of the Grand Rapids division of the company has announced.

Six of the 105 scholarships are available at Michigan State University. The $250 freshmen scholarships are available at land-grant colleges in midwestern and southern states where there are Kroger stores and in California and Florida where Kroger produce buying offices are located.

Any graduate of an accredited school is eligible to receive a scholarship. They will be awarded on the basis of scholastic standing in high school as well as leadership qualities demonstrated in school, church or youth groups. Financial need may also be considered. Applications should be made directly to the dean of agriculture or the dean of home economics.

Name Bishop to Head Diocese in West Michigan

The consecration of the Rev. Charles E. Bennison as the fifth bishop of the Episcopal diocese of western Michigan was held Feb. 22 at St. Mark's Cathedral in Grand Rapids.

The presiding bishop of the Episcopal church in the United States, Rt. Rev. Arthur Lichtenberger, officiated at the consecration ceremony which was attended by bishops throughout the nation and priests from the entire diocese.

Rev. Robert J. Yonkman of Christ Episcopal church here was in Grand Rapids to participate in the impressive and solemn service. He was accompanied by Mrs. Yonkman who attended the ceremony.

The new bishop was named to head the western Michigan diocese at a special conference last fall. He was formerly at Kalamazoo.

Parents Invited To Hear Reports of Aptitude Tests

Parents of Junior and Senior students at the Charlevoix high school who wrote the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Tests last October have been invited to meet with the school guidance and counseling committee to discuss the results of the tests, according to Harry E. Bingham, high school principal.

Thirty-nine juniors and 34 seniors wrote the examination which is approved by the College Entrance Examination Board. The tests are given for the purpose of junior guidance and senior scholarship awards.

All juniors will be required to take a second test in the series some time next month.

With the 310th

During the past months men of the 310th have been given training in chemical, biological, and radiological warfare along with map reading and how to live in the field. We also have had some all-day field problems with experienced veterans to aid in demonstrations.

Seven members of the 310th are enrolled in the non-commissioned officers school which is conducted by Chief Warrant Officer Byron O. Stockwell. Attending the school are Sgt. First Class William Carson, William Bricker and Harold Taylor, Sergeants Garth Hall, Jack Smith and Versel Veldkamp, Specialist Charles McDonald and Pfc. Harry Webster.

The office at the armory on Antrim street is now open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. with Master Sgt. Hedrick in charge. He is a regular army advisor assigned to the unit and is prepared to supply information to persons interested in the army reserves.

Pvt. Thomas Bearss who recently enlisted in the 310th is now at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. for six months active duty training. He will return to the local unit for reserve duty on completion of active training.

Three men are scheduled to leave the first of March for their annual two-weeks training course at Camp Leroy, Johnson, La. This group includes Pvts. Quinton D. White and Isaac D. Schantz and Pfc. Donald L. Faltyng.

M. J. Foster, assistant Cub Master, serving as master of ceremonies, then introduced members of the Pack committee who are: Cub Master, James Whitley; awards chairman, Uno Suomela; secretary, Louis Hooper; treasurer, Ted Bergmann; activities chairman, Walter Russell and publicity chairman, Carl Johnson.

Den Mothers and their assistants, backbone of the Cub organization, were praised for their efforts in keeping the Cub Scout program active. They were then introduced. They are: Den1, Mrs. Harold Muth and Mrs. Herbert Moore; Den 2, Mrs. Phillip Skeel and Mrs. Fritz Allard; Den 3, Mrs. S. E. Coleman and Mrs. Robert Reed; Den 4, Mrs. Jerold Murdick and Mrs. Earl Holburn; Den 5, Mrs. Carl Johnson and Mrs. Walter Russell; Den 6, Mrs. Alfred Bergmann and Mrs. Bernie Ward Jr.; Den 7, Mrs. Russell Lewis and Mrs. Roger Selph and Den 9, Mrs. John Curtis, Mrs. John Martin and Mrs. James Martin.

Harvey Griswold of Petoskey, Northern District representative spoke briefly, commending the Pack committee and the Den Mothers for their efforts in behalf of the Cubs. He then showed slides taken on the Philmont, N. M., trip which was enjoyed by 5 local Sea Scouts, Tony Genia, Al-Arvilla and Darrell Somerville who served as commentators, Stan Martin and Jack Rader.

The program was concluded with George Hutchinson, a former member of the Pack committee, showing slides of local Cub Dens he had taken while his son, Larry, was a Cub Scout. Young Cubs enjoyed this part of the program for most of them found pictures of themselves in the slides shown.

The Rev. E. F. Denay, pastor of St. Mary's church, gave the invocation.

Photogenic Bushytail

With his front paws reverently clasped, Mr. Fox Squirrel appears to be completely intrigued by a Conservation Department photographer at work. This photogenic squirrel has made a point to show off his familiar bushy tail which comes in handy as an umbrella, shield, signal flag and balancer. Ever alert, graceful, curious and full of energy, the fox squirrel is a popular fellow in Michigan. Although classed as one of the state's so-called farm game animals, he is also commonly found in cities and villages. His country cousin prefers oak-hickory woodlots, groves and fencerows of farmlands in southern Michigan.

If someone were to stage a popularity contest for game animals in Michigan, the bushy-tailed fox squirrel would be among the favorites to cop honors in this poll.

Although he sometimes arouses the ire of Farmer Brown by raiding his corn fields, this pint-sized animal does little else to tarnish his public respect.

Much of Mr. Bushytail's high regard from humans comes from his downright friendliness toward them (excluding hunters, of course). He is a familiar figure in parks of cities and villages of southern Michigan and in shade trees lining their streets. Unlike most other wildlife, he seems to enjoy man's presence, particularly when a handful of peanuts is being offered

Alertness, curiosity, gracefulness, dexterity and a zeal for being busy are other traits which make him a popular fellow to oldsters and youngsters alike.

Although there are many city-dwellers in his ranks, the fox squirrel is known as one of the state's so-called farm game species.

His favorite haunts are mature oak-hickory woodlots, groves and fencerows of farmlands. Nuts and corn are his food staples; other plant foods furnish the trimmings and dessert.

Hickories provide this animated nutcracker with food when the acorn crop is poor and, vice verse. Should both food sources be lacking, he finds the farmer's corn much to his liking.

From their research, Conservation Department game biologists have learned that food or lack of it has a vital bearing on the animal's reproductive capacities. In times of food shortages, a sharp drop has been noted in the number and size of litters produced. A reversal has occurred in years of plenty.

As might be expected, a food pinch during the winter opens the door to mortality from diseases and starvation.

Along this same vein, it has been discovered that complete protection of squirrels may mean fewer and less healthy animals than if hunting is allowed. When populations are high and overcrowding takes place, conditions are ripe for epidemics.

During years when food is sufficient and production of young is about normal, the total fall population is nearly two and one-half times larger than that of spring. About one-third of these animals die from one cause or another (starvation, disease, and so on), one-third are taken by hunters, and the remaining one-third are left as breeding stock.

Hollow trees are a boon to bushytails. Young are often born either in dens of these trees or in leafy nests among the branches, depending partly upon the weather. The leafy nests are amazingly strong and weather resistant, but a den inside a sturdy oak trunk offers more protection from enemies and the wiles of winter

Frequently, two litters are produced each year, the first coming in March and the second in midsummer. Litter sizes vary from one to six babies, three being the average. Naked, blind and deaf at birth, the young are dependent on their mothers for about three months.

Unlike some members of his family, the fox squirrel does not hibernate during the winter. This is mainly because he must search out the nuts he stashed away during the fall. A single squirrel may hide more than a thousand nuts and since they are buried in the ground throughout his snow-covered range, he needs a good memory and sense of smell to find them.

Although he is active during the winter, our little friend does stow away in his home during storms and cold spells.

Whether found in the city or scampering about in the country, the fox squirrel is bound to capture the attention of those who enjoy wildlife and the out-of-doors. Care to cast your vote?

Over Liming Soil Detrimental to Good Production

Although a high percentage of farm soils in Michigan still need lime, the time has come when many fields have had enough.

Putting lime on these fields is a waste of time and money, says Ed Rebman, Charlevoix County Extension Director.

In fact, too much lime can be harmful. Too much lime lowers the availability of phosphorus and may create minor element problems. Rebman reports seeing oat fields last year where yields suffered from lack of manganese probably caused by too much lime acting chemically to make the manganese unavailable to plants.

By sight or by guess is not the best way to decide whether fields need lime. There are indicators of lime need, like heavy growth of sorrel and poor growth or failure of alfalfa, red clover or sweet clover seedings.

Even so, these indicators don't tell how much lime is needed. A soil test, correlated with soil texture and type, is the surest way. This gives information about whether lime is needed plus how much per acre should be applied.

Lime can be put on any time that spreading equipment can be operated on the fields, without damaging the soil or the growing crop. If the snow cover is light and the ground is frozen, lime can be put on in the winter.

Rayders and Pellston To Play Off Finals

scored four buckets. Several trips to the free throw line after Rambler players had fouled in an attempt to break up a stall gave the Hornets the necessary margin for victory.

Anderson had 20 points and Gary Speneley 14 for the victors. Jack Dixon and Mike Kane had 15 each for the Ramblers who lost Kane, Doug Grubbe, Tom Christensen and Wayne Everest via the foul route in the final minutes of play.

Pellston scored 20 field goals and hit on 13 of 34 field goal attempts while collecting 21 personal fouls. The Ramblers had 16 field goals, 15 of 33 free throw attempts and 25 personal fouls.

Garden Club to Sponsor Teacher

The Charlevoix Garden club voted at its regular meeting last week to sponsor a teacher to attend the annual Conservation Scholarship school at Higgins Lake this summer. Members also advocated a litter bag campaign to encourage residents to keep streets and sidewalks free of trash.

The program was furnished by Mrs. Harley Ochs who reviewed Edwin Way Teale's book, "North with the Spring."

Mrs. Arthur was hostess. The next meeting of the club will be at the home of Mrs. Fred Willis with a pot-luck luncheon at 1 p.m., Mar. 8. Mrs. Ross Alexander will have charge of the program "Growing a Wild Flower Garden."

Mrs. H. J. Phillips Dies at Ludington

Mrs. Harry James Phillips, 69, former Charlevoix county resident, died Feb. 19 at Paulina Sterns hospital Ludington, following a short illness.

The former Osta Jane Harvey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harvey, was born June 24, 1890 in Vanwert county, Ohio. She came to Michigan with her parents in 1898 and was married to Frank Beeman in 1906.

Following Mr. Beeman's death she married Mr. Phillips Nov. 1, 1921 and the couple resided in Charlevoix county until 1934 when they moved to Ludington where they have since resided.

She is survived by one son and seven daughters, two sisters, Mrs. Everet Crain of Boyne City and Mrs. Edna Pearl Jenkens of Grand Rapids; and two brothers, Edgar L. Harvey of Grand Rapids and Walter Harvey of Charlevoix.

Attending the funeral service from here were Everett Cram of Boyne City, Walter Harvey and Mr. and Mrs. Miles Russell of Charlevoix, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Denny and Mr. and Mrs. Delbert [illegible] of Ellsworth.

Name Solicitors For St. Patrick's Day Dinner

Solicitors for the annual St. Patrick's Day dinner to be given Sunday, March 13, at St. Mary's school hall were named at a regular meeting of one of the sponsoring groups, St. Mary's Rosary Altar Society, Thursday.

They are north side, Mrs. Ivan Phillips; valley, C. D. Geiken; south side, Mrs. George Plumm and Mrs. Mark Cross; rural districts, Mrs. Charles Wells and Mrs. George Goike.

The dinner, which will be served from 1 to 3 p.m. Sunday, March 13, will feature baked ham, mashed potatoes, squash, cole slaw, relishes, French and brown bread, home-made apple pie, coffee or milk.

Tickets are now on sale and may be purchased from Mrs. George LaBlance ,ticket chairman, or from members of St. Mary's parish.

Local Teachers to Attend MEA Meet

Mrs. Robert Richards, director of Area L and Mrs. Ernest Paul, a member of the research committee of the Michigan Department of Classroom Teachers met at the MEA building in Lansing last weekend to assist in making plans for the department's annual convention to be held at Michigan State University March 12.

A slate of resolutions dealing chiefly with legislation, school finance and teacher certification were decided upon by the 50 MDCT representatives present. The state's outstanding teacher for the year was also selected but the choice will not be made known until the convention next month.

Past Noble Grand Honors Members

The past Noble Grand club met Thursday at the home of Mrs. Glenn E. Rose for a cooperative dinner.

Thirteen members and one guest gathered for the dinner at a table centered with a birthday cake honoring those whose birthdays were in February, Mrs. Earl Blood and Mrs. George Cook, who are twins, and Mrs. Edward Swanson.

Mrs. Floyd Ikens presided at the business meeting. Mrs. Raymond Seymour led the devotions and Mrs. Luther Hannah, the chaplain, gave the opening and closing prayers. Mrs. Jerold Murdick was initiated as a new member of the club. Mrs. Fred Gill read a poem, "The Lesson of the Past."

Miss Frances Durance, a guest at the meeting, won the mystery prize brought by Mrs. Hannah.

Plans were made for next dinner meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. W. E. Goss Thursday, March 10.

Games were played with Mrs. Ikens, Mrs. Grace Geneit, Mrs. Gill, Mrs. Cook, Mrs. Seymour and Mrs. Murdick winning the prizes.

Others present were Mrs. Robert Mitchell, Mrs. William Ager, Mrs. Goss and Mrs. Rasmus Hendrickson.

Eirschele Named Mid-West Director

R. V. Eirschele, manager of the Jordan Valley Co-operative Creamery at East Jordan was named a director of Mid-West Producers' Creameries, Inc., at the annual meeting held last week in South Bend, Ind.

Attending the meeting with Mr. Eirchele were three directors of the Jordan Valley Co-operative, Howard Campbell, Elmer Kreder of Conway and John Socolovitch of Cheboygan.

Marksmen Compete In Matches at Rod & Gun Club

Pistol matches are again attracting interest at the Charlevoix Rod & Gun club after a three year lull. Two four-man teams from the Coast Guard cutter Sundew are matching their marksmanship with the teams of the club and the local boys are ending up second best in the weekly matches to date.

At a specially scheduled match Monday evening the Sundew No. 1 team outscored the Gun club team No. 1 by 27 points, 1030 to 1003. John Dearden of the Sundew topped the scoring with a 272. Bernie Ward of the locals scored second place with 260.

The Sundew No. 2 outscored the local No. 2 team handily 883 to 783. Dr. Robert Martin of the locals ran up high score for the match with 238. Gideon of the Sundew crowded with a 234.

Regular matches are scheduled for each Thursday evening at 7:30. Rod and Gun club members are putting out a call for good pistol shooters in the area to come to the aid of the locals, says Harold Lang, president of the club. An informal invitation also has been sent to the 310th Army Reserve unit to come up with a team or two and make three-way competition.

Adventures in Understanding

Notes from a northerner's diary

By Harold E. Kohn

The Last Thing I Want Is Security

One thing the wild creatures of the North most certainly are not; they are not "secure." They do not possess what superficial observers of nature sentimentalize as perfect tranquility. They know the tortures of hunger, the weaknesses arising from disease and misery, the anxiety of being hunter, the pressures of the chase. Although moments of comparative relaxation are enjoyed, much of a wild animal's life is spent under strain, seeking a fleeting security, hunting enough food, a safe shelter, protection from their enemies and assuagement for their hurts. The constant struggle keeps them alert, vigorous and vital.

Even though this has been a comparatively mild winter, reports of starved deer are beginning to trickle into the newspapers now that food reserves in many areas have been used up. Most deer reach the lowest point in their annual weight-curve in late February or early March, just before spring arrives. When the average temperature is below forty degrees the weight of last spring's fawns tends to follow the trend of the temperature, the lower the temperature drops the more weight they lose — even when the best foods are available. This is because a great deal of the body energy is required simply for keeping the deer's internal temperature normal, even if one disregarded the energy required for moving deer about over the snow-covered landscape. One big-game biologist discovered that when the temperature drops much below 30 degrees Fahrenheit, deer lose from three to twelve pounds per 100 pounds of body weight a week, no matter how nutritive their food may be. Winter in the North is a long contest between deer and frigid weather. Often coldness wins.

When spring and summer come the struggle to stay alive continues. Lungworms infest approximately one-third of all whitetail deer. Nose bots infect the nasal passages of our graceful Northern neighbors, feed on the mucuous and sometimes choke the deer. Liver flukes, stomach worms, tapeworm, footworms and numerous other parasites contribute to the deer's misery and sometimes to their death. Injuries become infected. Later the hunting season takes its toll. The idyllic life the sentimental nature-lover supposes forest royalty enjoys is purely imaginary.

What is so of the deer is true of all other inhabitants of field and forest. Injury and disease, predator and scarcity make life anything but "secure," and the more one explores the kingdom of the wild, the more apparent it is that living nature is a realm of tension rather than security.

In these times of extreme tension, personal and political, there has been an upsurge of publications offering cheap and quick "security" for those suffering from tension. In the United States some of these books have become best sellers — and for a reason: no nation is more problem-conscious and strain-ridden than the United States. (Someone has said, "America is no longer a melting pot — it's a pressure cooker!") Such books will continue to sell, because our appetite for peace of mind is well-nigh insatiable. We shall continue to look for "security" from life's problems because there is no finding it either in nature or in human society. The publicists for security will always have a limitless market. Insecurity of some sort has always been with us. It is as much a part of this world as are atoms and molecules, earth and water, snow-covered Northland and sun-flooded tropics, deer and man.

In this Age of Anxiety the "peace of mind" cults are enjoying a field day with propaganda which invites people to perfect happiness and complete freedom from tension and care. Suddenly there has sprung up a whole new clergy composed of ministers of the Gospel of Relaxation. They have summarized the scriptures into "Blessed are the peace-finders for they shall have normal blood pressure" and "take up your tranquilizers and follow me." They conveniently forget that the Christ who dominates the Gospels was often disturbed, "a man of sorrow and acquainted with grief." His disciples were problem people who misunderstood Him and some deserted Him. He wept at a friend's grave, and sweat blood as He agonizingly prayed in Gethsemane. Far from dying peacefully "without a struggle" and "in his sleep," He died of the worst physical torture and while praying compassionately for his enemies. There was nothing limp about Him!

Human nature requires a certain tautness. Those who never suffer fatigue cannot taste the sweetness of rest; those who face no problems cannot experience the joy of a surprising solution; those who have not been misunderstood and who have never had an enemy cannot savor the wonder of reconciliation; those who have never sensed guilt cannot know the release of full pardon; those who are undisturbed about a sick and tormented world will do nothing to alleviate the physical and spiritual hurts of their fellowmen; those lacking in compassion will be wanting in usefulness. Freedom from problems and freedom from care are about the worst curses that can befall us.

A tensionless existence is well-nigh meaningless. A completely relaxed person has about as much worth to the world as a completely relaxed mainspring has to a watch. The power of a mainspring is in its capacity for tension. Have you ever heard anyone play a violin afflicted with loose strings? Relaxed strings produce noise, not music. The violinist purposely produces tension in the strings; only then can the instrument sing.

What kind of peace is it, then, that God offers us? What does the Bible mean when it says, "The peace of God, which passeth all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus?" The peace of which the Bible speaks certainly does not signify freedom from problems, nor does it imply that God is a kind of Celestial Trouble-Shooter whose main business is to make life easy for us. While the peace prescribed by the tranquility sects is self-centered, aimed at getting what we can from God, the peace to which the Bible witnesses is God-centered, and derived from our dedication to God. It arises not from God's being our device, subject to our manipulations, so that we can put in a prayer and get a blessing. Peace comes from the recognition that we are His, owned and cared for by Him. As one old colored saint explained his trustful spirit, "I jes' looks up and prays, 'Lord take care of yo' property.' " We are property with problems of wear and corrosion, problems over which battles are waged and upon which the rains fall and the floods come, but we are God's property, and it is cared for, and His ownership will be proved and His love and will for it will triumph at last.

Peace of mind in the midst of great wealth, good health, wide recognition and acclaim, and smooth paths everywhere — that is understandable. But the "peace that passes understanding" is the trust that people have without all these.

There is a place in God's world for care, concern and compassion (literally to "suffer with," to feel another's pain in your heart) — and a place for peace. Our cares, concerns and compassions keep us spiritually alert and spur us on toward usefulness. And although the peace that comes from being His does not make us "secure" from life's multiform problems, it allows us to deal with them with the assurance of victory here or Hereafter.

A pantry shower given by the Ladies Altar Society for the Dominican Sisters at the convent Sunday evening was attended by about 25 ladies. A choice variety of fine foods were brought by the ladies. Lunch was served, games were played. A Planter was given the Sisters by the Altar Society.

Patrick E. LaFreniere of Holy Cross parish and Nancy Baker of Manistee were married Saturday. Those who attended from the Island were Mary LaFreniere, sister of the groom, and Gerry LaFreniere, cousin of the groom. The bride and groom are spending a few days with Pat's mother, Mrs. E. LaFreniere and family.

The Chicago-Beaver Island party will take place March 19 in Chicago.

MEMO . . .

From the Editor's Desk

There is a well known axiom, "Divide and Conquer." It could be more practicable in this age to say, "Confuse and Conquer." Why? It appears to me that every government bureau, department, or agency, and every organization of any size, has a public relations representative who is a master at giving his slanted view regarding issues of public concern.

Every week I read too many of these so-called "press releases," which you are paying for, only to find they are unadulterated propaganda.

It is not my prerogative to say what Courier readers should believe, but I believe the following comments by Congressman Robert F. Griffin of Traverse City, merit consideration:

"As the political sparks continue to fly in this election year, even President Eisenhower's defense policies are being subjected to sharp and bitter attack.

"Of course, under our system, no one in government should be immune from criticism. However, when it comes to the subject of national defense, I believe the people have a right to expect that political considerations will be put to one side. For that reason, it is disturbing to find that the hardest blasts are coming from the ranks of candidates for President in the other party.

"Recently Secretary of Defense Thomas Gates testified before a House committee as follows:

'The impression in some quarters that the Soviet Union has overtaken, or even outdistanced, the United States in military power is simply not supported by the facts. * * *

'It is the conclusion of those who have analyzed this matter that even a surprise attack by all the missiles the Soviets could muster would not suffice to destroy enough of our retaliatory striking force to enable them to make a rational decision to attack. * * *

'It can be dangerous to our national security and our position in the world to allow a false impression to gain ground that the United States is second to the Soviet Union (in over-all military strength).'

"A very important Democrat, who does not happen to be a candidate for President, is Congressman George Mahon, Chairman of the Defense Appropriations subcommittee which has jurisdiction in the House over the huge $41 billion defense appropriation.

'When asked recently to comment on the controversy raging among politicians and military officials concerning our defense posture, he said:

'I think it confuses the American public. For example, the Army . . . feels very strongly that we ought to have several hundred million additional dollars . . . for Nike Zeus. The Chief of Staff of the Air Force argues for more money for air-borne alert and for an all-out B-70 bomber program . . . the Navy bemoans the fact that the Navy is constantly shrinking in size. We have to consider all the vested interests and all the ideas, and as a result, apply our best judgment to the situation. * * *

"'I don't know of anyone who thinks the United States is inferior to Russia at this time in overall strength . . .'

"In comparing our military strength with that of the Soviet Union, some critics choose to ignore our vastly superior bomber force stationed strategically around the globe as well as our nuclear submarine fleet. While the Russians may have developed more missile thrust, important in space explorations, we do not lag in missile power for defense. Our operational ICBM's and intermediate range missiles are poised and ready to strike at the very heart of Soviet Russia.

"Indeed, when one considers that before President Eisenhower took office we were spending more money to support the price of peanuts than for missile development, it is somewhat amazing that we have been able to make so much progress in the missile field in a few short years. Consider this statement made by Dr. Wernher VonBraun, former German missile expert who is now a U. S. citizen and a leader in our missile program:

'. . . The United States had no missile program worth mentioning between 1945 and 1951. These six years, during which the Russians obviously laid the groundwork for their large rocket program, are irretrievably lost.'

"President Eisenhower, who is recognized by friend and foe alike as an authority in the defense field, has displayed remarkable control in meeting the flood of criticism leveled at him. In a nationwide speech delivered just prior to departing for his South American tour, the President left no doubt that the nation's defense is adequate. He said:

'We have forged a trustworthy shield of peace — an indestructible force of incalculable power, ample for today and constantly developing to meet the needs of tomorrow.

'Today, in the presence of continuous threat, all of us can stand resolute and unafraid — confident in America's might as an anchor of free world security.'

"In the light of Soviet advances, we can all agree that there is no basis or room for complacency. However, even in this election year, it should not be too much to hope that those who may lack for other political issues will measure their words carefully on the subject of national defense and will refrain from downgrading our capabilities as a nation."

Charlevoix Public Schools

MINUTES OF SCHOOL BOARD MEETING

February 8, 1960

Present: Smith, Lieberman, Boss, Martin, Freedman and Bennett, Supt. Absent: None.

The meeting was called to order at 8:10 p.m.

Minutes of the meeting of January 18 were read and approved.

Moved by Martin and supported by Freedman that bills in the amount of $3,019.57, payable from General Fund, be approved and ordered paid. Carried: 5-0.

Moved by Smith, supported by Boss, that bills in the amount of $15,168.70, payable from Building & Site Fund, be approved and ordered paid. Carried: 5-0.

It was moved by Freedman and supported by Smith that any monies in the Building and Site Fund not needed at the present time be re-invested in U. S. Government Notes. Motion carried: 5-0.

Mr. Richard Greenlees, of the architectural firm of Gordon Cornwell, met with the Board. Much time was spent discussing the location of the kindergarten room. Recommendations indicated that perhaps the best solution would be to use the room adjacent to the present kindergarten room as an addition thereto until such time as the two could not handle the total enrollment in that grade. Mr. Greenlees discussed the necessary changes in the plumbing and the possibility of those changes will be studied at an early meeting. Mr. Bennett was instructed to present the plan to Dr. Clapp of the Dept. of Public Instruction for his approval.

It was moved by Freedman, supported by Boss, that the bid of Classrooms, Inc. for installation of Brunswick-Horn bleachers in the new gymnasium, be accepted. Carried: 5-0.

Moved by Freedman and supported by Martin that the fee for the Driver Training program, under the adult education classes, be established at $25.00 or pro-rated according to the actual cost of conducting the classes. Motion carried: 5-0.

The following subjects were discussed:

Boiler inspection.

The probation period for a senior boy.

Legal transfer of school property not in use, in accordance with the terms of a new statute which goes into effect in March, 1960.

Purchase of tires for buses.

Participation in ski meets during school hours.

The National Defense Act.

The following resolution was presented by Martin, who moved its adoption. Supported by Freedman:

WHEREAS, the Guidance Committee is conducting a very satisfactory testing program, NOW THEREFORE BE IT

RESOLVED, that those responsible be commended and that they continue with the program — increasing it to cover more students as rapidly as as practicable.

Motion carried: 5-0.

The meeting adjourned at 10:55 p.m.

ALBERT H. SMITH, Sec.

Notice of Meeting of the Board of Review

TO THE TAXPAYERS OF THE CITY OF CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Review of the City of Charlevoix will meet in the Council room in the City Hall in the City of Charlevoix at 9:00 A.M. on Tuesday, March 14, 1960, and will there continue in session at least five successive days through March 18, 1960, for the purpose of reviewing and equalizing the assessment rolls of the City of Charlevoix. Hours of meeting shall be 9:00 A.M. to 12:00 A.M. and 1:30 P.M. to 4:30 P.M.

Any person or persons desiring to do so may appear before the Board of Review at said time to examine his, her or their assessment on said rolls and may show cause, if any exists, why the valuation thereof should be changed.

The Board of Review has set aside its meetings of March 17th and 18th for hearings and it is suggested that persons desiring to appear before the Board do so on those days.

NOTICE TO ALL PERSONS CLAIMING A TAX EXEMPTION

All persons claiming a tax exemption, because of the military service of themselves or another and all persons claiming a tax exemption because of being poor are required to file a written application for such exemption with the City Treasurer prior to the meeting of the Board of Review. Application forms may be obtained at the office of the City Treasurer. The law prohibits the consideration of any application submitted after the meeting of the Board of Review.

Rayders Finish Season Undefeated

Win from Pellston in Last Conference Game

The Charlevoix Rayders completed their first perfect season in recent years by defeating Pellston 53 to 34 to stretch their victory string on the basketball court to 16 including two wins over Class B Petoskey.

In Friday's game the Rayders got off to a slow start, trailing 10 to 7 at the quarter before taking a slim 24 to 21 halftime lead which was increased to 39 to 27 before they coasted to a 19-point victory.

Forwards Joe Beaudoin and Jim Ladd, Center Dick VanRaaphorst, and guards, Charles Coleman and Dave Schuchard started for the Rayders. Bruce Pease joined the action in the first period, Sam Supernaw entered the line-up in the second quarter and Ralph Brock, Bud Balch, Stan Smith, Jim Dennis and Stan Martin, the later seeing his first Varsity action, got into the action in the final period.

A single field goal by Schuchard with less than three minutes remaining in the first period, three free throws by Beaudoin and two by Ladd accounted for the Rayders' scoring efforts in the first period as they trailed 10 to 7 after Pellston had scored four field goals and two single shots.

Charlevoix got back in the game in the second quarter with Schuchard hitting for four field goals, Coleman scoring one plus a single charity shot for three points; Beaudoin and Supernaw with one field goal each and VanRaaphorst with two free throws. Pellston had four field goals and three free throws for 11 points as they trailed 24 to 21 at halftime.

The Rayders continued to outscore the visitors as the second half got underway, sinking 15 points including six by VanRaaphorst, four by Beaudoin, two each by Schuchard and Supernaw and a single by Coleman. The Hornets scored two field goals and two charity shots for six points.

In the final period the Rayders scored 14 points including four each by Schuchard and Coleman and single field goals by Pease, Stan Smith and Stan Martin. Pellston was limited to two field goals and three free throws.

Schuchard paced the game with 16 points for the Rayders. Burt Stanley, who left the game in the was top scorer for the visitors with eight points.

Rayder players put Coach Carey up in the air (first time this year) when they completed the season's basketball schedule Friday evening with a victory over Pellston, giving the Rayder a 100 per cent win record.

Last Week With Class C

Northern Michigan Class C Conference teams wrapped up their 1959-60 court schedules Friday night with Grayling edging Mancelona 54 to 50; East Jordan dumping Gaylord 52 to 34; Boyne City trouncing Harbor Springs 52 to 34 and Charlevoix defending its perfect record by defeating Pellston 53 to 34.

Grayling 54 Mancelona 50

Though Mancelona was downed by Grayling in the final game of the season, the loss did not drop the Ironmen from their hard-earned second place standing behind the Charlevoix Rayders.

The game got off to a fast start that resulted in a 7 to 7 first period tie before the Vikings grabbed a 24 to 19 halftime lead. The game turned into a seesaw battle as the second half got underway with Mancelona taking the lead before the Vikings edged into a 38 to 37 third period advantage. Throughout the final period the game was close with Grayling holding as little as a one-point advantage at times before managing a full four-points as time ran out.

East Jordan 52 Gaylord 34

East Jordan jumped into a 14 to 2 first-period lead over the Gaylord Blue Devils who tried to get back in the game by outscoring the Jordanites 16 to 13 in the second period to cut the visitors' lead to 26 to 18 at halftime. Another bad quarter in the third, however, gave them a deficit of 20 points at the three quarter mark as East Jordan went ahead 42 to 22 as the game went into the final eight minutes. Gil Redmer pumped in 15 points for the victors. Hugh Campbell had 10 for Gaylord.

Boyne City 56 Harbor Springs 43

Boyne City racked up a win over Harbor Springs to move into a fourth place tie with East Jordan and Gaylord as the season came to a close.

The Ramblers were in control all the way leading 23 to 10; 34 to 18 and 45 to 29 by quarters.

Wayne Everest paced the game for the victors with 14 points. Frank Lauer had 16 for the Rams.

This isn't a photographic illusion even if it does look as though "Butch" Coleman (20) was sitting on the shoulders of Pellston's Spenceley No. 26. He just went into the air high enough to take the ball away from the Pellston player in back of him.

Pellston Downs Reserves in Final Game of Season

Charlevoix's little Rayders dropped their second game of the season Friday night when they lost to the Pellston Reserves 38 to 36 to end the current season with a record of 14 wins and two losses.

The victory string includes two over Class B Petoskey Reserves. The losses were to Grayling by one point and to Pellston by a two point margin.

Starting for the Rayders in their final game of the season were Dan Pearl, John Pearl, George Majors, Henry Wagner and Corky Curtis. Barry Pierce and Jack Stewart saw action in the second period, Tony Duerr in the third and Bruce Bartlett in the final quarter.

The local quintet trailed 9 to 4 at the quarter before pumping in 17 points in the second period to go ahead 21 to 14 at halftime. A single field goal as the second half got underway cut their third period lead to 23 to 20 as the game went into the final period where they were out-scored 18 to 13 as the visitors won by a two-point margin.

Majors with 10 points paced the game for the little Rayders who scored 15 field goals and six of 17 free throw attempts while collecting 19 personal fouls. John Pearl had six points; Stewart five; Wagner, Curtis and Pierce four each; Duerr two and Dan Pearl one.

Cameron had 10 points for the victors.

The young Rayders were handicapped by the loss of regular starter, Stan Martin, who was promoted to the Varsity for the tournament.

Pheasants are essentially seed eaters. They rarely eat the buds of shrubs and trees as many upland game birds do.

Paul DeVries, Retired Banks Farmer Passes

Ellsworth — Paul DeVries, 86, a resident of this area for 65 years, passed away Wednesday morning at Meadowbrook hospital, following several months of ill health.

Mr. DeVries was born in Holland November 1, 1873 and came to the United States at the age of 18. After working here for two years, he returned to Holland and brought back his boyhood sweetheart, Sophia Krist. They were married on their arrival in New York City May 15, 1912. They were to have come to United States on the ill fated Titanic on its maiden voyage, but good fortune was with them and they arrived in port too late for passage and had to take a later boat.

Mr. DeVries farmed near Atwood for many years until he retired about nine years ago and moved to Ellsworth.

Surviving besides his wife are two sons, Rink of Atwood and Siebe of Ellsworth; two daughters, Mrs. Maynard (Pearl) Alward of Ellsworth and Mrs. Peter (Grace) VanderSlik of Atwood; one sister, Mrs. Gennie Gaul of Ontario, California; 16 grandchildren and 9 great grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted in the Atwood Christian Reformed Church by the Rev. Donald Van Gent. Burial was in the Atwood Cemetery.

Around Town

Looks like Carol's Kitchen is in for a face lifting, the high ceiling is getting a coat of flat charcoal gray paint. When finished it will produce a low ceiling effect, other plans are also planned to give the ole Sugar Bowl a more youthful appearance.

* * *

Many good buys have been found around town but the one thing lacking seems to be buyers, seems odd that with the merchants doing their best to offer real values there aren't more takers.

Word is out that the JayCees are working on a Teen-age Safe Driving Road-E-O for May 22. Local awards so far are being financed by Parsel's Garage, Brown Motors, Uhrick Pontiac, Northern Auto and Charlevoix Oil. Transportation to State Finals thus far is being financed by Bridge & Hawley Ins. One boy and one girl will represent this area down state in June.

Heard a good fish story this morning over a cup of coffee, seems Ted Ager has been doing a fair bit of fishing for white fish but not having too much luck so he decided to take his eleven year old son Steve along to break the monotony — You guessed it —Steve came up with the only catch of the night with a five pound beauty (white fish). Ted spent the rest of the evening trying to free himself from the tangle of fish line Steve had draped over him in his excitement.

Frank Oleksy to Speak at FB Meet

Frank M. Oleksy, president of the Charlevoix Association to Aid Retarded Children, has accepted an invitation to speak before a meeting of the Kalkaska county Farm Bureau Women's committee at Kalkaska Tuesday afternoon.

His subject will concern mental retardation and what Charlevoix is doing to help its mentally retarded children.

- Madelyn Rabach and her guest, Laura Lee Pearson, students at Central Michigan University in Mt. Pleasant, spent the weekend with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Rabach. They made the trip with another Central student, Martin Johnson, who was here for the weekend.

Name Michigan Driver of Year

Michigan truck drivers are setting a high standard for all motor vehicle operators to shoot at. Topping the list this year is Lawrence E. Durham of Redford township who last week was proclaimed "Michigan Truck Driver of the Year" by the Michigan Trucking Association. He was presented the coveted trophy by Gov. G. Mennen Williams at a dinner for the 12 monthly award winners.

Driving more than two million miles under all driving conditions Mr. Durham has the enviable record of only one minor accident and that a nonchargeable one. That was on an ice-slick road 25 years ago and only his vehicle was involved.

The award automatically qualifies Mr. Durham for consideration this fall in selection by the American Trucking Association for the National Driver of the Year.

Miss McClanathan Honored at Shower

Shirley McClanathan was honored at a bridal shower given Thursday evening by Barbara Sharow, Roberta Zeitler and Patsy Whitley at the home of Mrs. Ivan Whitley.

A bride doll under a rose arbor decorated the gift table.

Twenty-five guests enjoyed an evening of games followed by refreshments.

The honored guest was presented with a variety of lovely gifts.

Retirement Age Disregarded By Business Women Twins

Retirement at the ago of 65 years may be the accepted way of life for the majority but not so for two prominent northern Michigan residents, Mrs. A. C. Belding of Belding Real Estate here, and her twin sister, Mrs. George McRae Sr. of Pellston where she is associated with the McRae Lumber Co. Both went to their respective offices as usual last Wednesday despite the fact that the day also was the occasion of their seventy-fifth birthday anniversaries.

Born Ruth Fern Carpenter and Ruby Carpenter at Sparta on March 2, 1885, the twins grew to womenhood, married and reared their families. Mrs. Belding came to Charlevoix with her husband, the late Archie C. Belding who started the Belding Real Estate business in 1917 and carried on in the business until his death in 1951. Mrs. McRae's life paralelled that of her sister's for she married George McRae and settled in Pellston where Mr. McRae operated his lumber business until his death in 1950.

Then, both women who had been close to their respective husbands in the operations of their businesses, assumed the reponsibilities when most women would be relaxing to enjoy the role of grandmother, club woman or housewife.

As she has for a number of years, Mrs. Belding goes daily to her office on Bridge st., where she was joined about four years ago by her daughter, Mrs. O. V. Cunningham and her son, Wayne C. Belding, as salesmen. She continues to head the business which bears the family name, however, checking all sales and contracts.

Mrs. McRae, like her twin, visits the lumber company office daily, keeping the books and an eye on the business as she has done for many years.

In addition to her business activities, Mrs. Belding has always been an ardent worker in the First Methodist church where she served as organist from 1922 until three years ago. She can always be found in her regular pew every Sunday and at meetings of the church's various organizations.

To Hold Services Here Saturday for Dr. J. S. Supernaw

Funeral services for Dr. Jack S. Supernaw, 60, prominent Madison, Wis., surgeon who died unexpectedly Wednesday, March 2, will be held at the Winchester Funeral Home here at 2 p.m. Saturday with the Rev. Robert J. Yonkman officiating.

Services were held earlier in Madison, Wis., where Dr. Supernaw had practiced medicine since his graduation from the University of Wisconsin school of medicine.

He was a member of the American College of Surgeons, the Wisconsin State Medical Society and other related organizations had served as chief of staff and as chief of surgery at various times at Madison General Hospital, was a member of the Madison board of education, was prominent in veterans associations and civic affairs.

A native of Charlevoix and a graduate of the Charlevoix high school, he had vacationed here for years and was well known locally.

Surviving are his wife, Helen; two daughters, Patricia of Chicago and Jo[illegible] of Madison; a son, John, of Juneau, Wis.; his father and step-mother, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Supernaw of Charlevoix; a half-sister, Mrs. Lester Smith and two half-brothers, William and Henry Supernaw, all of Charlevoix.

Churches Unite In World Prayer Service at Atwood

Atwood — The annual "World Day of Prayer" services were held Friday at the Atwood Christian Reformed church with the Atwood Reformed Church and the Ellsworth Pilgrim Holiness Church taking part. The organ prelude by Mrs. Hans DeYoung. A word of welcome was given to all the ladies present by Mrs. Donald VanGent who also offered the opening prayer. This being the 14th Annual program of the National Association of Evangelicals. They chose as their Theme "As Bound With Them," emphasising the need of praying with and for other in the world and thus sharing their sufferings for Christ's sake.

Leaders for the afternoon were Mrs. Jacob Veenstra and Mrs. Henry Burns of the Atwood Chr. Ref. Church. Mrs. Siebe VanderHeide of the Atwood Ref. Church and Mrs. Dean Fiedler of the Ellsworth Holiness Church. Mrs. Marvin Shooks favored us with singing a beautiful Hymn "Trust in the Lord" Mrs. Donald Van Gent was the speaker and the theme of her message was "The True Meaning of Religious Freedom" this theme was developed into four points, 'The Nation, Church, Family and Individuals" which was very interesting and inspirational to all present. We also were happy to have so many ladies from the Ellsworth Chr. Ref. Church and the Eastport Baptist Church with us. Refreshments were served by the hostess church to over 75 people. The lunch committee were Mrs. Art DeVries, Mrs. Paul Doctor and Mrs. John Ritsema with other ladies assisting in serving.

For those who cannot attend the dinner a dinner delivery service has been set up. This will be in charge of Ralph Gillam.

Present Special Lenten Service at Barnard Church

The Rev. Charles A. Stoppels, pastor of the Barnard Reformed church is presenting a special series of sermons each Sunday during the Lenten season. The general subject of the sermons is "Strange Evangelists."

This Sunday he will speak on "Caiaphas and Annas."

The subject of his first sermon delivered last Sunday was "Judas."

Services at the church are held at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. each Sunday.

● Mr. and Mrs. Steve Rabb of Rabb's Flat El Rancho resort were in Detroit last week to attend the annual florists and builders show.

Club Sponsors Taber Pictures Here Tuesday

Alaska as seen by a resident of 25 years will be presented in color pictures and narrated in the high school auditorium Tuesday evening by Cecil Rhode under the auspices of the Charlevoix Rod & Gun club. This will be the third in a series of Wally Taber wildlife pictures presented here by the local club.

"Repeatedly, Rhode will put the whole audience within hornshaking distance of Alaska's biggest and her most illusive wildlife," Harold Lang, club president promises. "Moose as big as the screen will snort in battle, grizzly bear with reckless abandon dive, swim and chase after salmon; elusive white mountain sheep and goats play hide and seek with the audience." Rhode is described as an unforgetable character of the Alaskan wilds who has hunted and fished from his own doorstep, not just for sport but for a livelihood.

"My wife cans salmon and she cans moose," Rhode says, "if she didn't, we'd go hungry a lot of the time, for ours is a wilderness existence with butcher shops far away." His home is a log cabin at Moose Pass. Here he has been watching Alaska grow into adulthood.

"Alaska Afield" is the third in the Taber Safari-Saga series to be presented to Charlevoix audience by the Charlevoix Rod & Gun club. Audiences at the previous programs were enthusiastic in their praise. The story of Alaska promises to be equally as thrilling to every member of the family.

Advance tickets are available at reduced rates from members of the Rod & Gun club or at Williams News Stand, Staley Hardware, Neff's Grocery and the Charlevoix Courier.

School People to Attend Meet at Higgins Lake

A group of Charlevoix county teachers and administrators will spend this weekend at the Michigan Conservation Department's training school at Higgins Lake where they will participate in the annual curriculum conference for the Central Northern area of the state.

The workshop is sponsored by the Department of Public Instruction with Central Michigan University the cooperating institution of higher learning. The theme of the conference will be "The Teacher's Role as an Educator: Rights, Responsibilities, Rewards."

Charles A. Robinson, Charlevoix county Superintendent of Schools, and Mrs. Florence Coblentz, Elementary School principal at Boyne City are the area persons assisting in the program.

JayCees Name Stoppels 'Young Man of Year'

The son of a local couple, the Rev. Charles A. Stoppels, pastor of the Barnard Reformed church, and Mrs. Stoppels, has been named "Young Man of the Year" by the Grand Rapids JayCees and one of the five outstanding young men in the state by the same organization.

He is A. Dale Stoppels of Grand Rapids, judge of the Kent county probate court since Jan. 1, 1959, attorney and civic leader.

A graduate of Hope College and the University of Michigan law school, Judge Stoppels is a navy veteran of World War II. In 1953 he was appointed a member of the staff of the Kent county prosecutor, a position he held until his election as probate judge of Kent county.

He was named as one of five young Michigan men on the JayCees list of outstanding young men in the state who were honored at a banquet in Kalamazoo recently.

Judge Stoppels and his wife, Sarah, have visited his parents here. Mrs. Stoppels has appeared as soloist at the Barnard Reformed church several times since Rev. Stoppels accepted the pastorate of the local church.

Judge Stoppels is one of four sons of Rev. and Mrs. Stoppels.

Two Plead Guilty In Circuit Court

A Beaver Island man, Clifford Napont, 23, pleaded guilty to breaking and entering a cottage on the island and taking a bottle of whiskey when arraigned before Judge Charles L. Brown in circuit court here Tuesday.

He was remanded to the County jail after failing to furnish $250 bond.

Another island resident, Verle McCann, 25, stood mute when charged with breaking and entering in the daytime but later pleaded guilty to a lesser charge of entering without authorization and was ordered to pay $100 costs and fine. He was then released.

The case against Frances Ellen Andrews, 17, of Harbor Springs, who was charged with larceny in the Bell restaurant break-in at Boyne Falls last April, was dismissed.

The case against Randall L. Kies, 17, charged with larceny, was continued until the May term of court.

Second Pre-Easter Service to Be Held Wednesday Noon

The theme of the second of a series of pre-Easter services being held at the First Congregational church under the sponsorship of the Charlevoix Ministerial Association during the Lenten season will be "The Triumphal Entry into Jerusalem."

The noon-day services are held from 12:30 to 12:50 p.m. every Wednesday.

Each of the six services will highlight the events in Jesus' ministry just prior to His death on the cross. The overall theme is "The Path of Preparation."

The Rev. James P. Sherman will deliver a brief message. The Rev. L. L. Lewis will be the devotional leader at Wednesday's service.

The public is invited to these brief noon-day services during the pre-Easter season.

Area Skin Divers To Meet at Boyne

The Skin Divers club extends an invitation to persons interested in the sport to attend a meeting of the group at the Boyne City high school study hall tonight (Thursday) at 7:30, Mrs. Arthur Burns, the chairman has announced.

The agenda for the meeting will include adoption of rules and regulations and the election of permanent officers. The program will be devoted to safety in skin diving and proper use of equipment.

Membership in the club is made up of enthusiasts from Boyne City, Petoskey, Charlevoix, East Jordan and the surrounding areas.

Rayders Edge Houghton Bobcats In Final Seconds of Regionals

Meet Strong Kalkaska Team In Second Round Tonight

The Charlevoix Rayders edged the Houghton Lake Bobcats 55 to 54 in the opening game of the Class C regional tourney at Petoskey Tuesday night to advance to the regional semi-finals against Kalkaska Thursday night.

This will mark the first appearance of Kalkaska Blazers who drew a first round bye.

The game is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

The Class C regional finals at 7:30 p.m. Saturday will pit the winners of the East Jordan-Frankfort game (played Wednesday night) against the winner of the Charlevoix-Kalkaska game.

Charlevoix's victory over Houghton Lake Tuesday night had a story-book finish as the Rayders came from behind in the last two minutes of play to overcome a 54 to 50 deficit to win. Dave Schuchard put in the winning bucket with seconds remaining after Houghton Lake missed a chance from the free throw line to put the game on ice at the 17-second mark.

Houghton Lake jumped into a 10 to 4 first quarter lead which the Rayders trimmed to one point 28 to 27 after outscoring the Bobcats 23 to 18 in the second quarter.

Going into the second half, Houghton Lake romped to a 32 to 27 lead before the Rayders started to hit, trimming the Bobcats advantage to one point, 34 to 33 with three minutes remaining in the period.

A field goal by Schuchard with 2:35 minutes remaining in the period put the Rayders ahead for the first time. The seesaw battle continued until the period ended with Charlevoix ahead 40 to 37.

As the last period got underway, Houghton Lake started to hit and with 5:35 minutes remaining again took the lead as the score stood at 43 to 42. Two free throws gave the Bobcats a 45 to 42 lead before Joe Beaudoin added a field goal. Two free throws by the Bobcats gave them two more points before Charles Coleman countered with a field goal followed by one by the Bobcats. Field goals by Schuchard and Dick VanRaaphorst put the Rayders ahead 50 to 49 but Houghton Lake came back with two quick ones to go ahead 53 to 50 with 2:07 remaining. A free throw by the Bobcats seemingly shattered the Rayders hopes as Houghton Lake went ahead 54 to 50.

However, a free throw by Sam Supernaw, followed by a field goal by him cut the Houghton Lake lead to one point with 17 seconds remaining.

Houghton Lake muffed a chance to put the game on ice when they missed on a free throw attempt. Charlevoix took the ball and with six seconds remaining Schuchard went in to score giving the Rayders a one-point margin. Time ran out before the Bobcats could get another shot off.

Joe Beaudoin with 12 points, Bruce Pease with 2, VanRaaphorst with 12, Charles Coleman with 4 and Schuchard with 16 started for the Rayders. Supernaw who had seven points saw action in all quarters, Jim Ladd joined the action in the second and fourth periods and Stan Smith in the final seconds of play.

Charlevoix outscored the Bobcats 24 to 19 in the field goal department. The Rayders hit on seven of 15 free throw attempts while collecting 18 personal fouls. Houghton Lake was kept in the game by their performance from the free throw line where they hit on 10 of 24 attempts

Charlevoix's opponent for Thursday's game, the Kalkaska Blazers, are entering the regional tourney with a record of 17-1 record which includes two victories over Mancelona of the Northern Michigan Class C league during the regular season.

County Teachers Institute to Be At East Jordan

The annual Charlevoix county institute for all teachers in the county's schools will be held at East Jordan Thursday, March 17, Charles A. Robinson, Charlevoix county Superintendent of Schools has announced.

All schools in the county will be closed the afternoon of March 17 so that teachers may attend the institute scheduled to get under way at 2 p.m.

Theme of the annual conference will be "The Improvement of Education in Charlevoix County Schools."

Headlining the list of speakers at the institute will be Dr. Helmut Trepte Ph.D., lecturer at Michigan State University and currently on the staff at Northwestern Michigan College at Traverse City. He will speak on "The Difference in the Structure of the European and the U. S. Systems of Education."

Mr. Robinson will serve as general chairman of the opening meeting. Edward Kujawski, president of the Charlevoix MEA District, will preside at the MEA business meeting following the dinner.

Teachers from the county's schools will serve as chairmen and recorders for the sectional meetings which will deal with the elementary curriculum, the English program, Science, Mathematics, Languages and Guidance in the School program.

Honor Industrialists At County Banquet

Industrialists, city officials and members of service clubs in the county banquetted Monday evening at the Dilworth hotel. The occasion was a tribute to industry sponsored by the Boyne City Rotary club.

Representatives of 15 county industries were introduced to the 145 guests present.

The speaker was Horace Brewer, superintendent of the area development division of Consumers Power Co. The number of new dollars flowing into a community determine its prosperity, Mr. Brewer said. He foresees these new dollars coming from an increasing tourist and resort business along with an expanding industry.

Guy Conkle of Boyne City was master of ceremonies.

Charlevoix Kiwanians attended the banquet as a club. All Charlevoix industries were represented as well as both banks, the Chamber of Commerce and the Charlevoix Development Corp.

Ellsworth — Ellsworth Lancers lost their first tournament game to Petoskey St. Francis last Wednesday evening, in Petoskey. The score was Petoskey 58 and Ellsworth 50. High point man for Petoskey St. Francis was Joe Flynn with 28 and for Ellsworth, Bert Elzinga with 15.

To Show Movies at Children's Center

Movies will again be shown at the Retarded Children's Center again this Saturday, it has been announced.

However, the silent movies will be replaced by 16 mm films completed with sound featuring cartoon favorites. Shows will begin at 2 and 3:15 p.m. at the same popular price as before.

Proceeds will be used to underwrite the cost of operating the Retarded Children's Center attended by six children in the Charlevoix area.

The installation of an electric stove for use by the students at the school whose program includes homemaking is completed. The new stove was made possible by Browe Electric which supplied the necessary wiring, Al[illegible] Bergmann and Roger Bergmann who installed the wiring, Puff's Appliance which furnished the stove at a nominal cost and C. D. Geiken who underwrote the cost of the stove.

Girl Scouts Plan Cookie Sale

It's Girl Scout cookie time again!

The annual sale of Girl Scout cookies sponsored by the Girl Scout troops of the Charlevoix Council will officially open tomorrow (Friday) according to Mrs. Arnold Wadas, chairman of this year's sale.

Girl Scouts will take orders over the weekend, returning their order books to Mrs. Wadas Monday.

Troop leaders will meet in the school lunchroom with Mrs. Wadas tomorrow to receive order books for each troop member. Leaders are asked to bring the names, addresses and telephone numbers of the members of their troops.

The cookies will arrive later this month for delivery April 1.

LANSING OBSERVER

By FRANK G. MORRIS

Attorneys for the AFL-CIO and Americans for Democratic Action made clear to the Supreme Court a few days ago that their one goal is complete domination of the legislature by the UAW.

The union cannot take over the Senate under present Constitutional processes, they admitted. Republican majorities are too large in too many districts.

Therefore, Gus Scholle, president of the Michigan AFL-CIO Council — a determind startegist who has a busy telephone to the Governor's office from his headquarters across the street from the state capitol — has demanded that the Supreme Court outlaw the Senate on grounds that it is an unconstitutional body.

Earlier the same day, the Justices (with Justices Eugene Black and Theodore Souris abstaining) indicated unanimously that Scholle will lose his lawsuit. In this case, involving the 1958 vote on the question of Constitutional revision, the court decreed:

"If it (the Constitution) should be changed, it must be changed by the sovereign power that created it — the people. This court does not have the jurisdiction to change the Constitution."

Scholle has been aware that even his Democratic colleagues on the high tribunal probably will rule against him. His intent is to get his argument before the United States Supreme Court, a step that cannot be taken until he exhausts all possible avenues in the Michigan Courts.

Because of agitation for Constitutional revision, voters have a right to know the delights planned for their pleasure and for Michigan's welfare if and when the UAW takes over both houses of the legislature through the Democratic Party.

Democratic floor leader is Senator Phillip Rahoi, of Iron Mountail, a Tocquacious and arrogant commander for Gov. Williams and the UAW.

In his capacity as floor leader, Rahoi has introduced bills this session to:

Make a 35-hour work week mandatory, with time and a half for overtime.

Remove the ceiling of $90 per month per person on direct relief and have no limit whatever on welfare payments.

Remove all limits on hospitalization and medical costs for the indigent.

Legalize strikes against the government, and remove present restrictions on strikes by public utility employees.

Levy a state income tax.

Introduction of these bills by the administration's spokesman [illegible] notice to the people of the legislation to be passed [illegible] Democratic control.

One [illegible] House [illegible] [illegible] This [illegible] tee's taxes by $15 million to $20 million a year at a time when employers find it difficult to compete with industry in other states — and when Chrysler is warning that taxes may compel it to move from Michigan.

Another major Democratic bill in the House, signed by nine party leaders, would create a new Labor Relations Commission with dictorial powers. The chairman would receive $16,000 a year, and his colleagues $15,000 each.

Ten Democrats are sponsoring a bill to increase state taxes to pay all direct welfare costs after local governments have spent one percent of assessed valuation. This measure would require outstate taxpayers to send millions of dollars annually to Detroit.

Other bills presented by Democratic leaders would legalize lotteries and permit saloons to remain open until 4:00 A.M.

The GOP majority in the Senate is struggling to eliminate waste and keep expenditures within reason Republicans want no part of this Democratic program.

Say, if any of you Navy vets have outgrown your dress blues and whites we have a place for you to get rid of them. Bob Sommerville, Scout Skipper, says the boys in his crew would like some dress uniforms which are easy to convert by removing one of the white stripes on the collar and cuffs. Why not drop them off at the Courier so these boys will have a well dressed crew?

Baker-LaFreniere Vows Exchanged At St. Joseph's Church, Manistee

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Baker of Stronach. Mr. LaFreniere is the son of Mrs. Elizabeth LaFreniere of St. James.

The Rev. Julius L. Meyer officiated at the nuptial Mass before an altar decorated with pink and white gladioli on Feb. 27. Mrs. Richwolaski was the organist and Frank Baker, brother of the bride was soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected a gown of white lace and net for her wedding. The gown featured side panels lined with ice blue satin, with ruffled net creating back interest. Her shoulder length veil fell from a crown of sequins and pearls. She carried a white prayer book topped with an arrangement of red rosebuds.

Marie Gutowski of Muskegon, cousin of the bride, as maid of honor, wore a gown of white lace over ice blue taffeta and a matching headband and carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations.

Bonnie Jean Zatarga of Manistee, niece of the bride, as bridesmaid wore a gown identical to the honor attendance in white lace and pink taffeta and a matching headband. Her bouquet was of blue and white carnations.

Betty Lou Zatarga of Manistee, as her aunt's junior bridesmaid, wore a pink lace gown and matching headband and carried a bouquet of blue and white carnations.

John W. LaFreniere of Ludington assisted his brother as best man.

Mrs. Baker selected a gray and white print dress and matching accessories for her daughter's wedding. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

A wedding breakfast for 50 guests was followed by a reception for 150 guests. The Stronach town hall was the scene of the reception.

Following a wedding trip to St. James, Beaver Island, the couple will live at Stronach until June when they will make their home in East Chicago, Ind. For traveling the bride chose a light blue wool suit with mouton trim and matching accessories.

The bride is a graduate of St. Joseph's high school and is employed at the American Boxboard Co. in Manistee. Mr. LaFreniere is wheelsman aboard the S. S. Wilfred Sykes of the Inland Steel Co.

Wedding guests were present from Ludington, Chicago, LaPorte, Ind., Muskegon and Pontiac.

Scouts Observe 48th Anniversary

from Grades 8 and 9, headed by Mrs. Ray Wood, as leader, will select a project to be completed at a later date.

In Charlevoix the Girl Scout activities are geared to three age groups: Brownies, 7 through 9 years; Intermediates, 10 through 13 years and Seniors, 14 through 17 years. Each age group has its own uniform, program and goal.

Charlevoix's Girl Scout organization boasts 175 Girl Scouts including 87 Brownies and 88 Intermediate and Senior Scouts plus 26 registered troup leaders and 14 registered Council board members, all volunteers.

Local Scouts are observing Girl Scout week in various ways. On Sunday the local Scouts attended Mass at St. Mary's church. Each year they attend a different church during the observance of Girl Scout week.

On Thursday (today) the Brownie Scouts will hold their annual birthday party at the Scout room in the City Hall.

Charlevoix's Scuuts last fall assumed a new responsibility, a Girl Scout camp site located in Marion township. Both Council members and Scouts and their leaders have been busy during the winter months preparing the site for spring camping.

The Girl Scout Council is cumposed of the following adults: president, Mrs. Robert Bergmann; vice president, Mrs. Ray Wood; secretary, Mrs. Lester Smith; treasurer, Mrs. Leonard Burns; program chairman, Ms. J. W. Gallagher; finance chairman, Mrs. Arnold Wadas; camping chairman, Mrs. Lloyd Arnold; nominating committee chairman, Mrs. O. V. Cunningham; registrar, Mrs. Gordon Freedman; organization chairman, Mrs. Herb Campbell; leaders club chairman, Mrs. Eugene Bergmann; Juliet Low chairman, Mrs. Harry Stewart and publicity, Fran Martin.

If you're going to buy a low price car...be sure you get the better one!

Many people figure that since the car they are considering has historically had a "low-price" name it must be, in fact, a low-price car.

This, at one time, was true. But today the names of cars, as you may know, have very little to do with their prices. Many cars with traditional low-price names cost more than Mercury—a name you have always associated with higher price cars. Our point is this:

A Mercury Monterey, with de luxe appointments, is now priced $31 to $66 less* than any of the best selling Fords, Chevrolets, and Plymouths (the V-8 powered Galaxies, Impalas, and Furys). Yet Mercury offers you far more of everything you want in a car.

Some new-car buyers are skeptical when we tell them this price story. Here are some of the questions they ask—and our answers:

Q. "Do you mean Mercury is now a low-price car? Did you reduce prices?"

A. "Yes. Monterey prices are now $174 lower, and include many extras that are now standard equipment."

Q. "But in your price comparison, aren't you talking about a 'stripped' Mercury—with rubber mats, plain Interiors, no equipment, no glamour?"

A. "No, we're talking about a de luxe-appointed Monterey with beautiful nylon interior and deep, thick carpeting. The comparison is fair."

Q. "Do all Monterey models have as good a price story?"

A. "Yes, within a few dollars. It's the most amazing value story ever offered. Just read below."

*Based on comparison of manufacturers' suggested 1960 retail base prices for lowest-priced V-8 powered models.

MERCURY ADDS UP TO A BETTER LOW-PRICE CAR—Mercury has a 7 to 8 inch longer wheelbase than Galaxie, Impala, and Fury + 289 to 494 pounds more weight + up to 23% more insulation + more spacious passenger compartment + self-adjusting brakes + up to 28% more visibility + more luxurious interior + finer quality (every Mercury is road-tested before it is shipped, not just spot-checked as all other low-price cars) = Smoother ride, extra satisfaction.

Must Register All Watercraft Under New Act

Although most owners of watercraft in the state won't be getting their boats into the water for some time, they should keep in mind that the registration numbers now on their craft are invalid, according to Secretary of State James M. Hare.

During the 1959 session the Michigan legislature passed Act 245 which establishes rules and procedures relative to the registration and operations of motorboats within the jurisdiction of the State of Michigan in conformance with the Federal Boating Act.

"Nearly a quarter of a million boatsmen who registered their craft at a fee of $2.00 under the original Michigan law have been re-registered at no additional cost to them," Hare said. "This reassignment process started last October after the Department of State set up a plan in agreement with the Federal officials."

The new act provides that all watercraft operated on any Michigan waters must be registered. Owners of watercraft not registered under the provision of present act may get applications forms at branch offices of the Secretary of State, sheriff's departments and sporting goods stores. They should be filled out and sent to the Secretary of State office at Lansing. A fee of $2.00 must accompany applications for boats not previously registered.

Maxfield-Coleman Vows Spoken At Methodist Church Ceremony

The First Methodist church was the scene recently of the wedding of Connie Jean Maxfield and William LeRoy Coleman.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. James Shaw. Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Coleman of East Orange, N. J., are the parents of the bridegroom.

Arrangements of seasonal flowers and lighted tapers in candleabra decorated the altar for the double ring service at which the Rev. Fred W. McNeil officiated on Feb. 26. Mrs. Leonard Burns was the organist and Mrs. Lee Moerland the soloist.

Given in marriage by her brother, William R. Maxfield, the bride wore a full length gown of white silk organza fashioned along colonial lines. The long fitted bodice which ended in a scalloped waistline over a bouffant skirt featured inserts of lace at the neckline and long tapered sleeves. Her fingertip veil fell from a matching organza tiara. She carried a bouquet of rose buds and carnations.

Mrs. Roger Knutsen of East Lansing served as her cousin's bridesmaid. She wore a gown of red velvet and carried a bouquet of red and white carnations. Gwendolyn Maxfield, sister of the bride, as bridesmaid, wore a gown identical to the honor attendant's and carried red and white carnations.

John E. Clouser of Duncannon, Pa., assisted the bridegroom as best man. Theodore Willings of Minneapolis, Minn., was groomsman. Seating the guests were John Kroken, Leonard Burns, Lynn Bristol and Clifford Pierce.

Mrs. Shaw chose a lavender two-piece taffeta sheath and black accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Coleman, mother of the bridegroom, wore a gown of beige lace over taffeta and beige accessories.

A reception followed in Harmony Hall. Mrs. Wayne Belding, Eva Perrin, Beverly Trimble and Jane Mattson of Minneapolis, Minn., assisted the WSCS in serving the refreshments. Sandra Maxfield, sister of the bride, was in charge of the guest book.

Following a wedding trip to Minneapolis, Minn., the couple will make their home in St. Cloud, Minn. For traveling the bride wore a beige wool dress and matching accessories.

The bride is a graduate of the Charlevoix high school and Gale Institute in Minneapolis and has been employed for the past 2½ years by the Underwriters Inspection Bureau in Minneapolis.

The bridegroom is a graduate of the Harrisburg, Pa., high school and Browne Institute in Minneapolis.

Little guests were Gregory and Mark VanCurran of Elk Rapids, Judy and Lyle Gennett, Roxanne and Michael Russell, Mary Curtis, Gladys, Debby and Paul Reynolds, Diane and Janet Stahulak.

Others who were present were Mrs. Andrea VanCurran of Elk Rapids, Mrs. Kenneth Russell, Mrs. D. L. Reynolds, Mrs. E. A. Mock and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Gennett.

John Geer Gets D Certification

John T. Geer is among 44 men who have been certified as qualified sewage treatment plant operators after passing a special examination given by the Michigan Department of Health. He is now certified as a D plan operator.

Mr. Geer was an employee at the Municipal light plant for a number of years, transferred to the sewage treatment plant a year ago following the resignation of J. C. Marshall who resigned to accept a position as operator of the sewage treatment plant at Mt. Pleasant.

Joseph W. Smith, Retired Baker Dies

Joseph William Smith, 83, retired baker who had spent most of his life in the Charlevoix area, died Saturday at the Midland hospital following a lengthy illness.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at the Bargar Funeral Home in Houghton Lake. Burial will be in Brookside cemetery here.

Born in Meaford, Ont., Can., April 15, 1876, Mr. Smith had spent most of his life in northern Michigan living mainly in and around the Charlevoix area including Norwood township. He was a baker by trade. On May 20, 1900 he was married to the former Mary Sawyet at Pickford who preceded him in death. He was a member of the Church of God here.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Ellen Waite of Midland; three sons, G. Elmer of Houghton Lake, Gerald of Flint and William L.; a sister, Mrs. Mary Bumstead of Sault Ste. Marie; 21 grandchildren and 32 great-grandchildren.

PLAN ZONE RALLY

Ellsworth — The Ellsworth Pilgrim Holiness church was host to a zone rally Saturday. The Ellsworth church was in charge of the noontime dinner.

Publish Digest Of Farm News

The first issue of a pocket-size digest of interesting and helpful farm articles from the widely read farm magazines in the Mid-West made its appearance this month. Scheduled for publication six times a year, the "Digest of Farm News" is to be circulated to nearly half a million farm families through the courtesy of Standard Oil agents.

Printed in two colors, the illustrated magazine contains 52 pages with special departments edited to provide interesting features for all the family.

Articles in the first issue discuss agriculture in the years ahead, the effect of inflation on the growing farm economy, along with trends in livestock and poultry raising and tractor maintenance.

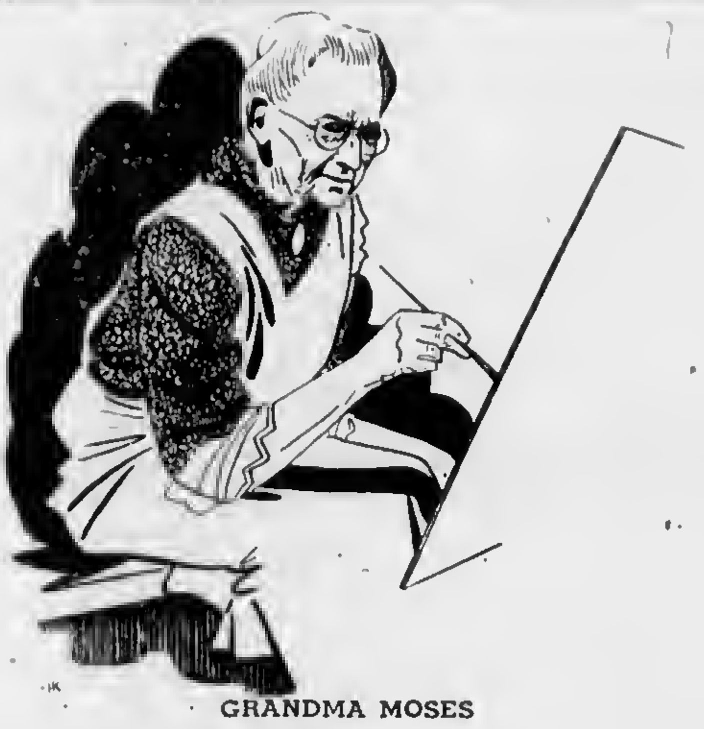
A Touch of Greatness

Inspiration from great lives

By Harold E. Kohn



GRANDMA MOSES

Next!

In Eagle Bridge, New York lives a white-haired, thin wisp of a woman fondly known the country over as Grandma Moses. She was horn in the wilds of Washington County, New York, on September 7th, 1860, and at this writing is within six months of reaching the century mark. For most of her days she was a farm wife, busily helping with farm chores, raising five children (five others died in infancy) and performing the variety of cooking, baking, sewing and housecleaning tasks that befell a housewife before modern conveniences eased their load.

When she was almost eighty years old and so afflicted with rheumatism that she could no longer "do fancy work." Anna Mary Robertson Moses began to paint with oils as a hobby. When she had completed several pictures admirers suggested that she place them on public display, so she had an exhibit in a drug store, and another at a fair where she also displayed her fruit and jam. Grandma Moses won prizes at the fair for her canned goods, but none for her oil paintings.

However, Louis J. Caldor, a New York art collector, saw Grandma's drug store exhibit, bought the paintings and asked for more. Exhibits in some of New York's most famous galleries and many more sales followed until Grandma Moses became nationally known.

One time after she had become widely known and her oil paintings had begun to command fancy prices Grandma Moses was featured in a radio interview. The interviewer asked the little old woman how it felt to be famous, with her paintings reproduced on millions of Christmas cards, and she remarked, "Oh, I don't think about fame much. I keep my mind on what I'm going to do next. I have got a lot of catching up to do!"

There is a touch of greatness in the simple wisdom of Grandma Moses. Although most people have a desire for distinction, the wise do not seek fame as an all-absorbing goal; their work — what they are "going to do next" —gets the attention that the foolish give to public acclaim. Acclaim and applause to the ambitious are like salt-water to the thirsty; the more one gets the more one wants. To care a great deal for fame necessitates caring less for more important things, for our span of caring is always limited.

One chief problem with craving the approval of others and seeking fame is that it divides one's attention between the thing one is doing and how that thing is going to he appreciated. And divided attention is a basic cause of misery (as can be understood by anyone who is trying to hear an address through the lusty squalls of the fussing youngster sitting two rows back; or by the person who is trying to concentrate on the concert pianist's rendition of a Chopin Prelude while a bloodthirsty spring attempts to impale him through the upholstery of his concert hall seat; or by the swain who at last has persuaded his sweetheart to take a boatride where they can be alone, only to find they have been accompanied by a vast crowd of mosquitoes who sour sweet-sounding love-talk with their villainous buzzing and their exasperating onslaughts on all exposed flesh.) For full enjoyment of anything oil painting, lecture, music or romance—we need moments of undistracted attention. Grandma Moses knows that. She does not attempt to keep one eye on her painting and another on fame. When painting a picture all her attention is on her work. And between paintings: "I don't think about fame much. I keep my mind on what I am going to paint next."

This consciousness of the high value of the immediate occasion is a least common denominator of greatness. The best people do not put off good living until the conditions are ideal. They know that one prepares best for tomorrow by living fully today. Alexander Graham Bell did not invent the telephone by dreaming of some distant time when the world would be interconnected by a communications system of his making. He had an immediate problem, a "next" thing to do which, in doing well, led him on toward designing the instrument that made him famous. It wasn't fame he sought, nor wealth, nor the telephone — at least not at first. Mr. Bell had been a teacher in a school for the deaf and while there he married one of his pupils. Later he began a series of experiments with electrical apparatus hoping he could devise an instrument that would help his young wife to hear. It was in that Alexander Graham Bell invented the telephone — almost the course of these experiments accidentally. The "next" thing was to help his beloved wife, and secondary matters, fame and fortune, came running after.

Robert Louis Stevenson's life was so plagued with pain, weakness, general invalidism, and the forebodings of death that he had to do his best with the immediate present if he was to be sure of doing anything at all. Moreover his burdens were so great that he could hardly bear the thought of carrying them for long. The pricelessness of the present was vividly real to him. He once said:

"Anyone can carry his burden, however hard, until nightfall.

Anyone can do his work, howeverhard, for one day.

Anyone can live sweetly, patiently, lovingly purely, till the sun goes down.

And this is all that life really means."

Well, it may not be "all that life really means," but much of the meaning of existence lies in such wise handling of the immediate present as Stevenson practiced.

Babe Ruth was onetime asked what was the most thrilling moment of his career and he answered that it was during the third game of his last world series. The Babe's game had not been going well. His team was behind, and it appeared the famous batsman would not be of much help to his teammates. Two strikes had been called on the Babe, and the disappointed crowd began to boo him unmercifully. The crowd's behavior both irritated and challenged him. Babe Ruth pointed to a distant spot and yelled at the jeering fans, "I'll knock it out there for you," and he did. It was the longest home run that had ever been hit at Chicago's Wrigley Field. The inquiring reporter asked the Babe what he was thinking about when that ball was pitched.

"What did I think about?" the Champ snorted. "Why, what I always think about — just hittin' that ball."

Babe Ruth had the stuff of all champions — the capacity to concentrate on the present event.

While a painter like Grandma Moses, an inventor like Alexander Graham Bell, an invalid writer of adventure stories like Robert Louis Stevenson or a baseball hero like Babe Ruth may illustrate, after a fashion, the value of attentiveness to the near-at-hand, the supreme Example is Jesus Christ. Examine the Gospels and see how though seeking to save the world. He began by redeeming those nearest Him. Indeed it was this tendency to help the "next" person rather than to be part of a fanciful, starry-eyed political revolution, that disappointed His followers. They wanted a spectacular demonstration of His power. He should assume command of the multitudes, overthrow the Romans and set up an earthly kingdom. Instead He associated with simple peasants and fisherfolk and showed them what they could be with His help. He dealt quietly with individuals, a woman of evil reputation who met Him at a well at Sychar, another woman about to be stoned for her sins, a crooked tax gatherer, a rich young ruler, a leader of His people who timidly came to Him at night, a dying thief on a cross next to His own. His life appears dramatic to us, but it was too commonplace to those who knew Him best — to colorless — to close to them, too familiar. He couldn't be the expected Savior when he cared so little for spectacular things.

Had He been more dashing, more interested in glittering goals of conquest, power and fame, He would have satisfied His people better. He wanted a redeemed world, but He would not slight redemption of those near at hand by aiming at the redemption that was far off. So everyone near Him, the smallest as well as the greatest, the worst as well as the best, who would respond to Him felt His saving power.

Good occasions for service and spreading joy surround us all — now. Is there any better way of witnessing to our faith and helping God and man than by doing our best with what is nearest at hand?

Green Stamps help keep

MICHIGAN PRICES DOWN!

Like the ads of local merchants that you see in this newspaper, S&H Green Stamps boost business. At the same time they help keep prices down.

Here is why: When a store sells more, it can sell for less, since bigger volume brings lower costs.

Stores that use S&H Green Stamps must sell competitively. Michigan housewives are expert shoppers. They read the ads. They check and compare prices. And they can't be fooled!

Trading stamps are being saved today by two out of three American families—about 35 million in all. And their use is still growing in this and other States.

For the best values, shop at the stores in your community that give S&H Green Stamps.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Bratt, Mr. and Mrs. John Kooyer and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Smith were in Grand Rapids this past Friday to attend the funeral of their brother-in-law, Mr. Frank Diemer. We wish to extend them our deepest sympathy.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Petter and family visited with Mr. and Mrs. Neil Kruse Sunday evening.

Fred and Jerry Boss visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Boss Wednesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Boss were Sunday dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Groenink.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kruse and Sharon were Sunday afternoon guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Kruse and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Carpenter left this past Saturday to visit with their children, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Carpenter and family of Grand Rapids, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Capron and family who live in Vermonth and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Ruis and family who are in Kentucky.

Prayer Day services were held in the Christian Reformed Church Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Van Stedum returned home Monday, February 28 after spending 3 weeks in southern Michigan. They were at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Abel Van Stedum while they (Abe & Alice) made a trip to Florida. Upon their return they went to Grand Haven to visit another son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Van Stedum. Mrs. Van Stedum also made a train trip with her sister, Mrs. Henry Bratt, from Grand Rapids to Detroit which proved to be very interesting.

Rayders Win Class C District Crown

The Charlevoix Rayders racked up their eighteenth victory of the 1959-60 basketball season by trimming Pellston 54 to 40 to capture the District Class C title at Petoskey.

The Rayders were the defending district champions having upset Pellston 50 to 46 last year to capture the title and advance to regional play.

This year the Rayders won a berth in the regional tournament at Petoskey by virtue of winning the district title.

In the district finals Friday night the Rayders, faced with the difficult task of trimming a team for the third time in a season, came through with flying colors after trailing briefly by one point in the third period when the Hornets tied the game at two different times in a bid for the district championship.

Charlevoix got off to a 15 to 13 first quarter lead, increased it to 24 to 21 at halftime and 39 to 34 going into the final period after the Hornets had knotted the score early in the third period.

Joe Beaudoin, Bruce Pease, Dick VanRaaphorst, Charles Coleman and Dave Schuchard started for the Rayders. Sam Supernaw and Stan Smith joined action in the second quarter, Jim Ladd in the 3rd. Stan Martin and Jim Dennis in the final minutes of play.

Two field goals apiece by Beaudoin, VanRaaphorst and Schuchard plus a field goal and free throw by Pease gave Charlevoix a 15 to 13 quarter advantage after Pellston had scored [illegible] field goals and three charity tosses.

The action slowed down in the second period as Supernaw scored three points, Schuchard and Coleman a field goal each and Beaudoin two free throws. Pellston's scoring was confined to two field goals and four free throws.

As the game went into the second half, the tempo was stepped up by both squads. Beaudoin and Pease dumped in a bucket each only to have the Hornets score three field goals and a free throw to knot the score 28-all. Pease stepped to the free throw line to give the Rayders a one-point lead but Pellston countered with a field goal to put the Hornets ahead 30 to 29 for their only lead in the game. This advantage was short-lived, however, as Schuchard scored three quick baskets, two of them on steals. A field goal by Beaudoin and a free throw by VanRaaphorst gave Charlevoix a 39 to 34 lead going into the final quarter.

Schuchard had a total of four field goals, Pease three points, Beaudoin and VanRaaphorst two each for the period. Pellston had their best period as far as field goals were concerned, scoring six plus one free throw.

In the final period the Rayders made numerous trips to the free throw line as Pellston fought for the ball in an effort to get back in the running. The Charlevoix outfit, however, continued their offensive attack, controlling the game all the way as Schuchard scored two field goals and three gift shots, Beaudoin added one field goal and four free throws and Martin a field goal.

Schuchard paced the action with 21 points followed by Beaudoin with 14.

Berry Anderson had nine to lead the Hornet offensive attack.

CHARLEVOIX TOWNSHIP ORDINANCE NO. 2

Charlevoix Township Liquor Control Ordinance

ADOPTED: March 8, 1960
EFFECTIVE: April 12, 1960

An Ordinance to secure the public peace, health and safety of the residents and property owners of the Township of Charlevoix, Charlevoix County, Michigan, a municipal corporation, for the regulation of alcoholic liquor traffic within said Township, through the enforcement of the Michigan Liquor Control Act of the State of Michigan within said Township; to provide penalties for the violation of said ordinance; and to repeal all ordinances and parts of ordinances in conflict therewith.

THE TOWNSHIP BOARD OF CHARLEVOIX TOWNSHIP, CHARLEVOIX COUNTY, MICHIGAN, ORDAINS:

Section 1. TITLE

This Ordinance shall be known and cited as the Charlevoix Township Liquor Control Ordinance.

Section 2. LIQUOR CONTROL ACT OF THE STATE OF MICHIGAN.

All alcoholic liquor traffic, including among other things, the manufacture, sale, offer for sale, storage for sale, possession and/or transportation thereof within Charlevoix Township, Charlevoix County, Michigan, shall comply with the provisions of the Michigan Liquor Control Act, being Act No. 8 of the Michigan Public Acts of 1933, as amended.

Section 3. ENFORCEMENT

For the purpose of the enforcement of said Michigan Liquor Control Act within said Township there is hereby established a Liquor Control Enforcement Department with full power, authority, and duty to see that the provisions of said Act and the rules and regulations of the Michigan Liquor Control Commission, adopted pursuant to said act, are enforced within said Township. Such Department shall consist of not less than one Constable or Deputy Sheriff appointed by the Township Board and such other personnel as the Township Board may, in its discretion, appoint. The personnel in such Department shall be entitled to such compensation as the Township Board may determine. Such Department or a member thereof shall be available at all times to investigate complaints received under this Ordinance, and enforce the provisions hereof.

Section 4. INSPECTION.

The Township Liquor Control Enforcement Department shall inspect not less than monthly, all liquor establishments licensed under the Liquor Control Act of the State of Michigan and report the results of all inspections promptly to the Township Board. The Township Liquor Control Enforcement Department shall further promptly investigate all complaints received by it concerning violations of the Michigan Liquor Control Act, or improper operations and practices concerning alcoholic liquor traffic within the Township, and report the same to the Township Board and; where appropriate under the Michigan Liquor Control Act, to the Michigan Liquor Control Commission for appropriate proceedings against the violator.

All Inspectors shall carry appropriate cards issued by the Township Clerk, clearly identifying them as Township Liquor Control Inspectors and shall present said cards to the owner or manager of every place inspected by them when making an inspection, upon demand for identification by such owner or manager.

Inspectors shall have the right to inspect any place in the Township where alcoholic liquor is manufactured, sold, offered for sale, kept for sale, possessed or transported, or where the Inspector suspects the same is being thus manufactured, sold, offered for sale, kept for sale, possessed, or transported. Whenever possible, all inspection reports shall be made on Liquor Law Enforcement Inspection forms furnished by the Michigan Liquor Control Commission or on similar forms otherwise obtained by the Township Liquor Control Enforcement Department.

Section 5. APPROPRIATION.

For the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this Ordinance an destablishing the Liquor Control Enforcement Department herein provided for, the Township Board hereby apprpopriates the sum of $600.00 for such use, and is hereby authorized and directed to annually appropriate such an amount as will, in its discretion, be sufficient to maintain and operate such Liquor Control Enforcement Department for the ensuing fiscal year of the Township, not exceeding, however, 10 mills of the assessed valuation of the Township in any one year for vehicles, apparatus and equipment and housing for the same, and not exceeding 2 - ½ (two and one half) mills of the assessed valuation of the Township per year for the maintenance and operation of the Department.

Section 6. PENALTIES

Any person, other than persons required to be licensed under the Michigan Liquor Control Act, who shall violate any of the provisions of this Ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Any licensee who shall violate any of the provisions of the Michigan Liquor Control Act or any rule or regulation of the Michigan Liquor Control Commission promulgated thereunder, or who shall violate any of the provisions of this Ordinance, and any person who shall prohibit or interfere with the authorized inspection of a member of the Township Liquor Control Enforcement Department shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by imprisonment in the county jail not more than 90 days or by a fine of not more than $100.00, or both, in the discretion of the court. Each day that a violation continues to exist shall constitute a separate offense.

It is the intent of the Township Board that the court, in imposing punishment under the provisions of this Ordinance, should discriminate between casual or slight violations and habitual sales of alcoholic liquor or attempts to commercialize violations of this Ordinance or any of the rules or regulations of the Michigan Liquor Control Commission promulgated under the Michigan Liquor Control Act.

Section 7. EFFECTIVE DATE.

This Ordinance shall take effect on the 12th day of April, 1960. All Ordinances or parts of Ordinances in conflict with any of the provisions of this Ordinance are hereby repealed.

Children Honor 75th Anniversary Of John Drenth

Ellsworth — In celebration of the 75th birthday anniversary of John Drenth on March 4, a family dinner was enjoyed at the Jordan Inn in East Jordan. As a token of esteem, a ruby stone ring was presented to Mr. Drenth by his children: Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Drenth, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Drenth, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Essenberg, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Drenth and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Drenth, who were all present for the occasion.

On Saturday afternoon all 18 grandchildren and one great grandchild gathered at Mr. Drenth's home for a birthday treat of ice cream and cake.

Mr. Drenth was born in the Netherlands and came to the United States in 1900. He has been a resident of Ellsworth for the past 60 years.

Gerritt Postmus Dies At Hudsonville

Ellsworth — Gerrit Postmus, former resident of this area, passed away March 7, in Hudsonville. Funeral services were held in Hudsonville March 9.

The body will be brought to the Hastings funeral home here Thursday where friends may pay their respects. Burial will be in the Ellsworth cemetery Friday.

Patricia Bulow Married Saturday At Home Wedding

In a quiet ceremony solemnized Saturday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Patricia Jane Bulow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fenton R. Bulow, became the bride of Robert E. Wolfe of Lansing, son of Harry S. Wolfe of Memphis, Tenn., and the late Mrs. Wolfe.

The Rev. James P. Sherman officiated at the service in the presence of their immediate families and close friends.

The bride selected a powder blue suit dress, matching accessories and a corsage of white pompoms and hyacinth florets for her wedding.

Mrs. Michael A. Gibbons of Grand Rapids, as her only attendant, wore a red wool sheath dress and matching accessories. Her corsage was of blue carnations and hyacinth florets.

Mr. Gibbons assisted the bridegroom as best man.

A small reception fullowed the ceremony.

The couple will make their home in Lansing.

Honor Parents On Anniversary

Atwood — On Saturday evening an anniversary dinner was held at the Arcadia Restaurant in Petoskey by the Essenburg children in honor of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Essenburg, who observed their 30th wedding anniversary.

On their way down they first stopped at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Lorraine Way where Mrs. Essenburg received a beautiful corsage of yellow and white mums, and Mr. Essenburg a boutenierre of white carnation a gift from the children. They also received another gift, a pair of Mersman end tables from them.

Those attending the delicious dinner besides the guests of honor were all their children, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Essenburg, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Essenburg of Cutlerville, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Way of Charlevoix and Bill Essenburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Essenburg were married on March 8 1930 by Rev. B. H Einink at the parsonage of the Ellsworth Christian Reformed Church.

Lewis was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Essenburg and Mrs. Essenburg the former Miss Della Shooks was the daughter of the late Mr. Anthony Shooks and Mrs. Tillie Shooks now of Ellsworth. Congratulations to you from our community.

In Person To Narrate

HIS DAZZLING ALL-COLOR

ALASKAN

ADVENTURE PROGRAM

"ALASKA AFIELD"

A living-color two-hour program of personal adventure in our newest state . . . four years in the making by the man who will narrate the program in person, alive!

That's Cecil Rhode, above, training his aducated camera on gosh-only knows what. That's him again below with the world record set of Alaskan moose antlers. He crops up all over Alaska, wherever others fail to penetrate. Armed with rod, rifle and camera, Rhode does for a living what men do for vacation. For 25 years he has lived in a log cabin on the fabulous Kenai Peninsula. His wildlife photography has been used by Warner Bros. and Disney. He is an authentic Sourdough who has forgotten more about Alaska than most people ever know.

Giant, grizzly, mammoth moose, captivating caribou, elusive dall sheep and mountain goats, fabulous salmon fishing, anything that is native Alaskan wildlife is apt to turn up in Rhode's show. He spent four months living with the world's largest carnivores — the Alaskan brown bears. In the screen, you see it in ten minutes. But, it is the best. Twelve bears in a single frame fishing for salmon. You'll see new born white mountain sheep, clownish black bear, majestic mountain goat, you see Alaska Afield as it was never previously documented. You'll see it in living color films, and you'll love Rhode's homespun philosophy as he narrates his films.
